

The Plattsmouth Garage Co.

—WARGA & CECIL, Proprietors—

Ready for Business!

Corner Sixth and Vine Streets, Plattsmouth, Nebraska

We want you all to feel that we are going to look after the emergency end of your car's needs. Don't worry if you break down. Our "Service Department" will deliver you Supplies and Tires quickly and economically. Everything we sell you will be absolutely guaranteed.

The Plattsmouth Garage Company

A SQUARE DEAL TO ALL!

WARGA & CECIL, Proprietors

Agent for the Inter-State Automobiles.

PRESTOLITE AGENCY

LAW PERTAINING TO THE SPEED LIMIT WITHIN THE INCORPORATION OF CITY

The Law Must Be Respected, and the People Will Stand by the Officer in His Effort to Arrest and Punish All Would-Be Violators of the Speed Limit—One Arrest Made and Fine Assessed—Others Are More Likely to Follow.

Night Policeman Henry Trout is to be congratulated on his position in aiding the county officials to enforce the law relative to the operation of motor propelled vehicles within the city limits. And the law-abiding people of the town will admire the moral courage of a man like Trout, who begins his campaign by nabbing the most frequent offender, no matter what his business strata may be. It is to be regretted that the city has no ordinance covering the speed limit of automobiles and motorcycles, as Mr. Trout says it has none, and for that reason the complaint filed Monday against a speeder was brought in the justice of the peace court, where the accused may have a jury trial if he demands it.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Mr. Trout, who turned it over to the sheriff's office for service. If the matter were such that the police judge could take cognizance of it, the police could make the arrest and the matter would be dealt with by the court without a jury and much quicker results reached.

There are several others slated for arrest for the same offense, and the war on the speeder in the city limits has just begun. There is nothing so dangerous to the lives of the inhabitants of the city and those traveling the streets, either on foot or in vehicles, as the person who, without regard for law or the rights of other people, persists in driving an automobile or motorcycle at an unlawful rate of speed within the city limits of an incorporated town or city. The fine for the first offense is none too great for an offender of this sort, regardless of the prominence of the individual. Such persons should learn that the foot passenger has rights in the streets and when a motorist exceeds the lawful speed rate such motorist is a trespasser and will be dealt with as such on all occasions.

Dr. Herman Greeder, against whom complaint was filed Monday for speeding his automobile on Chicago avenue in excess of the rate prescribed by law, on August 10, 1912, today appeared before Justice of the Peace M. Archer and pleaded guilty to the charge.

Dr. Greeder was of the opinion that he was running within the law, but rather than have trouble, paid the fine, which the court fixed for the first offense at $5 and costs, the total being $10.40. The doctor was shown the statute, which fixes the minimum fine at $50, and informed by the court that there could be no more $5 fines in his case. This is the first arrest which has been made in Plattsmouth for exceeding the speed limit, but the officers have promised still others. Let the good work go on.

H. R. Neitzel Here.

From Tuesday's Daily. H. R. Neitzel of Boise, Idaho, arrived last evening on a business and pleasure trip and is a guest of his father-in-law, F. B. Guthmann and wife. Mr. Neitzel reports his community as prosperous and the city building up right along. Business is flourishing and everybody is happy.

The Choice of a Husband is too important a matter for a woman to be handicapped by weakness, bad blood or foul breath. Avoid these kill-hopes by taking Dr. King's Life Pills. New strength, fine complexion, pure breath, cheerful spirits—things that win men—follow their use. Easy, safe, sure, 25c at F. G. Fricke & Co.

AUGUST BULLETIN OF SUMMER TOURS TO THE EAST—

The special diverse route tours include the East's most beautiful and attractive localities. Also very low rates going and returning the same routes; Summer Tourists rates to the Lake regions, Canada and Atlantic The Atlantic seacoast during August, is at the height of its popularity.

TO THE PACIFIC COAST—Besides the every day excursion rate of $60, via direct routes, still lower rates are available August 29th to September 5th, inclusive, to California cities and on October 12th, 14th and 15th to Portland and Seattle.

MOUNTAIN TOUR—Special rates to Denver and Colorado Springs; ask about Estes Park, one of Colorado's most beautiful regions. Colorado is full of stopping places and resorts. The Black Hills with their famous Hot Springs, S. D., can be reached very cheaply; Sheridan and Ranchester, Wyo., are gateways to the resorts in the beautiful Big Horn Mountains. Thermopola in the Owl Creek Mountains is one of the coming sanitariums of the West.

Booklets Free—"Round trip Eastbound Fares," "California Excursions," "Summer Tours to Pacific Coast," "Yellowstone Park," "Cody Road into Yellowstone," "Colorado-Yellowstone Tours," "Northwest Tours," "Colorado-Utah Handbook," "Estes Park," "Big Horn Resorts," "Summer Tours Westbound," "The Black Hills."

R. W. CLEMENT, Agent.

W. L. WAKELY, General Passenger Agent, Omaha, Neb.

Stanley Kuhns Injured.

From Wednesday's Daily. Stanley Kuhns, the humorist and burlesque actor, had the misfortune yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, while in his line of duty, in the mechanical department of the Burlington shops, to have the little finger of his left hand badly smashed. In fact, the smash was so serious as to take a part of the finger off. Stanley sought the company surgeon as quickly as possible and had the injured finger properly dressed. It will be several days before he is back on duty.

GETTING BACK TO SATURDAY FOR SHOPPING

Farmers Are Reviving the Old Custom to Buy on That Day.

We reprint the following from the Council Bluffs Daily Nonpariel to show the readers of the Journal that not only are the farmers of Cass county renewing the old custom of coming to town on Saturday, but it is being done to a great extent in other towns. There is no doubt that the convenience of coming and going in the automobile is one great reason for this. Last Saturday there were between fifty and seventy-five autos in Plattsmouth and many of them were from fifteen to twenty miles away. There is but one thing for Plattsmouth merchants to do to put their business on the increase, and that is to keep on offering inducements for the farmers to come here to trade, and show them that they can secure just as good bargains here and as good quality of goods as they can secure in Omaha or elsewhere. Good roads and good bargains in goods is what brings people to Plattsmouth on Saturday. Here is what the Nonpariel says in reference to the revival of the Saturday business since autos have come into such general use: "Council Bluffs is making a name for itself as a 'Saturday town,' according to merchants and business men of the city. Last Saturday one retail merchant stated that the streets reminded him of twenty years ago, when Saturday was considered the only day for a farmer to go to town. In those days every village and town was a Saturday town. Later, many towns lost their Saturday trade for various reasons, and the more metropolitan even tried to lose the distinction of being Saturday towns.

"Last Saturday afternoon 138 automobiles from rural communities and nearby towns were counted passing one corner in two hours. Every machine was crowded with shoppers. The character of the crowds on the business streets during the day is distinctly rural and everyone is busy. The automobile is credited with the renewal of Saturday shopping, and has widened the territory tributary to the city from fifteen miles to sixty.

"Bluffs merchants are happy over the revival of the custom of setting aside Saturday as shopping day by the rural residents, and some talk is heard of making special occasions at frequent intervals to make the day still more popular."

Marshall, Dentist, Coates block.

"NATURE'S DECLARATION OF IT'S CREATOR"

Subject of Address of M. S. Briggs Delivered at Union Y. P. S. C. E. Services Sunday Evening.

From Wednesday's Daily. The following synopsis of the address delivered by Mr. M. S. Briggs should have appeared in the article printed in yesterday's Journal, but for some cause or other it was mislaid. We are sorry that such is the case, and as the subject upon which Mr. Briggs spoke is a very interesting one, it no doubt will cover the purpose just as well separated from the account of the meeting printed yesterday. Mr. Briggs spoke to the subject of "Nature's Declaration of its Creator," which, couched in the language of the nineteenth psalm, tells of the homage nature pays to the God of all, as follows:

"The millions of stars which we see on a clear night give silent but immutable testimony to the infinity, who has hung the worlds on high and has caused them to return to their appointed place, to the second, after traveling millions of years in their course. That the heaven's declares the glory of God, no one will deny who has taken the time to investigate how the planets are held in their places by the attraction of gravitation, one of the strong attributes of infinity.

"This attraction, which holds worlds to the fraction of an inch in their revolution, is a type of the love of the Father, mentioned in John 3-16, saying, 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' Some people believe that success can only be obtained when they await until the whistle has sounded before they can take up their daily task, and will leave a task unfinished at the sound of the whistle in the evening. The four crops of alfalfa which the farmer grows greets the first rays of the sun at the song of the lark and has its leaves attentive to the last beams of Old Sol, as he descends over the western horizon. What God's beautiful outdoors teaches us is the gist of the lesson before us this evening. I was particularly impressed with a scene which it was my good fortune to witness in the mountains of Colorado a few years since. It was of a pine tree which seemed to grow out of the almost solid rock. The tree in question was a slim one, towering above its fellows and as straight as an arrow, but very slender, having its roots just below a huge rock as large as an ordinary house, and having the appearance of having rolled down the mountain side and having lodged against the slender tree. Not in the appearance of the tree and the rock was the lesson, but with the hard and uncongenial surroundings, the tree had found a crevice here for a rootlet; another one over there, gathering a little substance from one place and another, but maintaining its growth and becoming sturdier and more solid with the tempests which made toys of the mountain tops. We have to learn that though the surroundings may not be the most favorable and many things discouraging in the way, we can succeed and 'make good' if we will only put forth half the energy and determination the pine tree does to get a foothold in the rugged rocks of the mountain-side."

"This attraction, which holds worlds to the fraction of an inch in their revolution, is a type of the love of the Father, mentioned in John 3-16, saying, 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' Some people believe that success can only be obtained when they await until the whistle has sounded before they can take up their daily task, and will leave a task unfinished at the sound of the whistle in the evening. The four crops of alfalfa which the farmer grows greets the first rays of the sun at the song of the lark and has its leaves attentive to the last beams of Old Sol, as he descends over the western horizon. What God's beautiful outdoors teaches us is the gist of the lesson before us this evening. I was particularly impressed with a scene which it was my good fortune to witness in the mountains of Colorado a few years since. It was of a pine tree which seemed to grow out of the almost solid rock. The tree in question was a slim one, towering above its fellows and as straight as an arrow, but very slender, having its roots just below a huge rock as large as an ordinary house, and having the appearance of having rolled down the mountain side and having lodged against the slender tree. Not in the appearance of the tree and the rock was the lesson, but with the hard and uncongenial surroundings, the tree had found a crevice here for a rootlet; another one over there, gathering a little substance from one place and another, but maintaining its growth and becoming sturdier and more solid with the tempests which made toys of the mountain tops. We have to learn that though the surroundings may not be the most favorable and many things discouraging in the way, we can succeed and 'make good' if we will only put forth half the energy and determination the pine tree does to get a foothold in the rugged rocks of the mountain-side."

"This attraction, which holds worlds to the fraction of an inch in their revolution, is a type of the love of the Father, mentioned in John 3-16, saying, 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' Some people believe that success can only be obtained when they await until the whistle has sounded before they can take up their daily task, and will leave a task unfinished at the sound of the whistle in the evening. The four crops of alfalfa which the farmer grows greets the first rays of the sun at the song of the lark and has its leaves attentive to the last beams of Old Sol, as he descends over the western horizon. What God's beautiful outdoors teaches us is the gist of the lesson before us this evening. I was particularly impressed with a scene which it was my good fortune to witness in the mountains of Colorado a few years since. It was of a pine tree which seemed to grow out of the almost solid rock. The tree in question was a slim one, towering above its fellows and as straight as an arrow, but very slender, having its roots just below a huge rock as large as an ordinary house, and having the appearance of having rolled down the mountain side and having lodged against the slender tree. Not in the appearance of the tree and the rock was the lesson, but with the hard and uncongenial surroundings, the tree had found a crevice here for a rootlet; another one over there, gathering a little substance from one place and another, but maintaining its growth and becoming sturdier and more solid with the tempests which made toys of the mountain tops. We have to learn that though the surroundings may not be the most favorable and many things discouraging in the way, we can succeed and 'make good' if we will only put forth half the energy and determination the pine tree does to get a foothold in the rugged rocks of the mountain-side."

"This attraction, which holds worlds to the fraction of an inch in their revolution, is a type of the love of the Father, mentioned in John 3-16, saying, 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' Some people believe that success can only be obtained when they await until the whistle has sounded before they can take up their daily task, and will leave a task unfinished at the sound of the whistle in the evening. The four crops of alfalfa which the farmer grows greets the first rays of the sun at the song of the lark and has its leaves attentive to the last beams of Old Sol, as he descends over the western horizon. What God's beautiful outdoors teaches us is the gist of the lesson before us this evening. I was particularly impressed with a scene which it was my good fortune to witness in the mountains of Colorado a few years since. It was of a pine tree which seemed to grow out of the almost solid rock. The tree in question was a slim one, towering above its fellows and as straight as an arrow, but very slender, having its roots just below a huge rock as large as an ordinary house, and having the appearance of having rolled down the mountain side and having lodged against the slender tree. Not in the appearance of the tree and the rock was the lesson, but with the hard and uncongenial surroundings, the tree had found a crevice here for a rootlet; another one over there, gathering a little substance from one place and another, but maintaining its growth and becoming sturdier and more solid with the tempests which made toys of the mountain tops. We have to learn that though the surroundings may not be the most favorable and many things discouraging in the way, we can succeed and 'make good' if we will only put forth half the energy and determination the pine tree does to get a foothold in the rugged rocks of the mountain-side."

"This attraction, which holds worlds to the fraction of an inch in their revolution, is a type of the love of the Father, mentioned in John 3-16, saying, 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' Some people believe that success can only be obtained when they await until the whistle has sounded before they can take up their daily task, and will leave a task unfinished at the sound of the whistle in the evening. The four crops of alfalfa which the farmer grows greets the first rays of the sun at the song of the lark and has its leaves attentive to the last beams of Old Sol, as he descends over the western horizon. What God's beautiful outdoors teaches us is the gist of the lesson before us this evening. I was particularly impressed with a scene which it was my good fortune to witness in the mountains of Colorado a few years since. It was of a pine tree which seemed to grow out of the almost solid rock. The tree in question was a slim one, towering above its fellows and as straight as an arrow, but very slender, having its roots just below a huge rock as large as an ordinary house, and having the appearance of having rolled down the mountain side and having lodged against the slender tree. Not in the appearance of the tree and the rock was the lesson, but with the hard and uncongenial surroundings, the tree had found a crevice here for a rootlet; another one over there, gathering a little substance from one place and another, but maintaining its growth and becoming sturdier and more solid with the tempests which made toys of the mountain tops. We have to learn that though the surroundings may not be the most favorable and many things discouraging in the way, we can succeed and 'make good' if we will only put forth half the energy and determination the pine tree does to get a foothold in the rugged rocks of the mountain-side."

BAND BOYS WILL SOON HAVE NEW UNIFORMS

The band boys have ordered their new suits from William Holly, the clothier. The suits will be very fine and are of regulation blue broadcloth of the style adopted by the National Musical Federation. A military cap with gilt letters, "C. B. & O.," on the band will go with each suit. There are twenty-one suits ordered, and the maker expects to have them done within two weeks. The suits are the best that money could buy, and the boys may well be proud of them, as the band will be on of the neatest looking organizations in the state.

Mr. W. S. Gunsalus, a farmer, living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

PLATTSMOUTH Auto and Wagon BRIDGE!

TOLL RATES ONE WAY:

Automobile and driver	50c
Motor Cycle	15c
Team, wagon and driver with load of garden truck, fruit, poultry, hogs, calves, grain, hay or any other merchandise	50c
Team, wagon and driver without load	25c
Horse and buggy	20c
Horses or cattle led or driven	10c
Hogs, sheep or calves driven	5c

The above rates for team, wagon and driver are on the basis of 75c for round trip loaded one way and empty one way.

Splendid roads to South Omaha—exactly 15 miles from Main and 6th St., Plattsmouth to 24th and N St., South Omaha.

POLLOCK & DUFF

WEEPING WATER BOOSTERS COMING TO PLATTSMOUTH

Next Monday the Weeping Water booster party, advertising their chautauqua, will dine at the Riley, and are due to arrive at 12:30 o'clock and will remain in the city an hour and a half. The Weeping Water chautauqua this fall will occur from August 25 to 29 inclusive, starting on Saturday with some fine talent and keeping up the pace until Thursday night. Weeping Water is an ideal town with an ideal ground in which to hold a chautauqua and the enterprise deserves a large patronage.

For Sale!

160 acres in Red Willow county, about five and a half miles west of Indianola; mostly level land; 120 acres under cultivation; some pasture. Can be bought for $1,700.00. Time given.

160 acres in Loup county, Nebraska; somewhat rolling; 30 acres under cultivation, 5 acres in alfalfa, some good hay land, balance pasturage. Price $1,600.

A fine $4,000 residence in Plattsmouth for $2,100 if taken soon.

Two cottages, one with 5 rooms and the other with 3, for $325.00 each. It would cost twice this much to duplicate the same.

A number of nice 5 and 6-room cottages, at from $800 to $1,000.

We have a number of desirable vacant lots for sale at from $50 to $100.

WINDHAM Investment and Loan Co.

Home grown alfalfa seed for sale. A. L. Todd. 8-8-81wkly

Somewhere between Mynard and the B. & M. stock yards in Plattsmouth. Please notify the owner, Arthur Troop, Plattsmouth.

LEGAL NOTICE.

A. E. Riley and A. C. McGuigan, doing business as the Midwest Carnival and Exposition Company, will take notice that on the 10th day of July, 1912, M. Archer, a justice of the peace of Cass County, Nebraska, issued an order of attachment for the sum of $57.00 for work and labor in an action pending before him, wherein Stanley L. Eaton is plaintiff and the above named parties defendants; that property of the defendants, consisting of awnings, stage scenery, stages inside and out, ticket booths, wooden seats and other material, has been attached under said order. Said cause was continued to the 24th day of August, 1912, at 9 o'clock a. m., at which time trial will be had.

Stanley L. Eaton, Plaintiff. 7-22-3wks.

Real Estate

Bought and Sold

ON COMMISSION!

Insurance Placed in Best Companies!

Farm Loans and Rental Agency

- Virgil Mullis -

Vacation Preparations!

The telephone will serve your convenience in all the arrangements for your holiday. It enables the tourist, automobilist and sportsman to secure necessary information.

And when at lake or shore, in the mountains or by the stream, the telephone means that you are always in touch with home and business.

The pleasures of vacation are increased by the service of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company

J. K. POLLOCK, Local Manager