Miss Geneva Pollard, who has been visiting her brother, M. H. Pollard, and others relatives this summer, left for her home in Vermont Sunday. She expected to go by way of Minneapolis and St. Paul, where she will visit for a time. This was her first visit to Nehawka in nineteen years.

Verner Lundberg, who has been working hard for the past month for a prize in the Omaha Daily News contest, was successful and is snorting around town on a brand new motorcycle. It is an Indian and Verner is just proud of his achievement. He had over 450,000 votes, nearly 100,000 more than his nearest competitor.

R. C. Pollard bought a carload of cows in South Omaha last week and had them shipped down last Friday night. When the car got here there were five of them missing and one dead. Mr. Pollard has been unable to find out just what happened, but from unofficial reports it seems there was a slight wreck in the yards of South Omaha and part of the cattle got away. The balance, some nineteen head, are bunged and skinned up as though they had been through a cyclone.

Many Driven From Home.

Every year, in many parts of the country, thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other climates, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way—the way of multitudes—is to use Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there, with your friends, and take this safe medicine. Throat and lung troubles find quick relief and health returns. Its help in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping cough and sore lungs make it a positive blessing. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by F. G. Fricke & Co.

The Men Who Succeed
as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success today demands health. To ail is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders, and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. Only 50 cents at F. G. Fricke & Co.

Schools Opened Today.
The Plattsmouth public schools opened today for the year's work, with a very large enrollment, many attending from the adjoining country and smaller towns. The city schools have gained a great reputation for efficiency since Professor Abbott assumed charge, and rank among the best in the state.

Carl West of Wyoming, Neb., was in the city yesterday, a guest at the H. N. Dovey home.

BETTER KEEP THE NEBRASKA CROP MONEY AT HOME
Simply by Buying Whenever Possible the Goods That Are Made in Nebraska.

This has been a glorious year for Nebraska. The Almighty has smiled upon her soil and upon her people. Nebraskans have already harvested a crop of oats and wheat and rye and barley that will approximate $100,000,000 in value. They will mow and cure $45,000,000 worth of hay. The corn crop will be worth another $80,000,000. Her sugar beets and butter and eggs and poultry and live stock will bring many millions more. In short, Nebraska will produce from her soil in this good year of 1912 more than half a billion dollars' worth.

To the largest possible extent Nebraska's crop money should be kept at home to further the work of developing the state and building up her business institutions. How may this be done? Simply by buying, whenever possible, the goods made in Nebraska; and always buying of Nebraska dealers. "Home patronage" is the slogan that should be upon the lips and in the heart of every loyal Nebraskan. And we can come mighty near buying everything we need to eat and wear and use from Nebraska manufacturers. If we were doing our duty to our home institutions we could buy everything we must have from Nebraska manufacturers, says Will Maupin's Weekly.

Mr. Farmer, every time you purchase a bill of goods from a Nebraska dealer, or buy the product of a Nebraska manufacturer, you are building up a local market for your products. Every time you send a dollar out of Nebraska you are decreasing the purchasing capacity of the customers easiest for you to reach; and you are sending out of Nebraska money that will never return.

Mr. Purchaser, every time you buy the product of a foreign manufacturer you are limiting the opportunity of Nebraskans to find work, thus reducing business and retarding development. Mr. Retailer, every time you discriminate against the product of Nebraska manufacturers you are putting limits upon the number of your own customers, for the employees of the factories of the east buy no tea and coffee, no gingham and silks, no shoes or foodstuffs across your counters.

Keep Nebraska's crop money at home, for it means greater business activity. It means the promotion of new manufacturing establishments. It means agricultural and industrial development. It means enlarged avenues of employment for wage earners, which means greater business for retailers.

Home patronage is so logical, so well founded in common-sense, that it ought to be advocated by every man, woman and child in Nebraska.

"THE PHILOSOPHY OF CHRIST MISSION ON EARTH"

Subject of Address Delivered Before the C. E. Society at the Presbyterian Church.

A most excellent service was held at the Presbyterian church last evening, which was very largely attended. The members of the C. E. society of the Christian church had been invited to join with the C. E. society of the Presbyterian church in this service, at which time they listened to a splendid address given by Mr. James A. Smith, his subject being "The Philosophy of Christ's Mission to Earth."

The service was opened with the singing of a number of familiar hymns and a prayer by Rev. A. L. Zink of the Christian church. Just previous to the address given by Mr. Smith, Miss Hazel Tukey rendered a beautiful vocal solo. Miss Tukey has a very sweet voice and her vocal selection was very much appreciated by those fortunate enough to be present to hear her.

Mr. Smith said in substance: "The question which I am here to discuss is whether the world need of the coming of Christ or not. There is no place on the face of the earth but where the people understand that they are responsible for their acts. The most benighted savage does things to appease the wrath of the God he worships for the sins which he has done. He cuts himself with knives and in other ways does things for penance that he may escape from the sentence of sinful acts done by him."

Mr. Smith said that he believed that Christ was the son of God, a messenger to this world from the Father and Creator, but outside of this he offered a few ideas to prove the philosophy of the theory that it was necessary that Christ should have come anyway. Man had wandered away from God and it was necessary that someone should come that would bring a message which would be a perpetual one, with its influence broadening with the sweep of the ages. He cited an instance where 500 years before the coming of Christ that one established an order which sought to give and teach equal and exact justice between their fellow men. This did not stand, but went to pieces, as all other things had before, but with the coming of Christianity was instituted an order of things which have grown with the ages. Among the other things, he said that the Christianity of the present day needed more of the actual Christian spirit and less theoretical theology. In fact, a starving person needed more potatoes and bread than they did of songs and prayers.

Jones Elevator at Mynard.
The Jones elevator at Mynard will change management about the 15th of this month, when Nelson Murray steps down and out and Hon. C. E. Metzger assumes management. Mr. Metzger is well fitted for the position, as he has been all along the line in handling grain and buying and selling. While Mr. Murray is a competent gentleman and is not quitting the place on that account, the Jones people are very fortunate in securing so competent a successor. Success, Chris.
