MARRIED TO-DAY AT LONG BEACH, CALIFORNIA

Mr. Ernest Wurl and Mrs. Bertha Todd, Both Well Known Young People in Plattsmouth.

From Saturday's Daily.

Today at high noon, in the city of Long Beach, California, occurred the ceremony that united the lives of two of our former popular young people—Mr. Ernest E. Wurl and Mrs. Bertha Todd.

Both of the contracting parties possess a large number of friends in this city and will take with them on their journey down the stream of life their best wishes for a happy voyage. The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Adamson, who were residents of this city for several years, and was very prominent in the church and social life of the city, where her pleasant ways and genial disposition won her a warm spot in the hearts of all who knew her. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Wurl of this city and attended the Plattsmouth schools, later entering the Burlington shops, where he learned the machinist trade and became one of the most expert workmen in the shops, where he was employed until about two years ago, when he entered the McKee motor works in Omaha, going from there to Long Beach, where he is engaged in the automobile business, as well as having charge of the athletic department of the Y. M. C. A. of that city. Mr. Wurl is one of the best athletic teachers that this city has boasted of for many years, and when here had charge of the turning classes of the German Turnverein. He is a most worthy young man and has a large circle of friends here, who will be delighted to hear of his marriage. The young people expect to make their future home in the California city.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

Married by Judge Beeson.

From Saturday's Daily.

This afternoon at the county court Judge Beeson was called upon to perform the ceremony that united James W. O'Connell and Miss Frances M. Lewis, both of Sioux City, Iowa, which the judge did in his usual happy manner, and the newly wedded pair departed on No. 23 for their home in the Iowa city.

BASKET BALL GAME AT COATES HALL LAST NIGHT

From Saturday's Daily.

The basket ball game last evening at Coates' hall, between the High school team of this city and the Union team, was an interesting contest from start to finish, but the superior team work of the local team was too much for the boys from the southern part of the county and they were defeated by a score of 59 to 25. The High school team is one of the best that has represented the school in recent years and has two players, Duncan and Arries, who are as good as any that play on any of the school teams in the state. The team will clear about $5 after all expenses have been paid, which will help considerably in maintaining the team.

GEORGE STOHLMAN IS IN DANGEROUS CONDITION

From Saturday's Daily.

The friends in this city of George Stohlman, one of the prominent farmers of the western part of the county, will be greatly shocked to learn that he is lying at his home near Louisville in a very serious condition. Mr. Stohlman was operated upon recently in Omaha, but the doctors who performed the operation could hold out no hopes for his recovery and he has gradually become much weaker and his friends have almost given up hopes of his recovery. Mr. Stohlman is one of the stalwart farmers of his section of the county and always has been one of the county's most progressive citizens.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

NO EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO ENFORCE NEW RATE

From Saturday's Daily.

Head Consul A. R. Talbot yesterday afternoon declared that the head officers of the Modern Woodmen of America would immediately take steps to appeal Judge Shirley's decision to the appellate court of Illinois in an effort to have the injunction suspended.

Meanwhile, Mr. Talbot said, no effort would be made on the part of the head officers to put the new rates of the society into effect. They were to have become effective January 1.

"I understand from the telegram," said he, "that every reason given in the recent Iowa decision in the same matter was contrarily viewed by the Illinois court. And the one reason for not granting the relief prayed for by the Iowa insurgents was the very reason upon which the Illinois court is said to have based its action."

The Modern Woodmen of America possesses a large membership in this city and the members have been greatly interested in the matter of the increase in rates, and although there has been no organized insurgent movement in the camp here, the members have been considerably disturbed over just how the new rates would place them.

"THE SHEPARD OF THE HILLS" COMING SOON

Manager Shlaes has just signed a contract for the appearance here on the evening of January 8 of "The Shepherd of the Hills," the dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's powerful story of the same name. The manager was very lucky to secure this excellent attraction, as it was only owing to the fact that the theater at Clarinda, Iowa, burned that made it possible to secure them for appearance at the Parmele theater. The management of the Parmele also has secured that most delightful comedy, "The Giel From Rector's," which will appear on New Year's night. "The Shepherd of the Hills" appeared the first of the season at the Brandeis in Omaha and made a deep impression upon all who saw it.

PRESIDENT MILLER OPPOSES RUNNING FASTER TRAINS

In commenting on the suggestion of the interstate commerce commission that the railroad operate freight trains faster in order to minimize a shortage in cars, President Darius Miller of the Burlington said:

"The commission, in my judgment, is wrong in urging any such action, because to follow its suggestion would merely mean waste and more, instead of less, delay in movement. The remedy for these conditions is not to be found in the unwise suggestion to increase the speed of trains, but rather in co-operation between shippers and carriers for rapid loading and unloading of equipment.

"A reduction in delays of this sort would be tantamount to an increase in equipment. It is not a shortage of cars, but an inability to get sufficient use of cars that has threatened the country this fall.

"Fortunately, the indications are reassuring that the fears of the commission will not materialize. There has been no shortage of equipment worthy of the name this fall on the Burlington and there is no reason to anticipate any difficulty in supplying all needs."

DEATH OF A FORMER CITIZEN OF PLATTSMOUTH

From Saturday's Daily.

Another former Plattsmouth citizen has been called to his final reward. The news was received today of the death in Peoria, Illinois, of Matt Drougery, who for many years was a resident of this city and was employed in the Burlington round house in charge of the engines. Mr. Drougery passed away Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock and the body was taken to Sioux City, Iowa, where the funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. J. C. Linderman and son, Fred, departed this morning for Sioux City, where they will attend the funeral. The deceased leaves three sons and two daughters to mourn his loss, his wife having died about a year ago.

HOW O'HAIR BEAT UNCLE JOE CANNON

He Shucked Corn With Farmers While He Talked Politics.

EVEN HELPED FEED THE PIGS.

Congressman Elect, Born in a Log Cabin, Is Self Educated—Pretty Story of His Courtship and Winning of the Woman Now His Wife.

How Uncle Joe Cannon fell victim in the recent election in Illinois is one of the morsels of political gossip.

It was no little thing, viewed in the long way, to down the man who has represented his district in congress since 1872 with the exception of two years in the early nineties. Election after election the political enemies tried to shake Uncle Joe loose. No matter what happened to others in the state, he came out of the smoke of political battle a winner.

And he never seemed willing to let go voluntarily. Six years ago he announced that he wanted to be elected "just once more" in order to carry on work commenced and left unfinished in congress. Four years ago he made the same announcement, two years ago he pleaded for just one more chance, and this time his managers positively announced that this would be his last appearance.

Of late years it had come to be thought in the Eighteenth Illinois district that there was no way to down "the old man." Samuel T. Busey did it in 1890, but two years later, fighting like a real warrior, Uncle Joe came back and was an easy victor.

Things began to look a bit shaky for the former speaker two years ago despite the fact he carried his district by nearly 5,000 plurality. There was a leaven working that Democrats believed augured well for success this year. They began to cast about for a candidate.

O'Hair Enters Race.

Finally Frank T. O'Hair of Edgar county was induced to enter the race. Mr. O'Hair is a lawyer of strong personality. He has the easy way that pleases the average farmer of Illinois, and there are lots of average farmers in the Eighteenth congress district.

Mr. O'Hair was reluctant to put himself against a statesman of forty years' standing, but once in the race he entered upon a campaign that quite eclipsed anything of the kind ever before seen. The lawyer proclaimed himself a progressive Democrat with no strings tied to him.

He went personally among the farmers to tell them in an intimate sort of way why Uncle Joe should be retired and why a young man full of the new spirit of the day should be sent to congress to represent the district.

Mr. O'Hair, having been born and reared on a farm in Edgar county, knew all about local farm work. He "pitched in," as the farmers put it, and helped them harvest their wheat and oats. He shucked corn in the fields for the pigs, talking politics the while and saying what he would be in favor of if he were in congress.

The kind of doctrine Mr. O'Hair preached fell upon willing ears, and he was elected.

Who O'Hair Is.

Mr. O'Hair was born forty-two years ago in a log cabin in a remote section of Edgar county of Irish parentage and spent his boyhood days on a farm. After graduating from the common school he entered Purdue university, where he took the law course. Returning to Paris, he hung out his shingle and by sheer force of character and ability has won a place among the best lawyers of eastern Illinois and western Indiana.

But once previously had he been a candidate for office, and then he tasted a defeat that was subsequently sweetened by his winning the heart of the beautiful daughter of his successful opponent and making her his wife. In 1892 he became the Democratic candidate for mayor of Paris, and the Republicans nominated D. D. Huston, father of the girl whom he hoped to wed.

The fight was one of the bitterest and hardest fought in the history of the town, and during the heat of battle young O'Hair was forbidden by Papa Huston to enter his home. Casting aside for a time affairs of the heart, he renewed his attacks upon the political enemy, loyalty for his party dominating even his desire to stand well in the good graces of Father Huston.

The latter's victory by a small margin was soon followed by a reconciliation and the winning of his heart's desire. Representative Elect and Mrs. O'Hair reside in a handsome home in Paris and have a five-year-old daughter.

GIVE FIFTY INCHES OF SKIN.

Three Others Submit to Grafting to Save Girl For Whom Boy Died.

Fifty inches of skin were removed from the father, brother and sweetheart of Miss Ethel Smith of Gary, Ind., and grafted on to the body of the burned girl for whom Billy Rugh, the crippled newsboy, gave his life by allowing a useless limb to be amputated.

Charles Smith, the father; Ray Smith, her brother, and Roy Roberts, twenty-one years old, her sweetheart, gave the skin. When Rugh gave his limb not enough skin was obtained.
