

How-de-do Mrs. Dillberry; I can't stop a minute, but say! have you heard the news? They're goin' to have a grand openin' at that big Day-light store of Soennichsen's next Saturday and they're goin' to sell things awful cheap! My sakes! they're goin' to almost give some things away on that day! Nice sunbunnits and gingham aprons is goin' at nineteen cents, an' lots of other fine bargains. Say! they aint no use of anybody spendin' railroad fare to Omaha, when you can get better bargains right in yer own town at the Day-light store! An then they're clean an fresh an haint been handled over by nobody knows who! Believe me, I'm goin' to get in on the Openin' day display. Mary Ann says we'll go early and stay late. We can set in the rest room when we get tuckered out. Mary Ann says she wants one o' them American Lady corsets, they improve the figger so much, an Goodness Knows she needs improvin'. Well I must be goin'. I'll meet you Saturday at Soennichsen's Openin'. Be sure and come, cause it's sure goin' to be the thing! Goodbye!

HELPING OUT THE BERLIN UNFORTUNATES

Neighboring Towns Display True Spirit in Sending Large Delegations to Aid in the Work.

The little village of Berlin is slowly recovering from the effects of the terrible tornado that swept over the place, but there is great difficulty in securing sufficient help to clean the place up and start the work of reconstruction, and the neighboring towns have been sending in relief workers, who have assisted as far as possible in the work of rebuilding the town.

Weeping Water sent over sixty-five men last Wednesday, and the worthy people of Elmwood, besides raising $70, on Wednesday loaded some eight men in an auto and hied themselves to the unfortunate town to assist in the carpenter work and general fixing up of the buildings. The men ran into a bunch of carpenters who were working on the job at 30 cents per hour, and they at once began to protest against the relief workers attempting to assist the unfortunates and applied the epithet of "scab" to them for their kindly offices to those who had suffered in the storm. The Elmwood people finally returned home, promising to return, which they did on Thursday, with twenty men, and finished the job that the high-priced carpenters from Nebraska City had refused to work on with the volunteers.

This is the time when there can be a great work done there, and work that their own people cannot do in a year. The amount of needed help in Berlin is great and the merchants there are handicapped by the fact that they are trying to clean up their stocks of goods that remain and cannot do any great amount of relief work, and the labor of a few men will amount to a great deal more to the town than donations of money at this time.

The volunteer workers who went to that place to work certainly deserve much praise, and the condemnation of the public should be visited upon the men who would try and oppose them in their work of charity and helpfulness because they were not regular carpenters. The Elmwood bunch of good fellows expect to go later to Berlin to put in another day assisting in the good work. The neighboring towns in that section have responded nobly to the work of aiding the unfortunate people.

THE KUNZ WILL CASE IS CONTINUED UNTIL THURSDAY, MAY 22ND

The county court has been quite busy the past two days in the handling of various probate matters that came up for hearing in that tribunal.

Yesterday the greater portion of the day was taken up in the hearing of the matter of the probate of the will of the late David Christian Kunz, the probate of the will being contested by a son of the deceased, John W. Kunz, of Berlin. The cause was continued until Thursday, May 22.

Final settlement was had in the estate of Henry J. Behrens, deceased, a former prominent citizen of Avoca precinct, and the administrator of the estate, Joseph Zimmerman, cashier of the Bank of Avoca, discharged from his responsibilities.

This morning the estate of Mrs. Gelia Polacek was given final settlement and the husband, John Polacek, who has been serving as administrator, was relieved from his duties.

ST. LUKE'S WOMAN'S AUXILIARY HOLDS ITS ANNUAL ELECTION

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's parish held their annual election of officers yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. P. Livingston, and the meeting was attended by a large number of the members, considering the disagreeable weather that prevailed all day yesterday. The election resulted in the selection of the following ladies as the officers of the auxiliary for the year: President, Mrs. J. H. Kuhns; vice president, Mrs. W. J. White; secretary, Mrs. A. W. Dawson; treasurer, Miss Dora Fricke. Following the election the ladies discussed the plans for the year and how the work of the society could be made more effective the coming season.

Notice to Hunters!

Notice is hereby given that all parties caught trespassing on my farm, north and east of the automobile road and north of the Burlington track, near Oreapolis, will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Some of my cattle have been killed by the careless hunters, and no trespassing without permission will be allowed in the future. A word to the wise should be sufficient, for I will surely exercise the law on all violators.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION OF MRS. EIKENBARY

The condition of Mrs. Henry Eikenbary, who has been very low with paralysis at her home, continues to show no improvement and her recovery seems unlikely. Physicians were at her bedside all night, but the efforts to bring relief to her seems unavailing and her family have gathered at her side to remain until the patient's condition changes. The fact that she has been in poor health for some years makes it hard for her to resist the attack and but little hope is held out for her recovery.

Dance Is Postponed.

The dance which was to have been given by the St. Agnes Sodality at the K. S. hall on Saturday evening, May 3, has been postponed until Saturday evening, May 10. The best of music will be on hand and a general good time is in store for all who attend. Remember the date—Saturday, May 10.
