A crowd of picnickers was taken out in the country by Mrs. O. A. Davis last Friday in a lumber wagon. Nevertheless it was a very pleasant day and the members of the party are very grateful to Mrs. Davis for the day's outing.

The Sidewalk Boom. The sidewalk boom which struck this town several months since continues very actively, and it seems as though the property owners of Murray have enlisted in the good cause. Glen Boedecker, Chas. Carroll, Dr. Gilmore and many others have built new concrete sidewalks in front of their residences. The worst eyesore in the town is the dilapidated condition of the walk from the Christian church to the depot. We do not exactly believe in compulsory measures to any great extent, but we do believe that when the good people have taken such measures to beautify the town those who will with impunity permit such an eyesore to exist right in plain view of every stranger who comes to town there should be some way of remedying this nuisance.

Narrow Escape From Death. Sunday afternoon Walter Jenkins had a narrow escape from being hit by a north-bound freight train at the M. P. crossing north of the depot. Walter was taking a pleasure ride on his motorcycle and was almost upon the crossing when the train came into the cut within thirty feet of him. Walter gave his machine plenty of gas, and at high speed crossed the rails south of the crossing. The engineer of the freight train stated that Walter was thrown about ten feet in the air. He lit on the opposite side of the track unhurt, but his machine was badly crippled.

A Fine Cave. Among the many improvements made in and around the Berger hotel is one of the most up-to-date caves that we have ever seen, and we do not believe that there is a better or more complete one in Cass county. Mrs. Berger believes in having things convenient around her, and she has certainly succeeded in having her way. The cave is a concrete affair and was built by Garnett Harley, an expert in this line, and if anything freezes in the cave in winter it will be occasioned by carelessness. Then, it keeps everything cool as ice in the summer.

Kicked by a Horse. Mable, the daughter of Theodore Amick, but who makes her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Amick, was kicked in the face by a horse last Wednesday, near the Wm. Ficht home, and badly hurt. Everet Thomason, who was passing, found her by the roadside unconscious. She was taken to Mr. Ficht's, the grandparents notified and medical aid summoned. From last accounts she is getting along remarkably well.

MORE FACTS CONCERNING THE REFORMATORY

It Is a Question Whether the New Reformatory Will Be Built or Not.

From Wednesday's Daily.

In response to a request from a committee representing the State Association of Charities and Correction to build a state reformatory, the state board of control has stated that it has some other building operations on its hands that must be attended to before a decision is made in regard to a reformatory. The legislature appropriated $150,000 for the purchase of a section of land and for reformatory buildings. At least $80,000 will probably be required for the purchase of the land. The board of control, comprising Judge Holcomb, Henry Gordes and Judge Kenney, has not selected a site and several towns offering land are yet to be visited by the board. It is said the board is divided on the question of compliance with the expressed desire for a reformatory. If a reformatory is built, much of the labor will be furnished by convicts eligible to admission to the institution and they must be paid a fixed sum for their work. Whether or not the board is required to build a reformatory because the legislature appropriated funds is one of the questions much discussed outside of the board. The old board of public lands and buildings declined to build a building at the Kearney industrial school for boys after the legislature had appropriated funds for that purpose. In that case the board found the number of inmates decreasing and decided that a new building was not necessary.

The state board of control has not as yet paid a visit to this city, where a very likely spot has been secured that could be used for the purpose of a reformatory, and the board can find here all the requirements needed, whether it be for farming, fruit growing or the establishing of a brick manufactory, such as it was thought would be one of the features of the new reformatory.

From Tuesday's Daily.

Cass county is to have a representative on the ballot this summer at the primary election for one of the state offices, as today James M. Teegarden of Weeping Water filed his name as a candidate for the office of state treasurer on the republican ticket, subject to the will of the voters at the primary election Tuesday, August 18. Mr. Teegarden has been a conspicuous figure in the republican circles of this county for a number of years and is one of the substantial men of the community, where he has made his home for years, and is a gentleman well liked by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance and will make a formidable candidate for the office for which he has filed. He served as county assessor of Cass county for one term to the satisfaction of everyone, and has been one of the leading men of the central part of the county in every manner. He will be found a good man for the office of treasurer if the voters see fit to select him for the position.
