Apply Sloan's Freely for Lumbago.
Your attacks of Lumbago are not nearly so hopeless as they seem. You can relieve them almost instantly by a simple application of Sloan's Liniment on the back and loins. Lumbago is a form of rheumatism, and yields perfectly to Sloan's which penetrates quickly all in through the sore, tender muscles, limbers up the back and makes it feel fine. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it goes give almost instant relief.

Mrs. Frank Raker of Imperial, Neb., and Miss Nora Rosencrans were among the passengers this morning for Omaha, where they will spend the day visiting with friends and looking after some matters of business.
Chronic Dyspepsia.
The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman St., Hornellsville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

The Strongest Fence
Science proves that the strongest fence, because constructed throughout on scientific lines, is the
ELLWOOD FENCE
SIMPLE-SCIENTIFIC-STRONG
The Reasons:
1st—Each horizontal extension of the ELLWOOD is a steel cable, consisting of two heavy wires intertwined.
2d—Each of these cables is tied to each other cable by a continuous heavy wire lapped tightly about every cable—not tied in a crooked "knot" or twist to weaken the strength of the tie wire at the bending point. (Wrap a wire around your finger and the wire is not weakened; tie a wire up in a hard knot and you cannot untie it without breaking, it is so much weakened.)
THAT IS ALL THERE IS TO ELLWOOD FENCE—
Heavy steel cables lapped about and held together by steel wire, forming uniform meshes. Simple, isn't it? No chance for weakness in any part; uniformly strong. The reasons for the superiority of ELLWOOD FENCE are not hard to find. This company owns and operates its own iron mines and furnaces; its own wire mills, and six large fence factories—either one of the six being larger than any other fence factory in the world. These facts should be convincing.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 23, IS GOVERNOR MOREHEAD'S DAY IN CASS COUNTY
Cass county will receive a visit Friday from Governor John H. Morehead, who will make a short automobile tour through the county and present to the voters the statement of his position and of his administration, which is conceded by all to be one of the ablest in years in the state. Governor Morehead will be accompanied on his tour by Attorney C. S. Aldrich of Elmwood and probably the county candidates on the democratic ticket. The tour will open at Greenwood, where the first speech of the day will be made. The schedule arranged for the day is as follows:
Greenwood 9:00 a. m.
Murdock 11:00 a. m.
Elmwood 1:00 p. m.
Weeping Water 3:00 p. m.
Louisville 4:30 p. m.
Plattsmouth 7:00 p. m.
The meeting in this city will be held at the Parmele theatre, if the weather is bad, and every citizen should be out in attendance to hear Nebraska's governor and his statement of the issues of the day presented in a manner that will place them in the right light.
J. D. Shrader of Murray was a visitor in the metropolis this morning for a few hours, going to that city on the early Burlington train.
John Kraeger, one of the substantial farmers west of Mynard, was among the visitors Saturday afternoon looking after some business matters. Sheriff Quinton and Mont Robb departed this morning on an automobile trip out in the county to look after their interests in the coming campaign.
Charles Patterson returned this morning to his home at Arapahoe, Neb., after being here in attendance at the wedding of his niece, Miss Ellen Pollock.
Editor Lee J. Mayfield of the Louisville Courier was in the city today for a few hours looking after some matters at the court house and calling on his friends.
Mrs. Fred Murphy, who is making her home at San Antonio, Tex., where Mr. Murphy is attached to the army headquarters there, was in the city yesterday, being here in attendance at Mrs. Morgan Waybright and little Miss Virginia Beenson were visitors in the metropolis today for a few hours, going to that city on the early Burlington train.
Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.
If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world's wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. DEATH RELIEVES A VERY UNFORTUNATE CITIZEN
Frank Leach, Former Train Dispatcher, Passes Away After an Illness of Fourteen Months.
Friday, October 9, at 11:30 a. m., Frank Leach passed to the great beyond, after a lingering illness of about fourteen months, his death occurring at the Clark hotel in this village, where he had been taken care of since his illness began. One sad feature of this death was the fact that no relative was present to show sympathy during his last hours, but C. W. Clark and wife made the necessary arrangements for the burial. The hearse, accompanied by friends, conveyed the remains to the cemetery west of town, where interment was made in a private lot secured for the purpose, brief services being conducted at the grave by Rev. W. A. Taylor. The deceased was given a respectable burial in accordance with orders from relatives in Chicago, who paid the expense.
Frank Leach was a familiar figure in this village, having come here about six years ago from Omaha, where he had formerly been employed as an operator and train dispatcher, at which he was an expert who had few equals. He was 63 years of age, and his native state was Michigan, where he resided and followed his profession for many years, having a wife and daughter now in that state. About eight years ago family troubles caused estrangement and since then he and his wife had not lived together. This trouble caused him to forsake his former temperate habits and resulted in the loss of good positions in railroad work. It was then that he came here, and at that time it was understood that his uncle, A. B. Leach, and two nephews of Chicago, contributed to his support. On June 23, 1913, while living alone in a small building in the west part of town, Frank was found helpless on the floor, an attack of paralysis having rendered him helpless. He was taken to Clark's hotel, where medical aid was furnished, also a nurse, for a few weeks, and for the past ten months Mr. Clark has taken care of him, the expenses being paid by the Chicago relatives.
It was indeed a sad ending for a man of the natural talent and education possessed by Frank Leach—sad because in his sickness and suffering for many long months none of his relatives saw fit to come to his bedside or to show him respect after his death. It may be true that Frank Leach erred in some ways, and it may be true that he had lost the respect of the relatives, but we hold to the theory that death erases many misdeeds, and we think that the wealthy banker relatives in Chicago and the wife and daughter are open to criticism in this case. Frank Leach was a man with many good traits, and his faults could have been overlooked after death, without any humiliation to those relatives.

A Marvelous Escape.
"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.
