SUPERINTENDENT BAIRD OF THE BURLINGTON SHOPS

Not for Years Has the Shops in All Departments Been in Such Fine Shape.

From Saturday's Daily.
The Burlington shops in this city are right now in as flourishing a condition as they have been for some time with work which is being turned out rapidly each day by the workmen in all the different departments there. The new air compressor that has been installed as soon as it gets in running order will be a decided improvement there in the amount of work that is handled by the air driven machinery and tools. This machine has required a great deal of time to install and will add greatly to the general policy of improvement in the shops generally. The compressor will be capable of supplying plenty of pressure for use in all parts of the shop and will give a pressure of 110 pounds to the inch, although if necessary this could be doubled.

In the different departments there has been a number of minor improvements that all tend toward more efficiency and better service and in the planning mill the equipment and building has been thoroughly overhauled and placed in first class shape that is certainly greatly in improvement to that which existed there for several years past.

A new addition placed on the south of the mill will give additional room for more machinery to be installed as needed. In this shop a new floor has been laid that also adds greatly to the general neatness of the shop and to facilitate the handling of the large amount of work turned out here for use in the other departments.

Superintendent Baird has been making great efforts to secure several changes that will add to the condition of the shops and in the steel car shop has been able to secure an addition to three stalls used to house the locomotives that will be enlarged to care for the large road engines that are sent in here for overhauling. The steel car shop in general is one of the best supplied of any in the shop and the work here is constantly on the increase as a greater part of the repair work of the system is done here and the force under Mr. Parker, the foreman, has turned out some splendid work in rebuilding the cars that have been sent in, some of which were total wrecks, and it was necessary to rebuild them from the trucks up. To really appreciate how much labor is required on a car that is sent in here a person should see to the steel cars sent in to the shop here and then view the rebuilt car when it is sent out ready for service. The material on the cars is all worked over and re-used in the completion of the car and very little new material is added if any to one of the cars that is rebuilt.

The upholstery department under Foreman Badig is another of the very busy departments these days as the work has been rushing for some time and the cushions, seats, curtains and other articles turned out here in a day is really surprising to one and the work is all of the highest type. The coach shop and the paint shop are both filled up with the passenger coaches that are being prepared for service on the road and no matter in what shape they may be when they arrive they are turned out in the very best of shape all ready for service.

The freight car repair department is always on the move as here there is almost always a yard full of cars although they are turned out at a very lively rate and each day the new cars sent in to be repaired. This department employs a large number of men, both truckmen and carpenters who handle every detail of this line of the repair work and cars sent in to this department are rushed through and out on the road almost before one can realize it.

The lumber yard, under the charge of Foreman J. H. Kuhns, has now one of the largest stocks that they have had in many months and there is hardly a vacant spot in the yard owing to the large amount of lumber stored here and more is constantly being unloaded. The stock carried includes a great deal of very valuable wood as well as the more cheaper varieties and the value of the stock carried now is exceptionally big, reaching many thousands of dollars.

Commissioner Heebner Gets Lead.
From Saturday's Daily.
The checking of the vote cast for county commissioner in the Second district has shown a slight gain for County Commissioner Heebner over his opponent, Charles H. Spohn, as an error in the figures has been discovered that gives Mr. Heebner a gain of ten and now places his plurality at sixteen instead of six as was first reported in the unofficial vote of the county. That the worthy commissioner has been able to secure this gain will be pleasing news to his friends throughout the county who have been so anxious to see him returned to office.

MRS. W. O. GREENE PASSED AWAY AT HER HOME SOUTH OF TOWN LAST EVENING

From Saturday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mrs. W. O. Green passed away at the home on the farm of R. M. Wiles near this city, where Mr. Green has been employed for some time. The death was rather unexpected and comes as a great blow to the husband and seven little children, who are left to mourn the taking away of a good wife and mother. The case is a very sad one and the unfortunate family will receive the deepest sympathy of the entire community. Mrs. Green has not been very well for some time and her death takes with her the little child who did not live to see the light of day. The Green family lived in the south part of the city for some three years, removing a short time ago to the Wiles farm, where Mr. Green was engaged in working at the time of the death of his wife. They came to this city from Iowa and the deceased lady was a very devout member of the Holiness church. Definite arrangements for the funeral have not as yet been made, but it is thought it will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Liberty church south of this city. The family has been very unfortunate in the last year and the death of the wife and mother comes as a most severe blow to them.

JUDGE ARCHER SAYS PIG PEN MUST BE REMOVED

From Saturday's Daily.
The hog pen case which held the center of the stage at the court of Judge M. Archer yesterday was far more long winded than was looked for, and the entire day was taken up in hearing the evidence pro and con as to whether or not the pig pen was a nuisance and the owner should be compelled to remove it at once for the benefit of the persons residing in the neighborhood of the aforesaid pig pen. The case attracted as much attention as the famous Thaw trial and the only difference in this case was that the odor in the hog case was before, while in the Thaw case it was after the trial. The testimony offered was very conflicting and it was a difficult matter for the judge to determine after hearing the arguments of the attorneys in the case and he decided to pass his decision over until morning as the mass of testimony and argument was too great to be passed on without due deliberation. This morning Judge Archer handed down his decision in which he found the issue in favor of the plaintiff, C. J. Baker, and against the defendant, I. N. Cummings, and assessed a fine of $5 and the costs of the case against the defendants. The defendants have filed an exception to the decision of the court and will probably appeal the case to the district court for hearing.

Notice.
Anyone having any clothing and furniture or anything to donate to the Rummage Sale, which will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, notify the ladies at the room in the Riley block, where the sale will be held.

GREAT MUSICAL COMEDY TO BE AT THE PARMELE

On Friday Night, November 13, "Don't Lie to Your Wife" Will Afford Our People Amusement.

The following, taken from the Iowa City Daily Press, gives a very flattering account of the appearance there of C. S. Primrose's company presenting the laughing farce comedy, "Don't Lie to Your Wife," which will appear here at the Parmele theatre on Friday evening, November 13:

"Don't Lie to Your Wife" won new laurels at the Englert theatre last night, when the medium that served Dave Lewis so happily in other days was presented to an audience, many of whose constituent parts were more enthusiastic in their admiration than were those who saw that old-time Chicago favorite in almost "auld lang syne."

A. C. Wynn scored heavily as "Amos Doubleday," an unctuously rich comedy role that calls for ability of unusual type, but offers abundant opportunities to one thus gifted.

James Cortelyou and R. M. Jackson, in strong laugh-creating roles, and Miss Dorothy Grey, as Amos' "almost deceived" wife, and Miss Jane Hall as Benedict's "ditto," contributed valuably to the features of the play that appealed to the risibilities of the audience.

The plot gallops along at the race-horse speed of modern farce, dialectic and otherwise, and the injunction of numerous tuneful numbers, full of whistle and tango steps, scarcely lessened the speed, the while they enhanced in enjoyableness the amusing play that C. S. Primrose has so effectively revived.

DEATH OF ANOTHER CASS COUNTY PIONEER IN OMAHA

From Friday's Daily.
On Wednesday, November 4, at Omaha, Charles D. Walker, one of the pioneer settlers of Elmwood, passed away at the ripe old age of 82 years and 17 days. He was well known throughout this county, where he had been for so many years a resident, and the body was laid to rest this morning in the cemetery at Elmwood among the familiar scenes of his life-time.

Mr. Walker was born in Levington county, Michigan, October 17, 1832, a son of Joseph Walker and Emerency Rounds, natives of Bristol county Massachusetts. In 1872 Charles D. Walker located in what is now Elmwood, and there for awhile conducted the first store of that place. Later, as the town advanced, he built a hotel, which is still there. For the past twelve years he had resided in Omaha with his only living daughter, Mrs. D. M. Carr. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Sarah May Walker; one son, Elmer C. Walker, of Atlantic City, Wyo., and an elder brother, Jonathan Walker, of Roscobel, Wis., and a score of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. He was a veteran of the civil war, having served in the Thirty-third Wisconsin regiment, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Meets With General Approval.

From Friday's Daily.
This morning L. W. Milenz, the representative of the Wahoo Mills company, arrived in the city to look after the interests of his company and to dispose of his celebrated "Forest Rose" flour. Mr. Milenz is a very clever gentleman and one whom it is a great pleasure to meet, and his friends here are numerous who enjoy very much meeting this pleasant gentleman.

The place to enjoy a good social dance is at the German Home and the time next Saturday evening. Remember the date and be on hand.

Take a Trip Into County.
From Saturday's Daily.
Yesterday County Judge Beeson and wife and Postmaster D. C. Morgan and wife motored down to Nehawka to the famous Pollard orchards where they visited for a short time and while there purchased two barrels of the fine Cass county apple cider, which is famous throughout the state. The trip there was made in the car of the judge and was on very much enjoyed by the party.

TOM KRATOCHVIL MEETS WITH AN ACCIDENT TODAY

Tom Kratochvil, who is employed in the Burlington shops, had a very close shave from being badly injured while at his work in the steel car shop this morning. There were a number of cars being pushed from the turntable into the stalls in the shop, and Tom was among those assisting in the pushing of the cars, and as the car entered through the doorway of the shop he misjudged the width of the space between the car and the door, and as a consequence was pinned between the two and received very severe bruises on the right shoulder and chest as well as having his neck bruised up considerably in the accident. It is most fortunate for the young man that the cars were going at a very slow rate of speed or he would have been injured very badly, but as it is, he will only be compelled to take a few days off from his duties.

THE EASTMAN SCHOOL FOR PROFESSIONAL PHOTOGRAPHERS IN OMAHA

From Friday's Daily.
Miss Carrie Greenwald returned home yesterday afternoon from Omaha, where she had been in attendance at the Eastman school for professional photographers that has been holding sessions in that city for the past few days. This school is being held in the different large cities of the country by the Eastman company, who are sending out with their best lecturers and experts in the line of photographic work, who give to all attending the latest ideas and improvements in the line of photographic work.

Miss Greenwald believes in keeping abreast with the latest developments in this line of work and has given her patrons here the benefit of her study in the work turned out at her studio here, which is very complete in every way, and this lady is always on the outlook for anything that will add to the value of her photographic output. The schools and associations formed among the photographers of the country give each other the value of their associated ideas and this has tended largely toward the upbuilding of this line of business and there are few who have kept so well informed along these lines as Miss Greenwald.

RAKE UP FALLING LEAVES AND PUT THEM ON YOUR GARDEN IN THE SPRING

From Saturday's Daily.
When we see a leaf fall from a tree, do we wonder how that leaf can be converted into money? Hardly! 'Tis only a leaf. Yet at this season of the year there are countless billions of leaves falling from trees, and every single leaf is of value if the human brain cares to utilize it. These leaves can be swept into a pile in the backyard, or elsewhere, and converted into a compact heap for use on the garden next summer. There is no better fertilizer. They will make the yardishes, the string beans, tomatoes and other garden truck spring into life as if touched by a magic wand. They will be a constant reminder that even the dropping of a leaf is not without its significance, its commercial value. Convert your leaves into wealth. 'Tis an easy thing to do.

IN HONOR OF HIS SEVENTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY

Yesterday being the 71st birthday anniversary of Mr. H. C. Van Horn, his wife gave him a very pleasant surprise in having several friends drop in for dinner. After congratulations were over they were all invited to the dining room, which was profusely decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums. A lovely dinner was served by the hostess, which was most thoroughly enjoyed by the guests.

Those in attendance were Messrs. and Mesdames Bunch, Philip Rihn, Thos. Wiles, Mrs. Minnie Pickhard and daughter, Wilma; Hazel and Howard Bunch, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Horn of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Van Horn of Omaha provided the birthday cake, this making a very attractive centerpiece for the table. Mr. Van Horn was made the happy recipient of many useful presents, which will be constant reminders of this enjoyable occasion. The afternoon was whiled away in a delightful social time, and at a late hour departed for their homes, wishing Mr. Van Horn many more happy birthday anniversaries.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE LOSES OUT IN CASS COUNTY BY A VERY LARGE MAJORITY

From Saturday's Daily.
The canvassing board in their checking of the vote cast at the election revealed the vote on the question of giving the ballot to the women as 1,378 for and 2,133 against, which defeats the proposition in the county by a majority of 745. The trend against the proposed amendment to the constitution was general in almost every precinct of the county and the result will add to the large majority piled up against this proposition in the state. It is impossible to give the full tabulated vote of the county for the benefit of the readers of The Journal today, but it will appear in the Monday issue of the daily and weekly.

Andrew Sturm in the City.
From Saturday's Daily.
Andrew F. Sturm came up yesterday from his home at Nehawka to spend a few hours here with his friends. Mr. Sturm feels well pleased with the vote he received in his home county for the office of state senator, and expressed his appreciation of the feeling shown him by the voters of Cass county although rather disappointed in the manner in which he was treated in Otoe county, where a deal was put through that resulted in his defeat.

SENATOR CHARLES KRUMBACH AND MAKE PLATTSMOUTH A PLEASANT VISIT

Senator Charles Krumbach of Shelby, Polk county, Nebraska, and wife visited in this city over Sunday at the home of W. A. Ingalls and family. Senator Brumbach is one of the leading democrats of his section of the state and has represented the Eleventh senatorial district in the legislature for three terms. He had decided to retire and not seek re-election, but the democrats of the district prevailed upon him to again enter the race, and he was elected by a greatly increased majority in the district that included Polk, Merrick and Platte counties. The senator, with his years of experience, will be one of the leading figures at the session of the legislature this winter, and with his assistance should assist in carrying out the measures of democratic reform legislation. Mr. Krumbach was in Nebraska City yesterday, where he visited with Senator-elect John Mattes of this district. Mr. and Mrs. Krumbach departed this morning for their home.

THE CEDAR CREEK CITIZENS GIVE THE SIDE OF THE REGENT "MIX-UP"

The item found in the Plattsmouth Journal November 5, copied from Tuesday's Journal and headed "A Mix-Up in the Hallow'en Celebration at Cedar Creek Saturday," is written with so great uncertainty that in justice to the young manhood and good people of Cedar Creek, it may be well to clear up the so-called "mix-up."

As stated, "three freeholders" made application to Justice Archer for special constables, but those three seem practically the only persons who thought such service necessary. It is further stated that the purpose of those particular officers was to guard certain places and property and that some lumber disappeared from the yard.

It is enough to be forced to do right when one is planning or caught in the act of evil doing, but when the young men of Cedar Creek and community, as gentlemanly and well-behaved as can be found, are made to suffer the disgrace of having officers of the law come to Cedar Creek, when even the intentions of the boys were good, it seems time that the public knew the facts in the case.

A literary in town and a party in the county were the only organized Hallow'en pranks planned, and not night prowling.

If any lumber was disturbed, our lumberman isn't a bit too old to call up some of his boyhood Hallow'en spirit and get out on that night with the boys and laugh and help in their harmless celebration, for we have it from the boys themselves that they draw the line when it comes to destroying property and many places cannot boast from like consideration.

If any officers "suffered slightly" as the writer of said article asserts, he forgot to mention the foul language used by said officer to banter the boys to do something that he might find an excuse for coming to Cedar Creek at all, and that his attitude was responsible for the "slight egg attack."

If reports be true, that officer should feel, after using such disgraceful language, that he got off lucky, coming, as he did, among a peaceable and decent community.

COLUMBIANS OF OMAHA WIN FOOTBALL CONTEST

Plattsmouth Boys Put Up Good Showing Against the Fast Columbian of Omaha.

The Plattsmouth football team yesterday afternoon journeyed up to the metropolis to engage with what is known as the Columbian team, but which consists of one Flanagan principally, as this gentleman was the cause of the score standing at the close, 33 to 3 in favor of the lads from the metropolis. The Columbians have been boasting through the press of the fact that they had never been scored upon, and the locals sprang a surprise on the huskies when in the second quarter they scored a field goal that marked up three against the boastful Omaha bunch. It was easy to see that in experience and practice the Omaha boys were in a class by themselves, and it was impossible for the locals to do business with them after the second quarter, when by a series of rushes and end runs by Flanagan, the fast left half of the Columbians, they were able to put two touchdowns on the Plattsmouth boys. The interference formed by the Omaha players was splendid, and at all times allowed the runner to get through the line at the most vulnerable spots. The locals put up a splendid game with the odds against them, and while two of the men were out of the line-up, the boys surprised their friends by the manner in which they resisted the onslaughts of the husky gentlemen of the metropolis, and the tackling of Red Warstadt was especially strong, as he gave several of the descendants of Columbus their "needles" in throwing them, and there was none of the Columbians that cared to go up against his clever work in this line. The forward pass was worked quite successfully at the Arries at quarterback, and this lost quarters of the contest the Omaha team successfully blocked several very pretty throws that were made by Arries at quarterback (and this lost considerable territory for the locals. In the second half of the game, Streight and Dawson retired, and Petty and Burrows were put in to assist in holding the wild Irish foes, who were rushing down on the boys from this city. Noble was able to throw a scare into the Omaha lads several times with his attempts to get through the line for a safety, and they kept a close eye on him during the rest of the game. He made a great run after Flanagan down half the length of the Rourke park and succeeded in throwing that gentleman on the ten-yard line of the Plattsmouth team. Ames at center played a good, steady game at all times, and his passing of the ball was accurate and his work in interference good.

MOTORCYCLISTS DISTURB PEACE ON MAIN STREET

The residents along lower Main street were treated to a most nerve-wracking and sleep-destroying experience at an early hour Sunday morning when some speed fiend with his motorcycle was busy on the street and had evidently gotten the machine out of fix, and it was started and stopped for a period covering almost an hour, and being without a muffler on the machine certainly kept everybody in a radius of two blocks awake, and the party chose as the chief spot for his operation down near the Perkins and Goos hotels. Such disturbances should be suppressed, as they are certainly very annoying, and if the motorcyclists must enjoy themselves at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning in practicing, they should seek some more secluded spot than the principal street of the city, where there are many families residing and where the hotels are located. In the future the police should see that this nuisance is abated.
