

SOME STRINGENT RULES OF THE PUBLIC HIGHWAY

Which Should Be Heeded by Auto Drivers, as Well as Others Who Demand the Right-of-Way.

From Saturday's Daily. In this day of automobiles it is quite necessary that all should know something of the laws of the road. The Journal submitted the matter to an attorney who not only is versed in the law pertaining to the road, but has been a close observer of the methods used on the highways, and while they do not have the regular statutory form of laws, he submits them for whatever use they may be:

No. 1. Don't forget that the road belongs to the public. It is paid for by all the public and maintained by the public. It is not all yours to do with as you please.

No. 2. If you buy a new car and want everybody to know it, put a notice to that effect in the newspaper. Don't try to notify them by driving everybody else from the road.

No. 3. If a horn sounds behind you, it means that the one approaching in the rear wants to pass. He has been swallowing your dust for ten miles and wants you to swallow his for the next ten. Be fair. It beats all the laws of the road.

No. 4. If you are drunk, have a policeman put you in jail. Don't turn yourself loose in your car on the highway. It might make a mess of things. Most other people on the road are sober and are entitled to better treatment from you than being messed up.

No. 5. If you want to turn loose all the ear-splitting noises about your machine, go away out in the middle of some wild woods and turn them all on and sit on a stump and enjoy it. Other people have something else to do and some of them want to sleep.

No. 6. If you have friends or passengers with you in your car and approach a railroad train, stop and let them out and then drive yourself alone in front of the train. It saves your friends and kills you before you get a chance to kill the next load.

No. 7. Never take a precaution to learn whether a train is approaching or not. It might indicate that you are a coward. The coroner has to make a living some way and it is better that he make it off of dead idiots than smart people. In your case his verdict can be short—"Came to his death by being a fool." Then he can hurry on to the next crossing. Time is everything to a coroner these days.

No. 8. If your friends on the back seat suggests that you stop at a railroad crossing, laugh at him. Most people enjoy being laughed at. Hirth is a great thing while one is out touring. And besides it may be your last chance to laugh. Don't miss the chance.

No. 9. If you see a pig in the road, turn on more gas. The pig knows about as much about the rules of the road as you do. He will get to you about as soon as you do to him, and if you are going fast you will have a chance to meet an old friend in the side ditch and can discuss it with him there. Otherwise you might miss an interesting discussion. If you kill the pig and he kills you there will be two dead hogs in the road instead of one. It will be notice to the next two hogs that come along.

No. 10. If you have a wild colt or fractious horse, hitch it up to your new buggy and take it and your wife out on the road. The road was built by the public for you to break colts in. If an automobile approaches, get out and hit the driver with a rock. That is what the supervisor leaves the rocks in the road for. Your colt may run off and tear up your new buggy and kill your wife, and you may kill the auto driver, but you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you are lord of that part of the road. It seems to be a great satisfaction these days.

No. 11. If another attempts to pass you on the road, race with him, that is what the public roads are for. You may not have known this before, but you know it now, so turn her loose. If a farmer wants to haul corn, he can wait till the race is over. And then you both may be killed, which will be a great blessing to everybody else on the road.

No. 12. If several little children are playing at the roadside as you approach, turn your machine loose at full speed. They like to see the wheels go round. They never get excited in their games and back in front of a machine. Their mothers have nothing else to do, anyway, but watch them, so open up. You may be able to kill the whole bunch, and then be able to say they ought to have been at home. You were never a child yourself and it is a great thing to be able to say this since the whole road belongs to you.

No. 13. Cities should not pass ordinance nor the state enact laws making it a criminal offense for a driver with passengers in a motor car to stop before crossing a railway track. It would interfere with the undertaking business.

E. A. KIRKPATRICK HAS LIVED IN NEBRASKA SIXTY YEARS

From Saturday's Daily. Monday, September 6, was the 60th anniversary of the coming of the Kirkpatrick family to Nebraska. The event was celebrated by the relatives at Oakhurst, the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kirkpatrick. S. M. Kirkpatrick made the first road from Plattsmouth to Nehawka and here he erected the first mill building in the Territory of Nebraska. The children were: Edwin, Marshall, Elizie, Levi and William. It was a lonely, dreary monotonous road they traveled from Plattsmouth. There was no house in sight from Plattsmouth until what was then Mt. Pleasant was reached, where a glimpse of Judge Wolph's house, where William Schlichtemeier lives, was seen, and a quarter of a mile further along the home of Squire Hughes was seen; this is where Mr. Giles now lives. On the whole distance not a person nor an animal was seen.—Nehawka News.

G. H. AXLEY AND MISS EDITH WISE MARRIED AT THE COURT HOUSE

From Saturday's Daily. This morning Mr. Charles H. Axley of Louisville and Miss Edith Wise of Weeping Water appeared at the court house and inquired the location of the marriage license department, and securing the necessary permit, requested that the ceremony be performed at the court house, and as the county judge was out of the city a hurried call was made for Rev. F. M. Druliner, pastor of the First Methodist church, who responded, and in a few minutes the two happy hearts were made one by the minister using the solemn and impressive service of the Methodist church. After spending a few hours here the bride and groom returned to their new home at Louisville.

MRS. HOMER M'KAY DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINS PAST CHIEFS

From Saturday's Daily. The Past Chiefs of the Degree of Honor were entertained yesterday in a most charming manner at the home of Mrs. Homer McKay in the north part of the city, and the occasion proved one of the rarest enjoyment in every way to the jolly party of ladies present. In honor of the gathering the rooms of the McKay home were very prettily arranged with bouquets of asters in their different colors, which gave an added touch of beauty to the occasion. The attendance was quite large, as almost the entire membership was present to take part in the meeting and a very pleasant surprise awaited the members in the fact that as a guest, Mrs. Joseph E. Lake, of Tacoma, Washington, a former member, was present to take part in the pleasurable event, and it is needless to say this was greatly enjoyed by the old friends of this estimable lady. A general social good time was enjoyed until a suitable hour, when a most tempting and dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Minnie Pickard and Mrs. W. H. Bunch.

IF YOUR DOG IS NOT TAGGED HE IS IN DANGER

From Saturday's Daily. The fact that the stray dogs without tags are beginning to become quite numerous has caused the police to decide that it is about time to start in and rid the community of the frisky canine who is so unfortunate as not to have a tag. There is no closed season on the dogs and those who desire to preserve their pets from the destructive fire of the artillery of the police should secure a tag before it is too late. Get busy now, you owners of canines.

BEN RAINEY MEETS MAN AT TRAIN, SHOULD BEEN FRANK RENNIE

From Friday's Daily. Yesterday afternoon Ben Rainey received a telephone message from Fort Crook announcing that a man named McArdle was injured there and was being sent to this city, and had requested that Mr. Rainey meet him at the depot at the 4 o'clock train. This Mr. Rainey done, although he knew no one by that name, and the man, McArdle, proved to be a total stranger to Ben, but there was no doubt about his being in bad shape, as he was suffering from what seemed to be an illness of some duration and seemed caused from an over-indulgence in spirits. The man stated that he had worked on the Holdrege ranch at Madrid, Neb., for several years and he had desired to get in touch with Frank Rennie, the manager of the ranch, who he had thought was here visiting, and it was this name that had been confused with that of Ben Rainey. The man continued to grow worse and was taken to the city jail, where he could rest, but continued to grow worse, and this morning was transferred to the county jail to be cared for in better shape until he could improve sufficiently to get on his way back to Madrid. From his actions and statements the man had evidently been on a dissipation for some time.

MRS. J. M. HALL ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF HER SON AND WIFE

From Friday's Daily. Last evening Mrs. J. M. Hall entertained at her home in the west part of the city at a most delightful 7 o'clock dinner party in honor of her son, George M. Hall and bride, of Falls City, Neb., who are here for a short visit, and in honor of the occasion a number of the young friends of the newly weds were present to take part in the pleasurable occasion. The table was very prettily arranged with bouquets of cosmos, which, in their delicate beauty made a very pretty setting to the occasion, while covers were laid for twelve guests. Mrs. Hall was assisted in entertaining and serving by Misses Margaret Rishel and Essie Buttery. Following the dinner the evening was spent in the enjoyment of a number of musical selections and readings by members of the jolly party of young people. Those who were in attendance were: Messrs. and Mesdames Hugh Cecil, J. R. Jennings, Jennings Seivers, George M. Hall, Misses Alice and Hazel Tuley, Elizabeth Kerr and Mr. James Rishel.

FORMER RESIDENT OF PLATTSMOUTH DIES AT KIRKWOOD, MO.

From Friday's Daily. A message was received here today by C. H. Smith, notifying him of the death at his home in Kirkwood, Missouri, of D. S. Guild, who was for a number of years Burlington storekeeper in this city, and well known over the Burlington lines west of Chicago. The message was sent to Mr. Smith as representative of the Knights and Ladies of Security lodge, of which Mr. Guild was a member, and stated that he had died on Sunday, September 5th, but gave no particulars of the death. His friends will regret very much to hear of the death of Mr. Guild, who was a fine, genial gentleman to all who knew him. He leaves a wife and two sons, Captain George Guild, U. S. A., and David Guild, jr.

TWO PERSONS ARE INJURED IN ACCIDENTS YESTERDAY

From Friday's Daily. Yesterday Thomas Henrich, who is employed on the bridge gang of the Burlington, was injured rather severely while he was axing a timber, when the ax slipped and struck his left ankle, inflicting an injury that made it necessary to have several stitches taken to close the wound. Charles West, who is working in this vicinity with the Rundle Apple Packing company, yesterday also suffered an injury while engaged in cutting grass in an orchard west of this city, as he struck his right leg with the scythe, cutting a gash several inches long, requiring the use of several stitches to close up.

NEW MAN IS IN CHARGE OF THE UNION LEDGER

From Saturday's Daily. The first issue of the Union Ledger under the management of W. H. Brown, who has just arrived at Union from Sidney, Iowa, has been issued and the new editor has secured a bright, newsy paper which is filled with the local items from the locality. Mr. C. L. Graves, who retires from the Ledger after a control of twenty-six years, has furnished the people of that place with a good paper during that time and it is with regret among the newspaper fraternity that his withdrawal is recorded, but the new publisher will receive a hearty welcome to the county and to the newspaper field formerly occupied by Mr. Graves.

BASE BALL BOOSTER DAY CONTEMPLATED AND SHOULD BE A GO

The base ball team and the officers of the association have tendered their services to the Commercial club for a grand gala day here in which the proceeds, outside of the expense of the visiting team, will be turned over to some public enterprise which will be designated by the Commercial club. It is expected that when the day is set for the event that all the business houses of the city will be closed and the merchants and their employees join in the big base ball booster day and attend the games, as well as the citizens. For this occasion a good, strong team will be secured and a red-hot game staged to give the Red Sox boys an opportunity of displaying their skill on the diamond, and the occasion will be one that will long be remembered.

This offer of the base ball team is one that certainly shows the proper spirit and should be recognized by a general suspension of the business activities on the day of the game and a grand rally of the lovers of the great American pastime in this city and vicinity. A neat sum can be secured that can be applied toward the maintenance of the ladies' rest room during the winter or some other movement that will be for the benefit of the public, and if held should be attended by everyone in the city to show their appreciation of the progressive spirit shown of the base ball boys in donating their services to the public enterprise. The Red Sox have been a worthy representative of the city in the base ball field and are as good as any amateur team in this section of the state.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL ALMOST COMPLETED

From Saturday's Daily. The work of improving the grounds around the High school and Central buildings, which has been under way for some time, is getting along in fine shape and the appearance of the surroundings of the schools is much better. The erection of the concrete wall along the south side of the grounds has added 100 per cent to the looks of the High school grounds and does away with the dirt from the embankment which so often washed down onto the sidewalk. The space between the wall and the embankment has been filled in by J. H. McMaken, the contractor, and a number of the trees which have stood there for several years have been removed to allow of the grading and filling of the ground back of the retaining wall. The campus just east of the High school building is also being graded up as it was quite low in several places, and with the changes will do away with the trouble that has been experienced in having water stand on the campus in wet weather. Just east of the Central building there will be placed a modern drinking fountain for use of the pupils during the recess periods, as the facilities at present do not allow of securing the best results in looking after the needs of the children in the way of drinking fountains, and the new addition will take care of the little folks nicely at the playground.

New Hair Makes Appearance. From Saturday's Daily. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wehrbein, residing west of this city, are the proud and happy parents of a fine new son and heir that arrived a few days ago at their home. The little son and mother are doing nicely and Will is just as happy as he could possibly be over the addition to the family. Mrs. Wehrbein was formerly Miss Jessie Duffy of this city.

A GREAT BALL GAME PLAYED AT PARK SUNDAY

The Red Sox "Do" Cedar Creek to the Tune of 4 to 2 in a Red-Hot and Fast Game.

The Cedar Creek team arrived on schedule time yesterday for their conflict with the crimson hosed aggregation of Plattsmouth, and brought with them Gotsch, the fast Gretna pitcher, to whom they clung as a life saver, but despite the fact that he hurled a good game, victory perched on the side of the Red Sox by a score of 4 to 2, as the team back of the imported pitcher were not able to stop the onslaught of the fast Sox machinery and the visitors were compelled to retire homeward in a state of defeat, and but for a bobble of the locals in the ninth would have been shut out.

The visitors opened the first with a safety through third by Huff and Rapps was walked by Cline; Ossenkop struck out and Huff was nailed at third, as was Rapps at second base, and this closed the rosy hopes of the visitors scoring. Beal found one of Gotsch's slants for a safety in the opening inning and was advanced on the sacrifice of Parriott; Graham struck out; Herold singled to left on which Beal came home with the first run of the game; Pitman ended the inning by a strikeout.

In the second inning the Creekers opened with Koop landing one over second for a safety, but was caught when he attempted to steal the second station; Salsburg was walked, but was forced on the drive of Rockwell to second, and Rocky was later caught off first by Graham, retiring the side. The Sox were not able to do business in this inning. Mason, Parker and Smith being retired in order.

The third was a blank for both sides, as Wolf, the catcher of the visitors, was whiffed by Cline, and Connors, who followed, while able to plant a safe one to first, was caught trying to pilfer second and tagged out; Gotsch ended the visitor's half by a flyout to Beal. In the Sox's half Cline was out on a foul to Wolf, and Beal and Parriott struck out.

The fourth spasm opened with Huff up, who was passed to first; Rapps hit to Cline, forcing Huff at second; Ossenkop put a grounder to Parker, who with fast work retired Rapps at second and threw Ossenkop out at first. In Plattsmouth's half Graham, Herold and Pitman retired in order.

In the fifth act of the little drama the Sox added another to their list. The visitors opened with Koop, who was out on a fly to Parker; Salsburg struck out and Rockwell was robbed of a long hit by Beal, who after a hard run made a sensational catch in right field. Mason opened for the Sox and was walked by Gotsch; Parker bunted along the first base line safely, advancing Mason, while Smith was safe on a grounder to Gotsch, filling the bases, and when Beal was out on a drive to left Mason scored. Cline struck out; Parriott was walked, but Graham ended the inning by a little grounder to Connors at first.

The sixth saw some fast fielding by the locals in retiring the visitors, when Wolf was railroaded, Cline to Graham; Connors secured a safe one over third, and when Gotsch hit to Cline was nipped at second, while Gotsch was thrown out at first. Herold opened the argument for the Sox with a two-bagger to center; Pitman hit to short, and on the bobble of Rapps was safe, but no one scored, as Mason and Parker struck out, while Smith was out at first.

The famous lucky seventh was there when it was needed, as after the visitors had been blanked, and Cline and Beal were out for the locals the fireworks were touched off by Parriott, who leaned on one of the famous outs of Gotsch and placed it out in center field, and Parker was put in to run for Glen, whose leg was injured at Glenwood last week. Graham, who followed, also took kindly to the slants of Gotsch and put a hot one through Rapps at short, and when Herold drove a long fly to left both Parker and Graham scored, but Peter was caught attempting to steal second.

The eighth inning was as peaceful as a summer day, with each side going out in one, two, three order.

The Cedar Creek boys threw a scare into the fans in the ninth, when they were able to push two runs over the plate after Gotsch had been thrown out at the first sack. Huff walked, but was forced on the hit of Rapps to Parker; Ossenkop hit to Parker and was safe on the wild throw over Graham's head, and when Koop hit a fly to short center, both Rapps and Ossenkop scored, as Parker was not able to hold the throw. Salsburg ended the show by a grounder to Cline.

The tabulated score of the game was as follows:

FOOT BALL LOVERS ORGANIZE FOR THE ENSUING YEAR

From Saturday's Daily. The football enthusiasts of the city met last evening at the office of Fred G. Dawson, on South Sixth street, to get the ball started to rolling for the season of 1915, and as almost all of the old squad of players of last year were on hand to take part in the meeting there was much accomplished toward getting a start on the season's work. The boys elected as their officers for the season H. G. Streight as manager and Clarence Bell as captain, and all agreed that this was the time to start training for the advent of the pigskin as soon as the base ball season was closed. There is plenty of good material on hand for a good, fast team, and as most of last year's team will be back in the game, it should give them a good start for bringing out a mighty good squad from which to pick the team.

M'ARDE GIVEN MEDICAL AID AND IS IMPROVING

From Saturday's Daily. The man named McArdle, who was in such bad shape at the county jail here, was given medical attention yesterday and this morning was showing some improvement and was shipped out to Lincoln, where he claimed to have friends that could care for him. The man had suffered a great deal while here and was apparently about "all in" physically, and failing to find anyone here who knew him he was in bad shape and practically at the end of his resources.

STETSON Hats for us—every time, and for you, most likely—for we notice that every man who gives thought to his clothes comes to us sooner or later for his hats.

Just now, the timely thing is the Fall Derbies and Soft Hats. Rather more Derbies being worn this year than for some time past—and in Soft Hats, the more formal effects are vogue.

Dress Up Boys!

WHY? Because these are "piping times of prosperity" with all of us. Men from Maine to California wear the same clothes, and have the very same cut, and have the very same ideas about being dressed up. There are one hundred million people in the United States that can afford to be dressed up this fall of all falls. The crops are record breakers, money is more plentiful than it has been for some time.

BETTER DRESS UP, and show your friends that you too are prospering.

One of our suits will "turn the trick." SOCIETY BRAND, KUPPENHEIMER and CLOTH-CRAFT Suits $10.00 to $30.00.
