THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Home is the resort of love, of joy, of peace and plenty, where supporting and supported, polished friends and dear relations mingle into bliss.—Thomson.

Fine shower, but not enough.

Corn husking is now good business.

There is no use loafing, plenty of work now.

Trouble is easy to find but hard to lose. Don't forget that, as you go along.

The political bass drummer has to be more of an athlete than a musician.

The Kansas man who shot his wife's grandmother is carrying his resentment too far.

After all it is more satisfying to take things as they come than to give them up as they go.

We have with us yet the person who remembers when automobiles were called horseless carriages.

If you must knock get out in the middle of a forty acre lot before you swing your hammer too promiscuously.

Plenty of time yet to get elected or defeated before the fatal election day. It depends upon you who is the best hustler.

Thompson's reform administration in Chicago, seems to be "in the soup." It hasn't been very long since the republicans wanted Thompson to run for president.

The Nebraska railway commission has bolted the republican national platform. The republican national platform advocates throwing three republican railway commissioners out of their jobs. But of course the commissioners bolted because of their patriotism and their love for the dear pee-pull!

R. L. Metcalfe is doing some mighty good work for Wilson and the democratic ticket out in the state. He draws large crowds and he gives the Hughes party some sledge-hammer blows direct from the shoulder. Dick Metcalfe is just the man that can do the work up brown.

Edgar Howard, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, is one of the best qualified men that ever was a candidate for that position, and should be elected because he is able to preside over such a dignified body of statesmen with honor to himself, and precision in action.

Ex-Senator William V. Allen is a candidate for district judge in the Ninth judicial district, composed of the counties of Wayne, Antelope, Cuming, Knox, Madison, Pearce and Stanton. He should be elected, simply because Senator Allen is most eminently well fitted for a position of this character, being one of the best lawyers in the state.

The voters of the First district will elect Hon. John A. Maguire to his old place in congress on the 7th day of November, because they have confidence in him. He served them faithfully and honorably, and he will do the business in the same manner. His influence among the members was great, and then, he is for Wilson every day in the week, and all the time.

Morrissey for chief justice.

Neville, for governor, will get there.

The farmers need men to husk corn.

You have to get there before you try to come back.

It's a cinch you never will accomplish much if you don't aim high.

You don't know whether you are raising your boy to be a soldier or not.

Any man who tries to do right by God and man need have no fear of the devil.

It used to be, "until death do us part," but now it is "until divorce do us part."

You never can tell. Many a woman who faints at the sight of a mouse will lord it over her husband.

Now that Rev. Irl R. Hicks has passed to the Great Beyond, what are we to do now for pointers on the weather?

Speaking of Huerta, the president is reported as saying there is no reason to answer the deft of Mr. Hughes; that the entire country knows he told Huerta to get out, and that he is out.

Wall street is for Hughes, but the country at large is sure unanimous for the retention of President Wilson for another four years. The country with one voice speaks out: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant!"

Remember when you vote for John Murtey, you are voting for a gentleman of ability and one that as a member of the legislature will reflect great credit upon the voters of Cass county.

They can say what they please about W. J. Bryan, but the great commoner is doing a great deal of good work for President Wilson. Mr. Bryan may not be agreeable to us in many respects, yet there are many things in him we can't help but like. He is one of the greatest men in America.

Mike Tritsch should be elected to the office of county treasurer because the taxpayers know that he is abundantly well qualified for this very responsible position. He has been tried and not found wanting in the transaction of the business in any department of the treasurer's office. You make no mistake in supporting Mike Tritsch.

Edwin Zimmerer, who was nominated as the republican candidate for float representative for Otoe and Cass counties has positively refused to permit his name to be printed on the election ballot, and now a new man will have to be pitted against L. G. Todd, the democratic candidate. Mr. Todd is one of the finest young men to be found in either county and the democrats are certainly very fortunate in his nomination for the position.

Arthur Mullen is not an issue in this campaign, but he is a member of the national committee, and has a duty to perform, and that duty will be well performed; and if the republicans don't like Art's manner of doing business, how are they going to help themselves—pray, tell us. We have known Mr. Mullen ever since we have been in the state, and there has never been an election during that time where he was to the front, but that the republicans dreaded him. And that's the same trouble with the republicans now. But Art forges right ahead, just the same.

ROOSEVELT IN THE SADDLE.

Senator Reed is justified in his statement that "Roosevelt has taken the bit in his mouth and is running away. He is dragging after him the party wagon." Mr. Reed says the colonel is "in supreme control of the republican party."

We do not say he is yet in supreme control, but we cannot doubt that he is controlling the campaign and that he intends to take the party over.

Signs of the Roosevelt leadership are rapidly multiplying. He is the one man who is making specific declarations of republican intentions. He is defining what Mr. Hughes stands for and what Mr. Hughes intends to do. At the Union league reception it was Colonel Roosevelt who said that there would be no debate on the German reichstag over the revival of German submarine warfare "if they had a president of the United States who would not tolerate anything of that sort." It is Colonel Roosevelt who tells how he brought the kaiser to terms in Venezuela with a threat of war. It is Colonel Roosevelt who says that Mexico ought to be forced to submit to American terms. It is Colonel Roosevelt who implies that Mr. Hughes will use the big stick on both Germany and Mexico and who is preaching war as the righteous alternative of the peace Mr. Wilson has maintained through diplomacy. In behalf of Mr. Hughes Colonel Roosevelt scorns and scouts the reasonable, humane and peaceful methods of President Wilson. His criticisms and epithets applied to Mr. Wilson and to the entire Wilson method and program describe by contrast what sort of a president Mr. Hughes is to be and what sort of a policy he is to undertake. He expects Mr. Hughes to overturn the internal acts of the Wilson administration and to reverse Wilson's foreign policies.

Mr. Hughes makes no protest. On the contrary, he expresses his gratitude for the colonel's valuable support. He is afraid to protest or check the colonel's tirades. He knows that while he may be defeated with the colonel's support, he would certainly be defeated without it.

Colonel Roosevelt is lacking in neither sagacity nor audacity. He will use his advantage mercilessly. He is now the leader and spokesman of the Hughes campaign, he intends to be the master of the Hughes' administration in the event of republican success.

Colonel Roosevelt made Taft president and because Taft refused to submit to his dictation ruined him. He will rule or ruin the Hughes' administration.

If Mr. Hughes is elected through the Roosevelt alliance will he dare stand against Colonel Roosevelt's domination? If he is too timid now to protest against Colonel Roosevelt's rampant leadership in the campaign will he dare withstand his mastery after the election at the risk of political ruin?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It was Senator Hitchcock who secured an amendment to the federal reserve law that makes it possible for reserve banks to discount the paper of stock raisers and farmers. Perhaps you have noticed that in this good year of 1916, for the first time in many years, you haven't heard any complaints about lack of money to "move crops." It was the Hitchcock amendment to the federal reserve law that brought about this happy condition of affairs.

Attorney General Willis Reed made hundreds of friends here Tuesday, all of whom will vote for his retention in the office he is so ably filling. Willis Reed, while not a large man in stature, is one of the brainiest men in Nebraska and has but few equals as an orator. He is cut out for a higher position, but he has done such excellent work as attorney-general that the taxpayers propose to retain him in his present position for at least two more years.

Keith Neville is becoming more popular every day. Since the business administration of Governor Morehead has proved so beneficial to the taxpayers of the state, they have come to the conclusion that such an administration should be continued. Keith Neville is a fine business man, and he is on record as one of the best in the state, and that is the reason why he should be elected governor.

We stop the press to inquire again: What has become of that old complaint about the "lack of money to move the crops" that we used to hear every fall, when republicans had control of affairs?

Old winter is getting nearer.

Are you prepared for the worst to come?

If you would just as soon remain in a rut the chances are you will.

No man ought to deprive himself of the joy of a new idea every day.

It isn't fair to think just because a man hasn't an automobile that he hasn't any money in the bank.

The election draws a little nearer every day, and the nearer its approach the more nervous the candidates become.

No man can make a success of the newspaper business until he realizes that publicity is the only thing he has for sale.

Doctors have declared milk a stimulant. However, a milk jag is comparatively harmless. It does not cause a fighting spirit.

There may be no justification for painting the lily, or gilding refined gold, but somebody seems to profit by dyeing the green strawberry a bright red.

A California woman wants a divorce because her husband "tried to give her away." If she wants revenge on a man like that she ought to stick to him.

The end of the world may be in sight, but fat women continue to keep on trying to reduce their weight, and bald-headed men to buy hair tonic in large quantities.

A vote for John Wunderlich is a boost for one of the best men in the county for sheriff. He is honest and capable, and the affairs of the office will be transacted intelligently and in a business like manner.

John Wunderlich is seeing many voters these days, and from what we can learn, he is gaining friends right along. The people are well satisfied that John Wunderlich will make a good sheriff, and many of them believe it is time for a change in that office.

The supreme court of the United States never assessed triple damages against a trust in restraint of trade. But Justice Charles Evans Hughes assenting, it did assess triple damages against a trades union, and proceeded to confiscate the homes of the workers to pay the damages. Justice Hughes has a record for standing in with the corporations—see 2-cent fare law veto and opposition to income tax.

John Murtey, the democratic candidate for representative, is winning golden opinions in the several sections of Cass county that he has visited. There is a big difference in a gentleman well fitted for such a position and one that is not, and the voters of the county can easily discern that John Murtey possesses all the qualifications to represent the people of Cass county as they should be represented.

In case that President Wilson is re-elected, which is altogether probable, he will need a congress to back him up in his work the same as he has now. Then don't forget this as election day draws near, and remember Senator Hitchcock and John A. McGuire will be found supporting the president in his efforts to do for the people. They are both friends of the people and the president must have the support of congress in order to do for the people in the future as he has done in the past.

The 8 o'clock closing law is an amendment to the Slocum law. If you are elected and prohibition is defeated, will you rigidly enforce the 8 o'clock closing law, Mr. Sutton. And if you can enforce a law you do not endorse, is it not more than likely that Keith Neville, who is as honest as you, and quite as able, will do the same thing? "We believe everybody should learn to swim," says an instructor. Sure thing. And then they will have the pleasure of teaching the girls how.

"EIGHT SENATORS."

The Lincoln Journal argues with democrats who were opposed to Senator Hitchcock in the primary, telling them that it is not necessary to send back Mr. Hitchcock to the senate to support the democratic administration, that the democrats already have a lead of fifteen senators over the republicans, and one democratic senator lost in this state will make no material difference. There may be some democrats who can swallow that sort of dope, but they are making the mistake of their lives.

When the senator from New York was here, he urged that a republican be elected to the senate from this state. "Give us Mr. Kennedy," he said, and he pointed out that it was necessary to displace only seven more democratic senators with republicans, since Maine has added one to the latter, in order to give the republicans control of the senate.

And that was advice which is backed with sense and logic. If those who favor the re-election of President Wilson are induced to vote for Senator Hitchcock's opponent in this state and if administration supporters in West Virginia, Illinois, Kansas, Indiana and New York can be induced to do the same thing, the senate will be against the president. That sort of strategy would yield just the results which the republican party leaders want. They tell you that one senator more or less won't make any difference, and they are telling the same thing in a dozen different states. Don't think that the Journal's suggestion is the only one of the kind that is being made in the country. They are working the same tactics in other states.—Beatrice Sun.

Having received the nomination for the office of sheriff of Cass county, on the democratic ticket, and in connection with announcing my candidacy for said office, I wish also to express my appreciation for the loyal support given me at the primaries, and trust that you will be able to give the same loyal support at the general election, November 7th. With the promise of faithfulness to all the duties of the office, I solicit the support of the voters of Cass county.

CLARENCE L. BEAL.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Some eastern papers are trying to make quite a stir because boots and shoes have been put on the free list, "thus opening American high-class industry to the competition of the cheap labor of the world."

Of course we realize that we are putting up a democratic argument when we ask: What is wrong with that?

But we believe in giving the devil his dues.

There certainly is plenty of room for criticism in the Underwood tariff bill, but putting boots and shoes on the free list should offer no occasion for criticism.

The real place where the shoe pinches the American people is in having the owners of machines used in the making of boots and shoes walk off with so many millions of dollars each year without doing hardly anything.

In this particular case protection only means feeding the trust.—Hastings Tribune (rep.).

Nebraska's oats crop alone this year amounts to $29,636,548. And that doesn't include the wild oats either.

The betting man should know better than to bet.

And it is going to be a cold one.

Work hard, and then a little harder.

It isn't what a girl says but the way she says it that keeps a man guessing.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The work of moving into the new Carnegie library was commenced yesterday, with the assistance of the following named boys from the public school: Claire Hudson, Rolland Sutton, James Persinger, Miles Altman, Victor Krivanek, Joseph McCarthy, Paul Winscot. The entire juvenile department was moved and the books placed on the shelves in the new library.

The librarian and board are very grateful for the efficient assistance given by these boys. It is expected to complete the moving this week and the formal opening will be held next week, to which all citizens are cordially invited, the date to be announced later.

SHIPPED A FINE HOG.

George Perry of this city, who has been engaged in the raising of fine thoroughbred Poland-China hogs for the past few years, on Tuesday shipped to Sheridan, Wyo., a fine male pig that will be placed on one of the large farms in that locality. Mr. Perry has had a great success in the raising of these hogs, and in fact that one was shipped to such a distance is proof of the fact that they are among the best in the west.
