"THE WHOLE TRUTH"

Says Mrs. Eads, in Writing Her Praise For Cardui.

Circleville, Ohio.—"All I have said about Cardui, the woman's tonic, is the whole truth," says Mrs. Fannie Eads, of R. F. D. No. 6, this town.

"I suffered with womanly weakness, and pains in my back and limbs for two long years. I was so bad off, I could hardly walk at all.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I concluded to follow his advice. After taking Cardui according to directions, I now feel like a new woman, and can do all of my work.

Before taking Cardui, I was a walking skeleton; now I weigh 150 pounds. I recommend Cardui to every suffering woman, for I know what it did for me. My dresser is never without a bottle of Cardui on it."

There is no reason why Cardui won't help you, just as it has Mrs. Eads, as well as hundreds of thousands of other women in the past 50 years. So if you suffer from any of the many ailments so common to women, or need a good strengthening tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling, get a bottle of Cardui today. At all druggists. NCB

GOAT HUNTING ON THE FITZGERALD & SCHLATER FARM

From Tuesday's Daily.

There was a real exciting hunting party staged Sunday at the Schlater & Fitzgerald farm north of the city when a number of local nimrods gathered to take part in a goat hunt. For the past few years the owners of the farm have been keeping a number of goats at the place and they have come through the woods and brush until they have become as wild as deer and the owner, deciding that he would rid the place of them, secured the services of several hunters to do the job, and from all reports it was a real job, too, as the animals were wild and it was necessary to chase them all over the farm before they could be nailed by the marksmen. In the shoot, "Old Hickory" and William Grebe were successful in landing eleven of the fourteen goats and this after a great effort. "Old Hickory" secured the first blood in the hunt when he plugged three of the goats on the run, and then the animals scattered in all directions and it was several hours' work to get in range where a shot was possible. The hunt was witnessed by quite a large number and it is stated that those taking part made a number of mighty good shots and certainly ought to take down a prize for running, as they were all over the farm in pursuit of the elusive goats before they were all rounded up and the farm of Mr. Schlater was cleared of them.

MRS. L. B. EGGENBERGER ENTERTAINS RELIEF CORPS

From Wednesday's Daily.

The ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps yesterday afternoon enjoyed their regular monthly social meeting at the charming home of Mrs. L. B. Eggenberger on lower Main street, and despite the very disagreeable weather there were some forty ladies present to take part in the meeting and enjoy the delightful hospitality afforded them by Mrs. Eggenberger, Mrs. H. J. Streight and Mrs. James Lee, hostesses of the occasion. The time was spent by the ladies in sewing and visiting, and with great enjoyment the ladies whiled away the fleeting hours. At a suitable hour a dainty and delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. L. B. Eggenberger, jr., Misses Helen Eggenberger, Jeannette Weber and Miss Helen Eggenberger. It was a most delightful occasion and all of the ladies present felt it a rare treat to be present at this happy gathering.

DR. J. L. BROWN QUITE ILL.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Dr. F. O. Beck, a prominent Omaha physician and surgeon, arrived in Plattsmouth on No. 2 Sunday afternoon and was taken at once to Mynard, where he was called in consultation with Dr. E. W. Cook of this city in the case of Dr. Brown, who has been so seriously ill since arriving at his home in Mynard. The doctors found Mr. Brown to be in a very weakened state, but it is to be hoped this worthy gentleman will soon be restored to his former good health.

WHY SOME CAN EAT ONIONS AND OTHERS CAN NOT

Food Handled in Body, Like Raw Material in House; System Has Many Workers.

In order that food may build our bodies it must be properly digested. It must be prepared just like materials used in building a house.

Raw materials must be worked into proper condition and shape for use.

Each different food, like each different building material, must be handled by different workmen, corresponding to carpenters, plasterers, paperhangers and painters. After due preparation, food, like building material, is ready to take its place in our body. That is called assimilation and explains why some people can eat potatoes and cannot touch onions, while others enjoy onions and cannot eat radishes. Their organs of assimilation are at fault.

It is necessary for every person to keep the organs of digestion and assimilation in good health. The constitution demands a variety of foods. Those who take Tanlac say they can eat anything without discomfort. It has relieved hundreds of thousands of cases of headache, constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, catarrh, sluggish liver and kidney ailments, because it induces good digestion and assimilation.

Men and women, who need better digestions, more strength and a toning up of the nervous system will do well to take Tanlac.

Tanlac is being specially introduced in Plattsmouth at the Mauzey Drug Company.

Tanlac may also be obtained in Springfield, at H. Fiegenbaum's store, and in Weeping Water at the Meier Drug Co.

CONGRESSMAN REAVIS TO BE HERE.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Congressman C. F. Reavis of Falls City will be in Plattsmouth Monday evening, October 30th, to address the voters of this city and county. The meeting will be held at the Parmele theater, and at this time the congressman will give an outline of his position on the national questions before the public. This is the first visit of Mr. Reavis to this city during the present campaign and will give the voters an opportunity of hearing him on the political issues of the day.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 25c and 50c.

Remember that S. J. Reames sells the latest books published. Harold Bell Wright's latest works.

E. J. Richey and wife departed this morning for Omaha, where they will spend a few hours visiting with friends and looking after some business matters.

Remember the Journal carries the finest line of stationery in town, and can please all in this line of goods.

HAMPTON COURT SINGERS GAVE EXCELLENT PROGRAM

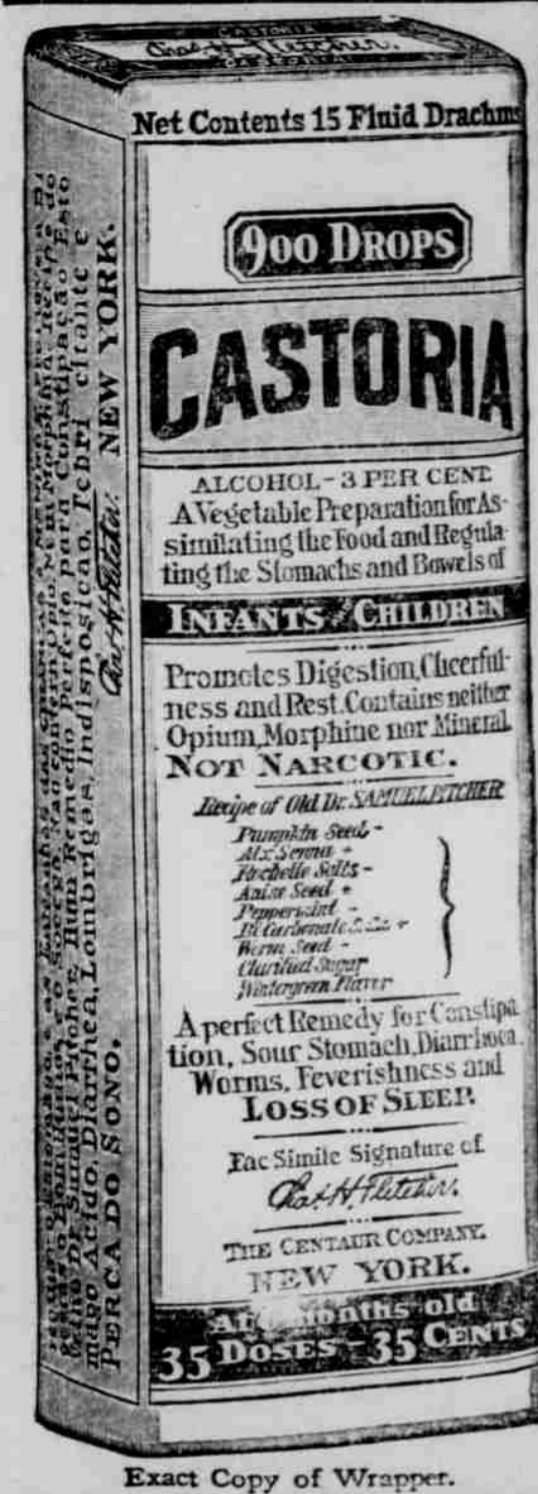

From Wednesday's Daily.

Last evening the first number of the high school lecture course was given at the Parmele theater under the most trying circumstances as the wet and disagreeable evening kept a great many away who would otherwise have been able to enjoy the rare treat. The attraction was the "Hampton Court Singers" and this organization was one of the best that has been heard here for a long time. The program was selected from among the songs of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and was one that was pleasing in every way to the audience. The company is very fortunate in having a very able accompanist and reader with them in Miss Edna Vivette, who added both ability and charm to the program given, and in the sketch, "Pianologues," was given an opportunity of showing her ability and skill both as a pianist and reader, and her offering was received with marked favor by the audience. In the group of modern English songs given by the quartet, composed of Miss Laura Ferguson, soprano; Miss Hazel Eason, alto; Mr. Lewis Sponsler, bass, and Edgar Brown, the members of the company scored a rare triumph, and the especially beautiful number of "Crossing the Bar," adapted by Mr. Brown from the poem of Lord Tennyson, was very much enjoyed. At the close of the program a sketch, "An Irish Courting," was given that was very enjoyable and gave every one of the company an opportunity of displaying their talents both in music and grace of action.

This lecture course has been guaranteed by some sixteen of the business and professional men of the city with a view of securing a number of high class entertainment features, and what profits are derived from the course will be devoted to the high school of the city, and the public certainly should take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy the rare program prepared for the coming season. It is a public enterprise that is very deserving of those desirous of assisting the school and to encourage this class of entertainment in the city.

PAYS UP HIS FINE.

A man named Frank Cunningham, who claims Iowa as his residence, came over yesterday and deposited with the police judge the coin to cover a fine of $5 and costs that had been given him Tuesday for being in a state of intoxication, and after his promise to see that the amount was liquidated he was allowed to return home and, yesterday, made good his promise.
