A. S. WILL TELLS OF HIS VISIT TO MEXICO

A. S. Will of this city, who is quite extensively interested in property in the state of Sonora, Mexico, has just recently returned from a trip down into that section of the southern republic and is very much pleased with the conditions he found existing throughout the sections he visited. This is the state where the great copper mines as well as a large number of other mining interests are located, and they are all progressing nicely despite the conditions in other parts of the republic. At Cannea, the town near which the mines are located, Mr. Will found peace and good order, and the population of that city were very busy at the different mills and factories and in the mines, and no one could tell that there was any warfare existing in the nation as everyone was busy and happy. The mines are running at their fullest capacity and the banks and other business houses doing a fine business with the Mexicans and foreigners who are living there. A great many Americans are located at Cannea, and these have done a great deal toward promoting good order and industry among the common people. The Mexicans in Cannea are all working and well clothed and fed, and are perfectly contented with the conditions and very loyal in their support of the Americans, whom they regard as being very potent factors in keeping the conditions so prosperous in their state. The schools in this district are all flourishing with the young people receiving an education, and Mr. Will states that the Mexican boys and girls are as well dressed as those in the U. S. and keep up in fine shape with their school work. This state is in the northwest section of Mexico and several hundred miles west of the section that the Villa forces have been ravaging.
