BELIEVES THAT GERMANY WILL CONCEDE ALL

Much Speculation About Curious Phrase "Peace Without Victory."

London, Jan. 24.—The Manchester Guardian in a further long editorial on President Wilson's speech declares that it considers it a state document of the first importance, drawn with the utmost care and demanding a careful and deliberate consideration.

Regarding the freedom of the seas, the Guardian considers that as a commercial blockade is a question of definition, limitation and adaptation to changed conditions and new instruments of modern naval warfare there are no reasons why Great Britain should not rest and discuss the whole matter with President Wilson or any other representative of a neutral state.

Berlin, Jan. 24.—One British destroyer was sunk and another was observed to be in a sinking condition in the North sea naval engagement, the admiralty announces.

The announcement follows: "In the course of an enterprise undertaken by a portion of our destroyed forces an engagement occurred early in the morning of January 23, with British naval forces.

The official British account of the engagement which was given out last night said that a British destroyer was torpedoed with the loss of forty-seven men and that a German destroyer was sunk.

THE DOUBLE ELECTION BOARD MEETS FAVOR

House Committee of Whole Advances Measure to Third Reading—Skunk Bill Killed.

Lincoln, Jan. 24.—The next election held in Nebraska will be taken care of by a double election board, if a bill by Representative Bates, which was discussed in committee of the whole and advanced to third reading, becomes a law.

The bill, besides providing for a double board in all election precincts where more than sixty votes are cast, also provides that when twenty-five ballots have been cast, these ballots shall be turned over to a counting board.

Skunks will have to depend upon their own natural resources the year around for protection, a bill giving them the protection of the state having been indefinitely postponed on report of the fish and game committee.

Without a word of discussion, the committee of the whole ordered to third reading the McAllister joint resolution for a constitutional amendment authorizing the state or any of its counties to establish land banks.

The bill appropriating $1,700 to buy land for a cemetery at the Grand Island Soldier's Home was ordered engrossed. The one relating to standard fruit containers, was laid over.

IN PLATTSMOUTH FORTY YEARS AGO.

Dr. Livingston informed us Monday morning that Joseph Yanders a Bohemian, while out shooting on Platte bottom Sunday morning, accidentally shot himself in the left arm, about 8 o'clock, a. m. Dr. L. was called immediately on his return home and saw at a glance that amputation was necessary to save the boy's life.

Late yesterday afternoon as Dr. Jos. Hall and Mr. Will Wise were riding with Dr. Livingston's ponies and buggy, just as they crossed Dr. Schildknecht's bridge the horses became frightened at a passing team and shied toward the creek there.

BROKERS BOOKS ARE ASKED FOR BY GOVERNORS

"Leak" Inquiry Committee Says Records Must Be Made Public—Noble Explains Dealings.

New York, Jan. 24.—Governors of the stock exchange Tuesday night requested every member to make available for the "leak" inquiry committee the brokers' records from December 10 to 23, and to state whether they received any cable or wireless messages with reference to the president's peace note before it was made public here.

Noble, president of the stock exchange, explained retirements were due to narrow holdings—virtual disappearance of stocks from the exchange—which might leave a "short" in a corner.

Whipple tried to develop that narrow holdings constitute a pool. Noble said it was not a pool inasmuch as there was no manipulation.

The committee asked that it be notified if any house refuse their individual records.

Whipple developed that the time could be cut down if help were given and some details eliminated.

The first clearing house sheet available to the committee was presented and showed big United States Steel dealings on December 13.

PREPARE A NAVAL BILL CARRYING $353,000,000

The bill provides that if the navy department is unable to get satisfactory bids for construction of ships by private plants $13,000,000 more be appropriated for equipment to construct them at navy yards.

The bill raises the limit of cost of battle cruisers $16,500,000 to $19,000,000 each and of scout cruisers from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 each.
