JAS. DEAL HAS CLOSE CALL FROM DEATH

From Wednesday's Daily.
This morning James Deal, who is employed at the local electric light and gas plant as gas maker, had a very close call from electrocution as the result of coming into contact with one of the high power electric wires. Mr. Deal was engaged in working around one of the large oil tanks and was preparing to do some piping from one of the tanks to connect it up with one nearby, and while thus engaged a large section of pipe he was handling became over-balanced and fell across one of the high tension wires, and in an instant the whole force of the current was sent down the length of the pipe and the unfortunate young man, as he was standing on the metal tank, received the full force of the current. He was unable to let go of the pipe and it was not until the force of the current caused him to fall from the tank to the ground, several feet below, that he was able to escape the terrible force of the electric voltage. Both his hands were badly burned and his feet also, where the electricity burned holes in the soles of his shoes where there were metal nails. He also was badly bruised about the head and shoulders from his fall to the ground, where he lay unconscious for some time, and as there was no one else in the gas plant it was not until he regained consciousness that he was able to summon assistance and have the severe burns looked after by a physician.

W. D. Wheeler and son, W. A. Wheeler, of Murray, departed this morning for Lincoln, where they will look after some matters before the state railway commission in regard to matters of the Murray Elevator company.

WORK IS BEING PUSHED.

From Wednesday's Daily.
The room in the Anheiser-Busch building that is to be occupied by the bowling alleys of J. E. McDaniel is being cleaned up and arranged to accommodate the new enterprise as soon as work is completed. The partitions in the room have been removed and the interior room will be repainted and papered by T. S. Clifford, and made ready for the placing of the alleys which, it is expected, will be installed next week and made ready for the inspection of the public. It has been several years since this city enjoyed a bowling alley, and the lovers of this sport are anticipating much enjoyment when the modern and up-to-date alleys are opened for service. The alleys will be of the latest type that can be found on the market today.

DOING ROAD WORK.

From Wednesday's Daily.
John Richardson, the ferryman, is engaged today on a very laudable piece of work, that of improving the road leading from this city to the ferry. In several places the road has been quite wet and full of mud holes, and Mr. Richardson is striving by dragging and filling to do away with this bad feature and to place the highway in first class shape. Mr. Richardson recognizes the need of good roads and has shown the proper spirit in getting busy on the road.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH CHIMES.
Remember that next Sunday is Mothers' day and it will be observed with appropriate services. The pastor will preach on "The Paramount Influence of Mothers." Honor your mother by attending church that day. The evening topic will be, "A Preacher of Righteousness." The attendance at the evening worship has been better of late and may it continue to increase.

MAIL CARRIERS' CONVENTION AT CEDAR CREEK MAY 30

The Rural Mail Carriers of Cass county are making great arrangements for their annual convention, which is to be held at Cedar Creek on Wednesday, May 30, and which promises to be one of the most successful gatherings that the members have yet enjoyed. There will be representatives from all over the county and the result of the interchange of ideas of the service is bound to result in much good for everyone. One of the features of the gathering will be a big picnic to which everyone is invited and where a great get-together meeting will be enjoyed. The beautiful natural surroundings of Cedar Creek make it an ideal spot for a gathering of this kind and the rural carriers and their friends certainly show good judgment in meeting there in convention. The picnic feature will bring many of the families of the carriers to the convention, where a day of rare enjoyment can be participated in by all. The committee in charge of the event is anticipating a most delightful time.

MAKES FAVORABLE IMPRESSION AT CHURCH

Last evening Rev. A. J. Haggert, of North Bend, Neb., was in the city to hold a meeting at the Christian church and to meet the members of the congregation of that church who have been without the services of a pastor since the resignation of Rev. C. E. PerLee some weeks ago. Rev. Haggert made a very pleasing impression upon the members of the church and his splendid ability as a preacher and orator was shown in his meeting last evening. He has been connected with the college work of the church and has of late been occupied in assisting in the churches of the state where the members were without a pastor. Rev. Haggert has a very pleasing personality and is a gentleman who would add greatly to the splendid ability of the splendid force of religious teachers that can be found in this city. Rev. Haggert

PURCHASES FIRE STOCK OF ZUCKWEILER & LUTZ

The firm of Zuckweiler & Lutz of this city, who suffered a very heavy loss from fire several weeks ago when their building on South Sixth street was gutted by the flames, have received a settlement in full for the stock of goods and for the damage to the building. The settlement made by the insurance companies was very pleasing to the firm and enabled them to settle the matter without delay. The stock that was saved from the flames at the time of the fire has been disposed of to the firm of Palmer & Co., of Beatrice, one of the largest fire sale handling firms in the west, and who will at once start in on the cleaning up of the stock preparatory to closing it out at auction. The auction will be held on Saturday at the store building on Sixth street and the new owners of the stock will offer some exceptional bargains to the men and women of Plattsmouth. This will be an unusual opportunity for the bargain hunters of the city.

IOWA PEOPLE ARE WEDDED.
Yesterday afternoon at the court house occurred the marriage of Fred Huntsman and Miss Anna Stidd, both of Emerson, Ia. The young people arrived in the city over the Burlington at noon, and at once hastened to the county capitol, where the ceremony that made them one was performed by County Judge Beeson in the presence of Miss Lucille Huntsman, sister of the groom, and Charles Edie. After the wedding ceremony the bridal party spent a few hours in the city and then departed for their home on No. 2, very happy over the pleasing event that had joined their lives.
