

ANOTHER GAME IS TAKEN FROM THE RED SOX

Evidently the Red Sox Need Some Reorganizing, if They Expect to Cope With First Class Ball Teams.

Yesterday afternoon the "Murphy Did Its," champions of the City league of Omaha, journeyed down to tangle with the redoubtable Red Sox of this city, and as a result the Omaha champs went home victorious, by a 4 to 1 score, and it was only by the walking of Lamb, by McCoy, that the locals were able to secure the one tally to save them from a shut-out. McCoy, the slab artist for the visitors, had the Sox on his list and was able at all times by splendid support to keep the local knights of the bat from getting dangerous, and from the opening inning there was little chance of the Sox getting in the conflict. Al Vernon, the shortstop for the City Champions, had it on any that has visited this city during the season and his clean-cut fielding and fast work kept down the chances of the Sox from getting dangerous. Hay, the Sox pitcher, was given very poor support, and while he was able to return eleven of the visitors on strike-outs, the errors by the locals served to bring him only defeat, and the loss of what otherwise would have been a most interesting game. Hay suffered a severe injury in the second inning while running to first base, and this, to some extent, operated against his fast work in the box, although he gamely stuck to the end. McCoy of the Murphys, struck out thirteen of the Sox, and allowed no hits, while four safe singles were collected from the delivery of Hay.

The visitors tallied in the opening inning, when A. Vernon was safe at first on an error by Edwards, and this was followed by another error by Salsburg, which allowed O'Brien to reach first safely and advanced Vernon. On the fly of Joe Moran to Beal in the center garden Vernon scored the opening run, and on a fielders' choice by Yost O'Brien came home.

In the third inning the visitors again proceeded to add two more runs to their list. D. O'Brien opened the inning, but poked one out to left field, where Mason grabbed it. Joe Moran followed with a clean drive to right field, and when the infield hit of Yost was juggled by Edwards, was advanced to third. Manchuso with a neat rap to left scored the needed run to make it look soft for the visitors from the packing house suburb.

The seventh inning was replete with sensation and for a time the situation appeared as blood-thirsty as the trench warfare, when Beal and a number of the Omaha players sought to settle their anger and differences in a short exhibition of the fistic art, but the interference of the other members of both teams brought a great peace and harmony to the scene and allowed the game to proceed. It was in this inning that the Red Sox succeeded in getting their lone tally. Mason, who was first up, was retired on a grounder to Vernon at Short, but Lamb, who followed, secured a base on balls, and was able to purloin second on the strike-out of Grassman. On the error of O'Brien in left field Lamb came home. This closed the scoring so far as the locals were concerned and left the story of the game as a lose, by the score of 4 to 1. The score:

Her chest was crushed so that she at first was scarcely able to get her breath, but when she had gotten out, and the pressure taken from her body, she was able to breathe easier. While no bones were broken, it was feared that she had received internal injuries, later she was resting better, although still in some danger, but mending nicely.

ONE OF GRAND-EST EVENTS OF THE SEASON

The Dance Frolic and Entertainment Generally Was One of the Most Interesting Affairs Ever Held in Plattsmouth.

"There was a sound of revelry Saturday night, Cass county's fair dancers were gathered there; Her dames of beauty and her men of might. Bright the electric lights gleamed up The members of the Red Cross, and then, well: All went as merry as a marriage bell."

As a fitting climax of the endeavor which the members of the Red Cross campaign committee in their endeavor to interest the entire public in their work last week, was the dance and frolic given in the open last Saturday evening, with the other features which added to the interest and zest of the occasion, as well as brought more dollars into the fund which will be needed at the front all too soon.

The Nebraska Lighting company, in testimony of their position in the matter of patriotism and desire to assist the efforts of the Red Cross, furnished the light service, as well as installing the lights and the decorations made with the lights.

The affair was one of greatest success, the receipts from which, for the dance alone, were slightly above $300, and with the other things, runs far above that figure, the Country Store paying better than the poets, though they all showed a good income. The decorations were fine, and the committee wishes to extend to Mr. Smith of the electric light company their thanks for the courtesies extended by him. To witness the almost entire street from the postoffice to Mrs. Agnews filled with happy couples was a grand sight.

At the Country Store many received what they were not looking for and did not in particular desire. Miss Helen Bixby, the young lady who posed as the Goddess of Liberty, getting a pig, which got away from her afterwards and is now lost. Should anyone see it, just shoot it around this way. Some of the young ladies got a hair-cut and shave coming, while Pollock Parmelee received a hair switch. So goes the luck of man. The musical feature of the affair was the Fourth Regimental band, and Holly's orchestra. Colonel Baehr was a visitor and was highly pleased with the affair.

The committee of Surgical Dressing are hoping that the receipts of the dance may fall to that committee for use in purchasing what that department needs. The ladies are deeply in debt to Colonel Baehr for his kindness in letting them have the Fourth Regimental band, for indeed, it was the life of the occasion.

JUNE BRIDEGROOMS EXEMPT IF BRIDES ARE DEPENDENT

Trenton, N. J., July 26.—According to the interpretation placed by the military authorities on a letter just received from Provost Marshal General Crowder, in reply to inquiries, drafted men who have married or who shall marry before they are called for examination will not have to serve in the conscript army if their brides are dependent upon them. The impression has prevailed that registered men, who married after June 5, did so only to be in a position to claim exemption and that their marriage would be regarded as an attempt to evade the draft, but would not be recognized as a bona-fide claim. The following paragraph of the provost marshal's letter, military authorities say, seems to upset this impression:

"In reference to marriage after June 5, it would seem in like manner that the claim to discharge because of dependency should be determined at the date of calling. If the person called is then a married man and has a wife at that time depending upon his labor in the sense in which that term is used in the rules and regulations, it would seem that he could be discharged from the service, if, in the opinion of the board, the claim is substantiated."

IS ACCUSED AS AUTHOR OF FALSE CASUALTY REPORT

St. Louis, July 27.—Louis Frummen, a medical student, was arrested here by agents of the federal department of justice on the charge that he had stated he had received a letter from France saying that a member of the Washington University hospital unit (Red Cross base hospital unit No. 21) had been killed and another member of the unit had been injured.

Bail was fixed at 1,000. The arrest was made under the espionage act. Frummen was arrested in the office of his father, a physician who denied that his son had made the statement attributed to him.

Officers of the department of justice after the arrest issued a warning against the spreading of rumors of disaster to the American expeditionary force.

Henceforth, the statement says, the department of justice intends vigorously to enforce the law against those who thus harm the country.

RETURNS FROM WEST PORTION OF STATE.

John F. Gorder, who with C. W. Baylor has been visiting in the western portion of the state for the past week, returned a few days since, and in speaking of that country Mr. Gorder said that everything was looking fine and that while he was in Kimball county they had an inch of rain, which made things look fine there. While he was out west he visited at the Pioneer Days' celebration which was held at Cheyenne, Wyo., last week, and found large and enthusiastic crowds, and every minute there was something doing.

Henry R. Goring, of Omaha, came down last Saturday to attend the Red Cross event here and to visit over Sunday with his mother and the remainder of the family, returning home last evening.

THEIR OPINION ON SATURDAY.

We interviewed about twenty farmers last Saturday afternoon, asking them as to what extent the dry weather and hot winds had injured the pasture, corn and potatoes. The answers varied, from no injury to fully fifty per cent, and sometimes a greater amount. When we had gotten through we added the amounts and divided the total by the number of farmers, and found a consensus of opinion that the pastures had suffered 31.5 per cent, the corn 7.5 per cent and the potatoes 18 per cent.

At Percival they were treated in a very fine manner, with courtesy, and entertained in fine shape. When it came to playing ball, no favors were shown, they were expected to play ball, and if they did not they were to get nothing. By dint of hard work they were able to earn two runs, while the boys in Iowa took six for themselves.

AUTO WRECK SATURDAY NIGHT, WITH SEVERAL INJURED

While driving at a high rate of speed just this side of the place where Ben Speck lives, on the Oscar Gopen farm where the concrete culvert spans a small wash, an auto driven by Morris Lloyd and containing Floyd Gilmore and George Wiley became unmanageable and careened into the side of the concrete culvert, spilling the occupants out, where the car turned over after plowing up the road for some distance, and stripping the car of what bric-a-brac it had in the shape of windshields, top and seat backs. Mr. Floyd, who was driving the car, got out with a broken arm, and a number of bruises, while George Wiley it is thought had his back broken, for he cannot move, and has a number of cuts over his face and body, and when he lays on his back for a time can not move his toes. Mr. Gilmore was more fortunate, as he got out without more than a few serious bruises and a few patches of skin gone. The Dodge car which they were driving was considerably battered up.

DEPART FOR EAST.

C. G. Wiggins of Los Angeles, Cal., came in last evening from the west and was joined by the Rev. H. G. McClusky, when they departed for the east, going to Boneville, N. Y., where they will look after some business matters regarding the settlement of an estate in which they are interested. This is the city where Rev. McClusky was born, and where he lived during his early life, until he was twenty years of age and when he went away to college, after which he came west and has made his home here. The trip back to the place where he spent so many years of his early life should be a source of much pleasure and we hope that he may have an enjoyable time, although he goes not for an outing, but on business. As he does not know when he can finish his business he does not know when he will return, but thinks it will be quite a while.

The game was lost to the Store House by reason of a number of errors.

KNOWS WHERE HE LIVES NOW.

Chas Boetel, sr., has been a statesman without a country since the men began to move his house, some time ago. As long as he stayed on the lot where he formerly lived he had an address, but for a number of days he did not know where he lived. Today he tells us they have stopped the house, and that we can again send his Daily Journal as he knows now where he lives.

The National Shock Absorber Again

People have been asking us how the Federal Reserve System acts as a shock absorber.

In the past, whenever a shock came the banks felt it first. Most of our 29,000 banks started to strengthen themselves and stopped loaning money, which slowed up business all along the line. We have strengthened ourselves in advance by joining the Federal Reserve System, and when trouble comes can confidently go ahead with our usual business, knowing that the great resources of this System are at our bank.
