Thrift Stamps--

The war is costing the United States $1,000,000 an hour. To offset this steady and tremendous drain upon the nation's cash resources, there must be a corresponding stream of dollars flowing into the national treasury.

Thrift stamps and war savings stamps offer the people an opportunity to deposit their daily, weekly or monthly savings with the government.

In return the government will repay the principal with 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly. As an example of how the investor's money will grow, sixteen war savings stamps, costing 25 cents each, or $4.00 in all, with 12 cents added, will entitle the depositor to $5.00 on January 1, 1923.

As an investment, safety considered, there is nothing better on earth are behind the stamps.

Conserve!

Your Government urges you to conserve on many of the things which you have been used to seeing on your table every day. Do not be hasty with your criticism, but give thought to what conservation NOW means for the future. It is better now while we have, than hunger later. And don't forget that the small sacrifice which you make at home is nothing compared with the sacrifice the boy has made who has shouldered a gun. Help him win. CONSERVE! CONSERVE! CONSERVE!

We have been informed that Roy Howard had contemplated the erection of a fine new barn in the early spring, but the accident of Wednesday will necessitate its construction at once.

Mrs. W. S. Smith, Mrs. Will Gilmore and Mrs. Jos. Cook entertained the Ladies' Missionary Society last Friday. In spite of the storm there was quite a few ladies present, and the usual good time was enjoyed by all.

W. G. Boedecker is about the lushest man in town now days, answering questions as to the income tax, which seems to be going to swell Uncle Sam's war fund. High prices of farm products has placed many titlers of the soil in the income class.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gopen entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Cook and family and Mrs. Eliza Young at dinner last Sunday. This date was the birthday of the three ladies, and an annual celebration of this class is always looked forward to by them all. Mrs. Eliza Young was seventy years of age on this day.

There came near being a very serious accident, but at the same time a lucky one, occurring at the farm home of Roy Howard, about four o'clock Wednesday morning, at which time his old barn fell to the ground. This old structure was built fifty years ago, by J. B. Berger's father, and in its day was no doubt one of the finest in this locality. It was erected on a rock foundation with a basement, and by the frost coming out of the ground at this time the foundation gave way and the entire structure collapsed. There was only one cow and calf in the basement, and while they were pinned down, they came out of the accident uninjured. The upper part of the barn contained corn, oats and hay, also three teams of horses, all of which came out without a scratch. The neighbors and residents of Murray went out to help get the stock out and otherwise lend assistance to Mr. Howard.

WASHINGTON NOT ALARMED AT RUSSIA'S WITHDRAWAL FROM WAR

Washington, Feb. 12.—How Russia's complete withdrawal from the war will affect the allies and the United States in a military way cannot be accurately estimated at this time, officials here believe, despite the fact that on paper the Russian collapse would seem to give the Germans a great numerical superiority of troops on the west front.

Officially there is nothing to be said on the subject, because the government has no official information. Probably no definite official announcement of how it affects the situation could be made any way without agreement among all the belligerents and that is considered unlikely. Military men, however, confident that the allied line on the western front will hold against any German force that can be thrown against it, profess not to regard the Russian separate peace as the menace it would appear on paper.

The fact that 1,500,000 German prisoners will be freed to return to Germany is regarded with no alarm at all. Military men say they could not quickly be reorganized into efficient military units. The general opinion here is that Germany would be more interested in keeping the prisoners in Russia than in having them carry bolshevik doctrine back to Germany.

The 147 Austro-German and Bulgarian divisions on the Russian front which will entirely be released by a separate peace, are regarded as already having been stripped of their effectiveness through large numbers of their rank having been transferred to the western front. Military experts say in addition that Germany would be obliged to keep some of these 147 divisions in the vast conquered territory for garrison purposes.

The one outstanding fact is that the military experts are sure the reinforcements the Germans can draw from the Russian front cannot overwhelm the western line.

Russia at this time owes the United States $187,779,000 advanced for supplies which already have gone to Russia. For that sum the government holds Russian bonds. Whether this vast sum will be a total loss to the United States depends on whether the ultimate government in Russia decides to repudiate the debt. A credit of $325,000,000 was established at the treasury for Russia, but only $187,000,000 was used when payments were stopped.

N. Y. EGG PROFITEER IS PUT OUT OF BUSINESS

New York, Feb. 12.—Announcement that the food license of B. Bell & Son, Inc., of this city, wholesale poultry and egg dealers accused of profiteering, has been revoked for the period of the war by the national food administration in Washington, was made tonight.

This is the most drastic order yet issued against New York food dealers and is based upon the charge that the Bells sold eggs for 51 cents a dozen when the government's fixed price was 46 cents.

HOUSE PASSES 50 MILLION BILL FOR HOUSING MEN IN SHIP YARDS

Washington, Feb. 12.—The administration bill, already passed by the senate appropriating $50,000,000 to provide housing facilities for employees of shipyards engaged in government work, was passed by the house late today without a roll call.

The house adopted some minor amendments, which the senate may accept to obviate the necessity of sending the measure to conference.

Under the bill the shipping board's emergency fleet corporation may purchase, lease, requisition or condemn any land, houses, buildings or similar facilities, may construct houses on land it acquires, and lease or exchange these houses and may make loans on adequate security and for not exceeding ten years to persons, firms or corporations to build houses for shipyard workers.

Advocates of the measure laid special emphasis on the necessity for additional houses at Sparrow's Point, Md., Hog Island, near Philadelphia, and at Newport News, Va. During the debate there was sharp criticism of the alleged extravagant spending of government money in building the Hog Island yards.

EX-NEBRASKAN SAVED FROM MINNESOTA MOB

St. Paul, Feb. 12.—Attorney Jas. Menahan reached St. Paul from Lakefield today with the statement that he had been ordered out of the town by the sheriff despite his plea that he was counsel for Joseph Gilbert, nonpartisan league official, now on trial on charge of unlawful assemblage.

According to Mr. Menahan, he appeared on the streets in Lakefield last night and was met by a crowd consisting mainly of youths, who cried, "here's the man we want," while some member hollered "get a rope."

At this juncture deputy sheriffs arrived and "rescued" the St. Paul attorney, driving him to Heron Lake and instructing him not to return, saying they could not insure his safety, he said.

Telephonic communication with Lakefield was interrupted today.

The warrant issued last night for A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league, had not been served, Mr. Townley being in Crookston.

The warrant charges him with conspiracy to discourage enlistments.

James Menahan formerly lived in Lincoln, Neb. He was a democratic candidate for congress in the First congressional district on several occasions.

GERMAN MASSES DE-SPAIR OF VICTORY OVER THE ALLIED NATIONS

London, Feb. 12.—Germany's declining faith in victory is described by a "well-to-do natural medical man who lately left Germany after living in Ausburg during the war period." Writing from Berne to the Daily Mail, he declared that though still believing that Germany could not be beaten, the German people had long since become war-weary and had given up hopes of the so-called German peace.

"The masses," he continued, "are in an hysterical state, one minute praying for peace at any price and the next under the influence of some piece of news, some well-organized, patriotic concert or cinematograph exhibition got up by the fatherland (nationalist) party, at which they will be shouting wild applause and cheer allies."

"The fatherland party is justly regarded by many people as the chief obstacle to peace. In Bavaria it propagandize by leaps and bounds. The party has unlimited funds and good business men to spend the money judiciously in cultivating the German 'will to power'."

"On the other hand, this junta of government officials, country squires, postmasters, admirals and big manufacturers exercises an odious tyranny on all the people dependent on it. We betide the village constable, the concierge, the factory hand or agricultural laborer underling who dares refuse his monthly gift to the fatherland party's fund."

"As for all the fuss about demoralization, I think it is mostly moonshine, manufactured for the benefit of the romantically inclined English radical."

"There is discontent simmering up and down the country, but to quiet it a pound of butter a week would go farther than any promise of political reform. The riots that take place in the towns from time to time are the work of women whose husbands have long been away in the field, and who have got out of hand. Mobs of half-grown lads run wild and get into mischief, and even worse than mischief."

"In Bavaria the emperor and Berlin, never popular, are now less popular than ever. Bavarians are unmoved by William's choice of von Hertling, as there might have been something in it, but he is a Hessian."

"In Bavaria, as elsewhere, the emperor has been completely overshadowed by Hindenburg, who to the average German is the war incarnate, and is putting the emperor and the royal princess entirely in the shade. On the other hand, Hindenburg came with the war and will go with the war. In Bavaria, and elsewhere, the dynastic sentiment is so strong that nothing can root it out."

"As regards the food position, I should say that it is only acute for people of small means. They are the only ones who suffer the pangs of real hunger, especially the small officials, the police, the school masters, the ministers of religion, and

A CAPTAIN OF THE COMMISSARY.

The county agents constitute American agriculture's first line of defense.

They are the men in the first line trenches, zealously guarding the farmer's interests and bringing to his attention all that is of immediate practical value in our scientific teaching, and fortifying this with results from the experience of the most successful hard-headed practical farmers of each county.

At a time like the present, when the nation is engaged in a great war wherein food production is of vital military importance, the value of the county agent to the Government can hardly be over emphasized.

Since the United States became a belligerent, the county agent has done valiant war service. In counties having agents, it was possible during the past summer to secure truly wonderful results, in quickly and adequately meeting a difficult labor situation; in locating available seed stocks; in arranging for farm credits for the purchase of machinery and fertilizer; in supplying tractor power, and in other forms of effective been the practice to select a day between the 12th and 22nd of February, for the celebration of the birthdays jointly, making it a Washington-Lincoln day, and it is up to the people of this city to do something which will show we appreciate the true sterling worth of such broad minded Americans as these men. The Grand Army of the Republic, has been having charge of this matter and now have, but with each year their ranks grow less, and the work must devolve on younger hands, of which we should find plenty.

ly that are willing and will take hold of this matter and make it a success. We are expecting some one to do this, do not wait for some one else, but get to the matter at once.

MAJORITY OF FOUR IN SENATE OPPOSED TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Washington, Feb. 10.—No effort will be made to call up the woman suffrage constitutional amendment in the senate until sufficient votes for its adoption have been assured. When this will be, Senator Jones of New Mexico, chairman of the woman suffrage committee, today refused to predict, but declared that at present sentiment in favor of the resolution was being permitted to crystallize and its ultimate success was assured.

Senator Jones discussed the resolution with President Wilson this week and it was understood the conclusion was reached not to bring the measure before the senate for debate at present. The president approves it, as he did also when the house passed it.

Supporters of the resolution admit they are still short four votes in the senate.
