HOW THEY LOOK AT THE MATTER

DIFFERENT OPINIONS OF DIFFERENT PEOPLE OF THE DRAFT BOARD WORK.

From Friday's Daily.

John I. Long, a former Cass county newspaper man now living in Clarks, Nebraska, writes a letter to the Lincoln Journal in which he points to the discrepancy in the draft figures, using Otoe and Cass counties as examples. Seventeen per cent of the young men registered in Cass county were placed in Class 1; forty-five per cent of those registered in Otoe county are placed in Class 1. The two counties are, as Mr. Long says, almost alike as regards population, industries and towns. Plattsmouth and Nebraska City are not far apart in population, while the rural districts are similar in every respect. He believes, or intimates, that the fact that Otoe county had vigorous newspapers to "wield a club" over the heads of the members of the Local Board had something to do with keeping the classification where, by all rights, it should be. Insofar as The Press is concerned it declines the "honor". Most assuredly it has never attempted to "wield a club" over the heads of the men who constitute the Local Board of Otoe County.

But The Press has a lingering suspicion as to the real reason why this county has "batted a thousand" in administering the draft machinery. In the first place the Board is fortunate in having some patriotic men and women working on it, who place government's demands first and the registrant's cause second. In the second place, these same members are not afraid of public censure, as the facts show. In the third place, they have been uniformly fair, courteous and painstaking, as this newspaper has had occasion to mention before. In the fourth place, the work has been done exactly in accordance with the rules and regulations, the records have been beautifully kept, the questionnaire period was handled as though the army were doing it; and there has been a uniformity of method and oneness of purpose that is marvelous to contemplate and beautiful to behold.

The Press does not know just what methods have been used in Cass county, but, apparently, there has been too much leniency, comparing the results with those attained in Otoe county. This is very bad, because some registrants in that county will "crow" over some in this county and give the impression that the boys here have not had a square deal, all of which, of course, is untrue.

No, the newspapers have not attempted to wield any influence in the matter, at least this newspaper has not. It is merely glad to record now—and hopes posterity will have an opportunity to read it as such—that patriotic impulses on the part of the members of the Draft Board have brought the results attained.—Nebraska City Press.

The Journal's mission is not to wield a club, in fact it has no club, for we are kept pretty busy endeavoring to secure news to furnish the readers. We know one thing that the draft board here has had much work to do, as we suppose it has had at other places, and the amount probably very few know or appreciate.

WE DO NOT LIKE THE SPIRIT.

From Saturday's Daily.

It is reported that when required to place an American flag on his home a certain person in this city, made the remark, "I will put it up, but I do not like to have to come down to putting up an American flag."

Now there is a situation that when one is cornered in a wrong, that it seemingly breaks his pride to be compelled to do the right thing. Then there is another view of the case, and it is this. When a man, whatever his former proclivities may have been, thinks it is coming down to it, to put up an American flag, it is time that he should seek a climate where they fly different flags, for this is no place for a person, who thinks it is coming down to fly "Old Glory."

Get the spirit of Americanism, or get to the place where there is no American spirit, there can be no compromise between patriotism and disloyalty.

RED CROSS NOTES.

From Saturday's Daily.

A time clock to record the number of hours women work was installed in the public workshop today. Interest is kept among Red Cross workers to put in enough hours to qualify for the different honors. Thirty-two hours entitles one to wear a red cross on the left side pocket; 72 hours, a cross on the pocket and one on the cuff and 128 hours a two-inch band under the cross on the pocket. Additional honors will be announced later.

The local chapter have adopted these Red Cross honors. Several of the Red Cross workers are trying to make these honors. Some of them have most faithfully served the Red Cross from the time that the United States government declared war on Germany and have several and are entitled to these honors.

Plattsmouth women have about completed 50 of the Split Irrigation Pad Dressings assigned them by the state office. The Dressings is a special one and measures 21x26 inches in size and requires the time of one woman two to four hours to make.

A Committee, who recently visited the Red Cross Work Rooms in Omaha, says that Plattsmouth women are to be complimented on the fact that they are assigned such difficult work to do as such dressings are not ordinarily found in the process of preparation in larger work rooms. The quality of the work of the Plattsmouth women has been highly recommended.

WOODMAN CIRCLE SHOW KINDNESS

From Saturday's Daily.

The Woodman Circle, which is composed of ladies who desire to do things and who have a broad view of life, do not aim to miss an opportunity to do a service, in some direction, be it Red Cross work, to have a good time, or to minister to some one's wants, or to show their respect to one of their order, have been very kind in their attention to the welfare of their sister member Mrs. H. Waintroub, during her recent last sickness and passing, were yesterday at the short funeral services at the late home, where they held the service which showed their love in the observation of the last sad rites of the mortal remains of their departed sister. In a body these noble women marched to the Burlington station to which the remains were taken for shipment to Omaha, where they were taken to their last burial place in the Jewish cemetery.

MOST DELICIOUS LUNCHEON SERVED TO THIRTY GUESTS

AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS NELS JEAN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AT 1:30 O'CLOCK

Tables Beautifully Decorated in National Colors and Washington Place Cards Used.

From Saturday's Daily.

Friday afternoon, the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jean in the north part of the city was the scene of a delightful afternoon party, when Mrs. Jean entertained thirty of her lady friends at a charming one-thirty luncheon. The Jean home was prettily decorated in the national colors—the red, white and blue, using flags and cut flower decorations. At the appointed hour a charming two-course luncheon was faultlessly served. The centerpiece of each table consisted of beautiful red and white carnations intermingled with ferns. Each guest's place was marked with red and white candles, tied with blue ribbons and in commemoration of the day, the place cards bore little embossed heads of George Washington. The color scheme of red, white and blue was carried out in the two course luncheon.

After the serving of the luncheon, the guests devoted the afternoon hours to a delightful social time, some having their knitting with them and devoting the time in a most industrious manner. Another diversion was vocal and instrumental music and the singing of national airs. Mrs. Jean was assisted in entertaining and serving by Mesdames J. T. Begley and James Burdick.

C. E. Haynie was a business visitor in Omaha today, going up on the early morning train.

HALE AND HEARTY AT 87.

From Saturday's Daily.

This morning when we came to work at an early hour we met Captain Isaac Wiles, taking his constitutional and we were running and hopped up on the walk near Bauer's Garage, he stretched out his arms to stop us, accosting us with a cheery good morning. Mr. Wiles is 87 years of age and is hale, hearty and full of life. He says he likes to get out in the morning, and skirnish around before breakfast, and can at his age jump up and crack his heels together twice before lighting.

MRS. FRANK GREEN DIES AT LINCOLN

FORMER PLATTSMOUTH LADY, KNOWN BY MANY HERE, SUCUMBES FRIDAY.

Mrs. Mollie Green, wife of Mr. Frank E. Green, both former residents of Plattsmouth and well known in this city, where the latter grew to manhood and where his wife lived for a number of years, passed away at her home in Lincoln yesterday. Mrs. Green was formerly Mrs. F. C. Robinson. Some time after the death of Mr. Robinson she was united in marriage with Mr. Green, who was then in the newspaper business here, but who since which time he has been engaged on the State Journal at Lincoln.

Mrs. Mollie Green was a woman of many admirable traits of character, and was loved and respected by a large circle of friends, among whom there are many here who will be pained to learn of her death, as a result of the ravages of tuberculosis.

The funeral will be held at Lincoln tomorrow (Sunday) morning, from Robert's chapel, Rev. Whorton officiating. The burial will be at this city, the funeral cortege arriving on the noon train, and interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

United National Clothiers

Do You Realize that right here in Plattsmouth you have a store with a purchasing power of more than a million dollars? This is a fact and the realization of it means much to you, especially in these days of high cost on every hand. We sell for less because we buy for less. That's why we sell for instance men's cotton flannel gauntlets at 15c, 2 for 25c; or men's heavy fleeced lined union suits at $1.35, or men's dress and work socks at 2 for 25c, or boys' stockings at 20c, or men's heavy blue overalls at $1.75, or best shop caps at 15c; boys' shirts at 50c; men's shirts at 65c and many other staple items which we could mention and which you readily recognize are not to be had elsewhere at the price. Our suits and overcoats are correspondingly under priced; our hats and fine dress shirts and extra trousers and neckwear and so on throughout the store are here as low as you can buy them in the biggest city.

Now, How Can We Do This?—Simply because we are part of a big buying organization—The United National Clothiers—composed of picked clothiers in 16 states, whose combined purchasing power is over a million dollars. These purchases are made under the direction of merchandising experts in one enormous contract and command a lower price than the single buyer could possibly expect. Isn't this reasonable? Isn't it logical? If you have not been getting the benefits of it, the fault is yours. The goods are here for you and we should be glad indeed to demonstrate the saving.
