30 DIVISIONS OF U. S. ARMY NOW IN TRENCHES.

PRESIDENT GIVES OUT CORRESPONDENCE SHOWING 637,929 TRANSPORTED IN 3 MONTHS.

"Must Cause Universal Satisfaction," Says Wilson in Making This Known.

Send Most Men Month Subs Here

Washington, D. C., July 2.—In discussing the heavy bombardment of troops in the last three months, Secretary Baker said it was worthy of mention "that the month in which the Germans were operating off our coast was the month in which we made the record number of shipments."

In June, the month in question, 276,372 men were transported overseas.

Washington, D. C., July 2.—American troops sent overseas numbered 1,191,155 on July 1.

This was made known tonight by President Wilson, who gave to the public a letter from Secretary Baker disclosing a record of achievement which the president said "must cause universal satisfaction" and which "will give additional zest to our national celebration of the Fourth of July."

The first units—noncombatants—left American shores on May 8, 1917. General Pershing followed twelve days later, and at the end of the month 1,718 men had started for the battle fields of France.

300,000 Abroad in March. June saw this number increase by 12,261, and thereafter khaki-clad "crusaders" from the western republic flowed overseas in a steady stream, until upwards of 200,000 had departed when the great German thrust began last March.

President Wilson's determination to meet Germany's supreme effort with the utmost of America's available man power to assist the desperately resisting French and British armies is sharply reflected in the movement of troops during the last three months.

The March sailings of 83,811 were increased in April to 117,212. May saw another 244,345 men embark and last month 276,372 were sent away, making a total for the three months of 637,929. This, Secretary Baker said later, put the troop movement six months ahead of the original program.

Thirty Divisions Overseas.

Substantially, thirty divisions are now in France ready to meet whatever more the German staff has in preparation. Some of these divisions already have been formed into the first field army, under Major General Liggett, others are holding trench sectors at important points along the battle line and still others have been broken up and brigaded with the French and British troops. And so when the German thrust comes the Americans will be called upon to play no small part in meeting it.

Secretary Baker wrote the president that the supplies and equipment in France for the million men who have gone is shown by latest reports to be adequate, and added that "the output of our war industries in this country is showing marked improvement in practically all lines of necessary equipment and supplies."

GERMAN SPY HEAD-QUARTERS RAIDED

One of the thrilling episodes in Francis Ford's "BERLIN VIA AMERICA," which will be shown at the Parmele Theatre on July 4th & 5th, is the raiding of the Hun secret agents' headquarters. While gloating over the destruction they have wrought and planning more they are interrupted by the entrance of U. S. Secret Service men. But three of the spies escape to continue their work until the end of this timely drama.

STREIGHT STORE BURGLARIZED

Evidently Robbers Gain Admission Through Rear Entrance Of Store

From Monday's Daily.

Since last Saturday and evidently last evening burglars entered the furniture store of Streight and Stright, and finding the safe open took a chisel and pried on the steel door of the till and a small reward below it, which they went through. There was only five dollars in the safe, but that was not for circulation, but was a five dollar gold piece, which was coined in 1863, and was given to Henry J. Streight by his mother when in that year he was promoted to the position of First Lieutenant, and was for the purchase of shoulder straps. Mr. Streight did not use the money but made the purchase from money he had himself, and kept the gold piece all his life, and at the time of his death a few years ago, the coin was given to Will J. Streight, and he had it in an envelope and was just keeping it. Mr. Streight said that he would gladly give ten dollars for the coin, on account of its association. He says also he could use the little steel door which was pried off from the safe. The papers which were in the safe were found piled up in the back room, nothing else was taken.

RESTRAINING ORDER PERMANENT

From Monday's Daily. Judge Begley handed down a decision last Saturday afternoon in the case of Morris et al vs. the Directors of School District Number 66, affirming the temporary order, in which he had granted to keep board from using money and incurring debt to build a school house without the voters in the district first giving authority for such action. The school house which was burned down some months since, was sought to be built again, was in the center of a section 29, where it was located some forty years ago, after a fight in which there was much spirit shown. With the burning of the school house, the matter came up again as to re-location, and a vote to place the school house on a main road was defeated by a vote of 23 to 21. Those who objected to the school house in the center of the section brought the matter of weeds in the summer and isolation, and bad water, but as the vote for removal had been defeated, the opinion of the judge that the location be kept where it is unless a majority vote says to change it, while on the question of spending the money without first appropriating it by vote, he held the restraining order good. The district which lays adjacent to Elmwood, would be glad to be absorbed by that city, but this is objected to by the members of the district board.
