big English walnut and horse-chestnut trees and big fields of grain and hundreds of vineyards. The people here all have wife as one can see it on nearly every table. There is an old castle near here and it is quite a sight to see. The grounds around it are certainly beautiful and the lanes are the prettiest I ever saw. Nearly all of the women here work in the fields, one can see them going out in the morning and returning in the evening, looks queer to us. There is a clover over here called crimson clover and has a dark red flower when in bloom and certainly is pretty. Tell Carl to try and get some of the seed and sow a small patch to see if it will grow over there. It is sowed in the wheat same as the kind he grows there. It certainly is beautiful and you will say so when you have seen it. There are several fine springs here and the water is as cold as can be. Our food here is good and we have plenty to eat and a good place to sleep and have good clothing and everything. I done a washing this morning, there was a French woman doing her washing at the same spring also ten or twelve other soldier boys. The woman did not use a wash board, she rubbed the clothes on a flat stone and then beat them with a paddle. One can see many queer things and ways over here. There are no bells on the railroad engines and I have not seen a farm wagon here yet. They all use two-wheel carts. Tell Carl most of the plows here have a wooden mould-board and all are walking plows. The best cars on the railroad are only 18 or 20 feet long and will only hold 8 head of horses. The cars have no cinders like the ones over there. The engines are not built the same either. Oh, yes two of your letters came today, they were mailed on April 18 and 20th and surely was glad to hear from you again. Had one from Papa also, he was well and getting along nicely, sure was glad to get them all as it is the first mail I received in a month. There is quite few pretty French girls here but a fellow cannot talk to them unless he can speak their language so nothing said so far as I am concerned. There is a Catholic church here so will get a chance to go on Sundays. Well dear sister, I hope this finds all of you well, kiss the dear girls and Paul B. for me. Write soon and tell me all the news and now do not worry if you do not hear from me regular as it is so far for the mail to go. Give my regards to August and Sam and Bob. With love, Your brother, EMILE J. BARRY, Co. B, 9th Field Bn. Sig. Corps, A. E. F.

Are you already for Chase county Sunday evening? We are going again Sunday evening, and would like to have you go along. There is some good land for sale in this county at the right price. See W. E. Rosencrans about the trip.

London, July 24.—According to careful estimates warranting acceptance, says Reuter's correspondent on the French front, the Germans have employed between 60 and 70 divisions since July 15 and have lost 180,000 men killed, wounded and prisoners.

A Havras agency Dispatch from Paris says that German losses since March 21 are approximately 1,000,000 men.

With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne Front, July 23.—Information reaching the intelligence bureau of the American army tonight indicates that the Germans were still continuing their retreat.

Far behind their lines they are being subjected to heavy fire by both French and American guns which doubtless is hampering the movement of their enormous supplies.

At least at one point the fighting was more nearly in open order than has been usual. With a minimum artillery fire by both sides the Americans advanced their skirmish line over yellow wheat fields, dotted with poppies and through clumps of wood. It was Indian fighting modernized by machine gun work.

The Germans left on the field a great number of machine gunners in nests. Many of these guns were captured and the entire personnel of a machine gun company tonight is swelling the already big list of prisoners taken by the Americans.

Capture Four Tanks. The Americans and French troops here south of Seissons have captured four German tanks, which were operating against them in conjunction with the German infantry. The allied artillery immediately spotted the tanks as they came into action and quickly put four of them out of commission. Four others retreated.

Northwest of Chateau Thierry the artillery played an important part. Here the Americans encountered the stiffest resistance, a village in this sector being reduced by the American guns, as its occupation by the Germans was imminent. The enemy was thus forced into the open, and where heavy punishment was inflicted.

Rain Falls Over Battle Fields. A drizzling rain fell over the battle fields and made aerial operations almost impossible in the morning, but it cleared somewhat in the afternoon and the flying men went up. Their work, however, was limited.

Late in the day the German planes endeavored to make observations over the Marne, where the enemy was aware that all the usual operations of moving armies and supplies were in progress. The anti-aircraft guns rendered their missions highly doubtful.

37 Planes Downed. Paris, July 23.—Thirty-seven German airplanes were brought down or put out of commission by French and British airmen yesterday. Four captive balloons were burned on German concentration points. This announcement is made in the official

THE KAISER'S SLAVERY. Reason for outrages committed against the young womanhood of Belgium by the officers and men of the German army is undoubtedly provided in the truths now coming to light of the insulting manner in which the kaiser himself has frequently received prominent ladies. The kaiser is a slave to beautiful hands and has often distressed ladies of the court by his bold, public admiration and insulting insinuations. Most of the rings and bracelets worn by the kaiser are duplicates of ornaments he has noticed on female hands while admiring and fondling them, even strangers, in public; but this is but one of many sensational peeps into the private life, the habits and mannerisms of "The Mad Dog of Europe," as shown in Rupert Julian's startling screen production, "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," to be shown at the Gem Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, matinee and night.
