FRANK TIGHE IS BACK FROM FRANCE

ARRIVED HERE THIS MORNING FROM GREAT LAKES, WHERE HE WAS DISCHARGED.

From Wednesday's Daily.

This morning Frank N. Tighe, a member of the United States Navy, and who has been back in the states from France since near Christmas, arrived in this city this morning, and is visiting at the home of his uncle Frank Schlater. Mr. Tighe who is the son of Joseph Tighe and wife of Havelock, but whose home was in Greeley, Colorado, at the time of his enlistment, was in France for some time, and was one of the crew, who handled one of the large naval guns which played such an important part in the later battles of the western front. The large naval guns it will be remembered, were mounted on cars and moved to different portions of the country as the line of battle changed. The guns which were of 11 inch caliber, were capable of throwing a light shell more than a half ton, 1970 pounds a distance of 42 miles, while the maximum range of the guns with a heavy shell weighing 1470, is 35 miles. These guns were very effective in winning many of the battles. Mr. Tighe will visit here where he knows a large number of people for a short time after which he will go to Havelock for a visit of some time before he goes on to Greeley, Colo., his home.

For Sale!

950 acres in Holt county, Nebraska, consisting of 600 acres under cultivation; 80 acres of alfalfa and balance hay land and pasture. This land lays level and is all good hard land. No sand. It produces as well as eastern Nebraska land; corn last year made 40 bushels per acre. Four sets of improvements, consisting of houses, barns, corn cribs and granaries, hog houses and other small buildings, wells and windmills. The land is fenced and cross fenced; four hog pastures in alfalfa, fenced hog tight. Running water in pasture; wells are 50 feet deep and furnish an abundance of good water. I am offering this tract at $65.00 per acre and will take in an eastern Nebraska farm as part payment. As there are four complete sets of improvements this can be divided to suit purchaser. 220 acres lying 15 miles north of Aberdeen, So. Dakota. About one-half of this is under cultivation. The balance hay land. All can be cultivated if desired. This is good deep black soil and the best kind of wheat land. Two and one-half miles from town, no improvements. Will consider a small tract in eastern Nebraska as part payment. Price $50.00 per acre.

160 acres four miles from Long Pine, Nebraska. This is a very choice quarter of land; well improved, consisting of a good six room house, new barn, hog house, chicken house, two wells, fenced and cross fenced, 18 acres of alfalfa, perfect stand. Price $65.00 per acre. Will consider a small tract in eastern Nebraska as part payment. Good terms can be given on all the above described lands to suit purchaser.

OF ALL FUNNY PICTURES, THIS IS FUNNIEST

'SHOULDER ARMS' OFFERS A PORTRAYAL OF TRENCH LIFE THAT'S GREAT

GENUINE COMEDY PREVAILS

If You Don't Enjoy Seeing Charlie Camouflaged as a Tree—Then There's Something Wrong

With the war safely over, everybody today is interested in trench life, whether they know anything about it or not, and the fun registered by Charlie Chaplin in "Shoulder Arms" his second million dollar comedy, which is coming to the Parnele on next Tuesday and Wednesday, February 11th and 12th, is so irresistible that it will win any house, and yet it never oversteps to the point of ridiculing the service.

If anybody wants evidence of the advisability of taking time to make good feature productions, this latest release by Chaplin should be thoroughly satisfying. To those who know the technical difficulties of making a humor comedy that can run through several reels and keep going, it is clearly demonstrated here that time, thought and care are essential to the making of real special productions.

The opening is a whale. Without a title, the first two thousand feet, showing Charlie trying to keep pace with the awkward squad, is enough to send any audience into an uproar. The action then swings quickly into life in the trenches and Charlie gets real fun out of this, with an occasional little touch of pathos that makes the laughs that much better. The bit where he uses a nutmeg grater to scratch his back because of the cooties, the expressions when bursting shells come near, the incident of the flooded dugout, with the handle sailing over to a comrade's foot, and the hokum business with Charlie in a camouflaged suit to make him look like a dead tree, were marvelous bits of fun-making.

In about the third reel, Miss Purvelance floated in as the shero, and Charlie, in trying to save her from the Germans, found himself locked in a cupboard of a room that the Kaiser visited, and by some funny adventures, he managed to get in the position of chauffeur in the Kaiser's car, with the result that he drove his satanic majesty at full speed into the Allies' lines. Then Charlie woke up. He had been dreaming after his strenuous drill with the awkward squad.

To those who are not familiar with the technical difficulties of making rapid fire comedy that really registers, it may seem that the turning out of a production like this should be no particular effort. But anyone who has ever tried to make good comedies, will realize the fact that getting all the laughs that are registered in this is a very serious job. The result, however, more than justifies the expenditure of expensive time. The idea of having Charlie wander into the German lines camouflaged in a suit that made him look like a dead tree was surely an inspiration. They get an awful lot of fun out of this and the scene where Charlie was chased by a fat German soldier through a wood, where he would occasionally hide while the German stabbed the various trees trying to find him was great stuff, because the audience has an awful time with each new flash trying to locate the comedian. Whoever doped out the suit worn by Charlie and picked the location for this particular bit, pulled a new stunt for sure.

No comedy ever shown in Plattsmouth can equal "Shoulder Arms" in point of being genuinely funny. It is in a class by itself, which accounts for the great success it has had everywhere it has been shown. Even people, who normally don't care for Chaplin pictures were greatly impressed with the acting and vein of comedy that permeates this one from the opening scene to the close. The two days it is to be shown in Plattsmouth promise to see record-breaking crowds at the Parnele and the management advises that its patrons come early in order to assure getting a seat.

WILL CONTINUE THE COUNTY AGENT

From Wednesday's Daily.

Before the board of county commissioners at their session of yesterday was being considered the matter of whether the county agent was doing such work that the county would be justified in continuing his services or not. A large number of farmers who were in the city and who had come to see about the state auto road, which is to be established by government and county aid, were present, and they were questioned regarding the efficiency of the county agent, and a factor for the benefit of the farming community. While there were opinions that were conflicting, it was the decision of the board of county commissioners that the county agent would be continued for another year.

WIL MAKE HOME HERE FOR WHILE

From Wednesday's Daily.

This morning Miss Terese Kuelar, of Buffalo, N. Y., who is a niece of Mrs. George Wagner, who lives east of Murray, arrived from the east and will make her home with her aunt for some time. Miss Kuelar some time since had the influenza, which was followed by the pneumonia, and when over has left her health not the best, and was advised by the physicians to come west for a change of climate. In the hopes that she would receive improvement in her health.

ENTERTAINED THE OFFICIAL BOARD

From Wednesday's Daily.

Last evening at the parsonage of the Christian church, Rev. and Mrs. Levi W. Scott, pastor and wife, entertained the official board of the church at their regular meeting of the month. The board transacted much business, and after the business had been disposed of, Mrs. Scott served a delightful lunch, which was enjoyed by all present.

The matter of a revival meeting in the near future was considered at length, but the time at which it should be held was not definitely determined upon.

SLIPPED IT OVER ON THEIR FRIENDS

MORRIS STANDER AND GRACE OWENS ARE UNITED IN MARRIAGE IN COUNCIL BLUFFS

From Wednesday's Daily.

Last Friday Morris Stander and Miss Grace Owens quietly departed for Omaha, and then wended their way to Council Bluffs, where they procured a license, and were united in marriage. As a lark they went there and had the ceremony performed and returned to the surprise of their friends here and received their blessing. They are visiting at this time with friends here, but will go to housekeeping in a short time. The young folks are both well known in this city and surrounding country, and have a host of friends, who will wish the Journal join in wishing them an abundance of happiness and prosperity.

We with the others of their friends will have to acknowledge that the young couple were pretty smooth when they have gotten past with the wedding for this length of time.

THE OLD RECIPE

We care not all alike. Some people are blessed with vigorous constitutions and can withstand habits unhealthily ruinous to others. But such exceptions only prove the rule, and for man's own well being, it is always better to live temperately in all things and to cling to the old recipe: Keep your intestines clean! The stomach is the main-stay of health and as soon as it is restored, all troubles disappear. The following letter is worth reading: "Shiner, Texas, Dec. 31, 1918. My wife was ill for 4 years past. She tried many medicines without result until she began to take Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine. Today she is in best health and Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine is the favorite remedy in our home, Frank Dornak."

Take this remedy for your health, all druggists sell it. Price $1.10. And buy also Triner's Liniment today—tomorrow you may need it! It is unsurpassed for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sprains, swellings, chilblains, etc. At drug stores 35 and 65c; by mail 45 and 75c.—Joseph Triner Company, 1333-1343 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

COUNTY BOARD TO VISIT LINCOLN

IN THE INTEREST OF THE COUNTY AUTO ROAD, WHICH IS UP FOR LOCATION.

The board of county commissioners were almost overwhelmed yesterday by people out in the county, who came interested in the location of the road, which is to receive federal, state and county support, and which has been located as running south through this place and passing south just east of Union out of the county, while the one which is to go east and west, is located from a point on the above named road, just east of Murray, and passing west, directly through the county, and striking Waverly in Lancaster county. The board thought they had no jurisdiction in the matter, and so expressed themselves to those who came asking about it. They agreed to go to Lincoln as a board today, and to meet the legislative committee on roads, regarding the locating of the road as it is. The board are not a unit on the matter, and it is understood, that there are two for the observing of the locating of the state engineer, as above stated while the other is for the placing of it on "O" street road, which passes west from Union. This would be giving Otce County as much service on this road as this county while we would be supposed to keep it up, after location, it is claimed by the people living in the northern portion of the county.

Miss Ina Thompson of Omaha is visiting in this city the guest of her numerous friends in this city.
