TO HOLD THE
THANKSGIVING
SERVICE 26TH

IN LINE WITH CUSTOM ESTABLISHED LAST YEAR—THE MOST LOGICAL TIME

BELIEVED MORE CAN ATTEND

Night Service without Being Inconvenienced in the Preparation of the Festive Dinner.

From Saturday's Daily.
In line with the experience of last year when an innovation was made in the time of holding the annual Thanksgiving services, the custom will be continued this year, and it is announced that the time and place of holding them will be on Wednesday evening, November 26th, at the Presbyterian church, Rev. A. V. Hunter, of the Methodist Episcopal church, will preach the sermon, and he will be assisted in the services by other pastors of the city.

It is believed that the holding of the services on the evening before Thanksgiving day occasions less inconvenience than when they are held the forenoon of the festive day, as attendance at that time breaks in upon the housewife's culinary schedule and necessarily serves to keep many of the women away who would otherwise be glad of the opportunity of attending.

Plattsmouth and Cass county people have much to be thankful for this year, principal of which is the fact that our boys—many of whom ate their Thanksgiving dinners from mess kits last year, are home again and can enjoy the feast of good things around the family board.

Crops the equal of those anywhere in the country (though a trifle short of what they would have been had it not been for the drought), peace and prosperity all add to our enjoyment at this season of the year and we should all unite in the union service of Thanksgiving at the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening, November 26th.

Mrs. Thomas L. Murphy departed this morning for Omaha, where she will attend the matinee performance of Chauncey Olcott at the Brandeis theatre.

NAZIMOVA TO BE SEEN IN "EYE FOR EYE"

"Eye for Eye," a screen drama of the intense and colorful life of the Far East, in which the supreme actress, Nazimova, is seen in the fiery role of Hassouna, a young and beautiful Arab girl, will be the feature at the Parmele theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

One of the many unusual features which this picture contains is the real circus which was assembled by Director Capellani. All the phases of circus life will be seen by the audience—not only that of the ring, where the performers are at work, but that also of their private life and in the traveling wagons in which they move from town to town.

All the acts which will appear on the screen are known to circus goers of America and were engaged to perform in their regular manner for the benefit of the camera.

A large tent was pitched and then the ring master opened his performance with the usual grand entrance parade and blaring brass band. There were the clowns, the lions, elephants, camels, tigers, bare-back riders, and tight rope walkers. Then came the fat woman, the living skeleton, the two-headed man and all the freaks with which circus goers are familiar. The crowning act, however, was the Dance of the Veils by Hassouna.

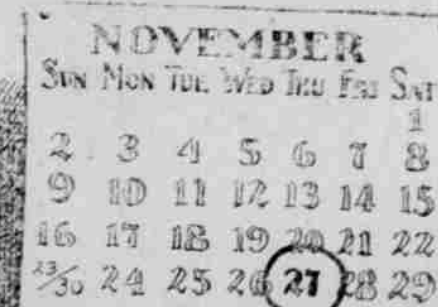

So realistic was the show that all the small boys of the vicinity thought that it was the real thing and were more than disappointed to learn that they could not gain admittance. A number of them did, however, by the strategy known only to the small boy, and to them it was just the same as the spring arrival of Barnum & Bailey.

CELEBRATES HIS 89TH BIRTHDAY

Theodore Heim Hale and Hearty at Age of Four Score Years and Nine.

From Saturday's Daily.
Our good old friend, Theodore Heim, celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday anniversary Sunday, November 9. Few men of his age are as young as he. We say young wittingly—he is eighty-nine years young.

Thanksgiving
1919

Last year many a good American boy ate his Thanksgiving dinner with his mess kit, "somewhere in France." This year we are all glad he can stick his feet under the home table and eat a real honest-to-goodness-American Thanksgiving dinner. Last year you wore khaki—this year you will wear "citiz"—let it be one of our new stylish young men's suits and—to keep you warm "seeing Nellie home," one of our nobby belter fur collar overcoats. We're thankful we have such splendid good ones to offer you and you'll be thankful to get them. Let us show you now.

Reports from the Immanuel hospital in Omaha state that John Palack, Sr., who has been at that institution for several weeks past, having undergone a severe surgical operation, is now so far recovered that he will be able to return home Sunday and complete his recuperation at his home in this city. That this splendid friend and neighbor has progressed so nicely will be pleasing news to his many friends.

GOVERNMENT GROCERIES NOW HERE

Almost Three Months Elapsed Between Time of Placing Orders and Receiving Goods.

From Saturday's Daily.
Yesterday afternoon the supply of bacon and groceries ordered through the quartermaster department of the government, arrived in the city and are now at the postoffice, where they are being sorted out for the purchasers who have placed their orders. These groceries will be ready for delivery on Monday morning and those who have ordered them may secure the same by calling at the postoffice.

It has been almost three months since the goods were ordered, which shows the vast demand that has been made upon government supplies of this nature by the residents of the different sections of the country.

George P. Horn, of Hay Springs, Nebraska, arrived yesterday to enjoy a visit in this city and vicinity with his relatives and friends.

SHRINERS AT COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 14.—Several hundred Shriners and neophytes were gathered here this afternoon and evening for their annual ceremonial and initiation in this city. Des Moines, Iowa, and Lincoln, Neb., were well represented by officials and members from Haganig and Sesostri temples. Tanguier temple of Omaha was also quite largely represented.

The feature of the late afternoon was a lengthy parade in which were over five hundred Shriners, candidates—two bands and a variety of mirth provoking floats. A banquet was served at the auditorium before the meeting in the Masonic temple.

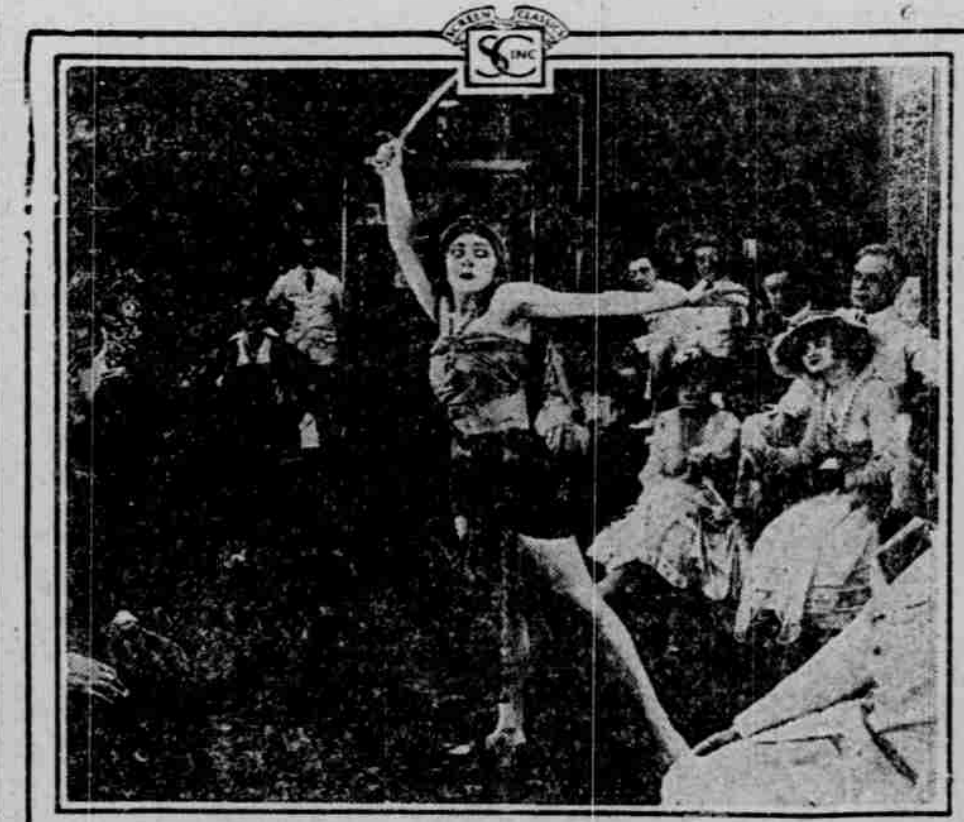

Miss Vesta Douglass was among those going to Omaha this morning, where she will spend the day looking after some matters of business.

J. P. Falter was among those going to Omaha this morning and from there he goes to Valley, Nebraska, to look after some matters of business.
