Friends of Carter Glass have not yet despaired of finding an office for which he is suited. They're now dressing him up for president.

Why should Mr. Hoover be asked to declare his politics by the Georgia democrats, or by anyone else? Hasn't he just said he is not a candidate?

One of the lessons we learn from the last years, the things we insist upon will be made terms of the armistice, instead of the peace treaty.

Information that Lenine's salary is eight thousand rubles a month would be more illuminating if we knew what a ruble was worth in terms of groceries.

Sir Oliver Lodge's description of the next world pictures a being that might easily be worse. While he says the men do not smoke, neither do the women dance.

Germany's offer to try her own offenders against the rules of war is a generous one, at least. Sounds like murdered offering to act as judge and jury in his own trial.

After drinking three quarts of bay rum, a bottle of milk and eating a dish of pickles, a Delaware man is dead. But everybody ought to know that milk and pickles are a combination that is deadly.

Those who fret for the paucity of feminine clothing should take a more cheerful view. Spring is coming with its high collared suits, and then summer will follow, furs, sweaters and all.

"Why does the doctor prescribe more sleep?" queries an advertiser. It's a great mystery, and especially after having prescribed it for years and years to patients who never pay any attention to it.

Of course there is but one logical man for the chairmanship of the national baseball commission, and of course that is Herbert Hoover. But of course he is not a candidate, and that is why they are still looking.

Senator Gronna wants Congress to take tighter control of meat packers. They are slippery ducks and unless somebody tightens down on them they are likely to drive another "dis-solution" bargain with the courts.

Suspicious that the ex-kaiser is losing his mind are based mainly on the fact that he is regaining his temper. Which is no sign at all unless, perchance, he is gaining a little judgment along with them temper.

A young woman telephone operator recently attended a watchnight service and fell asleep during the sermon. At the close the preacher said: "We will now sing hymn No. 341—341." The young woman, just waking in time to hear the number yawned and said: "The line is busy."

In one of the Saturday Evening Post stories this week, the business success of the hero dates from the day on which he discovered that the law of supply and demand stands in business much as "Absence makes the heart grow fonder" stands in literature—lovely for quoting purposes.

Two aviators recently fell a thousand feet in Virginia and because they refused to tell their names when picked up, their rescuers think them a mysterious pair. How would you like to tell your name after hitting the ground from a thousand foot drop? Dou you think anybody would have a right to suspect you of idiocy because you didn't answer?

"Consumer pays the coal wage hike," says a headline. Gee, won't that be nice.

The body of D. Ward King lies moulding in the grave, but his road drag goes marching on.

If the real people will go to work, even the politicians will not be able to ruin the country.

Why all this talk about a new 2-cent piece, while the buffalo nickel answers identically the same purpose?

Even when an anti is as dry as a desert he will tell you he doesn't believe national prohibition will prohibit.

Washington, the preliminary census figures show, has four 437,000 people, but some of whom are not on the government pay roll.

Some days we are quite enthusiastic for Herbert Hoover, and then again we recall that it might mean four years more corn meal mush.

What do you think of New York bandits going in a Tammany club and pulling off a holdup? What did they think they were doing—rehearsing for election day?

Attorney General Palmer says he is going to lower the retail price of meat, or know the reason why. Well, that's one thing the dealer always has in stock—a reason why.

A soliloquy of the abject slavery to fashion and the absolute inconsistency of garb, may be easily called forth by seeing the women in straw (spring hats in zero weather).

Times have changed and the people have changed with them. Not many moons ago we frequently heard the expression "Eat, drink and be merry." Now this is no longer heard.

The ice cream freezer was invented by a woman according to the Detroit News, and it sounds reasonable. If a man had invented it he would have made it so a woman could run it without any assistance from him.

OH, SEE THE STORM CLOUDS!

The debonair face of Myron Learned, chairman of the republican state committee by virtue of the resignation of Beryl Kirk's efficient attorney, wears a worried look. It is not due principally to the high cost of living or the lamentable absence of bird baths from bird centers. It is caused by something far more serious.

For the non-partisan league is out to capture the republican party in Nebraska, and name its candidates, as it has already done in North Dakota and threatens to do in Minnesota. It wants to put the Plumb plan for public ownership and soviet control of the railroads at public expense into operation. It proposes to use the public funds for the public credit to create state packing plants, flour mills, stock yards, creameries, elevators, beet sugar plants, abattoirs, cold storage warehouses, power plants and telegraph and telephone lines—and put its own selected men into office to operate them according to the plans, specifications and desires of Mr. Townley of Minnesota.

The league has already announced its candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general and will enter them in the primaries. Here is a pretty how-do-you-dot Chairman Learned had already on his hands the most unpopular governor in the history of the state. He is a candidate for renomination, a victim of the delusion that the star of his destiny is not setting but rising. On the theory that anybody could beat McKelvie four separate and distinct candidates have presented themselves against Nebraska's Little Napoleon in the republican primaries—McMullen, Pollard, McLaughlin and Hall. Now, with the field so hopelessly divided, along comes the pestiferous non-partisan league and enters another candidate, its own—Elmer E. Youngs, a farmer, of Dawson county.

The perils of that situation, from Chairman Learned's viewpoint, are sufficiently obvious. Had the N. P. L. kept out of it, McKelvie might have won the nomination through a scattering of the vote opposed to him. That would be bad enough. But now, with the new entry assured the solid support or an organization that may bring heaven knows how many thousand voters to the polls in a solid block, it is easily possible that McKelvie will be beaten. All his regular republican opponents go down with him, and the non-partisan league nominate the candidate and pin the Grand Old Party as a red, red rose on its weather-beaten breast.

Perhaps the alternative will be McKelvie or the non-partisan league. Is it strange that Chairman Learned's face looks drawn and haggard? Or that Luther Drake and Neils Uppike and Walter Head and the other G. O. P. bosses who have their habitat in Omaha are looking wildly about for a secluded spot in which to confer and for Pete's sake do something!

Class against class. Special interest against special interest. The result, either way under republican rule, class government, growing class antagonism, more monkey wrenches thrown into the complex machinery of popular government.

Fortunately the democratic party, which is ruled by no class, which stands for no class, but which broadly and generously represents all the people on the hallowed platform of equal rights for all and special privileges to none—fortunately it offers a haven of refuge. To it all good men and true turn as they note the danger signals. To its protecting folds all citizens are ever welcome who are content with the square deal who do not ask that the government be controlled so as to give them an edge over others on the outside.

The heathen may rage. Old machine may battle with new machine. The class that already enjoys privilege with the class that longs for it. The clash may precipitate a tempest terrible in its fury. But through it all the democratic party will stand, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land, inviting all who are distracted and confused and fearful to come to it. It is a good time to settle down and be calm and fair and sensible.

Why not, for a good beginning, register and vote in the democratic primaries this spring? There opens, in them, the way to political safety and salvation for Nebraska.—World-Herald.
