James Raymond is the happy father of a fine girl which the stork brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond last week. To say the household was happy and that joy reigned supreme would be putting it mildly. All concerned are doing nicely.

D. Coppel, of Blue Rapids, Kansas, who has been spending some time in the west, visiting at Colorado Springs and other points for some time, arrived in Union a few days ago and is visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Grace Applegate, of this place. Mr. Coppel will be remembered as having made an extensive visit here some time ago.

Thomas Miller, an automobile painter of the county seat, was in Union last week and took home with him the car of John Becker, which he is painting and refinishing in the most approved manner. ## Public Notice

At a meeting of the village board of Union, a complaint having been filed against the practice of coasting on the side walks within the incorporated limits of the town. It was the sense of the Village Board that a request be made to parents and guardians of children that they forbid them from further use of the side walks for coasting.

By order of— VILLAGE BOARD.

Lost to the Combination

At the Farmers Union picnic at Weeping Water last week, the ball team from this place played against a combination of players made up of Union, Avoca, Manley and Murdock notables, suffering defeat by the score of 8 to 5. At that they were able to secure second money.

Entertained Her S. S. Class

Miss Elsie Taylor entertained her Sunday school class at her home on last Friday, at which time the little ones were given an excellent recreation period, which they enjoyed to the utmost. Delightful refreshments were served by the teacher and the children are all sure there is not another such teacher as theirs and he found anywhere. Such entertainments are mighty fine both from the teacher's and children's standpoint.

Enjoyed a Week's Visit

During last week Dan Lynn, John Leggett, W. A. Taylor and their wives drove over into Iowa and were guests of friends, who formerly lived in and near Union. Among those visited were the families of Jesse Delemeter, Robert Hastings and Ed Lynn. Although it rained every day of their stay, the lack of sunshine was offset by the hearty welcome and cheerful greeting of their hosts. The only complaint they voice is that to many good things were set before them and could not be eaten. On their return they visited at Milford with J. W. Taylor and wife, parents of Rev. Taylor, and had an excellent time.

Visit Scenes of Childhood

Last Thursday C. W. Clark and wife, accompanied by their daughter, Ora, and two granddaughters, Beulah and Dorothy, daughters of the Clark, took a trip in Mr. Clark's auto, going via Nebraska City to the childhood home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark, which is in the vicinity of Thurman and Percival, Iowa, and as the crow flies not more than fifteen miles from Union, but on account of lack of facilities for crossing the Missouri river nearby, the Nebraska City or Plattsmouth, the distance covered in getting there was much more. And despite its nearness, the elder Clarks have never one visited the scene in nearly twenty years. They had a very enjoyable time and found the old home places much changed, with an alfalfa field occupying the site of Mr. Clark's birthplace and new buildings everywhere in evidence, thus changing the entire topography of the country until Mr. Clark was free to admit he would not have known it.

Very Clever Boys

Amos Anderson and William Gardner have recently taken charge of the gray business in Union, and one can't help but note the care and punctuality with which they look after the business. They are two very clever boys and are going to succeed if doing their work right and pleasing their customers will turn the trick. Here's to you, boys, may success crown your efforts.

Union Schools Open Monday

The schools here have been listed to begin upon the new term next Monday, September 13th, and the members of the faculty, with the exception of two teachers, have been selected. The superintendent, Prof. Charles E. Severny, who made such a wonderful success of the schools here a few years ago, has arrived and is on the ground looking after the details of getting everything in readiness for the opening. The board of education is to be congratulated on the securing of this capable man whose fitness is well known, and we can rest assured of having a banner school year in Union this year.

Union Wins Two Games

In these last days of base ball season, the Union team is holding up its mid-season stride and showing what sort of metal it is made of. In the game at Union last Saturday with Plum Hollow, the result was very gratifying to the home team, they winning by a score of 3 to 1. Following this success, they also scored a signal victory over the Nebraska City Eagles at the City on Sunday afternoon, the score being 7 to 4. The local battery performed exceedingly well in this game and were backed by the members of the team who played air-tight ball.

The addition of these two victories helps to boost the home teams percentage of games won and holds up the crowds showing made throughout the season.

In connection with this article, it is not out of place to say that at no time this season has an outsider played any position on the team, which has been composed entirely of Union and vicinity ball players. The more they show the look doubly good, as the majority of teams in much larger towns resort to importation of players when they book a tight game or want to be assured of winning.

We take our hats off to the Union base ball team. May its members live long and prosper.

MOORE PRESENTS LIST OF WITNESSES

Camouflaged "Secretaries" and "Moppers-up" Who Could Tell of Fund.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7.—The senate committee investigating presidential campaign expenditures reopened its sessions here today. E. H. Moore, personal representative of Governor Cox, came here last Thursday, expecting to testify, but the committee adjourned until today and in the intervening time Mr. Moore has been in Chicago. On Sunday he conferred with Governor Cox while he was in the city and said he had obtained full information to "prove that republican leaders had openly boasted that they had devised a fundraising plan which would bring in at least $16,000,000 for the campaign fund."

Mr. Moore had already placed several documents in the hands of the committee and as a result more than a dozen persons had been summoned to testify.

Governor Cox sent him to Chicago, Mr. Moore said, when he took the stand to "give the committee the list from whom the senate could get the information to support the governor's charges." He mentioned H. M. Blair, first assistant to Fred W. Upham, republican national treasurer, and several other employees of Upham's office.

"Governor Cox has no evidence outside what you have brought to us," Senator Kenyon asked. "I think not."

As he spoke he unfolded a massive brief case and took out a stack of papers that apparently numbered several hundred sheets.

Signs of friction developed when Chairman Kenyon questioned Mr. Moore about an interview he gave newspaper correspondents last Thursday.

"The chairman asked Mr. Moore if he had said that the committee was afraid to call him to the stand and if he had said the committee was not seeking the evidence to prove Governor Cox's charges."

"I did not," the witness exclaimed. "You don't need to get angry," Senator Kenyon said.

"I am not getting angry. What I said was that you were not seeking the best evidence. And I say it again. You are not!"

Moore told Senator Kenyon there were men better able to tell of the republican plans than either he or Governor Cox and admitted why Colonel William Boyce Thompson of New York, chairman of the republican ways and means committee and "the sixty men of the paid organization" were not called.

Mr. Moore said he was sure that Fred Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee, would not testify to untruths, but he was equally sure that the republican official was a victim of either mistakes or bad bookkeeping when he testified concerning the quotas assigned various states.

In answering Senator Kenyon's direct question for names, Mr. Moore knew about the Ohio fund, Mr. Moore went into a long explanation of his understanding of the republican campaign fund organization. He said it was headed by Colonel Thompson and had as state chairmen, men among the republican bulletin described as "of commanding influence."

The witness reiterated the charges against local communities and then said: "But these local organizations were largely 'secretary' men and workers for funds were paid men headed by Harry M. Blair, assistant to Mr. Upham."

He said Blair had under him certain "divisional directors" in charge of sections of the country and that two of them were C. W. Lee and Henry E. Owens.

"These are the professional money raisers," said Mr. Moore.

"In Iowa the paid director is Irving Norwood of Davenport," said Mr. Moore.

"That is not the man," interjected Mr. Upham. "To the public these paid directors are camouflaged as 'executive secretaries of the ways and means committees,'" said the witness.

"A battalion of moppers-up" also a part of the republican organization, according to Mr. Moore. He said these men went in after the organization headed by Colonel Thompson had collected from "the cream list."

Mr. Moore said that Chester A. Hamilton of Colorado had raised $323,000 in that state.

Mr. Vallery reports that conditions in the west as the best that could possibly be asked for and the farmers realizing nice profits from their year's crops.

PEACE OR WAR?

The whole world seems to be again full of highly dangerous explosives, and everybody reaches for the newspaper in the morning in order to see whether there is still some hope for peace or whether a new world war is unavoidable. And just because of this feverish external situation we forget too easily that the present season, the end of summer, is also pretty critical to our internal conditions. The change of weather from hot summer to foggy autumn requires a strong mobilization of our vital forces. We must take care for regular movement of our bowels and for highest resistance of our body against autumnal diseases. By the help of Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine we will be able to go through the transition period without any harm, and therefore it is now the time to ask your druggist or dealer in medicines for Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine. Also Triner's Cough Sedative for colds and Triner's Liniment for rheumatic and neuralgic pains at hand! Joseph Triner Company, 1323-15 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS HOUSE PAINT SWP

How SWP cuts painting cost

The only way to buy paint economically is to forget price and figure costs by area covered and years of life. SWP covers one-third more area than paints which are cheaper per gallon. It lasts twice as long without repainting, so requires half the material and costs half the labor (for painting and repainting).

So price per gallon means nothing. Area covered, weather resistance, and years of life are the real things that determine price economy. On other lines SWP is the cheapest, most reliable paint you could buy. For low bid on houses, barns, etc., buy SWP for half the cost. You will find a complete line of it at our store. Let us advise you on your painting.
