PLANNING AID FOR FARMERS

Senators and Members of Nebraska and Nearby States to Press Relief Legislation.

Washington, Nov. 23.—A comprehensive program of legislation calculated to aid the agricultural industry in meeting the alleged crisis now confronting the farmers and to prevent recurrence of the conditions is being whipped into shape by a group of senators and members from Nebraska and other western states. Senators Gronman, North Dakota; Sterling, South Dakota; Cummins and Kenyon, Iowa; Hitchcock, and Norris, Nebraska, and several other senators from this group of states already have held some preliminary conferences on the subject. Both of the Minnesota senators are to be called in later in the year. Senator Cummins of Iowa, as chairman of the senatorial group representing western states has been formally made the chairman of the group, and it has been left for him to call a formal meeting when more of the senators have arrived in Washington. The program of measures that will receive early attention is the bill to regulate the packing industry, introduced in the house by Representative Anderson of the First Minnesota district, and in the senate by Senator Kenyon of Iowa. This will be up for action early in the session, as it has been given a preliminary place on the senate calendar. "There is no doubt about the seriousness of the situation confronting the farmers," said Senator Hitchcock today. "They are unable to obtain proper credit, and in consequence are being forced to sell their products at ruinously low prices. Western senators and members are going to hold a formal conference at the earliest possible moment, in order to go over the whole situation and outline a comprehensive program to meet the situation adequately. The time is propitious for it now, because of the fact that the senate will have before it the so-called Kenyon-Kendrick bill for regulation of the packing industry in which both farmers and livestock producers are much interested."

The senator said, he thought the war finance corporation might be relieved, and he expects also to propose some amendments of the packing bill and to the federal farm loan act, with a view possibly to enabling farmers to obtain credit from these low-priced funds on personal security. "Something should be done promptly," Senator Hitchcock continued, "so that farmers will not be at the mercy of the market when their products arrive. As it is now shippers are unable at the time they make their initial shipments to know in advance what prices they may be able to obtain. The farmers' credit certainly ought to be improved and his market stabilized, and the purpose of our conference will be to see if legislation may be framed to that end."

These things are being discussed daily by incoming members of congress and will take definite form when the coming conference is held. It is expected that Senator Cummins will call the conference during the first week of the December session, probably about December 16. In the meantime various farm organizations that have been agitating legislative action in their behalf are getting ready to make further recommendations, which are to be formulated at their coming convention in St. Louis, Mo., the latter part of this month.

Today a statement was issued to all of the members of the farmers' national union by Charles Barrett, president of the organization, again urging the farmers to hold their crops for higher prices, and to "go to jail" if necessary, should this concerted action be construed as a violation of the anti-trust laws.

Declaring he understood that "federal agents are already going over Kansas, Iowa and other states trying to get evidence necessary to the indictment of men who are asking farmers to hold their crops, Charles S. Barrett, president of the national farmers' union, through a statement issued today appealed to members of his organization to stand together and not sell their products at present "ruinously low prices."

"Show that you have the moral courage to go to jail if necessary," Mr. Barrett advised the members of the farmers' union. "The board seems to have been passed around that farmers were to be taught a lesson—they were getting troublesome."

The farmers' answer to claims of over-production, Mr. Barrett said, should be: We will simply lessen production. This was "no idle threat," he said, adding: "From every part of the country comes the promise that this policy should be adhered to until the country wakes up to the fact that it must either go on short rations of pay year wages high enough to live on."

Efforts of the farmers toward cooperation, Mr. Barrett said, has met with strong opposition from the first. He charged that "deliberate efforts had been made to prevent them from buying collectively."

Representatives of Florida and California fruit and vegetable growers appeared before a committee of the Interstate commerce commission today to argue their petition for suspension of proposed diversion and reconignment charges on fruits and vegetables as ordered by the commission. The issue, it was said, affected growers throughout the country. Representatives of the growers contended that they were not given notice of the carriers application for the charges and were not represented at the hearing upon the reasonableness of the new charge. If the diversion and reconignment charge were approved the action would not result in the desired increased traffic for the roads, they maintained, but rather in decreased production of fruits and vegetables.—State Journal.

THANKSGIVING DAY OBSERVED IN MURRAY

Samuel G. Latta Home Scene of a Very Pleasant Gathering—A Large Number Attend

Appropriate recognition of the late national holiday was observed at the home of Uncle Sam Latta in Murray, where a large number of friends and relatives assembled to spend Thanksgiving day. The event proved all the more interesting in the reunion and renewal of friendship and relationship with one another and especially with Uncle Sam, who for all his four score and three years continues young at heart and manifests an active and unflagging interest as a host and friend.

At midday an excellent dinner, in which the national bird was in evidence as a portion of the bounteous repast, was served under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Smith, of Murray, assisted by Miss Neva Latta, supervisor of music in the Emerson schools, who is in Murray to spend the Thanksgiving holiday vacation.

During the afternoon a solo together with an encore by Uncle Sam and also several songs by Miss Neva Latta and others in the gathering furnished entertainment. Those in attendance were Will Latta, of Kearsaw, Neb.; Dr. Burt Latta and daughter Bess, of Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. George Latta, their son Earl and wife, and two children of near Red Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bennett and two children, of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. James W. Holmes and son Ralph, of Plattsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. A. Rawls of Plattsmouth, and son, Noel, of Sioux Falls, S. Dak.

FILES SUIT IN DISTRICT COURT

C. Lawrence Stull Asks for Damages from Missouri Pacific for Hay Stacks Burned in 1916.

From Saturday's Daily. An action has been filed in the office of Clerk of the District Court James M. Robertson, by C. Lawrence Stull against the Missouri Pacific railroad, in which the plaintiff asks damages in the sum of $852 for hay destroyed on his farm. In the petition of the plaintiff it is alleged that on November 30, 1916, a locomotive on the defendant's line, by throwing out sparks onto the right of way, caused the grass to start burning and that it spread into the hay meadow of the plaintiff destroying fifty tons of hay valued at $776 and also doing damage to the amount of $76 to the meadow. The total amount of the damages claimed is $852.

A suit to quiet title has been filed in the district court entitled Martha C. Reed and Irma W. Hunt vs. Catherine Reichert et al, in which plaintiffs ask setting of title to certain real estate. District Judge Begley this morning excused the jury for the November term of court and they will not be required to report Monday for service.

REPORT MAKES EXCITEMENT

From Saturday's Daily. This morning a thoughtless remark concerning Charles Tilton, the taxi line operator, caused a great deal of anxiety to the friends of Mr. Tilton and shows how rapidly a report that is without any foundation can travel and be enlarged upon at each telling. The story was that Charley had driven off the Platte river bridge and had been drowned in the cold waters of that stream. We were ready to make a trip to the scene of the supposed drowning when Charley came down Main street in his famous Ford sedan on the way to the Burlington station and gave the version of his supposed drowning that showed that some one had secured a very bum steer on the matter. As it is the many friends of Mr. Tilton are glad to know that it was a false alarm.
