Maximum Service Machinery!

or a longer visit as the parents some very fine music.

The Litchfield Manufacturing company are not claiming that they have the only good manure spreader, but they are claiming that they have the best, from a number of points, which is effective service, economy in operation and thoroughness in the work done, no matter what kind of material which is operated upon.

It is said that the makers of the Special spreader do not know how to make anything else, but the great and potent fact is "They do know how to build the best spreader."

That is not all they do. They furnish a machine that pays on a farm, not a toy, but a real revenue getter, a better instrument than an auto, a truck or a tractor.

There is a number of other good features in this machine which we have not space to enumerate. Give us a chance to demonstrate.
