

ARRESTED A SECOND TIME YESTERDAY

MRS. DELIA TRAVIS, RESIDING ACROSS THE RIVER, CAUGHT SELLING "MOONSHINE."

From Saturday's Daily. The area east of the Burlington bridge in Mills county, Iowa, today resembles the great arid wastes of the Sahara, following a visit to that locality yesterday afternoon by Federal Officer William Hanks, who has been putting in a few days in this locality.

The visit to Mills county had its inception here on last Tuesday evening when Officer Alvin Jones of the police force was called to the north part of the city where the antics of a driver of a Ford car were throwing terror into the residents of that locality. Mr. Jones found the driver of the car about to drive his machine over the steep bank near the W. D. Messersmith and had been succeeded in driving the way he started there might never have been a second chapter to the story. However, Officer Jones placed the man, who gave his name as John W. Morgan, under arrest, and a search of the machine revealed almost a quart of a strange watery appearing liquid but a smell disclosed that it was far from water and possessed a kick beside which an explosion of dynamite would be a Sunday school picnic. This bottle was turned over to Sheriff C. D. Quinton and the matter of tracing down the source of the liquor commenced and here Federal Officer William Hanks entered upon the scene of action.

Yesterday afternoon Morgan was brought before Justice M. Archer on the charge of being drunk and was fined $35 and costs which he paid and also poured into the ears of the officers information relative to the source of the supply of the liquor that led to his downfall.

The story of the origin of the "moonshine" was followed by a visit of the officers and Morgan to the home of Mrs. Delia Travis, a short distance east of the Burlington bridge over the Missouri. Federal Officer Hanks was in charge of the party and was accompanied by Sheriff C. D. Quinton, Officer Jones and Morgan to the scene of action. Morgan had been provided with the funds necessary to secure the liquor and calling at the house procured a quart of the corn juice for the sum of $5 and returning to the car where the officers were awaiting, Mr. Hanks proceeded to make a raid on the place. A search revealed two pint bottles concealed between the springs and mattress of the bed in the house and these were confiscated and Mrs. Travis notified to appear before the federal authorities at Council Bluffs Monday morning.

The liquor was brought on to this city and prepared by Mr. Hanks for shipment to the government enforcement headquarters, where it will be tested and the matter placed in the hands of the federal authorities for the state of Iowa. This is the second time that the Travis household has suffered from the visits of the officers of the law as Sheriff Quinton captured a large amount of liquor and wash at their home near the ferry, on this side of the river several months ago and this makes the offense much more severe for the parties involved.

Letter Expressing Thanks to Donors Received from Sister Agnes Droegge, of Cologne.

Mrs. Lena Droegge and Marie E. Kaufmann desire to thank the many friends who so generously contributed to a fund to be sent to Ursuline convent at Bologna, Germany, where Sister Agnes, a sister of the late Mr. Droegge has charge of nearly nine hundred destitute children. The fund which they raised amounted to $75, which upon being converted into German money at the present rate of exchange, totaled nearly 2,000 marks for the aid of these needy charges. Had time permitted of a more general canvass a much larger sum could have been realized for this worthy project.

The list of those subscribing to the fund includes the following: Marie E. Agnes penned the following letter to Mrs. Lena Droegge in grateful appreciation:

Cologne, March 5, 1921. My dear sister-in-law, nephew and all my dear benefactors beyond the ocean:

In the name of unnumerable poor German children I thank you with all my heart for the great gift of seventy-five dollars that safely arrived here on March 2nd. When I wrote to you my dear sister-in-law, on New Year's day, it was with a somewhat beating heart, for it is not easy to ask for alms, but thinking of the great misery from which our children suffer, I took courage to write to you in their behalf. How happy I felt and how great my joy was when getting this great sum of money, you cannot imagine. Those two days before the money came, your kind letter already announced to me the result of your collection. My dear Lena, you sacrificed your precious time to help us. You yourself and Carl contributed a good share to this gift. I am bound in gratitude to you for ever and ever and how to thank these kind hearted people of Plattsmouth. I should like to pay them a visit, each in their dwellings and shake hands with them in deep felt gratitude. May God render you very happy.

Mother and children have most to suffer. It often happened that a mother died of mere exhaustion because she spared everything for the little ones. Sometimes you may read in English newspapers that in German hotels exquisite things are to be had, but what of that? Those who live on much in this war we call them "War Winners"—can afford this, but the bulk of the people suffer from want of good food. Even the higher classes are much to be pitied. Their salary is sometimes less than that of the working classes and the price for food is still immensely high.

We have a high school for girls. It is with much zeal and earnestness that our pupils embrace study. They know that life is hard and they must make themselves independent of any help from their family; very often they have to be the support for their parents and younger sisters and brothers. We need never complain of laziness. The German young girl of today is serious, conscious of her responsibility and prepared for the combat of life.

I am so happy in my teacher's profession that enables me to work a little for a better future. I wish you my dear Lena and Carl and all my dear benefactors a very happy Easter time, and am with much love, Yours affectionately, SISTER AGNES DROEGGE.

Ed Gradoville of this city, who for the past two seasons has served as the catcher of the Red Sox team of this city, and showed his ability as a fast young ball player, is to be given a chance to travel in faster company in the future as he is to be given a tryout with the Michigan-Ontario league, composed of the border cities of the two countries.

Eddie is to be with the Brantford, Ontario, in the league and will leave on April 12th to join his team for their preliminary practice before the opening of the season. CLINTON WOMAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Mrs. Hayes Says Tanlac Did Her So Much Good She is Always Recommending It.

"I took Tanlac because it was recommended to me by friends and now I am recommending it to others because of what it has done for me," declared Mrs. M. C. Hayes, of 333 Ninth avenue, Clinton, Iowa.

"For three years I had trouble from a badly disordered stomach. After eating I suffered tortures from indigestion. I had frequent and severe headaches that lasted for two and three days at a time and left me so weak I could hardly move. My nerves were upset and I hardly ever got any sound sleep. I felt so tired and worn out that I had to give up doing any kind of work.

"The best thing I ever did was when I got Tanlac. My food now agrees with me perfectly, my nerves are steady and I sleep fine at night. I have gained ten pounds in weight and feel better and have more strength than for years."

Tanlac is sold in Plattsmouth by F. G. Fricke and Company; in Murray by the Murray Drug company; and the leading druggist in every town.
