GREAT YEAR FOR TRIPLETS IN STATE

Nebraska Produced Eight Sets Last Year, According to Official Record at the State House.

Nebraska produced eight sets of triplets in 1920, according to the report of the state division of vital statistics, bureau of health, department of public welfare. This is pointed to as one of the good results of Governor McKelvie's code bill. In the year 1919, when there was no code law, the best Nebraska could do was to present to the world one set of triplets. In the matter of production of twins the record also shows improvement under the code law. In 1920 the record shows a total of 336 sets of twins, compared with only 263 pairs in 1919. The infant mortality in 1919 was 1,992. In 1920 it was 1,957. These figures apply to children under one year old.

In 1919 the total number of births was 26,640. In 1920 the total was 26,749. The number of deaths in the state in 1919 was 11,651, and in 1920, 12,934. The code bill is not charged with the increase in the number of deaths. The increase to some extent may be due to more complete reports.

The male children born in 1920 exceeded the number of female children by 975. The number of male children born was 15,882 and the number of female, 14,887. The black children born numbered 199. The record shows that "others" than white or black number 285.

Native fathers to the number of 26,259 and 4,249 foreign born fathers and 241 whose nativity is not reported, figure in the 1920 birth record. The native mothers numbered 27,595 and the foreign born mothers numbered 3,154.

TRIPLE STRIKE TO BE CALLED IN ENGLAND

FIVE MILLION WORKERS TO BE MADE IDLE—RIOTS AND SABOTAGE PREVAIL

MINES ARE BEING FLOODED

Damage Already Done by Flooding Can Never Be Repaired

London, April 8.—King George today called the army reserves and volunteers to active service in the threatened industrial revolution. The king's action was caused by the refusal of striking coal miners to renew negotiations with mine owners and the decision of the "triple alliance" to meet today to determine plans for a general strike.

Under the emergency act now in effect all military forces can be used in the distribution and guarding and production of food and the keeping of the peace.

London, April 8.—The triple alliance has decided to strike. Announcement to that effect was made shortly after noon today by J. H. Thomas, head of the railway workers.

Unless an eleven-hour development prevents execution of the decision, 5,000,000 workers will be idle in the united kingdom before the week is over.

The triple alliance strike will be called Tuesday unless the government reopens negotiations in the meantime. J. H. Thomas announced late this afternoon.

The king's call for army and naval reserves include their service. While the alliance strike call may be issued before the day is over, it is not expected to become fully operative until midnight Sunday.

The miners refused the premier's invitation because Lloyd George had stipulated as a condition for the conference that the safety of the mines be discussed and decided before any other issues would be considered. That was the same stumbling block that prevented the materialization of yesterday's peace moves.

The last door to peace was definitely closed when the secretary to Premier Lloyd George announced at 12:40 p. m. that the miners have refused the premier's latest invitation to meet him and the owners.

The triple alliance strike is expected to be formally called when the executive committee of the alliance meets at Unity hall this afternoon.

The ray of hope came in the form of an invitation from Premier Lloyd George to the miners and mine owners to meet him again in conference. He asked representatives of both sides to see him at the board of trade. In extending the invitation, the premier completely reversed his position yesterday when he declared assumption of negotiations was utterly impossible because of the miners' refusal to guarantee the continuance of pumping at the mines. So grave is the menace which confronts the kingdom that Lloyd George is believed to have put aside every other consideration in a last attempt to avert disaster.

Riots and sabotage continue in the strike-paralyzed coal fields. Mine after mine is being flooded. Even if the strike were to be called off today it would take many months to get production back to anywhere near normal. The damage already done is irreparable.

Other great industries have begun to suffer. From Derbyshire came word today that the big Staveley iron works have had to be shut down owing to a lack of coal. Three thousand workers were rendered jobless over night.

The Stanton Iron works also have been closed. The same thing is being duplicated over and over in all parts of the kingdom.

In the Fife-shire coal fields, among the richest in Scotland, floods have swept the roads and many collieries are under water. New shafts will have to be constructed at those mines before another ton of coal can be produced.

The Journal staff correspondent was the first to inform the board of trade of Thomas' announcement that the alliance has decided upon a strike. "Well, it has come," was all an official would say. His attitude indicated the board had not been overly hopeful for a settlement.

Coming out of Unity hall, where he had conferred with the executive committee of the transport workers, Thomas said: "Our decision is that the triple alliance will strike. It has been agreed that the strike will be controlled by a joint committee of the three bodies—miners, rail men and transport workers—and the decisive meeting of the alliance will occur this afternoon."

At 2:30 p. m. it was officially announced by the transport workers' executive committee that it had been empowered to call a strike at will. Delegates immediately went to their respective homes to prepare everything for the strike call, which is expected to follow the triple alliance meeting this afternoon.

The transport workers declared the strike order will become operative "when the miners give the word for a sympathetic strike." This put a new aspect on the situation, placing the "big stick" of the final decision in the hands of the miners rather than of the triple alliance executives. It is now up to the miners to say whether they want the alliance to go out. Their "yes" will be promptly followed by a general strike call. The Evening News learns that at the request of the borough mayors the transport workers agreed to safeguard London's food supply in the event of a general strike.

SPLIT DEVELOPS AMONG "DRY" HOUSE MEMBERS

Washington, April 8.—A split developed among dry advocates in the house when Representative Wood, republican, Indiana, announced that he would introduce a bill transferring enforcement of prohibition from the internal revenue bureau to the department of justice. Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee, author of the enforcement act, declared he was opposed to such legislation. Mr. Wood said he believed his measure would remedy non-enforcement conditions. He recalled that he sat on the floor of the house last session that he would take such a step if Representative Volstead did not insist on the ground that the enforcement machinery established by the Volstead act had fallen down hopelessly. "Some of those who want prohibition enforcement transferred to the department of justice do not want the law rigidly enforced," was Representative Volstead's comment.

GREAT LAKES MIDDIES WILL BE GIVEN VACATION

Waukegan, Ill., April 8.—A special order has been issued authorizing Capt. Daniel W. Wurtsbaugh, commandant, to grant every man on the Great Lakes naval station thirty days' leave of absence while extensive repairs are being made throughout the station. No work, drill or other exercises will be possible, so all men will be sent home. Special money regulations will be honored for those who haven't sufficient funds. The paymaster has been authorized to advance six months' pay if necessary. The government will make arrangements with the railroads for free travel to any part of the country.

ALEXANDER HOWAT IS FOUND GUILTY

President of Kansas Mine-workers' Union Convicted of Contempt of Court.

Pittsburg, Kan., April 8.—Alexander M. Howat, president of the Kansas united mine workers, was found guilty of contempt of court in the Crawford county district court, today. A peace bond of $5,000 was imposed by Judge A. J. Curran, as a part of the penalty, but a stay of execution was granted pending the decision of the Kansas supreme court, to which tribunal the case is to be appealed.

The sentence provided that Howat pay a fine of $200, put up a bond of $5,000 with the state as a guarantee that no further strikes would be called and that in the event of his failure to comply with these terms he be placed in jail, to stay there until the payment had been made. With the stay of execution granted, however, it was only necessary for Howat to put up an appeal bond of $2,000 and this was immediately effected.

This will make two contempt cases appealed to the Kansas supreme court, both in connection with the violation of the injunction granted by Judge Curran, September 14, 1920, prohibiting the calling of strikes in the Kansas coal fields. One more action against the leader, is pending, namely, the case in the Cherokee county district court brought by the state and which Howat is charged with violating criminal sections of the Kansas court of industrial relations. That case will be tried at Columbia, in the May term of court.

BERLIN MAKES NEW ATTEMPT FOR AID

French Newspaper Says Bergmann is Trying to Confer With Colonel Boyden, U. S. A.

Paris, April 8.—Germany has begun a new attempt to obtain American intervention in the reparations issue, according to Pertainax, recognized as the best informed French commentator on foreign affairs. Herr Bergmann, chief German negotiator on the subject of reparations, according to Pertainax, is trying to confer with Colonel Boyden, U. S. A., who recently withdrew from the reparations commission on orders from Washington, but who is keeping in touch with the activities of that body.

Colonel Boyden has been in the Balkans for the last ten days and his assistants here said they did not know whether Pertainax's story has any foundation in fact. Bergmann has been in Berlin more than a week, and his assistants here declared themselves equally ignorant of any new German proposals.

Pertainax in his article declares that France is willing to listen to American and English is glad to conclude an amicable accord, but that she will not yield on the reparations question. "We are resolved," he adds, "to proceed with the military occupation of the Ruhr district, if Germany refuses to pay. Our leaders are now making economic and military preparations which will assure the enterprise. I prefer not to reveal any secrets, but the decisive hour is about to arrive."

The crisis in the reparations question probably will be reached a week from today when the commission houses to complete its work and hand the Germans the total bill on the basis of the provisions of the Versailles treaty. Upon formal notice from Berlin that Germany rejects this bill the allies will then prepare through conversations to "lay a heavy hand upon Germany's neck," as Premier Briand put it during the senate debate the other day.

The French are anxious to move into the Ruhr district as soon as possible after May 1. Despite rumors of a possible earlier action by the French, coupled with the departure next week of French newspaper correspondents to the Rhine, it is unlikely that France will act before May 1, as she is mindful of the effect such action would have upon the allies and America.

Admiral Gogony urges that in addition to occupying the Ruhr district the allies put themselves in "striking" distance of Berlin. He suggests that 35,000 men occupy the stand of Eugeuen and that the allies also take Straubund which is only some 120 miles from Berlin. He further advises the seizure of the Kiel canal by a French division, a British brigade and a Belgian regiment, all to be protected by the British fleet.
