The ties that bind are golf links.
Most fools are also self-made men.
One who butts in is usually the goat.
Boche business enterprise isn't bosh.
All bad actors are not on the stage.
Greeks get Turkey's Angora. It's a city.
Prohibition is the mother of invention.
Don't try to write a best seller; be one!
A fool and her money are soon married.
The Greek war dance is a Turkey trot.
A manicurist lives by the hands of others.
Many Bluffs are called; but few are chosen.
Winter will eradicate the bathing suit evil.
Half a loaf is better than being out of a job.
A miss can be a hit but a hit never a miss.
Here's hoping that it won't prove so difficult to disarm the nations as it is to unhooch them.
It seems that President Harding is always either going on a vacation or coming back from one.
Give Nicky Lenin all the American grub he wants and he won't care who attends the disarmament conference.

The peanut crop is reported to have fallen off 50 per cent, so it's plain the report does not refer to peanut politicians.
West Point cadets are to be required to read two newspapers, one of which is the New York Herald. Score another point for the horrors of war.
If Overseer Vollva desires any proof for his statement that bald-headed men are smarter than other men, he has only to point to the great number of bald-headed men who consume hair restorer year in and year out.
After being in the courts for many years, the estate of the late Eugene Field has been settled, the report of the appraiser showing that it amounted to $10,311. This, probably represented what he made out of poetry.

Dry cleaning makes his suits spic and span according to Dainty Dorothy

"It don't take a man long to bag his pants at the knees and to make a finely tailored suit look thoroughly disreputable—that's the man of it," avers Dainty Dorothy.

But she goes on to explain that the man who is making use of our cleaning, steaming and pressing services is keeping his clothes in much more presentable condition than when he got acquainted with us. And it doesn't cost much, either.

The country has been dried and found wanting.
The public takes contempt of law as a chaser with its liquor.
There are nearly one-fourth as many women farmers as men farmers.
If all speeders go there, the road to hell won't remain paved very long.
Here's the saddest news of the day. Charley Chaplin is turning grey.
Lower wages and lower profits are much better than no wages and no profits.
Don't run your legs off after a woman. You'll need them to kick yourself with.
By a remarkable coincidence, just as the Greeks started to advance the Turks started to retire.
Listen girls: The man who says he never kissed a girl before will also lie about other things.
That gulf hurricane was decidedly ahead of time. It arrived two weeks ahead of the equinox.
A New Yorker is planning an airplane flight to the North Pole. He leaves a wife and five children.
It will surprise many movie patrons to learn how much of Fatty Arbuckle's fat was in his head.
Washington denies that the Yap disputes are settled. The controversy is still in progress of negotiation, it says. Still Yapping, that is.

Abe Martin says that if the average man was as patient with his wife as he is with a fish there would not be so many cow-faced women on the streets nowadays.

Fattie Arbuckle is unfortunately talented. In spite of his girth and temperament, he manages to get in to tight places, from which he sometimes fails to squeeze out.

"The rumor that I will retire next year is a mistake," says Uncle Joe Cannon. Those probably are not his exact words—that's just the sense of it without the emphasis.

It is said that Mary, Queen of England, pays only $1,500 per year for clothes. If photographs can be relied upon, Mary's being outrageously cheated by her dressmakers.

It's too bad that wages and living costs can't be granted a decree of absolute divorce. It is becoming apparent to all their friends that they'll never be entirely happy together.

A school for mother-in-law is proposed by a Chicago preacher. It wouldn't be well patronized. When some others succeed in getting rid of their daughters they have nothing more to learn.

Those who importune Mr. Ford to take over that rundown railroad in Arkansas seem to have forgotten that Mr. Ford's bank statement recently published showed a balance of only 54 million dollars.

Peaches can hardly be given away in Texas—and can hardly be bought in Plattsmouth for $3.50 per bushel. And yet, by the time you walk to Texas, the peaches are likely to be gone! It's a hard life!

Parents rejoice at the opening of school, which enables their dear children to resume the invaluable processes of education and also takes the little dears out of the house for several trying hours of the day.

One economist wants to know what the automobile industry will do when the "point of saturation" is reached in this market. Probably prices will be lowered that a new point of saturation will be established.

We are not in the habit of kicking a man when he is down. Fatty Arbuckle it appears from all reports may be guilty, but we will await further developments before fully expressing ourself in regard to such fellows who lay awake at night studying as to how to get the best of some pure, virgous girl.

The bathing suit censor who committed suicide probably felt that he had seen all that was worth seeing.

Kinfolks make the mistake of trying to measure each other by what they said when they were children.

Hand-painted gowns will be in vogue during the autumn. They are said to equal the largest complexions.

The small boys of Plattsmouth believe that the greatest Red menace in this country is the red school-house.

If you get twenty miles to the gallon it's no cause to brag. We know a fellow who got thirty days on only a quart.

If all men are born free and equal, why is it that some of them have no trouble whatever in finding hooch, while others rarely see it?

Bolshevism is a great political discovery, barring the fact that it starves people to death in summer and freezes them stiff in the winter.

The poet who called these days "melancholy," and the "saddest of the year," was evidently thinking about the September income tax installment.

The charges that Chinese are profiteering in wives at one dollar apiece can scarcely be credited by any man who has beheld the Chinese species of wife.

Mme. Lenine has left Russia, dispatches say. Perhaps there came a time when there was only enough on the table for one, and of course she couldn't expect a share of that.

A report says that 90 per cent of the movie actors are out of jobs. It is just about that number that ought to be out of a job for the good of the public and the movie business.

Perhaps the reason farmers do not have hay fever is that they get their ragweed and goldenrod pollen fresh from the flower, as it were; whereas the city people who have hay fever must put up with the canned pollen.

When you come home from a vacation and find the plumbing out of fix, the ants on a rampage, the grass in need of cutting, and the flower beds grown up in weeds, it makes you wonder whether it is really worth while.

One of Uncle Sam's marines has broken the world's record for target shooting at the Camp Perry tournament, hitting 117 bull's eyes in succession. It wouldn't take a standing army of more than a thousand men of that sort to insure peace insofar as this country is concerned.

Of course, President Harding has a kind heart and wants to do what is right, but we are dubious about his discretion in trying to get something for those Philadelphia parents of nineteen children. The father of the nineteen is said to be getting $20 per week as a janitor in the Wanamaker store, and Mr. Wanamaker points out that he is paying the regulation price for such work. It is a terrible small wage, of course, but we believe it would establish a bad precedent to raise a man's wages merely because he has become the father of nineteen children. We should not encourage that sort of thing! It makes too many customers.

SEPTEMBER 17 IS CONSTITUTION DAY

This is a day which should stand on par with Independence Day in the hearts of our people, for what good is a declaration of independence without the means of safeguarding that independence which was declared in the council hall and won on the battlefield.

The Constitution of the United States was signed on Sept. 17th, therefore let us recognize the day by the display of flags in our community and any other way possible.

July 4th and Sept. 17th are days of equal significance. Rally around the constitution which alone has made the Declaration of Independence a living fact.—Eva Burton Leete, Regent Fontanelle chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

MAN BEATEN BY TRAMPS IS DEAD

Stranger Found in Box Car at Payne, Iowa, Succumbs to the Effects of His Injuries.

From Saturday's Daily.
The stranger who was found in a box car at Payne, Iowa, on the morning of September 5th in a terribly injured condition as the result of a beating by tramps, has finally succumbed to the effects of his injuries, dying at the St. Catherine's hospital in Omaha on Thursday.

The man has not been fully identified although he has been called Harry Smith by the woman with whom he was found in the box car during the moments of her consciousness.
Inquiry has been received from Miami, Oklahoma, from W. E. Smith, asking for a description of the injured man, as he thought that possibly the victim of the assault might be his brother who had disappeared some time ago.

Unless relatives claim the body by today it will be buried at Omaha it was stated at the hospital.

RETURNS FROM TRIP TO BALKAN STATES

Lloyd D. Holsapple, D. D., Rector of St. Barnabas Church of Omaha is Home from Serbia.

After a four months' trip in Serbia and England, the Rev. Lloyd Holsapple, rector of the St. Barnabas Episcopal church of Omaha and one of the best known clergymen of the state, has returned to his work in the metropolis. Father Holsapple, in an interview expresses himself as well satisfied with the conditions in Europe along reconstruction lines.

Father Holsapple left Omaha last May on the invitation of Bishop Nicolai of Serbia and spent several months investigating the conditions in that country. During his absence abroad the work of the St. Barnabas parish was looked after by Father Leete of this city.

"The death of King Peter disrupted public affairs, and with after effects of war, the country has many problems to solve," said Rector Holsapple. "Macedonia, a part of Serbia, is a productive agricultural district, and food is plentiful. Generally speaking, the country is doing very well."
