

Nehawka Department!

Prepared in the interests of the People of Nehawka and Surrounding Vicinity Especially for the Journal Readers.

Miss La Vesta Flamme was under the doctor's care last week, but is reported better.

Miss Baker of Weeping Water visited her sister Elvira at the D. C. West home over Sunday.

Remember the Sunday school at the U. B. church Sunday at 10 a. m. All are invited to attend.

The Ladies Aid of the U. B. church of Nehawka will meet with Mrs. Christwiser December 7th.

Messrs Ivan and Max Balfour were attending the banquet of the Masons in Lincoln last Friday night.

Peter Opp has been visiting at the home of his daughter, Wes W. T. Lloyd, of Nebraska City, for the past week.

Wm. Shumaker completed picking his corn the day before Thanksgiving and has another thing to be thankful for.

Miss Edith Frans, who is with the Sheldon Manufacturing company, was a guest at her home in Union for Thanksgiving.

C. E. Hitt and wife, of Plattsmouth, were guests at the home of Mr. Wm. Hicks, father of Mrs. Hitt, for Thanksgiving day.

The pastor contemplates a revival meeting at the Otterbein church beginning Sunday, November 27. Everybody invited to attend.

There was a fine Thanksgiving union service at the U. B. church at 2:30. Rev. Johnson of the M. E. church giving the address.

R. C. Alford and wife of Elmwood were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Sheldon for Thanksgiving days and the remainder of the week.

A. C. Munn and I. S. Fresse were looking after some business matters in Omaha last Monday, driving over to the metropolis in the car of Mr. Munn.

R. C. Pollard was a visitor in Lincoln last Friday evening, but could not find time to remain for the Masonic banquet which was given on that date.

F. W. Elliott of Plattsmouth, the manager of the S. L. Collins Oil company was looking after some business matters in Nehawka last Friday afternoon.

Frank Lemon and wife were visiting at Omaha last Friday, making the trip via the Missouri Pacific and the bus which runs from Nebraska City to Omaha.

Nelson Berger, M. D. Pollard and Hall Pollard were attending the meeting and banquet of the Scottish Rite order of the Masons in Lincoln last Friday evening.

Mrs. W. B. Dale is reported as making very good progress towards entire recovery and is able to be out and around, which is giving her hope of returning health.

Leo Switzer and wife were guests at the home of Henry Thelle and wife at the home north of Nehawka last Thursday, they all enjoying the Thanksgiving dinner.

John O. Yeiser, Jr., and wife, of Omaha, were visiting in Nehawka last Thursday, being guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sturm while here for Thanksgiving dinner.

J. T. Dale and family were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodman for Thanksgiving and enjoyed the visit and the excellent dinner which was served.

Verner Lundberg, Miss Zupha Christwiser and Miss Doris Magney were spending Thanksgiving and the remainder of the week at their homes in Nehawka last week.

Mayor V. P. Sheldon was a visitor in Lincoln last Friday evening, going to attend the banquet and program which was given by the Masonic Shriners at their temple last Friday evening.

Rev. J. R. Simpkins, pastor of the United Brethren church, accompanied by Mrs. Simpkins were visiting with friends and looking after some business matters in Nebraska City last Friday afternoon.

Albert Eaton, of Union, the local representative of the Standard Oil company, was a business visitor in Nehawka last Friday, coming over with a load of oil and gas for the merchants and garages here.

A. C. Munn shelled corn last Friday for Joe Goodman which was delivered at the Farmers Elevator company. The corn is excellent and surpasses the last year's crop, even after having passed through the winter.

Fred P. Rose has been loading a car of wood which he is shipping to Omaha, where it is to be used by Swift & Company for smoking meat. Mr. Rose has some excellent wood and is hustling the same into the car for the packers.

Mr. Henry Thelle, who was injured by the kicking and tramping of a pair of mules several weeks since is so he can get around and is mending as rapidly as could be expected from the nature of his injuries.

Messrs W. B. Dale and F. R. Cunningham have been rustling getting the new home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sturm in condition to live in during the winter. A portion of the work will have to go over until next spring.

Herman L. Thomas and wife, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Thomas' brother, Ensign Cedric Eaton at Chicago for the past week, returned home last Thursday, and was taking the remainder of his vacation at home.

Robert Back, a brother of Mrs. E. A. Kirkpatrick, who has been making his home at Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Nehawka and a guest at the Kirkpatrick home during the week, and will remain for a short time longer.

Julius Rheiman was looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth last Wednesday, accompanying Messrs. J. W. Magney and W. A. Norris, who were serving as veniremen of the jury of the district court which has just concluded.

Messrs Miller and Gruber who are building a house each have gotten along nicely and are just at this time held back on account of not receiving a portion of the windows for the structure. The work of completion is however coming along nicely.

Horace Griffin a few days since purchased a hog for dressing for himself, and weighed the critter, finding he tipped the scales at 455 and from which Mrs. Griffin is trying out the lard, getting 25 gallons besides the meat which they kept.

Joe Bauer, who is working on the new home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sturm, spent Thanksgiving day at his home in Union and was back to his work on the Sturm home again Friday. He and Mr. E. S. Steel expect to complete the woodwork the first of this week.

Attorney D. O. Dwyer, of Plattsmouth, accompanied by Mrs. Dwyer and Mrs. J. R. Vallery and daughter, Miss Grace, were visiting in Nehawka on Thanksgiving evening, driving down in his sedan car, and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Cunningham.

Quite a number of young folks drove down to Nebraska City Sunday afternoon and saw the "Four Horsemen" at the grandstand theatre in the evening. Among those going were Gilbert Kime, Roy Klaurens, Ben Olive, Miss Emily Wolf, Harold Andrus and Miss Edna Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stone entertained at their home last Thursday for Thanksgiving dinner, Messrs. D. C. West and Walter Wunderlich of the families of Nehawka and Mr. Joe West and family of Crete, who are visiting at the home of the latter's brother, D. C. West, of Nehawka, for a few days.

Robert B. Chapman, one of the rural carriers, Walter Wunderlich of the Sheldon department store and Eugene Nutzman, a farmer from a few miles south of Nehawka, made up a party who attended the Scottish Rite meeting of the Masons at Lincoln last Friday evening, making the trip in their car.

Brown Leghorn Cockrels
I have a number of brown leghorn cockrels, pure breeds, which are going at one dollar each. Murray telephone 2712.—Mrs. Walter Sans. tf-w

Steering Gear Went Wrong
Last Wednesday as Wm. Troop was returning from Omaha, and had just turned out of the road for another car which he had met and was turning back into the road, the steering apparatus went wrong, which precipitated Mr. Troop and the car into the ditch, with the result that the car was badly damaged, while Mr. Troop escaped without any personal injury. The wheels of the car were broken and the radiator, radius rods and axle badly damaged. He telephoned for the garage to come to the place of the accident which was just north of LaPlatte and bring the crippled car to Plattsmouth for repairs. Mr. Troop was very fortunate in his escaping from injury himself.

Will Extend Invitation

The boys or young men of Nehawka will expect soon to have a party which will be known as the Knee Pants brigade, and the young men will dress as the school boy and will expect to have a time. They are expecting to extend an invitation to their young lady friends, whom they are desirous of enjoying the occasion as well. In a party of the young misses, who made a mistake and secured the dresses of their still younger sisters, or some one else's sister, they forgot to invite the young men, but a few invited themselves, and as they were approaching the home where the meeting was being held, some one turned on the porch light, when the entire company of "little girls" were on the porch. It is said that in one and two-fifths seconds not one girl was in sight.

Otterbein Guild Dinner

The ladies of the Otterbein church north of Nehawka, who are a real live bunch, served dinner at the Steffens hall on Thanksgiving day to a large crowd of the people of Nehawka and vicinity, there being something near two hundred who were guests at the dinner. The ladies turned a neat sum of money for the use of the church in the venture and provided an elegant dinner for the people of Nehawka, who surely appreciated the fact, as was demonstrated by their liberal patronage. When the ladies of this guild for the church go after a proposition, you may know that it will be a success.

Has the Bridge Finished

The bridge which has been building near the home of Henry P. Sturm, has been completed. Mr. Sturm last Friday graded the approaches and placed it in condition for traffic. The bridge also affords a passage way from the home of Mr. Sturm on the west side of the road to the pasture lands on the east side. Besides making a very convenient way for the cattle, Mr. Sturm has saved the county a large sum of money in its construction.

School Notes

The English literature class is studying "Romeo and Juliet."

The Caesar class has been drawing maps to illustrate the movements of Caesar's army.

Cheer up, Algebra 3! We will have enough board room bye and bye, at least Mr. Burby says so.

Lucile Powell entered the fifth grade Monday, making the total enrollment in that grade twelve.

Madeline Dale was not able to be in school Monday, Vera Martin and Elsie Pollard were absent Tuesday.

When some more class parties are held the Freshmen will be able to show you how to write an invitation.

Mabel McFarland was absent from school Tuesday due to illness; this is the first day that Mabel has missed school.

The J. U. G. Sewing club enjoyed the hour Thursday evening with Beatrice Chapman and they also enjoyed the refreshments.

Miss Elva Johnson received a package of candy from her mother

John Opp

NEHAWKA AUCTIONEER

Always ready for dates—far or near. Rates reasonable. Satisfaction or no pay. Reverse all calls.

—PHONE 58—

last Wednesday; it was very good, at least Mr. Burby says so.

The pupils of the third and fourth grades have planned a short Thanksgiving program to be given at the opening exercises Wednesday.

The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades are enjoying the language lessons in connection with Thanksgiving. Some very interesting stories have been written, both true and made up.

The Home Economics class prepared a Thanksgiving dinner for themselves on Wednesday noon. From all appearances it was a success. Elizabeth Chappel and Mary Ahrens were in charge of it.

The Sunny Side Girls club met with Mabel Ketch Thursday afternoon Nov. 17. The regular business meeting and the hand work were carried on. Virginia Pollard gave a Thanksgiving poem, and Margaret Chase and Ruth Palmer gave a dialogue. Refreshments of candy, cake and jello were served. The girls went home feeling that they had had a banquet instead of a luncheon.

Rev. Simpkins of the United Brethren church talked to the high school students Wednesday morning. He gave an interesting analogy about the "digging for an education that one cannot always see the good of" and took up the things that we should be thankful for. He contrasted the great difference of the opportunities we have in getting an education today and that the pioneer life.

BOX SOCIAL

At the Benjin school, district No. 55. A program will also be given, and a good time assured all Friday evening, December 2, 1921.

EVA M. BINTNER, Teacher.

DEATH OF ANNA CRAIG

The death of Anna Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Craig, former residents of Cass county, occurred Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at the home near Morrill, Nebraska. The body will be brought to Plattsmouth tomorrow (Tuesday) morning on the Missouri Pacific, arriving at 8:52 and the funeral will be held direct from the train.

FOR SALE

2 pedigreed Holstein Bull calves. $25 each. Six weeks old. Phone 3513 A. O. RAMGE.

UNDERGOES VERY SERIOUS OPERATION

Donald Pitman, of this City, Injured Last July by Electricity, Operated on Yesterday.

From Saturday's Daily.

Donald, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pitman, of this city, underwent a very serious operation yesterday at the Clark hospital in Omaha, in the hopes of restoring to the full use of his left hand, which has since last July been practically useless, owing to the fact that the boy had his hands burned by a live wire.

The right hand of Donald was operated on last September by Dr. Lord and proved quite successful, allowing the lad the use of his hand so that he could resume his school work and the left hand it is hoped will be restored to the former condition or as near as possible.

In order to give the boy the use of the hand the surgeons were compelled to resort to skin grafting and the burned flesh of the hand was taken away and replaced with particles of live skin from the body of the little man. The operation required two hours to perform, and it is hoped by the attending surgeons that it will prove successful. Sixty stitches were necessary to close the incisions made.

Donald is now in the sixth grade at school and greatly regrets losing the time at school, but the present operation will require his remaining at the Clark hospital for two weeks and possibly longer.

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In the early evenings I am still asleep, or at least I am still resting, and then many other bats are up and about."

"Ah, I will not tell you anything else about myself, for it is interesting to think of me and to feel, 'Oh dear, I do not know nearly all about Harry Hoary that I'd like to know.'"

"That is what I would consider a pleasant feeling."

"So in order to let people have that feeling I do not tell everything about myself, nor do I let people see me often so they can watch me."

"I keep my own affairs to myself. That is the way Harry Hoary does, and it is the way all Hoary Bats do."

"But I will tell you that I am very, very, very strong and my wings are powerful."

"And I will tell you another thing—Harry likes his food, and will eat plenty of it. Food, not style is what Harry Hoary likes. I've told you this before, ha ha! You see I'm not giving away any of my secrets."

"But when it comes to being tidy and neat about one's self—there Harry Hoary is particular. He may not have good table manners but he always is well-groomed, and that means that he is always neat and of good appearance."

Man Like Uncle Jack.
"Mamma," asked five-year-old Ralph, "how that I have a jackknife and a pocketbook, ain't I a man like Uncle Jack?"
"Yes, I suppose so," replied his mother.
"Well, then," the youngster continued, "I wish you'd look and see if my mustache is sprouted yet."

'TREATY OR AGREEMENT' QUESTION GETS THOUGHT

Washington, Nov. 24.—Whatever may be the view in other quarters, at least a part of the American arms delegation believes that any resulting agreement on naval armament should be put into the form of a treaty.

Since the negotiations began, intimations have come from high officials that the probable outcome of the naval discussions would be merely an international "understanding," not requiring senate confirmation. It has been suggested that "understandings" as to policy are well within the province of the executive, and that the detail of scrapping ships could be accomplished by an executive order emanating from the same authority which enables the navy to rid itself without appealing to congress, of vessels it considers no longer useful.

But an indication that opinion might now be turning rather toward the formal treaty plan developed today when it became known that there is in the American delegation a tendency to look on a treaty as the only logical instrument to carry out conference decisions.

One or two delegates are said to have strong convictions on that point and to be ready to advise that so important an agreement ought not to be left in the diplomatic status of an "understanding."

The decision, so far as the United States is concerned, is expected to rest with President Harding, although it is taken for granted he will ask the opinion of his representatives.

Blank Books at the Journal Office.

HARRY HOARY BAT.

"My name is Hoary Bat, but my friends call me Harry," said the Hoary Bat.

"If you like you may call me Harry Hoary Bat, though Harry for short will do just as well."

"Now I am bigger than my cousin the Red Bat, and I am a creature who does not go about as much as he does."

"I am very handsome. In fact people who know me well call me beautiful."

"My fur is soft and I have plenty of brown and white fur too which adds to my smart appearance."

"I am particular as to my appearance. I comb my hair at least once every twenty-four hours. I do not need to buy a comb either as I always have one near at hand."

"As you may very easily guess if you're at all good at guessing, my comb is one of my very, very own which no one can borrow from me."

"My own claws make my own comb! Isn't that fine? They are so curved and so sharp, and so made that I can pull them over my head and back and comb my fur most beautifully."

"I would consider it very untidy if I did not do this."

"And I lick my back and my sides and my face as a kitten washes."

"I have a good appetite. Oh yes, Harry cares for his food all right."

"I gobble it down and smack my lips with joy. I don't eat quite as delicately as I might but then it doesn't make much difference as I am never asked to banquets where my table manners would be noticed especially."

"Of course I grow eating so much and I enjoy being fat. I take too much exercise to allow myself to get too fat, for I can fly well."

"I keep away from people so they don't know me well. Harry Hoary isn't much of a one for company."

"He is a great sleeper too and he won't get up so early in the evenings as some bats will."

"Now when people speak of getting up early, they speak of getting up early in the morning, but when Harry Hoary speaks of getting up early he speaks of getting up early in the evening."

"He is quite willing to speak of getting up early, but he doesn't like to really do it, and as he doesn't like to do it and as no one makes him get up he doesn't get up until he is ready."

"There is no one about saying, 'Harry Hoary, hurry and get up!' And no one pulls at my branch and tells me that it is getting late."

"So I get up at the hour I like best of all and that is when it is really dark and when the night has really come."

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In the early evenings I am still asleep, or at least I am still resting, and then many other bats are up and about."

"Ah, I will not tell you anything else about myself, for it is interesting to think of me and to feel, 'Oh dear, I do not know nearly all about Harry Hoary that I'd like to know.'"

"That is what I would consider a pleasant feeling."

"So in order to let people have that feeling I do not tell everything about myself, nor do I let people see me often so they can watch me."

"I keep my own affairs to myself. That is the way Harry Hoary does, and it is the way all Hoary Bats do."

"But I will tell you that I am very, very, very strong and my wings are powerful."

"And I will tell you another thing—Harry likes his food, and will eat plenty of it. Food, not style is what Harry Hoary likes. I've told you this before, ha ha! You see I'm not giving away any of my secrets."

"But when it comes to being tidy and neat about one's self—there Harry Hoary is particular. He may not have good table manners but he always is well-groomed, and that means that he is always neat and of good appearance."

"Away From People!"

"I am particular as to my appearance. I comb my hair at least once every twenty-four hours. I do not need to buy a comb either as I always have one near at hand."

"As you may very easily guess if you're at all good at guessing, my comb is one of my very, very own which no one can borrow from me."

"My own claws make my own comb! Isn't that fine? They are so curved and so sharp, and so made that I can pull them over my head and back and comb my fur most beautifully."

"I would consider it very untidy if I did not do this."

"And I lick my back and my sides and my face as a kitten washes."

"I have a good appetite. Oh yes, Harry cares for his food all right."

"I gobble it down and smack my lips with joy. I don't eat quite as delicately as I might but then it doesn't make much difference as I am never asked to banquets where my table manners would be noticed especially."

"Of course I grow eating so much and I enjoy being fat. I take too much exercise to allow myself to get too fat, for I can fly well."

"I keep away from people so they don't know me well. Harry Hoary isn't much of a one for company."

"He is a great sleeper too and he won't get up so early in the evenings as some bats will."

"Now when people speak of getting up early, they speak of getting up early in the morning, but when Harry Hoary speaks of getting up early he speaks of getting up early in the evening."

"He is quite willing to speak of getting up early, but he doesn't like to really do it, and as he doesn't like to do it and as no one makes him get up he doesn't get up until he is ready."

"There is no one about saying, 'Harry Hoary, hurry and get up!' And no one pulls at my branch and tells me that it is getting late."

"So I get up at the hour I like best of all and that is when it is really dark and when the night has really come."

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In the early evenings I am still asleep, or at least I am still resting, and then many other bats are up and about."

"Ah, I will not tell you anything else about myself, for it is interesting to think of me and to feel, 'Oh dear, I do not know nearly all about Harry Hoary that I'd like to know.'"

"That is what I would consider a pleasant feeling."

"So in order to let people have that feeling I do not tell everything about myself, nor do I let people see me often so they can watch me."

"I keep my own affairs to myself. That is the way Harry Hoary does, and it is the way all Hoary Bats do."

"But I will tell you that I am very, very, very strong and my wings are powerful."

"And I will tell you another thing—Harry likes his food, and will eat plenty of it. Food, not style is what Harry Hoary likes. I've told you this before, ha ha! You see I'm not giving away any of my secrets."

"But when it comes to being tidy and neat about one's self—there Harry Hoary is particular. He may not have good table manners but he always is well-groomed, and that means that he is always neat and of good appearance."

Man Like Uncle Jack.
"Mamma," asked five-year-old Ralph, "how that I have a jackknife and a pocketbook, ain't I a man like Uncle Jack?"
"Yes, I suppose so," replied his mother.
"Well, then," the youngster continued, "I wish you'd look and see if my mustache is sprouted yet."

"I am particular as to my appearance. I comb my hair at least once every twenty-four hours. I do not need to buy a comb either as I always have one near at hand."

"As you may very easily guess if you're at all good at guessing, my comb is one of my very, very own which no one can borrow from me."

"My own claws make my own comb! Isn't that fine? They are so curved and so sharp, and so made that I can pull them over my head and back and comb my fur most beautifully."

"I would consider it very untidy if I did not do this."

"And I lick my back and my sides and my face as a kitten washes."

"I have a good appetite. Oh yes, Harry cares for his food all right."

"I gobble it down and smack my lips with joy. I don't eat quite as delicately as I might but then it doesn't make much difference as I am never asked to banquets where my table manners would be noticed especially."

"Of course I grow eating so much and I enjoy being fat. I take too much exercise to allow myself to get too fat, for I can fly well."

"I keep away from people so they don't know me well. Harry Hoary isn't much of a one for company."

"He is a great sleeper too and he won't get up so early in the evenings as some bats will."

"Now when people speak of getting up early, they speak of getting up early in the morning, but when Harry Hoary speaks of getting up early he speaks of getting up early in the evening."

"He is quite willing to speak of getting up early, but he doesn't like to really do it, and as he doesn't like to do it and as no one makes him get up he doesn't get up until he is ready."

"There is no one about saying, 'Harry Hoary, hurry and get up!' And no one pulls at my branch and tells me that it is getting late."

"So I get up at the hour I like best of all and that is when it is really dark and when the night has really come."

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In the early evenings I am still asleep, or at least I am still resting, and then many other bats are up and about."

"Ah, I will not tell you anything else about myself, for it is interesting to think of me and to feel, 'Oh dear, I do not know nearly all about Harry Hoary that I'd like to know.'"

"That is what I would consider a pleasant feeling."

"So in order to let people have that feeling I do not tell everything about myself, nor do I let people see me often so they can watch me."

"I keep my own affairs to myself. That is the way Harry Hoary does, and it is the way all Hoary Bats do."

"But I will tell you that I am very, very, very strong and my wings are powerful."

"And I will tell you another thing—Harry likes his food, and will eat plenty of it. Food, not style is what Harry Hoary likes. I've told you this before, ha ha! You see I'm not giving away any of my secrets."

"But when it comes to being tidy and neat about one's self—there Harry Hoary is particular. He may not have good table manners but he always is well-groomed, and that means that he is always neat and of good appearance."

Man Like Uncle Jack.
"Mamma," asked five-year-old Ralph, "how that I have a jackknife and a pocketbook, ain't I a man like Uncle Jack?"
"Yes, I suppose so," replied his mother.
"Well, then," the youngster continued, "I wish you'd look and see if my mustache is sprouted yet."

"I am particular as to my appearance. I comb my hair at least once every twenty-four hours. I do not need to buy a comb either as I always have one near at hand."

"As you may very easily guess if you're at all good at guessing, my comb is one of my very, very own which no one can borrow from me."

"My own claws make my own comb! Isn't that fine? They are so curved and so sharp, and so made that I can pull them over my head and back and comb my fur most beautifully."

"I would consider it very untidy if I did not do this."

"And I lick my back and my sides and my face as a kitten washes."

"I have a good appetite. Oh yes, Harry cares for his food all right."

"I gobble it down and smack my lips with joy. I don't eat quite as delicately as I might but then it doesn't make much difference as I am never asked to banquets where my table manners would be noticed especially."

"Of course I grow eating so much and I enjoy being fat. I take too much exercise to allow myself to get too fat, for I can fly well."

"I keep away from people so they don't know me well. Harry Hoary isn't much of a one for company."

"He is a great sleeper too and he won't get up so early in the evenings as some bats will."

"Now when people speak of getting up early, they speak of getting up early in the morning, but when Harry Hoary speaks of getting up early he speaks of getting up early in the evening."

"He is quite willing to speak of getting up early, but he doesn't like to really do it, and as he doesn't like to do it and as no one makes him get up he doesn't get up until he is ready."

"There is no one about saying, 'Harry Hoary, hurry and get up!' And no one pulls at my branch and tells me that it is getting late."

"So I get up at the hour I like best of all and that is when it is really dark and when the night has really come."

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In the early evenings I am still asleep, or at least I am still resting, and then many other bats are up and about."

"Ah, I will not tell you anything else about myself, for it is interesting to think of me and to feel, 'Oh dear, I do not know nearly all about Harry Hoary that I'd like to know.'"

"That is what I would consider a pleasant feeling."

"So in order to let people have that feeling I do not tell everything about myself, nor do I let people see me often so they can watch me."

"I keep my own affairs to myself. That is the way Harry Hoary does, and it is the way all Hoary Bats do."

"But I will tell you that I am very, very, very strong and my wings are powerful."

"And I will tell you another thing—Harry likes his food, and will eat plenty of it. Food, not style is what Harry Hoary likes. I've told you this before, ha ha! You see I'm not giving away any of my secrets."

"But when it comes to being tidy and neat about one's self—there Harry Hoary is particular. He may not have good table manners but he always is well-groomed, and that means that he is always neat and of good appearance."

Man Like Uncle Jack.
"Mamma," asked five-year-old Ralph, "how that I have a jackknife and a pocketbook, ain't I a man like Uncle Jack?"
"Yes, I suppose so," replied his mother.
"Well, then," the youngster continued, "I wish you'd look and see if my mustache is sprouted yet."

"I am particular as to my appearance. I comb my hair at least once every twenty-four hours. I do not need to buy a comb either as I always have one near at hand."

"As you may very easily guess if you're at all good at guessing, my comb is one of my very, very own which no one can borrow from me."

"My own claws make my own comb! Isn't that fine? They are so curved and so sharp, and so made that I can pull them over my head and back and comb my fur most beautifully."

"I would consider it very untidy if I did not do this."

"And I lick my back and my sides and my face as a kitten washes."

"I have a good appetite. Oh yes, Harry cares for his food all right."

"I gobble it down and smack my lips with joy. I don't eat quite as delicately as I might but then it doesn't make much difference as I am never asked to banquets where my table manners would be noticed especially."

"Of course I grow eating so much and I enjoy being fat. I take too much exercise to allow myself to get too fat, for I can fly well."

"I keep away from people so they don't know me well. Harry Hoary isn't much of a one for company."

"He is a great sleeper too and he won't get up so early in the evenings as some bats will."

"Now when people speak of getting up early, they speak of getting up early in the morning, but when Harry Hoary speaks of getting up early he speaks of getting up early in the evening."

"He is quite willing to speak of getting up early, but he doesn't like to really do it, and as he doesn't like to do it and as no one makes him get up he doesn't get up until he is ready."

"There is no one about saying, 'Harry Hoary, hurry and get up!' And no one pulls at my branch and tells me that it is getting late."

"So I get up at the hour I like best of all and that is when it is really dark and when the night has really come."

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In the early evenings I am still asleep, or at least I am still resting, and then many other bats are up and about."

"Ah, I will not tell you anything else about myself, for it is interesting to think of me and to feel, 'Oh dear, I do not know nearly all about Harry Hoary that I'd like to know.'"

"That is what I would consider a pleasant feeling."

"So in order to let people have that feeling I do not tell everything about myself, nor do I let people see me often so they can watch me."

"I keep my own affairs to myself. That is the way Harry Hoary does, and it is the way all Hoary Bats do."

"But I will tell you that I am very, very, very strong and my wings are powerful."

"And I will tell you another thing—Harry likes his food, and will eat plenty of it. Food, not style is what Harry Hoary likes. I've told you this before, ha ha! You see I'm not giving away any of my secrets."

"But when it comes to being tidy and neat about one's self—there Harry Hoary is particular. He may not have good table manners but he always is well-groomed, and that means that he is always neat and of good appearance."

Man Like Uncle Jack.
"Mamma," asked five-year-old Ralph, "how that I have a jackknife and a pocketbook, ain't I a man like Uncle Jack?"
"Yes, I suppose so," replied his mother.
"Well, then," the youngster continued, "I wish you'd look and see if my mustache is sprouted yet."

"I am particular as to my appearance. I comb my hair at least once every twenty-four hours. I do not need to buy a comb either as I always have one near at hand."

"As you may very easily guess if you're at all good at guessing, my comb is one of my very, very own which no one can borrow from me."

"My own claws make my own comb! Isn't that fine? They are so curved and so sharp, and so made that I can pull them over my head and back and comb my fur most beautifully."

"I would consider it very untidy if I did not do this."

"And I lick my back and my sides and my face as a kitten washes."

"I have a good appetite. Oh yes, Harry cares for his food all right."

"I gobble it down and smack my lips with joy. I don't eat quite as delicately as I might but then it doesn't make much difference as I am never asked to banquets where my table manners would be noticed especially."

"Of course I grow eating so much and I enjoy being fat. I take too much exercise to allow myself to get too fat, for I can fly well."

"I keep away from people so they don't know me well. Harry Hoary isn't much of a one for company."

"He is a great sleeper too and he won't get up so early in the evenings as some bats will."

"Now when people speak of getting up early, they speak of getting up early in the morning, but when Harry Hoary speaks of getting up early he speaks of getting up early in the evening."

"He is quite willing to speak of getting up early, but he doesn't like to really do it, and as he doesn't like to do it and as no one makes him get up he doesn't get up until he is ready."

"There is no one about saying, 'Harry Hoary, hurry and get up!' And no one pulls at my branch and tells me that it is getting late."

"So I get up at the hour I like best of all and that is when it is really dark and when the night has really come."

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In the early evenings I am still asleep, or at least I am still resting, and then many other bats are up and about."

"Ah, I will not tell you anything else about myself, for it is interesting to think of me and to feel, 'Oh dear, I do not know nearly all about Harry Hoary that I'd like to know.'"

"That is what I would consider a pleasant feeling."

"So in order to let people have that feeling I do not tell everything about myself, nor do I let people see me often so they can watch me."

"I keep my own affairs to myself. That is the way Harry Hoary does, and it is the way all Hoary Bats do."

"But I will tell you that I am very, very, very strong and my wings are powerful."

"And I will tell you another thing—Harry likes his food, and will eat plenty of it. Food, not style is what Harry Hoary likes. I've told you this before, ha ha! You see I'm not giving away any of my secrets."

"But when it comes to being tidy and neat about one's self—there Harry Hoary is particular. He may not have good table manners but he always is well-groomed, and that means that he is always neat and of good appearance."

Man Like Uncle Jack.
"Mamma," asked five-year-old Ralph, "how that I have a jackknife and a pocketbook, ain't I a man like Uncle Jack?"
"Yes, I suppose so," replied his mother.
"Well, then," the youngster continued, "I wish you'd look and see if my mustache is sprouted yet."

"I am particular as to my appearance. I comb my hair at least once every twenty-four hours. I do not need to buy a comb either as I always have one near at hand."

"As you may very easily guess if you're at all good at guessing, my comb is one of my very, very own which no one can borrow from me."

"My own claws make my own comb! Isn't that fine? They are so curved and so sharp, and so made that I can pull them over my head and back and comb my fur most beautifully."

"I would consider it very untidy if I did not do this."

"And I lick my back and my sides and my face as a kitten washes."

"I have a good appetite. Oh yes, Harry cares for his food all right."

"I gobble it down and smack my lips with joy. I don't eat quite as delicately as I might but then it doesn't make much difference as I am never asked to banquets where my table manners would be noticed especially."

"Of course I grow eating so much and I enjoy being fat. I take too much exercise to allow myself to get too fat, for I can fly well."

"I keep away from people so they don't know me well. Harry Hoary isn't much of a one for company."

"He is a great sleeper too and he won't get up so early in the evenings as some bats will."

"Now when people speak of getting up early, they speak of getting up early in the morning, but when Harry Hoary speaks of getting up early he speaks of getting up early in the evening."

"He is quite willing to speak of getting up early, but he doesn't like to really do it, and as he doesn't like to do it and as no one makes him get up he doesn't get up until he is ready."

"There is no one about saying, 'Harry Hoary, hurry and get up!' And no one pulls at my branch and tells me that it is getting late."

"So I get up at the hour I like best of all and that is when it is really dark and when the night has really come."

"I love it then! I love the dark night. And I like to fly about then. In the day time I rest and sleep and in the late afternoons I sleep when some bats are getting up."

"In