L. A. SIMMONS IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Lincoln Men Heads Territorial Pioneers—Early Settlers Exchange Reminiscences of Old.

L. A. Simmons of Lincoln was elected president of the territorial pioneers association at a meeting Tuesday afternoon, to succeed J. C. P. McKesson, who had held the office for a number of years. The other officers are:

First vice president, N. Z. Williamson, Albion.

Second vice president, Mrs. R. H. Blanchard, Lincoln.

Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Minnie P. Knotts.

Following a brief response from the new president, Mr. Simmons appointed as executive committee: Moses P. O'Brien, Omaha, chairman; J. W. Blystone, Lincoln; R. S. Cooley, Waverly.

The secretary was instructed to confer with the state historical society in regard to publishing the proceedings of the association with those of the historical society.

Between seventy-five and one hundred early settlers attended the meeting at the Grand Hotel. Judge W. H. Westover of Rushville, who had been asked to give the address was unable to be present. A. L. Bixby opened the program with a poem and brief remarks. The presiding officer, J. C. P. McKesson, then turned ed the meeting over to the members for an informal exchange of reminiscences.

After the joys of early homestead life had been sung in many phases someone called for all to stand who still owned the land homesteaded in 1869 or before. The following five men arose: Nelson Korner, Gage county now of Lincoln; N. Z. Williamson, Albion; R. S. Cooley, Waverly; Henry Ruloff, Cass county; Levi Kyme, Otoe county. None of these are now living on the homestead.

Numerous watermelon stories were told. Judge C. B. Letson had one that discouraged other efforts in that way, and a change was made to pumpkins and turnips. T. M. Abbott who has "lived forty-five years and forty-five days in one neighborhood in Cass county" told of raising a turnip which weighed 11 pounds and 4 ounces and bringing it to the State Journal office. The reporter who wrote the story made the turnip weigh something like 18 pounds, but Mr. Abbott acknowledged the printed statement to be an exaggeration.

Other speakers were the following: T. Noyce of Crete, who was born in a dug-out twelve miles from Omaha; George E. Thompson, Lieut. Governor Pell Barrows, Joe Cassell, C. George of Lancaster who recalled greasing the skillet with turnip oil, shot of grease; James Campbell of Hazelock, who landed in Nebraska from Scotland fifty-one years ago and found modern civilization there barbarian had been expected; A. H. Sinclair, Mrs. R. H. Blanchard of Lincoln, Ira J. Hunt of Lancaster county, who homesteaded near University Place in 1865; F. A. Traull of Lincoln, who came in 1860 to the state; Moses O'Brien of Douglas county; M. Bardwell now of Lincoln; R. S. Cooley of Waverly; George W. Hanson of Fairbury; Ed Church of Lincoln; W. H. Williamson of Albion; A. D. Phillips of Boone county; Rev. H. Bross of Lincoln; A. S. Cooley and W. J. Blystone.

Mr. Church related his experience in going to California a few years ago in search of health and happiness, as a warning to the other pioneers not to leave the home state for a country with as many disadvantages as were found in the Pacific state.

GOES TO ATTEND FUNERAL

This morning C. A. Askwith, one of the residents of the Nebraska Masonic Home, formerly one of the well known residents of Omaha, departed for that city where he goes to attend the funeral of his son-in-law, Andrew Pattullo, inspector of police, who died there suddenly Sunday morning. The services will be held at the home, 4362 Seward street, and from there the body will be taken to the Scottish Rite Cathedral where the Masonic order will hold their services at 3 o'clock. The services will be under the auspices of Nebraska lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M., Grand Senior Warden Ed Wellman, being in charge.

The death of Inspector Pattullo has been a great shock to the city of Omaha as the deceased police officer was one of the best known men in the service of the city police and extremely popular with all classes of the people.

Frank E. Schlater was among those going to Omaha this afternoon to visit for a few hours with friends in that city and look after some matters of business.

HOOVER PLANS TO AVERT STRIKES ON RAILROADS

First of Series of Conferences With Union Heads and Company Executives Held at Dinner.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Conferences have been begun by Secretary Hoover of the department of Commerce, as spokesman for the administration, with representatives of the railway executives and the railway brotherhoods, with a view to ironing out any difficulties which might lead to a tie up of the transportation system of the country, it was learned on high authority at the White House today.

The first of these conferences, it was said, has been held and other conferences will follow. The first conference, it is understood, was held at the home of Secretary Hoover last Saturday night when the heads of the four operating brotherhoods and several of the leading railway executives were guests of the secretary at dinner.

The brotherhood leaders present, it is known, were Warren S. Stone, head of the locomotive engineers; L. E. Sheppard, head of the conductors; W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen, and W. S. Carter, head of the firemen.

Among the railroad executives present were A. H. Smith, president of the New York Central; Daniel Willard, president of the B. & O.; W. W. Astbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania, and T. DeWitt Caylor, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives.

Secretary Hoover has evinced particular interest in the relations between the railroads and their employees and it is regarded as certain that he has discussed the situation fully with them preparatory to holding the series of conferences which have been begun. The possibility of a strike by the soft coal miners and the railroad workers in the spring is an eventuality which the administration will prevent, it is possible.

COMMISSIONERS REORGANIZE

The board of county commissioners held their annual meeting yesterday at the court house and proceeded to organize for the year. Fred H. Gorder was elected as the chairman for the ensuing year and C. F. Harris was elected as the clerk, with G. L. Farley the junior member.

The name of Dr. F. W. Kruse, of Weeping Water was proposed for medical advisor to the county board of health and the same confirmed.

In the matter of the appropriation for the Cass county agricultural society for the year the board voted the sum of $2,000 for the work of the organization, following the law in the matter that makes the support of the society mandatory on the board of county commissioners.

The board also named E. C. Coleman of Greenwood as a member of the Old Soldiers' relief commission.

FUGITIVES FROM REFORMATORY AT LARGE

Men Who Escaped From the State Reformatory Still Objects of Statewide Search.

The quartet of men who escaped from the state reformatory at 11:25 p. m. Friday have not been captured. All roads in the state are being watched, all cities have been notified, railroads are under observation, and posses of men from the state sheriff's office and penitentiary are searching the neighborhood of Lincoln.

Men from the police department were on the watch all night for them and several detectives were specially detailed to take part in the search. They were last seen by J. Southall, a guard who was stationed at a small guardhouse at the entrance to the reformatory. He emptied his revolver at them as they fled.

Their names are Edward Clayton, Lancaster county, convicted of larceny; Lawson Nelson, colored, sentenced to penitentiary from Douglas county for robbery and later transferred to the reformatory; Robert Martin, penitentiary trusty working at the reformatory, and Thomas O'Grady, convicted of robbing a hardware store in a nearby town.

Mr. Superintendent Miller announced that no trail had been uncovered which would indicate the whereabouts of the runaways. There is not so much as a suspicion as to where they may be.

FEDERAL GASOLINE TAX IS PROPOSED FOR BONUS

Washington, Jan. 10.—A tax of 3 cents a gallon on gasoline to be paid by the producer, the proceeds of which would be used for a soldiers' bonus, is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Bacharach, republican, New Jersey. The tax, he estimated would yield from $240,000,000 to $250,000,000 annually, sufficient revenue, he said, to meet cash payments to former service men provided for in the bill.

SICK AT HOSPITAL

Grant Burrows of this city has been compelled to return to the University hospital at Omaha to receive treatment and is now in a very serious condition at that institution. Mr. Burrows was operated on recently and later allowed to come back home, but has apparently suffered a relapse and the final outcome of his case is very doubtful.

Miss Etta Burrows, sister of Grant, was operated on yesterday at the University hospital for the removal of her tonsils and is now doing very nicely.

LADIES HOLD MEETING

The W. B. A. of the Macabees met last evening at their hall and a very interesting time was enjoyed. There were a number received into the order at this time and the newly elected officers of the order were installed in their respective positions. The ladies are planning on holding their next social meeting on Tuesday, January 24th at the home of Mrs. L. F. Pickett and a fine time is being anticipated by the members of this growing order.

GOING TO BE SOME EVENT

The coming of the Musical Merry Makers on Thursday evening at the Eagles hall is being looked forward to with the greatest of interest by the dancing "fiends" of the city and already there are a large number of them planning on being present. This is, popularly speaking, going to be "some" event.

VISITS FLORENCE LODGE

Last evening Mrs. J. H. Short of this city, district deputy president of the Daughters of Rebekah, was a visitor at the lodge at Florence, Nebraska, and assisted in the work of installing the officers there. Mrs. Short was accompanied by Mrs. Helen Clark, Mrs. T. L. Short, J. H. Short, Miss Louise Short, Sandford Short, and Miss Sophia Selver.

J. P. Falter, who is now recovering nicely from his recent auto accident, was a passenger this afternoon for Omaha to look after some matters of business.
