EVEN AS HE IS PURE

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure.—John iii, 2 and 3.

Candidates are on the hustle.

Spare the rod and spank the child.

Only twelve more days and then the primary.

The Fourth of July is over. What next? Bargain day, or the primary election.

Hon. John H. Morehead will be nominated on the democratic ticket for congress.

Festus Pester: I intend to offer a reward for a grown man who ever said "By jove!"

If talk is cheap, we are wondering if the radio will tend to further reduce the price.

Candidates for office have posted so many cards on trees and posts the woodpeckers are complaining.

The reason why some men are against women jurors is because their wives always believe them guilty.

Herold McCormick's threat to sue the newspapers that made his famous strikes us as being downright ingratitude.

Some people have to be led if you want them to do anything, and others have to be the leaders or they won't do anything.

Those Illinois miners seem to have "modern warfare" down pat in every particular except possibly singing a hymn of hate.

If all women in heaven are 25, as Conan Doyle says, it must be an unpleasant place for those foxy old boys who like 'em young.

It will be hard to convince Secretary Hoover that the coal supply is the most important question before the public, with cantaloupes in.

They used to call it the Grand Old Party, but when the republican tariff bill is completed we can truthfully call it the Gougung Old Party.

A man may steal bread to keep from starving, but even so industrious a partisan of the social offender as Victor Hugo never thought of making a hero of the depraved wretches who wantonly steal flowers from porch boxes.

There's a sight of painting going on in this town, and the housepainters are doing a good deal of it. You can see a home freshly done over on almost any street in town. When one man paints his house it puts a similar notion in the head of his neighbors.

Old age is telling on Mother Earth say experts of Carnegie Institute, who explain that she is losing some of her magnetism. She is wrinkled in the face, her teeth are falling out and she is subject to fits. But she's the best old Mother Earth anybody ever had.

There is no getting ahead of the Russian soviet leaders. When the allies demand that all confiscated properties be restored to their owners, the bolsheviks gently point out that much to their regret the former owners were disposed of before the property was confiscated.

The people who howl the loudest about high prices, as a rule, are those who never stint themselves when opportunity is presented to spend money for amusements. The high cost of being entertained is one of the most serious aspects of the nation's economic problem.

That pink thing which Chairman Fordney exhibited in the house, and which he said cost $15 in Europe, but for which American women paid $60, might mislead the thoughtless into forming an exaggerated idea of the cost of women's clothes. They only wear those pink things at night and make up for the cost of them by wearing very little in the daytime.

STOP TO THINK

That every time a man allows prejudice to influence him, he cheats himself. His mental vision is clouded. He doesn't see straight.

He should see his opportunity. Boost his city.

Here are some facts to bear in mind:

That is requires great mental and physical effort of every citizen to make your city climb the ladder of fame.

That the time will come when all knackers will be forced to leave your city and their places will be filled by men who will be city boosters and city builders.

That conventions bring more to your city because your city will be immeasurably benefited by the good will you generate and genial hosts.

That your city is now upon the threshold of its greatest opportunity for trade cultivation.

That farming is a business and it is always possible to make business grow.

That you should determine to make your business grow and return your profits on your investment and labor.

That your agricultural section needs and welcomes more home owners. The family seeking a small homestead for poultry, dairying and small acreage for general farming can find desirable openings near your city.

That every community has its civic slackers, men who turn an indifferent eye to the needs of their city.

HOME OWNERS

Just now, when so much attention is being given to community improvement work throughout the country, the importance of creating a home owning sentiment in communities should be emphasized.

The community, town or city having the greatest number of its people owners of their homes will be found the most substantial place and generally the place with the most progressive spirit of civic beautifying.

It is said, and with good reasons, that a home owner makes the best kind of a citizen of a town. Owning his home encourages him to be a better husband, a better worker, and a better neighbor than if he did not own his home.

The strength of the small towns of this country is rooted in home ownership. Without stretching the truth it may be said that the unrest in the large cities is due to the lack of home ownership.

Plattsmouth has many home owners. It should have more. The home owner is a permanent citizen. He sticks to the town closer because he has financial interest in it. He is a good citizen because he takes pride in making his home beautiful and thus encourages others to do the same.

The home owner is the backbone of the town.

TO KILL AN ORGANIZATION

Don't go to the meetings. If you do, go late and then upset a few chairs. Make a noise.

If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of going. Let the other fellows sweat.

Go prepared to find fault with the officers and members. Be selfish and ask, "What do I get out of this?"

Let the others do the work. Never use a front seat, sit back and if you can get somebody like yourself, carry on a loud conversation. This is good for the meeting.

Hold back your dues—what do they want money for? Or better yet, don't pay at all.

Never encourage the officers. Tell their faults to outsiders and say the meetings are jokes.

If a visitor comes to the city, don't think of bringing him there.

Never speak up in the meetings. Do all your talking outside.

When things are going harmoniously, do something to engender strife.

When others roll up their sleeves willingly and go to work, howl about things being run by a clique.

It is our firm belief that if the women of Nebraska who are qualified will go to the polls on the 18th of July we need have no cause to fear the result. Mighty few of them are going to cast their ballots for inefficient candidates. Somehow or other, the average woman is prompted by an intuitive spirit in picking out candidates, and seeing the fallacy and utter nonsense of their palaver.

Pasture for Rent!

I have good pasture with running water for a few head of cattle on my my farm, two miles east of Murray.

URGES CONTINUATION OF PLEASANT PAST RELATIONS

Vice President Bracken of the Burlington in Letter to Employees Urges Good Feeling.

From Friday's Daily. The following letter from Vice President Bracken of the Burlington has been given out for publication covering the observance of peaceful conditions and which has been requested publication:

"It must be known to every intelligent man that any act of mob violence such as occurred at Haven recently is unauthorized and is going to hurt instead of help any cause. It will receive the condemnation of every good citizen.

"The president of the United States spoke in no uncertain terms at Marion yesterday as follows:

"Liberty," said the president, "is gone in America when any man is denied by anybody the right to work and live by that work. A free American has the right to labor without any other's leave. It would be no less an abridgment to deny men to bargain collectively. Governments cannot tolerate any class or group domination through force. It will be a sorry day when group domination is reflected on our laws. The greatest menace to public well being was the man who sought to inflame passions when steady counsel is needed. That it is a duty of every conservative man to advise his fellows against any irresponsible actions of this kind. I also feel it is my duty in view of the long continued friendly relations which exist between myself and Burlington employees to issue a notice and a warning that any man guilty of violence of any kind will not be re-employed in the service of this company now or at any time in the future."

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That is if he does not take care to be careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it will save a man a doctor's bill of several dollars. Weyrich & Hadraba.

CHEAPER TO SEE U. S. THAN EUROPE

Railroad Rate Reductions Exceed Those of Sea Travel—Better Accommodations, Also.

Railway passenger rates for the summer have been reduced much closer to the 1914 levels than have the trans-Atlantic steamship rates and consequently many tourists are "seeing America first."

Round trips to the great national park and to California and the Pacific coast are now being offered at considerably less cost than a trip to Europe.

The American rail fares from the middle west as compared with the summer fares in 1914 have increased as follows: To California and north Pacific coast 23 per cent; to Yellowstone park, 28 per cent; to Colorado 40 per cent; to Utah 42 per cent. These figures do not count the increase in sleeping cars, but even with this added, say railroad officials, the increase in all travel is only from one-third to one-half the increase in steamer fares compared to 1914.

For example, the seas traveler of today finds that to sail from New York to Havre costs him from $8 to 100 per cent more than it did in 1914.

All parties indebted to the firm of E. G. Dovey & Son are requested to settle accounts immediately with W. G. Kieck, in Coates block. j8-tfd&w
