DESERTEE WIFE SEEKS MISSING HUSBAND HERE

A. W. HOLLMAYER MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS 2 WEEKS AFTER MARRIAGE.

From Saturday's Daily. A. W. Hollmeyer, a resident of this city from December, 1920, to the 1st of August, 1922, and who was commander of the local American Legion post during the month of July last, is being sought by his wife whom he deserted in Kansas City on January 23rd, two weeks after their marriage, and who also seeks the money that her husband disappeared with.

Mrs. Hollmeyer arrived in Plattsmouth this morning and spent a few hours here trying to locate in some way the missing helpmate whom she fears has wandered off in a spell of irresponsibility and may have become injured or is suffering from a lapse of memory due to his injuries sustained when in the army.

Mrs. Hollmeyer was in the 42nd division and suffered a severe gassing during an engagement with the Boche and has never fully recovered from the effects of this gas, so the wife states. The wife was an acquaintance of years standing with Mr. Hollmeyer, who came originally from Aurora, Indiana, and married the lady who later became his wife while living in Chicago, residing near the home of the present Mrs. Hollmeyer and at that time the wife states he was a genial and most companionable gentleman and attracted many friends and it was in Springfield, Mo., that he met the lady who later entered the army.

The lives of the two crossed again in the last year when Mr. Hollmeyer, who had been an employe of the Burlington store department here suddenly left here about the first of August and located at Springfield, Mo., where he was employed as a deputy U. S. marshal during the later days of the railroad strike and was there until Christmas. Friends here understood, however, he was a railway mail clerk, running between Kansas City and Springfield. It was while in Springfield that he got in touch with the lady of his former acquaintance.

The couple were married in Denver, on January 10th, Mrs. Hollmeyer states and returned to Kansas City, where they lived for the brief span of their married life and it was there that the wife noticed the apparent irresponsibility of the husband and his prodigal manner. The wife states that on one occasion he scattered a large number of $1 bills over one of the leading cafes of Kansas City and gave little regard for money apparently. Later he told the wife that he was going to Omaha and would wife her as soon as he arrived there, but so far there has been no intimation of his whereabouts and no message from him to the bride. In hopes of hearing some word of his whereabouts she came to this city but the friends here have no knowledge of his present location.

To the Journal representative Mrs. Hollmeyer expressed her high regard for the husband and her opinion that he has been engaged in some occupation that he regards as menial and does not care to let her know, as she states he was very high minded and loved the attractive and luxurious things of life, and perhaps this causes him to refrain from sending her word.

During his residence here, Mr. Hollmeyer made many friends as he was a very affable and genial gentleman and his early training had been of the best as he was a gentleman at all times, but to those with whom he was the most intimate, he preserved a secrecy as to his past and his leaving here was as sudden as was that at Kansas City, as without any apparent reason he took his departure from this city without a word to any of the friends and had not been heard from until the receipt of a message by Legion officials from Kansas City a few days ago inquiring as to his whereabouts and stating the fact of his marriage.

The bride of Mr. Hollmeyer is a very pleasant and attractive lady and while not distracted or torn with grief, is anxious to learn of his whereabouts, as she thinks perhaps under the effects of his war time injuries he has wandered off under a lapse of memory and she would also like to secure the money that was in the possession of Mr. Hollmeyer at the time of his disappearance, and which was her property. The wife is heiress to considerable money in the east she states.

PLATTSMOUTH HIGH LOSES TO NEB. CITY

Large Crowd Sees Nebraska City Five Triumph Over Coach Doolan's Players.

From Saturday's Daily. The Nebraska City high school basketball team defeated the last Plattsmouth team last night at the high school gymnasium by a score of 25 to 12 in a game that was filled with thrilling plays. In the first half the visitors gave the locals a hard fight and the period ended with the score 14 to 10 in favor of Nebraska City. Plattsmouth opened the scoring from the "jump off" and before the Nebraska City athletes realized it a field goal had been made by the visitors. This was immediately followed by two field goals by Casebeer and Albers. The remainder of the period was very fast with each team scoring eight points each. Albers of Nebraska City was loudly applauded when he threw a basket from a position at the side of the goal, one of the most difficult plays of the season.

In the second period the visitors repeated their play of the start of the game and scored a basket from the "tap off" but were unable to make another point during the remainder of the half. Nebraska City in the first half solved the style of play of the visitors and by clever work prevented them from scoring the remainder of the half. Nebraska City made eleven points this session. Plattsmouth put up one of the fastest games seen on the local floor this season and despite the difference in the score it was a hard fought victory.

A large crowd of rooters from Plattsmouth accompanied their team here.—Nebraska City Press.

ASK THAT RIGHTS OF CHILDREN BE PROTECTED

Case in District Court Covers Oral Agreement When Children are Adopted—Seek Relief.

From Saturday's Daily. This morning a case was filed in the district court by William A. Roberts, an attorney for Kenneth Albers and Raymond Gerdes against John F. Gerdes et al. in which the plaintiffs seek to have their rights to the estate of Martha Gerdes fixed by the court.

The plaintiffs were adopted children of the Gerdes family and were adopted in September, 1917, and since that time Mrs. Martha Gerdes has died and the estate placed in the hands of C. S. Aldrich as administrator. The defendant is the widower of the late Mrs. Gerdes. In their petition the plaintiffs claim an oral agreement at the time of their adoption by the Gerdes family and the parents of the plaintiffs in which they were to be given an interest in the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Gerdes.

WHO SAID ANYTHING ABOUT SPRINGTIME?

Just to Show that Winter is Still Doing Business Zero Weather Sweeps West Country.

While the residents of these parts have been reading of the snow and ice in Los Angeles and making plans for putting in the spring garden, they had almost forgotten that Old Man Winter was still on the job and this morning they had a very painful awakening. Yesterday, shortly after the groundhog had emerged and cast a shadow, he withdrew and called up the weather man for a hurried delivery of winter weather and by 5 o'clock the winter winds were howling and by evening a small snow flurry added to the general wintry condition.

This morning, when ye reporter emerged, the mercury was standing at 9 below the zero mark and was in general very much like the winters that have made Nebraska famous in the past. Bob Walling, Guy Morgan and Bert McElwain state it is one of the most severe and sudden cold snaps they recollect in the last forty years in this portion of Nebraska.

BOY SCOUT WORK TO RECEIVE BOOST

Revival of Troop Here to be Made By C. H. Peden and Active Work To be Taken Up.

From Saturday's Daily. Since the removal of Rev. A. V. Hunter from this city the Boy Scouts of the city have felt the lack of a leader who was able to give to the organization the time necessary or who had the training and ability along the lines of handling boys that would fit them for the position of head of the organization.

The need of the scouts has been felt not only by the parents and those interested in the boys who realized the importance of this line of work for the young lads of the community. This need has resulted in a general attempt to revive the organization and a committee composed of E. H. Westover, W. C. Kieck, C. F. Schmidtman and Dr. R. P. Westover was named to sound out the possibilities of getting back on its feet the once active troops of boys.

In searching for a leader for the scouts, the committee was fortunate in securing C. H. Peden, a former teacher of the high school, and a young man who has had a great deal of work with boys and is eminently well qualified for the position, and the gratification of the committee at his acceptance was most profound and one of the chief obstacles to the formation of the troop was removed. Henry Leacock, one of the young men attending the high school, was secured as assistant scoutmaster and Carl Schmidtman as secretary and treasurer of the committee and the organization was ready to take up the work.

The boys have been meeting with Mr. Peden in the high school every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock and taking up their work that is a combination of the regular ceremonial as well as recreation and educational work.

Many have the impression that scout work is of a nature that will tend to create a military spirit in the boys but this is untrue and an unjust view to take of the work as the only similarity of the scouts and military organizations is the fact that both strive to maintain the highest physical efficiency and the spirit of discipline which is one thing badly needed in this day and age of the world.

The creed of the scout is in itself an inspiration to the making of the finest type of men for the future and it is herewith given that those who are not familiar with this work may have a better conception of it.

"On my honor, I pledge to do my best. To do my duty to God and my country. To obey the scout laws. To help other people at all times. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

These principles certainly will tend to make better citizens of the boys of the scout troop in the years when they will become the men of the community. If you have the opportunity, aid the scouts and remember that next week is Boy Scout Week in this old land of ours and be a booster.

MORGAN'S TEAM TRIMS NEBRASKA CITY LEGIONAIRES

Sweet Shop Basketball Tossers Have Easy Victory by Score of 54 to 19 Last Evening.

Keeping up their record of no defeats for the season thus far, the Morgan Sweet Shop galaxy of basketball tossers took the game from the American Legion team of Nebraska City by the score of 54 to 19 at the high school gym.

The game was better than the score indicates and the visitors were also handicapped in the fact that they were shy two of their best players, Kellogg and Cower, who were not here and also the long coast trip by car did not make them in the best of shape for the battle with the stars of this city. The visitors were, however, frank in stating that the local team was a real organization and would give any team in the state a real battle and they enjoyed very much the snappy manner in which the game was played.

The game was opened by the regular lineup of the Morgans with the exception of John Sartier, Schubeck, at center, Burkel and Martin, forwards; McCarty and Brubacher, guards, and later Chase played at center, Ofe and Sprecher forwards and Harold Renner guard.

The Morgans go to Nebraska City next Tuesday evening to play and a real snappy game is being looked forward to by both teams. The Sweet Shop players are trying to arrange for a game with the undefeated Bellevue vocational training school team here in the near future.

THE TOBACCO TABLE USHERS IN NEW YEAR

Julius Pepperberg Sends Thirty-Seven-Year-Old Cigar to Tuesday Tobacco Table Club.

On Tuesday of this week the famed Tobacco Table met at Keen's English Chop House during the lunch hour for the first time in 1935. It proved to be quite a red letter occasion and the New Year was rung in with unbounded enthusiasm.

Captain Hokey Walker arrived upon the scene early, bearing triumphantly the Stilton cheese, especially sent to the Table from London, England, by Mr. Robert Middlemas, of Walter & Co., proprietors of the Bolivar factory, Havana. It may be said unqualifiedly, that the cheese lived up to all expectations. While, naturally, it was served last on the menu, it is first mentioned in these annals in order of its importance. It was plated, on a head of the table, and was cut by Chairman Carl Werner, with due pomp and ceremony. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Middlemas for this token of remembrance from an honored member in a far-off land.

During the course of the luncheon the chairman read the following communication from Julius Pepperberg, founder and retiring member of the Pepperberg Segar Co., Lincoln, Nebraska:

"Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 26, 1922. 'Carl Avery Werner, Chairman Tuesday Tobacco Table. 'Dear Sir:

'December, 1886, David Hawksworth, master mechanic of the Burlington system, west of the Missouri river in Nebraska, received from a friend residing in Mexico a Christmas gift, one hundred Havana cigars. Mr. Hawksworth presented of these one box, fifty cigars, to Dr. General R. L. Livingston, the head of the Burlington Railway Medical department of the Nebraska lines. The general, an esteemed friend of mine, gave me one of these. The cigar has ever since been kept in a safe box originally wrapped with notations of date in my own writing, which you will notice upon receipt of the cigar sent you by registered parcel post.

'It will afford me great pleasure to have you accept and smoke this old cigar at Tuesday's Tobacco Table, Keen's Chop House in Forty-fourth street.

'I assure you of my pleasant recollections in reading your valued Tobacco Leaf for more than forty years. Also I would like to see the past tobacco houses that I had the honor to deal with. Will give you a few firm names: M. H. Levin, popularly known as the Water Street Tobacco Prince; Weil & Co., importers of the famous W. & C. Havana; Wm. Eggert & Co., importers of Wolf, Theo Wolf; Schroeder & Bon; H. Duns, founder of the present J. H. Duns & Co., and P. S. Barnes, Warehouse Point, Conn.

'With best wishes to you, the Tuesday Tobacco Table, and the staff, for a successful 1935. Sincerely yours, 'Julius Pepperberg.

The cigar was then unwrapped at the table and passed around for inspection. In spite of the fact that it was found to be in good condition. Later, it was lighted and smoked by Mr. Werner, who pronounced it of good quality, and characterized it as a pleasant and satisfactory smoke.

Among those present from out of town was William D. Lilly, of Lilly, Dungan & Co., Baltimore, formerly known as Bill Lilly. Bill was somewhat late in arriving, "but not too late," as he remarked when he wiped his lips with a silk handkerchief. He was accorded a hearty welcome.—The Tobacco Leaf.

ART PRIBBLE WRITES

In writing to the Bank of Commerce from Los Angeles, California, recently, Arthur Pribble has this to say:

"Well, old pal, our weather here is like summer. Boys are going bare foot. We have a murder or two every day. Holdups are a nightly affair. Roses bloom, lawns are green, the ocean's wet, ramblers and bootleggers are plentiful, building continues at the rate of one new house completed every twenty minutes. This seems a large number but they're crazy about building.

"If any time you can feel rich enough to make the trip out here, remember to look me up. Reg-ards to all Louisville friends."—Louisville Courier.
