MORGAN'S LOSE
FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON LAST NITE

Nebraska City American Legion Five Win by Score of 46 to 18 at Latter City Last Night.

From Wednesday's Daily.
The Morgan Sweet Shop basketball team, ranking as one of the fastest in the state met their first defeat of the season last evening at Nebraska City when they were defeated by the American Legion team of that place by the score of 46 to 18.

In the game the result was vastly different from that of last week when the Legion team was defeated here, and the addition of Kellogg and Cowger to the Nebraska City line-up was a tower of strength to the Legion and kept the Plattsmouth team guessing.

The heaviness of the Legion team was more than a handicap for the lighter Morgan team and despite the speed of the Morgans they were held safe at all stages of the game and at no time drew dangerously near their rivals.

Nebraska City—Dakan and Hill, forwards; Cowger, center; Stevenson and Kellogg, guards.

GIVES REPORT OF CONDITION OF CHILDREN

MISS WHEELOCK, NURSE, GIVES RESULTS OF INSPECTION OF CITY SCHOOLS.

From Wednesday's Daily
The inspection of the children of the public schools by Miss Wheelock of the state welfare department and who has just been elected as nurse-in-charge at Corner University, has been made public by the board of education and will give the patrons of the schools an insight into what the work has disclosed in the first inspection of the schools here.

This matter of inspection is a part of the state law and its wisdom is shown in cases of defects in children where they were causes of holding back the children from their studies and from the enjoyment of the perfect health that they should have.

One of the recommendations made by Miss Wheelock is that hot lunches be provided at the school for the children who have to carry cold dinners from their homes and which would be more beneficial to their health and the nurse also urges the weighing each month of the children and the meetings at intervals of the teachers and parents to discuss the physical welfare of the children and through this spirit of co-operation a better understanding of the child's welfare can be determined.

In covering the different cases of physical defects Miss Wheelock submitted the following figures to the board:

Eye defects—primary grade, 13 per cent; intermediate, 10 per cent; junior high school, 7 per cent; high school, 7 per cent.

Nose and throat—In this inspection Miss Wheelock found many cases of bad colds and this makes the figures very high and not as serious as the indications would show in the figures: Primary grades, 66 per cent; intermediate, 75 per cent; junior high school, 51; high school, 63.

Teeth—primary grade, 64 per cent; intermediate, 66 per cent; junior high school, 55 per cent; high school, 50 per cent.

Underweight—primary grades, 28 per cent; intermediate, 31 per cent; junior high school, 36 per cent; high school, 23 per cent.

Overweight—primary grades, 1 per cent; intermediate, 2 per cent; junior high school, 2 per cent; high school, 6 per cent.

The parents and guardians of the children should study these figures and make all possible effort to cooperate with the teachers and officers of the school in looking after the remedying of the defects in the health of the children.

Morgan is being filled up with the finest of the Missouri river ice which has been cut from the fields just south of the Burlington bridge and is excellent in every respect. Declares Tanlac Overcame Indigestion So Completely Friends Remark How Well She Looks.

"My friends are all asking me nowadays why the wonderful improvement in my health," recently said Mrs. Anna Ryan, 846 Webster Ave., Chicago, Ill., in relating her experience with Tanlac.
"Why," she has gained ten pounds and a busy day at housework never tires me now, which is quite different from my condition before taking Tanlac. I had indigestion so bad that even a very light meal would distress me, and the gas, heartburn, and smothering sensations were terrible. Sometimes I didn't care to eat a mouthful, in fact, almost dreaded to eat I suffered so. My body was just racked with pain, and headaches, nervousness and sleeplessness kept me feeling wretched and worn out."
"Well, four bottles of the Tanlac treatment relieved me of every trouble and now I can boast of a fine appetite, steady nerves and splendid health. It is just grand to be so well and happy and I never will stop praising Tanlac."
Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over thirty-five million bottles sold.

"Child Welfare" is Subject of Meeting Held at Home of Mrs. J. Hall—Fine Program.

From Wednesday's Daily.
The members of the W. G. T. U. society were very pleasantly entertained on Monday afternoon at the hospitable home of Mrs. J. H. Hall, who, with Mrs. C. L. Wiles, was the hostess of the meeting.

For the afternoon program the subject of "Child Welfare" was taken up and a very interesting discussion of this important question was had in an informal way by the ladies of the society. Every side of the child welfare question was touched upon by the members present and as a result a clear and concise view of the matter was secured by the ladies.

In addition to the discussion a very pleasing violin number was given by George Caldwell, "Robin's Lullaby," by Kraglan, which was much enjoyed and the young violinist was accompanied by Mrs. A. D. Caldwell at the piano.

At the close of the afternoon a very delicious and dainty luncheon was served by the hostess that added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

HAS A REAL POSITION

Frank Detlef, county constable, has had a position attached to him in the last few weeks that is going to keep him one of the busiest men in the county and that is the office of county truant officer. Frank has had a number of calls out in the county as well as from the city and has been kept busy looking after the kids that should be and are not in the public schools. Frank is one of the best natured fellows in the world but some of the cases are getting to be the limit, he states, and if the youngsters do not mend their ways and keep in school he will have them on the carpet before the county legal authorities.

The county truant officer has jurisdiction over the entire county and therefore has one real man's job to look after. Mr. Detlef states that chasing bootleggers is soft compared to rounding up the elusive kids.
