REED'S "DRUGGISTS' BILL" CHLOROFORMED IN SENATE
Lincoln, Feb. 13.—The state senate February 6 chloroformed S. P. 71, so-called "druggists' bill," introduced by Perry Reed at the request of the state pharmaceutical association. There was no opposition to the committee's report for indefinite postponement.

While not the intent of its advocates, the bill strikes directly at medicine wagons and proprietary medicines, Senator Hastings, committee chairman, explained. He said it was considered unwise to change scholastic requirements of pharmacists at this time.

WANTS FORD TO SEE THE ADVANTAGES IN NEBRASKA

Would Invite Him to Come to Nebraska and Look Over Water Power Resources of State.

Representative Lundy of Custer county is the author of a resolution presented to the house Wednesday which invites Henry Ford to come to Nebraska to survey the water power resources of the state and then take charge of its development on favorable terms.

Mr. Lundy has been in correspondence with Mr. Ford and the latter has expressed interest in the proposition. The resolution does not contemplate any contracts with Ford by the legislature, as these will necessarily have to be made with the proper state and federal authorities.

What Mr. Lundy is seeking, he says, is to make the legislature the agency to get the parties together. The resolution also urges the acceptance of the Ford offer for Muscle Shoals so as to give a precedent. Ford is seeking cheap power to lessen manufacturing costs, and more factories is represented as the need of Nebraska.

Mr. Lundy says that the memorial is addressed to Mr. Ford because of all industrial men he seems to be most interested in reducing power costs, and consequently selling costs, by using hydro-electric energy. He has shown an entire willingness to bind himself up in contracts for the use of such power so that the common people will receive the major portion of the benefits therefrom. His industrial record is such as to indicate that whatever he undertakes will be accomplished.

The resolution recites that Nebraska has 326,000 hydro-electric horse power, the greater part of which is undeveloped; that the present horse power used in Nebraska industries is approximately 90,000, by far the larger part of which is produced from coal and petroleum, both of which are expensive, diminishing in quantity, and involved in distant transportation and labor difficulties; that the present available hydro-electric power in Nebraska if utilized, would save the annual consumption of 4,600,000 tons of coal and furnish more reliable and cheaper industrial basis for the development of the state, and that the development of Nebraska's water power for industrial purposes would bring to our state millions of industrious people, intermingling manufacturers and farmers in a most desirable manner, enabling our farmers to sell their food products in a home market and producing manufacturers would supply the needs of our farmers and people of the middle west.

GAME SLAUGHTERED DURING WOLF HUNTS, CHARGE

Hasting, Neb., Feb. 13.—Many sportsmen who have participated in wolf hunts in this section during the last few weeks declare that protected game is often slaughtered because no game warden are present. The killing of pheasants in some instances is mentioned as the most serious offense.

HEAVY LOSS IN PACKING PLANT FIRE IN OMAHA

Armour and Company Blaze Yesterday will Run Well Over a Million and a Half.

Buildings 17, 18 and 19 of the Armour plant, in which the fire raged yesterday, were of brick construction with wooden floors and stairways. The buildings were separated by heavy fire walls and were equipped with sprinkler systems throughout. They were used for hog killing, dry salt storage and cleaning, vinegar pickling and pork curing, as well as sausage manufacture. All are nine-story buildings and were erected in 1898. Yesterday's fire was the first in the structures.

On the upper floors of Building 17, where sausage manufacturing was done, more than 1,500,000 pounds of sausage was stored. This, with more than 10,000 hog carcasses in coolers on the upper three floors of Buildings 17 and 18 and floor six of Building 19, was destroyed. The salt curing departments also were practically destroyed.

In Building 19, totally destroyed, the floors were used as follows: Floors one and two, salt curing; third, hog trimming; fourth, pork cutting; fifth, pork packing; sixth, hog hanging; seventh, eighth and nine, sausage manufacture. Four floors in Buildings 17 and 18 were used for hog killing. The fifth floor in each were decks used for cooling hog carcasses, as was the sixth floor. The seventh floors were sausage storage decks and floors eight and nine were used for sausage storage. It was on floors eight and nine of No. 17 that the 1,500,000 pounds of sausage was stored.

LEGISLATIVE HIGH SPOTS
The senate committee on child welfare decided to recommend Barr's Sunday closing of state fair band concerts for indefinite postponement. In committee of the whole the senate approved Osborne's bill authorizing investment of state school funds in warrants issued by officers of irrigation districts. H. R. No. 66, allowing use of road dragging funds for graveling roads was indefinitely postponed. S. P. 92, for eugenic marriages went to the general file in a modified form. A resolution to authorize the secretary of state to take official records as evidence into federal court at Omaha was defeated in the senate. The senate will meet at 10 o'clock Thursday.

The house received the governor's message in explanation of what the terms a big deflation, passed two bills and adjourned until 9 a. m. Thursday. One of the bills repeals an old law providing that counties of under 7,000 may be organized into one school district, the other increases the maximum for the maintenance of county high schools. Two groups of chiropractors who cannot agree on the proper qualification scale, were before the house and senate committee on medical societies. Warden Fenlon and others were heard by the house judiciary in opposition to report of the indeterminate sentence law.

HOT WORDS IN HOUSE OVER THE RUHR INVASION

Congressmen Who Served in World War Bitterly Attack Germany and are For France.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Occupation of the Ruhr was attacked and defended today in the house. Representative Knutson of Minnesota, the republican whip, declared France was seeking to dismember the German republic, and that the time had come for America to break its "long silence" with reference to the occupation.

Representative Butler, Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval committee, who had yielded Mr. Knutson time in which to make his address, told the house that he in no way concurred in what the Minnesota member had said.

"My sympathy is with France," he declared, "and I hope she can collect every dollar due her."
Representative Vinson, democrat, Georgia, made a like announcement in declaring he had a brother whose blood was spilled on the battlefield of France.
"I am for France and always will be for France," he said.
Mr. Knutson, who delivered a prepared address, asked how much longer the United States was going to "stand aside and permit the violation of the promises made at the time of the armistice."
"President Wilson said we were not fighting the German people," he contended, "and yet the children of Germany now are undernourished because the allies have taken all of their cows. Almost everything produced in Germany since the armistice has been taken from them."
Replying later to Representative Knutson, Representative Bulwinkle, democrat, North Carolina, who served in the World War, told the house that "Grove Cleveland Bergdoll and all the others of the white-livered yellow-streaked race will applaud and say the American congress is in favor of us." He declared that the Germans had murdered and ravished during the war in an effort to "carry out their imperialistic aims."

Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, wanted to know what position Mr. Knutson occupied in the republican house organization.
"Oh, I know that he is the republican whip," returned Mr. Bulwinkle, "but I know that he does not speak for his side of the house. They are Americans just as you and I are and they do not approve of his speech any more than you or I do."

MATHEWS LOSES FIGHT TO GAIN HIS FREEDOM

Former Banker Fails to Impress Supreme Court in His Plea For Release From Custody.

Willard V. Mathews, former resident of Lincoln, but who, when sentenced to the state penitentiary, was president of the Pioneer State bank of Omaha, lost out in supreme court Thursday, in his plea for release from custody.
Mathews started the Guaranty Securities company in Lincoln and as it increased in financial importance he started several banks. He moved to Omaha, where he had purchased a controlling interest in the Pioneer State bank. That institution went into bankruptcy a little less than two years ago, and following that Mathews was indicted on the charge of embezzling $550,000 from it.
He pleaded guilty on March 6, 1922, to a charge of embezzling $200,000. The offense consisted of using bank money to take bonds allegedly of no real value covering a timber and coal proposition in West Virginia, one of the enterprises linked up with the securities company. The court gave him from one to ten years in prison.

Five months afterwards he made application to the supreme court to order him released from prison. His attorneys claimed to have found a way out for him. It was that the law in force at the time he committed the offense had been repealed by the time he was arraigned and pleaded guilty, and that because when the legislature repealed this law to substitute another embezzlement statute it had failed to attach a saving clause which would have kept alive all prosecutions under the old law.
Mathews' hopes were dashed a month ago when the supreme court sustained the conviction of Ray A. Lower, Valparaiso banker, who raised the same plea. In that case the court said that a general saving clause existed, and that the legislature had not issued any pardons by implication. In passing on the Mathews case the court says that Lower decision controls, and dismisses the appeal.
