

The Plattsmouth Journal

PUBLISHED SEMI-WEEKLY AT PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA
Entered at Postoffice, Plattsmouth, Neb., as second-class mail matter

R. A. BATES, Publisher

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

A PROMISE OF THE LORD

I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me.—Psalms viii, 17.

The ship subsidy is shelved, maybe for good.

Alimony will not put the cat out at night.

Brady calls blue law agent "Profiteer in Morality."

Spring suits will be noisy, especially spring divorce suits.

Nothing ruins a woman's hat like a friend getting a new one.

Ash Wednesday began yesterday. Look out for your umbrellas.

Turkey wants to make a separate treaty with the United States.

Most people worry because they are either married or not married.

Only a few more weeks until it will be safe to predict a mild winter.

Voting machines are being installed in Pennsylvania. These are mechanical, not political.

Well, we see in the papers where Senator Piffin of Alabama has been reprimanded some more.

Krupp's profits dropped five million in three years. Wouldn't it be terrible if yours did that?

Trouble with sleeping late on Sunday is you have a hard time getting hungry again for dinner.

The sad thing about having a wife is she is liable to want the baby named after a movie actor.

Human nature is what makes us all hate autoists while walking and hate pedestrians while driving.

When you think the kids are noisy just suppose you lived in Holland where they wear wooden shoes.

Layers are debating if a man has any right to drink in his home when the question is has he any left?

A Cincinnati woman of 57 is a fine swimmer except for finding it hard to get her picture in the paper.

Just a few more weeks until gardeners will be making two weeds grow where only one grew before.

A Pittsburg woman who wondered if the new servant would run away with the silverware found out she would.

Of course we favor the French, but how would you like to have fifty thousand collectors camped in your front yard?

In order to be original a young couple was wedded the other day in a cemetery. They considered marriage a grave matter.

Two Dayton aviators have succeeded in flying straight up. What an improvement on the straight down method so common a few short years ago.

H. G. Wells says a new war will send Europe back to barbarism. And a look at the news of the day indicates that it won't have such a long way to travel, at that.

Senator-elect Howell got his Tuesday afternoon in the legislature, the bill he so much desired was killed by a vote of 55 to 37. Mr. Howell, although a United States senator, is not so much, after all.

Now it is reported that the Pomeranians are in a plot to restore the kaiser to his throne. And all the time we were fancying the Pomeranians to be too indolent to bark or bite. There must be a strain of dachshund in their veins.

Advice from Monte Carlo is that the silhouette girl is all the rage. Her draperies are long, black and clinging. This is a long way off and we doubt if the fashion can ever be popularized here. The vampire has worn out her welcome in this section and even our most efficient lady Latharios are given to striped sport stuff and bright array.

Wednesday, February 21, is Bargain day.

Remember Bargain Wednesday, February 21st.

If you think clothes don't count, try going without any.

Valentine day is over, next is Washington's birthday.

There is a shortage of log cabins for presidents to be born in.

A coreless apple has been developed, but the juiceless grapefruit has always been here.

Suits with two pairs of trousers are in demand. Why not throw in an extra coat also?

We'll bet the Tennessee mountaineer who has lived 120 years has never done anything else.

Rates on mileage books have been cut 20 per cent. These are fine books to read on the train.

Lew Dockstader, minstrel, slipped on the ice in New Jersey and rattled his bones considerably.

Wives can never form a union because very few husbands can afford to put on three shifts.

Food experts say farmers are poor eaters, but an expert of any kind is liable to say anything.

The chances are two to one your merchant is only dunning you as others have done until you.

You can buy a house for 40 cents in Russia, but none of the Russian neighbors are very nice.

Never judge a man's religion by what he says when his safety razor nearly cuts his nose off.

This European trouble is caused by all the countries being entirely too close to each other.

A New Hampshire dog team ran 68 miles in seven hours. Perhaps a dog catcher was driving.

Horse races are held early in the morning in Manila, so the betters can cuss the rest of the day.

George Washington's birthday is coming but you don't have to wait until then to be truthful.

Chicago's new railway station will be forty stories high. All the scenery in that town is sideways.

In Seattle a crazy man thought he was Harding. Women wonder what the crazy men will think next.

Clothiers say they see good business ahead. For them, perhaps yes. For the people have to have clothes.

The big fire at the Armour plant in South Omaha is a hard blow but the meat eaters will pay the freight.

Only those sacrifices rendered to one's country or one's God on the altar of humility are worthy of recompense.

Crowds you see arguing on street corners are not discussing Europe. They are deciding how to get across the street.

Everybody should be opposed to the state income tax. My God! Ain't the farmers and people generally taxed to death now?

A West Virginia widow married while awaiting the hour of her first husband's funeral. A splendid example to daddlers and procrastinators.

Germany is dumping gold on the market, so says financial reports. We thought Germany was hard up, but this don't look like it, does it?

Germany is dumping gold on the market, so says financial reports. We thought Germany was hard up, but this don't look like it, does it?

Germany is dumping gold on the market, so says financial reports. We thought Germany was hard up, but this don't look like it, does it?

REX YOUNG
General Auctioneer

Live Stock Real Estate
Personal Property

PHONE 314

Plattsmouth, Nebraska

Call at my Expense

THEY DON'T TELL

A writer in one of the current magazines says one thing that has held the race back in its quest for information is the experience and the ability to tell have so rarely combined in one persons.

Take woman, for instance. There is a study which you would think man would have mastered during the long maelstrom of centuries devoted to it.

What do we find? The men who have the widest experience in associating with the sex have generally carried said experience close locked in their own breasts to the grave.

While doctrinaires, bookish recluses like Carlyle or Schopenhauer or Nietzsche, men who, in the very nature of things, could have known just nothing about them, have been very ready to rush into print with analyses of their way and nature.

Take Brigham Young for a brilliant illustrator. Now there was a man who could have written something worth while something that posterity could have cherished.

Or Henry VIII. Even Solomon, while he made some fitting remarks about some types of his day, didn't write nearly so voluminously as his intensive experience with them might well have warranted.

Same way with women and her study of man. What would not a treatise from the hand of Cleopatra be worth?

Or Catherine of Russia? Or Mary, Queen of Scots?

SOMETHING NEW

We clip the following from the society page of a Chicago newspaper:

"Mr. and Mrs. request the honor of your presence at the College Inn at eight on the evening of Friday, February 16th, Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-three, in honor of their separation."

"Dancing and supper at midnight."

This is the very latest thing in parties, and we would really like to attend one, just to see the modus operandi.

Probably the husband and wife stand under an arch, and instead of a ceremony, the groom talks the preacher that the orange blossoms grew a lemon.

After this the couple stand on a dias while receiving the congratulations of other married people present.

Instead of a ring bearer, it would be eminently fitting for a wife to have a gunbearer, carrying two pistols on a silver salver.

One of the reasons why so many husbands are missing nowadays is that wives never miss. If your wife takes up target practice, it is time for you to take your departure.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

Getting back to these separation parties, it would be eminently fitting for the wife to wear anything she likes, but the husband ought to be attired in a bullet-proof vest and a coat of mail.

Just after the separation ceremony the orchestra should play "All By Myself." After the celebration is ended both should issue "Not at Home" cards.

FACING DEATH

A 19-year-old girl invalid in New York, faced with the unpleasant necessity of death in a short time, wrote a letter to a New York paper stating her craving for just one week of good times before she died. As it pays to advertise, even in such a peculiar matter as this, her wish has been granted and she will be the guest of a newspaper cartoonist for one hilarious week ere she returns to her small town to await the reaper's summons.

Strange that persons on the brink of the beyond always wish for such puerile things. In this case the youth of the sufferer and the years of pain that had cheated her out of the usual round of amusements of American girlhood offer a reason for the wish.

But older people of wider experience generally express a craving for equally absurd experiences or possessions when they know for a certainty that their early days are numbered. Wardens of prisons tell us that condemned men usually chose an elaborate dinner or breakfast just before their executions, when the normal persons would suppose that they would have no appetite at all.

Many sober souls have been started on careers of great frivolity after having been informed that they had an appointment with St. Peter in the near future. They shed tears of righteousness and having such they must make up for lost and depart with a splash.

In books the man or woman faced with death seeks solace in religion or philosophy. But in real life a large per cent of them merely crave more violently for rich food and festive times. How often one hears people remark, "If I knew I were not going to live I'd stop saving money and have a good time." It is very fortunate for our heirs that we live in ignorance of the date of our departure from this mundane sphere.

Instances of a government's going into the counterfeiting business are rare, but that is what hardup Austria did a little while ago when she flooded the stamp-collecting market with reprints of some rare issues of bygone days. Of course the collectors who had paid good round sums for the bonafide remnants of these issues were naturally indignant, but other philatelists snapped up the bargains in new antique stamps. The postmaster, seeing that the venture was a financial success, is undeterred by protests, and is going ahead with other issues of stamps that will sell for more than face value because they are counterfeiters of philatelic curios.

Not infrequently in the past, small nations have turned out special issues of stamps as a revenue raising measure, but so far as we know, the Austrian episode is the first time a government has counterfeited its own issues of earlier day.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

But the love for age must be served. If you want an antique, modern ingenuity will see that you get it, provided you have the price. The trick of shooting up new furniture with buckshot to give it an ancient worm-eaten appearance will soon go into discard probably, for real worm-eaten furniture can now be produced on short notice. An enterprising French gardener has found out that certain worms that bore trees can be turned into a furniture factory and work at board wages for making new pieces into antiquities. All that is needed is to starve the worms a little and they will eat into a Louis Quinze cabinet, made in the twentieth century, with as much avidity as they attacked a monarch of the forest.

One of the country's eminent pulpit orators now complains that America is a lawless nation. How does he get that idea in his head? We have at hand a list of more than 70,000 laws that have been passed by congress and various state legislatures within recent years. We are so far from being a lawless nation that we have more "thou shalt nots" than any other country on the face of the globe.

A Methodist minister is running for mayor in Joe Cannon's home town. Now that Uncle Joe is leaving Washington at the age of 87 he may have to settle down and cut out poker. The preacher will not even stand for a game of dominoes.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Nebraska, Cass county, ss.

By virtue of an Order of Sale issued by James Robertson, Clerk of the District Court of Cass county, Nebraska, and to me directed, I will on the 5th day of March, 1923, at ten o'clock a. m. of said day, at the south door of the court house in the City of Plattsmouth, in said county, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to-wit:

The south half of the northwest quarter and the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of Section thirty-two, (32) in Township eleven (11) North, in Range fourteen (14) east of the 6th P. M., in Cass county, Nebraska.

Subject to a mortgage of $4,000.00 in favor of John M. Leyda, now on said premises and interest.

The same having been levied upon and taken as the property of Robert D. Shradler et al, defendants, to satisfy a judgment and decree of said court recovered by John M. Leyda, plaintiff against said defendants, and to satisfy further judgment and decree of said court, recovered by John F. Wolf, defendant, against said defendants, and also to satisfy a further judgment recovered by Robert Willis against said defendant, Robert Shradler.

Plattsmouth, Nebraska, January 27th, 1923.

C. D. QUINTON, Sheriff, Cass County, Nebraska.

ORDER OF HEARING AND NOTICE OF PROBATE OF WILL

In the County Court of Cass county, Nebraska.

State of Nebraska, County of Cass, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of William Chalfant, deceased: On reading the petition of Diana Chalfant praying that the instrument filed in this court on the 2nd day of February, 1923, and purporting to be the last will and testament of the said deceased, may be proved and allowed and recorded as the last will and testament of William Chalfant, deceased; that said instrument be admitted to probate, and the administration of said estate be granted to Diana Chalfant as executrix;

It is hereby ordered that you, and all persons interested in said matter, may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 5th day of March, A. D. 1923, at 10 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and that the hearing thereof be given to all