LITTLE SNOW HERE

While many sections of the country have had an unusually heavy snowfall this winter, this vicinity has had only a small amount of moisture precipitation and most of that has been in drizzling rain or sleet.

Mrs. H. E. Becker and daughter, Miss Leona, were among those going to Omaha this morning to spend a few hours looking after some matters of importance in that city.

THE PRICE OF MARKS

A number of the residents of this city at the time that the German mark began its long slide toward the cellar made purchases of the marks which even at that time two years ago, were a bargain, and they are now figuring how much they would have received if they had waited until the present time to make their purchases.

WARDEN FENTON IS CONFINED TO BED FOR WEEK

24-Hour Nose Bleed Follows Successful Fight in Legislature to Kill Bryan Bill.

Lincoln, Feb. 16.—Warden W. T. Fenton has been ordered to his bed for a week following 24 hours of constant nose bleeding.

The strain and hard work in getting the bill killed together with a slight abrasion in the interior of his nose were given as reasons for the hemorrhage. However, the warden insisted that a nurse attending him learn whether the lower house sustained the action of the judiciary committee in indefinitely postponing the bill.

Close friends of the warden knew that his whole heart and soul were wrapped in killing this bill, which he believed was the result of promises made by politicians during the campaign to gain votes, rather than a desire to act on the real merits of the measure.

The discipline of his institution and that of Gus Miller, superintendent of the reformatory, was at stake. It was felt by both that if the law were repealed, dozens of men working on prison and reformatory farms without a guard would need to be placed within prison walls as all hope of receiving the minimum end of an indeterminate sentence for good behavior would be ended.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS IS UPHELD 4 TO 1

NEBRASKA HOUSE VOTES 74 TO 20 NOT TO TINKER WITH LANGUAGE LAW.

MOST BITTER FIGHT IS WAGED

By the Minority Faction—O'Gara Shouts "You Can't Legislate Loyalty" as Vote Taken.

Lincoln, Feb. 16.—The house of representatives went on record this afternoon, 74 to 20, against any changes in the Reed-Norval language law. The vote came upon the motion of Representative Strehlow of Omaha, to overturn the action of the committee on education in killing the bill introduced by Strehlow, Collins and Elsassner of Omaha, to amend the law and make it possible to teach other languages than English outside of school hours.

A bitter storm of debate, in which much severe language was used on both sides, took up the whole of the afternoon's proceedings in the house. Representatives J. Reid Green of Lincoln, Lamb of Tecumseh, Feifer of Neokolls, and others, warned the rest of the members to "remember the war" and the lessons the war taught and to stand steadfastly against any change in the law which would permit the teaching of any other language than English in the schools of the state.

Charge "Double-Crossed"

Strehlow, Elsassner and Collins declared they had been "double-crossed" by the committee, which had promised to give them another public hearing on the bill before it was reported out.

Representative O'Gara, a member of the committee, charged that Green had been anxious to have more public hearings and had been delaying the action of the committee for that purpose until he found that the sentiment of the members was turning against the strict language law.

"You can't legislate good citizenship into the people of this country," O'Gara declared. "Unless the flag and the country and citizenship are made attractive enough in themselves to demand loyalty there is no use trying to do it by putting blinders upon the people and telling them they shan't see anything else but one Broome, a member of the committee, who objected to the action taken, declared a "steam roller of the majority had stifled further hearings and sent the bill out with a recommendation for indefinite postponement."

Kieffer, an American Legion member, asserted "all of this talk about hearings being stifled is bunco. I am glad three ex-service men are the introducers," Kieffer said. "I want to say, there are only three ex-service men in the state who favor the repeal of this law."

At this point Kieffer hesitated. "I just heard someone say, 'That's a damned lie,'" he said. At this point, Speaker Mathers said: "We want everyone to be treated as a gentleman and to act like Smiley arose at this point. He said: 'Strehlow stayed away from the committee purposely so as to have an excuse to attempt to raise the bill over the committee's action.'"

Give Mullen Credit

The intent of this bill is to give Art Mullen an opportunity to tell the United States supreme court next week that a repeal of this law is pending in the Nebraska legislature," Jacoby said. "The attorney general and assistants and Art Mullen and

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS A FINE PROGRAM LAST NITE

Discuss Subjects of Past Study and Hear Address by Dr. Westover on Health Problems.

From Saturday's Daily. Last evening the Plattsmouth Woman's club held a very interesting meeting at the public library auditorium and despite the general sickness over the city a pleasing number were in attendance.

The meeting was under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Lugsch and consisted of a general review of the various subjects that have been studied by the ladies the past year.

Preceding the reviews the ladies were entertained by a musical number, "Love Fancies," by Vanerick, which was given by a trio of piano, flute and violin, by Mesdames Roy Cole, Elbert Wiles and Arthur Troop, which was artistic in its rendition and the vocal solo of Miss Quinn was also very much enjoyed by the ladies.

The three minute reviews of the various subjects of study consisted of "State Constitution," Miss Florence Balsler; "Primary Elections," Mrs. James Burnie; "Our Schools," Mrs. F. G. Egenberger; "Our Courts," Mrs. Carrie Ghrist; "State Institutions," Mrs. J. J. Svoboda; "Laws of Interest," Miss Marie E. Kaufman. The ladies gave a very clear and delightful outline of the various subjects as their time did not permit a thorough discussion of the various matters and showed a great thoughtfulness on the part of the members who had been assigned this important part of the program.
