CASS CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

Brush Dams
On the farm of Ivan Balfour, southwest of Union, five brush dams were built last week. The farm bureau wishes to have a brush dam in every precinct so if you are interested in stopping those small ditches, we will be glad to assist you if there is not already a demonstration in your precinct.

Home Orchards
Many are planting fruit trees this spring. Be sure you prune them back when set out, also plant with lowest limb in southwest as this will keep them from sun scalding.

Corn Variety Test
A test to determine the yield of local seed corn will be held, using both white and yellow corn. The yellow corn will be grown on the farm of Ray Norris and the white by H. L. Livingston, both near Weeping Water. Corn will be secured from the following places: Charles Cook and E. C. Todd, Plattsmouth; A. J. Deitrich, Louisville; Alex Jones, South Bend; Henry Meierjurgens, Murdock; Pollard Bros. and Edwin Schomaker, Nehawka; Walter Lwetchens, Chas. Spohn and H. L. Livingston, Weeping Water, and others. If you have a good yielding strain of corn, please let us know as we wish as many as can be secured.

Meeting at Nehawka Auditorium
Monday afternoon—the ladies of Nehawka met at the auditorium and spent the afternoon drafting the bungalow pattern. All the women brought material and cut out their dresses. Here of the ladies should be taking advantage of these meetings and we hope to see more out next time.

Soap Demonstration
About twenty women attended the soap making demonstration Tuesday, April 17, at the home of Mrs. Guy Wiles. The different ladies brought the necessary ingredients and everyone was much interested in the clear white boiled soap from the dark brown cracklings. Cold stir soap was also demonstrated. A small amount of toilet soap was made. A delicious cafeteria dinner was served at noon. If you have any difficulties in soap making write the Farm Bureau Office at Weeping Water for bulletins, or write the county agent for a date for a soap demonstration.

Maple Grove Club Meets
Attractive finishes for collars, cuffs, belts, etc., was the subject discussed at the meeting Wednesday, April 18, when about sixteen ladies met at the home of Mrs. Dan Anderson, near Nehawka. Many attractive bungalow dresses are being made by this club and will be on display at the next meeting. Very dainty refreshments which had been sent by Mrs. Martin Ross, who was to have been hostess but could not have the meeting on account of sickness in the family, were enjoyed by all.

Sunnyside Club Meeting
The women of this club met at the home of Mrs. P. V. Gobelman Thursday, April 19. The subjects of "How to be Well Dressed on a Limited Income," "How to Select Appropriate Styles, Colors worn by different types and the alteration of patterns" were discussed. The next meeting will be June 6 at the home of Mrs. Knutson.

GOVERNOR ASKS REMOVAL OF FLORIDA SHERIFF

Tallahassee, Fla., April 23.—The Florida senate late today referred to a special committee Governor Hardee's recommendation that Sheriff J. R. Jones of Leon county, of which Tallahassee is the county seat, be removed from office.

The committee will investigate accusations against the sheriff and make its recommendations to the senate.

The governor's recommendation to the senate grew out of the investigation of the death of Martin Tarbet, North Dakota youth, who is alleged to have been whipped to death in a convict camp.

Under the Florida law the governor can suspend an officer only when the legislature is not in session. When it is in session he can only recommend to the senate permanent removal from office. The senate, therefore, must act to impeach Jones.

DEMOCRATS CONTROL THE STATE ASSESSMENT BOARD

Railroads, Soon to Be Assessed Still Have Injunction Suit in the Federal Court.

W. H. Smith, newly appointed state tax commissioner, has assumed his duties. The outgoing commissioner, W. H. Osborne, has given the new officer every assistance possible and is ready to do so in the future if his aid is needed.

Mr. Smith will have little to do with the assessment which is made as of date of April 1, but all the work of compiling returns of assessors and county boards will devolve upon him. This work will be performed before the state board of equalization equalizes values this summer.

An immediate task before the board is the valuation of railroad property for taxation. Under the statute this valuation is to be fixed by the state board alone. The tax commissioner is a member of the state board. The other members are governor, secretary of state, state treasurer and state auditor. This board must hold its first meeting May 7 for the valuation of railroad property. Usually it adjourns from day to day until all railroads are heard thru their own tax commissioners.

Governor Bryan, Secretary Pool and Tax Commissioner Smith will win a majority of the state board and can do as they wish in the matter of increasing or decreasing the taxes of railroads.

Suits by railroads are now pending in the federal court. The Burlington, Northwestern and M. & O. roads obtained an order from the federal court for permission to pay 75 per cent of their taxes to county treasurers. The Burlington in this suit contests the valuation placed upon its property by the state board for the year 1922 and the Northwestern and M. & O. roads are contesting the valuation of their property in 1921. This case may come up for hearing in the federal court in May, possibly in time to be settled before the state board values railroad property this year.

PRACTICE OF CHILDREN DRIVING AUTOS POOR ONE

Dangerous to the Public as Well as the Children and is Violation of the State Law.

"What do you think of that?" was the comment of one of our well known citizens yesterday, as he hurried early on the curbs at 6th and Main streets as a Detroit vibrator swept past going at the rate of from twenty-five to thirty miles an hour and with a boy of apparently twelve or thirteen years of age handling the wheel.

There has been more or less comment on the fact of the increasing number of younger children that are in the habit of driving automobiles on the streets of the city, regardless of the danger to themselves or the general public. While in some of the cases the youngsters may be good drivers, the fact remains that the practice, if continued, will lead to serious results for the young drivers and the public in general.

The state lawmakers had this point in view when they formulated the section of the statutes that provide that a driver of a motor vehicle shall not be a person of less than sixteen years of age. Had they deemed others of more tender years fitted to drive a car they would have lowered the age requirements instead of placing it at a period when the youth is considered to have reasonable judgment in handling an auto.

The city and county authorities have had the problem of regulation before them and if the practice of giving the autos over the younger members of the family to drive is continued by the auto owners it will lead eventually to some of the violators getting mixed up with the machinery of the law and its corresponding disagreeable outcome.

SPEEDER IS IDENTIFIED AS A TRAIN ROBBER

San Francisco, April 24.—Herman Yasse, 23, serving a jail sentence here for speeding, is wanted at Edwardsville, Ill., as a fugitive in a $17,000 train robbery. Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson of the San Francisco police department announced tonight.

Yasse's picture was picked out by a railroad detective from the police department identification bureau. Yasse refused to say whether or not he was the man wanted in Illinois.

According to information received from Illinois, three men are serving life terms in the eastern prisons for their part in the train robbery in which Yasse is said to have participated.

WHEAT CROP IS POOR OVER THE ENTIRE STATE

Receding Already Under Way in Many Places—Winter Acreage Abandonment Large.

The present condition of the Nebraska winter wheat crop is extremely poor says A. E. Anderson of the division of crop and livestock estimates, after making personal investigation. The abandonment will be very large. Deterioration of much of the crop continues. Much receding to spring grain already done. Long continued drought is responsible for the present condition, altho other minor adverse factors are in evidence.

Except for the year 1917, the winter wheat crop has seldom if ever shown a poorer prospect for this date. Only a small percentage of the acreage shows a condition that approximates a normal condition, and this is limited to a few strips and counties that received local showers soon after planting. While the lowest condition and heaviest abandonment will be found in the southwestern quarter of the state, the adverse condition is not confined to this region alone. Considerable receding to oats and barley is now in progress in the southeastern quarter of the state, and the condition of most of the wheat in this region is very low, and a heavy abandonment is expected here also. The crop is also deteriorating here.

The drought of last autumn and winter is responsible for the present condition. Fields which received sufficient moisture after planting last autumn bear out this statement. It appears that most of the wheat that was sown early last autumn either died out before the late rains or was weakened to such an extent that it isn't any better than the seeded wheat. The bulk of the early seeded wheat has not made any more growth and in some cases less growth than the late seeding.

The explanation as to the deterioration since April 1 is as follows: The late seeded wheat that came up but autumn did not form a permanent root system neither did it stool. The temporary root system died as is natural and the weak plant, without any functioning root system, and further weakened by the low temperature in March, did not have enough vitality to start the permanent root system and in many cases died out. While some of the plants in some sections have started the permanent root system, and will come all right, in many cases too much of the wheat was too weak and finally died out. In south central counties the adverse condition was further aggravated by blowing and filling up the drill rows containing the small weak plants and much of the wheat was simply smothered. Digging out the drill rows will reveal the yellowish smothered plants. This same explanation applies also to considerable of the early seeding.

While more moisture followed by a week of warm weather and then two weeks of cool, wet weather to promote stooling will benefit wheat crop in the southeastern quarter materially, this year's crop is certain to be small. The yield is expected to be 20 per cent less than last year's crop, and a large abandonment is assured, and the condition of the balance is low. With most favorable conditions from the present time, only a small crop can be expected.
