SORRY SO FEW CAN SING THE U.S. NATIONAL ANTHEM

And President Hopes Legion will Improve American People, He Informs Conference.

Washington, June 14.—President Harding urged the American Legion's flag conference opening here today to adopt a code of rules and regulations for the proper display of the flag and to include a provision that every American citizen should learn to sing the national anthem.

"While you are adopting a code whereby the citizenship of America may show due reverence to the flag," the president said in an address, "I would like you to go a step further and insist upon Americans being able to sing 'The Star Spangled Banner.'"

I have noticed audiences singing—I should say trying to sing—the American national air, but outside of about 2 per cent they are only mumbling or pretending to sing. I would like to have the spirit of America show itself in song. I hope you will insist upon some suitable provision to that end in your code."

While advocating the exercise of proper reverence for the flag, the president said it should not be forgotten that American citizens have another obligation "to maintain in America unimpaired the things for which the flag stands."

Scarcely 150 persons attended the opening session of the conference and Mr. Harding, in beginning his brief address, mentioned that the audience was "rather more limited in numbers than the president is accustomed to address." But he added he was glad to speak because of a "consciousness that it is a group of working men."

The president's address was followed by one by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who also advocated a more widespread respect for the flag. The president has prepared greetings to be read tonight at exercises at the capitol under the auspices of the department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, and its Woman's Relief Corps.

LIQUOR RULING MODIFICATION MAY BE DIFFICULT

Amendment to Constitution May Be Required to Permit Ships to Dock With Liquor.

Washington, June 14.—Negotiations with maritime powers for reciprocal concessions by treaty to clear up simultaneously rum smuggling and ship liquor problems still lacked any authoritative indication today of how the powers approached would receive the state department's proposals. Neither thru the Washington diplomats nor American ambassadors abroad, as far as could be learned, has any official intimation of this nature been transmitted.

Pending some further development in the diplomatic conversation, a storm of argument swept Washington today, dealing for the most part with the relation of supreme court rulings and the new administration plan for easing both the commercial intercourse and rum smuggling embarrassments that surround it. One school of thought had developed which contended that the "in transit" decision of the court had set up such a construction of the "transportation" prohibition clause of the Eighteenth amendment that the government, even congress, was powerless to authorize transportation of liquor within American territory.

For the administration viewpoint, it was declared flatly and authoritatively that such a construction of the effect of the court's opinion would not and could not be tolerated. It also was said to be the determination of administration leaders to proceed on a contrary theory up to such a time as the supreme court might decide, in a specific case presented to it for decision and directly involving that point, that the amendment did in fact prevent congress from exercising powers of regulation of the transportation of liquor.

In that event, it was stated, there exists on means of relieving the ship liquor situation, except by further amendment of the constitution thru ratification of the amending resolution by 36 states. How many votes such a process might take, nobody in authority would predict.

Following what is held by high administration officials to be the only common sense and practical view of the supreme court's decisions and statements, prolonged study of the ship liquor question at the state department had convinced Secretary Hughes that nothing could be done except through a change of the Volstead act. Two means of effecting such a change are open and the administration, it was explained, had elected to move at once toward exercising the treaty making power to supersede any existing statute. Supplementary remedial legislation by congress also may be undertaken later.

CIVILIAN FLAG CODE IS ADOPTED

Promotion of Study of the "Star Spangled Banner" in Schools Urged by Many.

Washington, June 15.—The code covering proper civilian usage of the American flag and conduct in its presence was adopted at the concluding session today of the conference of national organizations called by the American Legion, and a permanent committee was authorized to disseminate it throughout the country.

Resolutions adopted recommended that each of the more than 60 organizations represented promote the study of the words and music of the "Star Spangled Banner" and its teachings in all schools and in juvenile organizations, as suggested to the conference yesterday by President Harding. State legislators were also urged to enact uniform laws requiring display of the flag in and over all schools, parks and play grounds, and over other public buildings.

Considerable discussion over what was described as the unpatriotic attitude of a number of teachers and text books in public schools resulted in adoption of another resolution demanding that "all persons employed in a public capacity, national, state and municipal, whose compensation is paid from public funds, be required to pledge allegiance and support the constitution with respect for the flag of the United States." Opposition was recorded in proposals to change the official dimensions of the flag.

A proposal included in the report of the code committee that the proper salute to the flag by a woman be the military salute employed by soldiers in uniform was amended to read that her right hand should be placed over her heart in paying respect to the emblem.

EASTERN STAR HOLDS A PUBLIC INSTALLATION

NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED BY RETIRING WORTHY MATRON.

MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED

Home Chapter Entertains Visitors With Ceremonies and Occasion One of Impressive.

From Saturday's Daily.
Last evening, Home Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, of this city, held a public installation of the newly elected officers and the impressive ceremonies of this ladies' auxiliary of the great Masonic fraternity was witnessed by a large and highly interested audience of friends and members of the order.

Mrs. Glenn Perry, retiring worthy matron, had charge of the work of inducting the newly elected officers into their respective stations and in giving them the charges that they will hear for the ensuing year.
A short and very pleasing program was given during the evening consisting of a violin solo by Mrs. A. D. Caldwell, a whistling solo by Miss Alice Louise Westcott and vocal numbers by Mrs. Hill Martin and the Masonic Male quartet, composed of Frank A. Clويد, H. G. McClusky, R. P. Westover and L. O. Minor, all of which were very much appreciated.

The address of the evening was given by Judge James T. Begley and was one filled with the greatest of interest as the speaker brought out many interesting and little known facts of the origin of the women's fraternity that has since become a part of the Masonic bodies. The speaker stated that one of the very earliest records of the founding of fraternities of both men and women was in 1353 B. C. and that later in the first years of the Christian era that there had been formed in Rome lodges of which women were members and that in these the Roman nobility had been members. Later the spread of the ladies' orders over Europe was quite general and Catherine the Great of Russia had at one time been the head of the lodges in her country and these all had been modeled on the fraternal ideas of the Masonic lodge, which was then the only fraternity in existence. The first recognition of the women's lodge by the Masonic fraternity was in 1774 in France when the Grand Orient of that country had extended a hand to the ladies auxiliary and but for the conditions surrounding the revolution, the orders would probably at that time have been adopted by England and the American colonies then in their war of independence. In 1805, Napoleon had been a patron of the ladies' fraternity and Empress Josephine became a prominent leader in the order in her country. It was not, however, until 1850 that the basis of what is now the Order of Eastern Star, was given. It taking its name from the emblem that has been adopted for the order and the first lodges of this name were founded in 1856. In the year 1875 the first chapter was established in Nebraska and the order has since grown into one of the largest in the state and nation.

The newly elected officers installed at the meeting were as follows:
Worthy Matron—Mrs. Eva Busch.
Worthy Patron—Luke L. Wiles.
Associate Matron—Mrs. Mattie Wiles.
Secretary—Miss Clara Weyrich.
Treasurer—Mrs. Elizabeth Burnie.
Conductress—Mrs. Ella Wolf.
Associate Conductress—Mrs. Thelma Hirz.
Chaplain—Mrs. Martha Peterson.
Marshall—Mrs. Eddie Krecklow.
Aide—Miss Elizabeth Hirz.
Elder—Mrs. Henrietta Gorder.
Tuth—Mrs. Rose Mae Duxbury.
Martha—Mrs. Thelma Neilson.
Electa—Mrs. Flora Arn.
Warder—Miss Anna Hassler.
Sentinel—C. C. Despain.

The ladies representing the star points were presented with bouquets of flowers whose colors signified the station to which she has been appointed and made a very pretty touch to the ceremonies.

Following the close of the lodge, dainty refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the committee in charge.

Austin, Tex., June 13.—The Texas senate practically repudiated the action of the house of representatives in its stand against the New York prohibition repealer late today, when it adopted a resolution declaring that legislatures of the various states have a right to pass such laws as they deem advisable without being subject to condemnation of the Texas lawmaking body. Vote on the resolution was 14 to 11 and followed a heated debate on the prohibition question.

RECALL CLOTHING CLUB

The Recall clothing club of Plattsmouth precinct gave their demonstration and exhibit Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lambert Lister. Dorothy acting as hostess. The club girls had set two other dates for this meeting but had had to change them for many discouraging reasons. But Saturday was a real success. The demonstrating team, consisting of Edith Todd and Dorothy Lister, gave a very interesting demonstration on "Attractive Kitchen Aprons." The garments and articles made during course one were all made very neatly and they were very attractive. Miss Ida Wilkins gave a very interesting talk on boys' and girls' club work and presented the club members with their certificates and pins. All the visitors present gave some very encouraging little talks and Mrs. Philip Kehne, local leader, also gave a talk.

The girls closed the program with several songs and a short business meeting was held. It was decided to take up course two after the 4th of July and the first meeting will be held July 11 at 9:00 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Will Rummell, Louise acting as hostess. The following officers were elected for course two: Edith Todd, president; Dorothy Lister, vice president, and Louise Rummell, secretary. Mrs. Kehne was re-elected local leader.

ASKS FOR SETTLEMENT OF JUDGMENT IN ESTATE

Frank E. Schlater, Administrator of Jane A. Dovey Estate, Sues to Recover Balance.

From Saturday's Daily.
Another of the many phases of litigation that has covered the disposition of the Dovey estate has been filed in the office of the clerk of the district court and in which Frank E. Schlater, administrator of the estate of Jane A. Dovey, deceased, through his attorneys, C. A. Rawls and Jesse L. Root, asks for the payment of the balance claimed to be due on the judgment recovered in the district court against the firm of E. G. Dovey & Son as the share of the estate in the firm.

The plaintiff in his petition states that on September 24, 1921, a judgment was rendered in the district court of Cass county in favor of the estate of Jane A. Dovey against the firm of E. G. Dovey & Son, in the sum of $8,350.82, and that to appeal the case to the supreme court a bond in the sum of $17,000 was filed by one of the defendants, George E. Dovey, and which bond was signed by John W. Falter, J. P. Falter and R. E. Patterson, and who are made party defendants to the present action by this fact. It is also claimed that the plaintiff's bond was a mortgage given by George E. Dovey to certain real estate in Plattsmouth.

The plaintiff also states that the case was affirmed by the state supreme court at one of the days of the January term, 1922, and mandate sent to the district clerk of Cass county.
It is further claimed that there has been paid on this judgment by the receiver of the firm of E. G. Dovey & Son the sum of $5,415.78 and that the resources of said firm have been exhausted and that settlement of claims on the basis of sixty per cent only been possible.
The plaintiff asks that the sum of $2,935.04, the balance of the judgment, be allowed the plaintiff under the provisions of the bond and which was covered by the real estate mortgage.

TORNADO LAYS WASTE CROPS NEAR VERDIGRE FRIDAY

Twister Ruins Many Acres of Grain and Razes Outbuildings—Trees Torn Out of Ground.

Verdigre, Neb., June 15.—Sweeping a path from 100 to 200 yards wide and several miles long, a tornado did considerable damage to crops and farm buildings in this vicinity. No fatalities had been reported tonight. The storm missed Verdigre by about a mile but the clouds were plainly visible from town and caused great excitement, the villagers scurrying to cellars and other places of safety.

Starting about three miles southwest of Verdigre and apparently ending at the Otto Jedlicka farm one and one-half miles southeast of Verdigre, the storm swept bare all the fields in its path. Alfalfa and small grain were torn out by the roots or leveled to the ground and many fields left completely devoid of vegetation after the storm had passed over.

Except at the Jedlicka farm the damage was confined wholly to crops. At that place, practically all of the outbuildings were destroyed. A big orchard also met a similar fate and hardly a tree on the place was left standing.
