VOLUNTEER GROWTH OF WHEAT IN COURT

Supreme Tribunal of State Decides It Belongs to Landlord Instead of Prior Year's Tenant.

A crop of volunteer wheat is unearned increment, says the supreme court, in deciding the controversy between Harvey Lindley, land owner of Deuel county, and W. E. Wright, who was the tenant the year before the crop appeared. Being unearned increment it attaches to the land, and is the property of the owner thereof.

The case involved a crop of 4,300 bushels that was harvested in 1920, when wheat was selling at $2.25 a bushel. The stake, therefore, was close to $10,000. Lindley had leased the land to a man named Castle the previous year, and he had assigned his lease to Wright, who harvested a big wheat crop that year.

The evidence showed that a verbal agreement was made between Lindley and Wright that the latter should have the land the next year. Wright, however, took his machinery off the land, went to California for the winter, and having said nothing to Lindley nor planted any fall wheat, the land owner supposed that the deal was off.

Early the next spring he leased the land to another man, and when the latter went onto it to work it, he discovered a lot of volunteer wheat had appeared. He told Lindley and they decided to wait and see if it amounted to anything. It did, but just about the time it was ready to cut, Wright appeared and harvested it. An effort to stop him by injunction failed, and then was begun the present lawsuit, one in replevin, or for the value of the wheat.

Wright claimed that the crop was not entirely volunteer in the sense that it grew without his assistance. He said that when he harvested the crop in 1919 he set the machine so that it would reseed the ground, but the supreme court does not take much stock in this theory and says that the evidence clearly shows Wright had abandoned any contract he had for the land the next year, although he says that he came back from the west to harvest the crop he knew was waiting for him. The court says it will take judicial notice that most harvesters waste grain when at work.

CASS COUNTY CONCERN TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Date of Sale of Sheldon Manufacturing Company Set for July 6th —To Close Up Affairs.

The Sheldon Manufacturing Co., of Nehawka, known nationally as manufacturers of the Sheldon barrel type concrete mixers since 1914, and later a small power circular saw outfit, and which became so deeply involved financially during the past three years that the stockholders advised and voted that the company go into voluntary bankruptcy, will come to a final adjustment of the business on July 6th. At this time the referee will sell the assets of the company and apply the proceeds to its indebtedness.

If any local party or parties are contemplating purchasing the machinery, buildings, equipment, etc., formerly used for the manufacture of these mixers and the continuance of the business, they have kept the fact to themselves, and it is not known who or whom will be the purchasers at this date.

The Enterprise, like many others, would like very much to see the business again resumed on a profitable basis as it once was until the readjustment period following the war, and which was responsible to a large extent for the failure of the Sheldon Manufacturing Co., as well as hundreds of other manufacturing firms throughout the country.

Many people, even in our midst, have failed to recognize the valuable assets of the Sheldon Manufacturing Co. has been to our little village, and while some of us have lost heavily, more perhaps than we really can afford, we for one do not wish to throw cold water on the former management, and will lend our support to the successors, whomsoever they may be.—Nehawka Enterprise.

RETURNS FROM A SAD MISSION AT STELLA, NEBRASKA

Mrs. B. J. Halstead Returns After Attending Funeral of Brother —Death Was Sudden.

From Saturday's Daily.
Yesterday, Mrs. B. J. Halstead returned home from Stella, Nebraska, where she was called the first of the week by the sudden death of her brother, T. M. Henderson, which occurred at Howe on Monday evening, and came as a great shock to the members of the family.

Mr. Henderson had been busy working on his farm which is located near Stella and at evening time had come in quite heated as the result of the day's labor and after a short rest proposed to the members of the family that they all go to a lake near Howe for a ride and to escape the heat. They spent some time there and about 9 o'clock started for their home and stopped in Howe to make some purchases. Mr. Henderson was sitting in the car and had just pulled out his pocketbook and given his little girl some money to make a purchase at one of the stores when he fell back against the seat of the car with a groan and in a few seconds he was dead, death coming as the result of a sudden attack of heart trouble.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the farm home and Mr. and Mrs. Halstead and children if this city attended the services. Mr. Halstead returned that evening and the family remained over for a visit with the bereaved family of the deceased.

Mr. Henderson was forty-six years and six months old and was married, leaving a family of four daughters and one son. Up to the time of his death he had been in apparently perfect health.

OBJECT TO ARTICLE

In the article appearing the Journal urging the construction of a swimming pool in this city, several of the good people of our neighboring little city of Murray have found cause for objection, in that they view it as an attempt to detract from their new enterprise.

There is no one in Plattsmouth who is not pleased with the fact that the people of Murray have shown the enterprise that they have in the construction of the new swimming pool there and they deserve all of the success possible for their spirit of enterprise and particularly the gentlemen who were the backers of the proposition to the extent of much expense. This does not, however, lessen the fact that Plattsmouth is in need of a similar institution and that it has allowed our enterprising neighbor to be first to erect one should be the cause of a feeling of congratulation to the residents of Murray.

GUILD GIRLS MEET

On Thursday afternoon at the home of Helen Wiles the Guild Girls of the Mynard U. B. church were entertained very pleasantly and the occasion one of the greatest of pleasure to all of the party. The time was spent in a very interesting business session at which time reports were given of the state convention at York, just closed, and the thank offering made.

GIVE FAREWELL FOR THE PEACOCK FAMILY

Methodist Choir Enjoys a Few Hours with Mrs. C. T. Peacock and Daughters Last Night.

From Saturday's Daily.
Last evening the members of the Methodist church choir held their regular rehearsal at the church and when the labors of the practice had been closed all of the membership was invited to the church parlors in the basement where a social time was enjoyed as well as a very much appreciated luncheon prepared by the committee of the choir and which was in the nature of a farewell for Mrs. C. T. Peacock and her daughters, Misses Harriett and Florence, who are to leave Monday for their new home in Lincoln.

While the occasion was one very pleasant in a social way it was filled with a feeling of regret that the pleasant associations with the Peacock family were soon to be severed and the services of the ladies lost to the choir in which they have had an active part for a number of years.

During the evening the members of the party were called upon for informal toasts and in which they expressed their appreciation of the services of the ladies in the church and in various activities and the regret that is general over their departure from the city.

VERY PLEASANT BRIDGE PARTIES FOR HOUSE GUEST

Mrs. R. P. Westover Entertains Yesterday and Thursday For Miss Irene Davis of Neb. City.

From Saturday's Daily.
The charming home of Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Westover on high school hill was the scene of two very delightful social gatherings this week when Mrs. Westover entertained at bridge in honor of her house guest, Miss Irene Davis of Nebraska City, who is visiting here for the week.

The decorations on both afternoons were in the garden flowers of the summer and made a very attractive setting for the occasion and here the ladies spent the time in the fascinations of bridge. On Thursday the prize was awarded to Mrs. Searl S. Davis for her skill at the game and on Friday Mrs. Vernon Arn was the most successful.

In entertaining and serving the two course luncheon, Mrs. Westover was assisted by Miss Jessie M. Robertson.

VISITS IN SAN FRANCISCO

While visiting at the home of Miss Minnie and William Lehnhoff in Lincoln last Sunday afternoon, the Courier editor and wife had the pleasure of meeting several members of the family who happened to be in the city. Dr. H. J. Lehnhoff and wife were in San Francisco, where the doctor is attending a meeting of the American Medical association. Mrs. W. C. Frampton and son, William were among the supper guests, but Mr. Frampton was attending to business matters in Oklahoma and visiting his brother, George Frampton and family. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McPherson were present, having recently arrived home from a several months' sojourn on the Pacific coast. Miss Carrie Louise Akeson, who is a member of the Lehnhoff household, was also present and it was a great pleasure to visit with all these former Lincoln people. They had enjoyed a call from their old friends Mr. and Mrs. August Jochim who had driven up on a sightseeing trip for the day, also.—Louisville Courier.

SHIPPED FINE FAT CATTLE

On Tuesday of this week Bert Reber shipped 72 head of fat cattle to Omaha. Some of these would weigh in the neighborhood of 1,600 to 1,700 pounds and were sleek and in fine condition. Aside from these he shipped a car load of fat hogs to Omaha. This represents quite a little money in cattle and hogs, considerably over $10,000. He will ship back a car or two of feeders. He has a nice field of Sudan grass to run these feeders on to get them started. Aside from cattle and hogs he has a nice lot of sheep on his farm which bring in a nice little sum each year. Bert is a good farmer and aside from the good profits of his cattle and hogs he will have about 300 or 400 loads of manure to put back into his land.—This always insures him good crops for his land is always in excellent shape.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

Lunch sets, plates, paper napkins, cups, and in fact everything for the summer picnic party can be found at the Bates Book and Stationery store, 5th and Main street.

BOY SCOUTS ARE HAVING A REAL TIME AT CAMP

Scoutmaster Writes of Experiences of Scouts at Camp Gauer—Sunday is Visitors' Day.

From Saturday's Daily.
The life in the open with exercise and hikes is making one big hit with the members of the Boy Scouts from this city who are now at Camp Gauer, near Louisville, altho judging from the statements of the lads they have the old objection to K. P. duty that certainly will be shared by former service men who have had experience with this duty. In speaking of the routine of the camp life, Mr. C. H. Peden, scoutmaster, writes as follows:
The morning is devoted to studying testing and swimming and the afternoon to games, competition of skill in the various lines of scouting and to swimming. The evening is spent around the council fire telling stories, jokes, singing songs, giving stunts and instruction. When it comes time for call to quarters the boys are ready for sleep as most of them are tired.
Six fellows have to go on guard every night and six on K. P. each day so every fellow has a change to go on both guard duty and K. P.
Edward Patterson is camp banker and George Caldwell camp bugler, so of the Plattsmouth boys are quite proud of them.
At the request of the Journal a number of the boys have written their experiences and views of the life at Camp Gauer which are very interesting as showing the enjoyment derived by the members of the party:
"The best thing of all in camp is the swimmin', even if you can't swim."—Linville Wiles.
"I was sleeping nice the other night. It was raining when I got at once I was flooded. The tent was leaking. It would be a nice thing if the tent didn't leak."—George Hass.
"Say, the K. P. sure is the berries; water carrying, too."—Ralph Mason.
"The best things in camp are eating and sleeping."—Paul Pickett.
"Camp Gauer is the best place in Cass county. If you get a chance, come out and see us have our fun in the water."—Joe Buttery.
"We have the best bunch of boys in the U. S. I think and so do the others. We get all the exercise and fresh air we need, some of it is so fresh, in the morning."—George Perry.
"Camp life is some life (except when you are on K. P.) but except that camp life is great."—Edgar Wescott.
"Camp life can't be beat. A Boy Scout camp, especially."—Edward Patterson.
"I like the camp fine; the place is hilly and rocky."—Harold Jennings.
"I am getting fatter every day. I don't like K. P."—Gilbert Clark.
"Thursday, 'tacky' night. All the boys dressed up 'tacky' as they could."—Robert Wurl.
"The water is fine and the mosquitoes biting fine."—John Bauer.
"Wednesday night the scouts went to the haunted house. The chief and water chief told some hair-raising stories. The boy that slept there too was praisied by the other scouts."—George Swatek.
"I think camp life is very nice but I would sooner have the mess hall at the top of the hill so after meals we would not have to climb Constitution hill."—Walter Steg.
"Camp life is the berries. Climbing up Constitution hill wears out my constitution. The K. P.'s and the bugler have hard jobs."—George Caldwell.
"The camp site is an ideal one, state Dr. A. D. Caldwell and E. A. Wurl, who visited the camp there and they were more than pleased with the manner in which the camp is regulated and conducted and which thoroughly protects the boys from injury or harm. This is especially true, Mr. Wurl states, as regards the swimming. The boys are checked as they go in swimming and no one is allowed to go in the water alone and not until some guard is at hand. A boat is patrolling the water all of the time that swimming is going on and a guard is on shore to look after the boys. The beginners are in a shallow section of water that is fenced off from the rest of the lake and here the boys can learn to swim in safety. There are three guards on duty at the lake at all times.
The camp regulations call for the observance of retreat each evening. The boys are lined up as the colors are struck and the musician plays to the colors. A lecture on the duty to the flag is a part of the retreat exercises.
The camp is located on the top of a large hill, known as Constitution hill, and is a very fine place with a commanding view, so the visitors state, and the mess hall of the camp is located at the foot of the hill. The boys have a guard routine from 8:30 in the evening until morning which covers a half hour shift and the guard patrols from the camp to the mess hall and back. Each member of the camp is required to do his hitch at guard and also at K. P.

BRYAN OUT OF LINE AS DRY CRUSADER NOW DAYS

Westerville, O., June 29.—William J. Bryan has been dropped by the anti-saloon league. He is no longer the big attraction of the dry forces, and will not be its representative in the next democratic national convention, it was announced at a meeting of league members here today. Explanation of the apparent coolness which had sprung up between the commoner and the league was found today when the executive committee met to approve the war program outlined by the council of state superintendents and leaders in the sessions here during the last few days.
It develops that altho Mr. Bryan is to speak in this locality tomorrow and could have been present during the sessions to advise the dry crusaders how to fight. He was not invited, and furthermore he is not speaking anywhere as the official representative of the league and will not be asked to do so. The league leaders frankly state they are thru with Mr. Bryan, and do not consider that he can be of any further use to them.
There are several reasons assigned. By his campaign recently for reelection as moderator of the Presbyterian church Mr. Bryan created friction in that denomination. His utterances on the subject of evolution have caused friction in the church. He is so closely identified with democratic politics that the league is afraid of his tagging the dry organization as anti-republican, and the fact is that the league politicians are predominantly in favor of following President Harding's liquor enforcement policies and throwing off all allegiance with the democrats.

SCHLAIFER WINS MATCH; SCHMADER KNOCKED OUT

Council Bluffs, June 20.—Morrie "Kid" Schlaifer, Omaha welterweight won a newspaper decision tonight over Rock Smith of Buffalo, N. Y., in the main event of a ten round bout here. Schlaifer scored two knockdowns over his opponent, sending him to the count of nine on two occasions.
It was the Omaha welter's last fight in the welterweight division. Henceforth he will fight in the ranks of the middleweights.
Andy Schmader of Omaha met with a kayo at the hands of Joe Staagl in the second round of their scheduled ten round go.
There were forty-two rounds of fighting on the open air card which was given at the "Munty" ball park by the Rainbow post, American Legion of this city.

COUNTY CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT GREENWOOD

The county convention of the Christian church will be held at Greenwood Sunday, July 1st. All of the Christian churches of Cass county will participate in the services.
The first session will start at 10:30 with a Bible school session followed by an address.
Following dinner the Cass county ministers will address the convention.
Following are the speakers and their subjects:
"Our District Work," Walter R. Robb, Plattsmouth.
"Our Local Problems," S. R. Bradley, Weeping Water.
"Looking Ahead," V. A. Sly, of Greenwood.
"Co-operation," R. A. Hay, Elmwood.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

There are a number of small improvements being made in the business section that add very much to the convenience and appearance of the various places of business. Among these are the painting of the front of the Hatt meat market and grocery, which the workmen employed by Frank Gobelman have finished off in the attractive shade of apple green and which adds much to the appearance of the exterior of the building.
The Royal cafe has had installed a series of ceiling fans which aid in the cooling of the room and make it much more comfortable for the patrons of this place of business.
At the Chase meat market there has been installed a new Hussman freezer display case where the meats can be placed and exposed to view and still kept in a cool condition for the use of the public and which is one of the last words in the way of displaying meats for sale.

FIRE WORKS AND SHOOTING TOYS

You will find an excellent line of firecrackers, small fireworks and shooting toys to help the children celebrate the glorious Fourth at the Bates Corner Book and Stationery Store. Also a nice line of toy pistols, paper caps, paper balloons, torpedoes and other joy makers for the children. The prices are right.
Frank Johnson was a passenger on the afternoon Burlington train for Omaha to spend a few hours.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

From Saturday's Daily.
Last evening, Miss Alice Pollock entertained very pleasantly at her home in honor of her guest, Miss Fayne Smithberger of Stanton, a school mate at Rockford college at Rockford, Illinois. The event was in the nature of a 6 o'clock dinner. The invited guests were: Misses Ellen Nolting, Margaret Spangler, Elvira Born, Emma Wohlfarth, Clara Trilley, Florine Tritsch and Mrs. Hilt Martin.
