A FAMINE OF THE WORD

And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, and they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the Lord, and shall not find it.—Amos viii, 12.

Are you cutting your weeds?
They are promising to love, honor and dismay.

The really wise man lays up for the dry day.

Old houses look like new with a fresh coat of paint.

Labor shortage in the wheat fields is reaching against the grain.

Crepe de chine is worn as mourning for your bank account.

Germany, it seems, tries to kick with both feet at the same time.

You can lead a flapper to learning but you can't make her think.

British labor thinks royalty is necessary. Don't that seem funny?

Speaking of the popular and much sought after citizen, there is the motor car prospect.

We are willing to admit that the world owes us a living but it pays it on the installment.

Louisville, Ky., wool dealers were fined. Tried to pull the wool over the government's eyes.

The new amount of German marks you get for a dollar looks more like a baseball score by innings.

"Buy your coal now," urges a dealer. Does he mean that by buying it now we can get it right?

There are millions of fools in the world but what puzzles us is how some of them manage to get on the same jury.

Mr. Harding declares his purpose is not to deflate labor. Wonder how he came to this conclusion? Ain't it a little deceptive?

The movement for lower taxes in Kansas has not been entirely futile. The dog tax in Kansas City, Kas., is to be decreased.

Plattsmouth has certainly been very fortunate in the absence of storms and floods. Is it because we are so bad, good or indifferent?

There has been a lot of exaggerated rumors going around. The women in the United States only used 10,000 tons of face powder last year.

The source of the pessimism that has led to persistent and mysterious declines on the stock market now is revealed. The watermelon crop is short.

If Mr. Harding is not more careful in contradicting himself, by the time he returns to the White House, it will be hard to tell which one of the boys he is.

The I. W. prisoners who refused to accept commutation of their sentences on condition that they become loyal citizens may be said to have the courage of their convictions.

The army has a new rifle that will discharge sixty shots a minute. We've always felt that an invention to enforce peace was more effective than a society devoted to the same purpose.

"Man saved from death by derby hat," says a Chicago headline. A most fortunate circumstance, particularly if he was one of those fellows who says they would be found in a derby hat.

The new governor of Sofia now practically admits that Stamboulsky was killed in order to get him out of the way. Such an admission indicates that the new government already feels that it is firmly established.

An entire trainload of chocolate formed a single consignment of freight from Connecticut to the west. There is stuff enough for a whole army of chocolate soldiers. There ought to be drops in the chocolate market.

The bachelor is, of course, a non-union man.

Helpful hint: You can vastly improve old statues by smashing them with an ax.

The weather bureau predicts warmer weather. That's a promise; not a threat.

Wichita, Kansas, cop claims a man named Drumm took $1,500,000 and tried to beat it.

While prices are down to the 1911 level, hogs evidently have nothing to do with pork.

Getting old is just a slow process of reaching the point where a giggle gives you a pain.

Summer is passing. Now and then you read where some stream claims its second swimmer.

The imperative man who writes seed catalogs has started writing summer resort folders.

Legislator Celler of Brooklyn has entered the booze war, so you can guess where he stands.

Things are getting so that it takes good eyesight to tell a filling station from an ice cream parlor.

Greatest optimist on record so far is a St. Louis man who was caught stealing heavy underwear.

Why do exchange experts still quote the price of German marks? Is anyone buying them nowadays?

If it is true that the chiggers die when they get full, we know where there will be a lot of funerals pretty soon.

The way to get a thing done quickly and in the right way is to pick out the busiest man you can find.

An eminent lady astrologer from England announces that we will have civil war in America in 1942 and it will be mighty uncivil, at that. She knows the war will come because in 1942 Uranus will be in cahoots with Gemini—and that is enough to start trouble anywhere. Uranus was in Gemini when we had our revolutionary war and it spells bloodshed for us every time. What the home brewed war will be about the seeress does not reveal. Possibly it may be over home brew. Wonder whether it would be possible to prevent a war by getting a supreme court injunction restraining Uranus from an entangling alliance with Gemini?

The Marlon Star under its new management is to continue along the same old lines, it is announced, so maybe we'd better be finding out the names of various editors, as it is always interesting to know our future presidents.

An English advertising man at the recent Atlantic City meet announced he is taking back some piquant American slang. So possibly in time the chancellor of the exchequer reporting a deficit will say, "Yes, we have no bananas."

WAR TERRORS

International politicians, who called themselves statesmen, realize that an armaments race is on again. There is talk of a necessity for outlawing submarines, flying bombers and poison gas—particularly the poison gas.

All very well, but eventually the politicians will realize that in our scientific age disarmament must be honest, absolute and complete all along the line—not here and there, barring some weapons, permitting others. Halfway disarmament cannot keep pace with the fiends working in laboratories to perfect new killing devices.

The key to real disarmament is to disarm the politicians—the people should strip them of their war making power.

The next war will not be decided in the air, under the water or by death dealing gas. These efficient devices will be obsolete within 50 years—and it takes that long for the people, on the law of averages, to get enough money saved up to finance another big war.

We wonder what is doing in some of the secret German laboratories. Let them find a way to spread germs of some dread disease (and a method to immunize themselves) and Germany wouldn't need flying machines, boats or poison gas.

Future war weapons will be germs planted life blights to kill the enemy's food supplies, and artificial lightning. That "future" may not be far off.

IN THE YEAR 2500

We had a dream last night, that we had come back to earth in the year 2500. Well, you'd never have known the old place.

The first thing we noticed was that there were no houses fastened to the ground. People in the year 2500 were living in enormous airships, with as many as 10 rooms inside. When the family tired of a location, it flew to another. No trouble about trespassing, for all land was owned in common by all the people (through their government) in the year 2500.

The flying machine had made it possible for the average person during lifetime to visit nearly every interesting place on earth.

Attached to the big airplane home was a garage where pa kept the small plane that carried him to and from work at a speed of 500 miles an hour. With such fast transportation the great cities, naturally, had broken up except as groups of factories, offices and shops.

Inside the airplane home we found ma cooking dinner. A scientist long since had discovered how to release the terrific energy locked up in the atom, and a pound of coal did a family's cooking and heating for months.

Through a window we saw a glass building. "That," ma explained, "is a farm. As you know, if you recall history, it was nearly the year 2000 before scientists learned how to cross cereals and vegetables with yeast growth and produce a crop in 24 hours."

The children and parents looked phenomenally healthy. All germs had been conquered, all disease stamped out. World war had been declared on rats and insects such as flies and mosquitoes. These had been exterminated finally by cross breeding other insects that were their natural destroyers.

Radio in the year 2500 had been perfected until a perfect receiving set was as small as a watch and carried by every one, enabling people to talk to any person anywhere at any time. The intellectuals, of course, had abandoned clumsy language and were exchanging thoughts by telepathy.

At this point, we heard a rap at the door, and crawling into bath robe and slippers, and going to the door we found a neighbor, he wanted the last evening's Journal, to see something about a soap ad.

An eminent lady astrologer from England announces that we will have civil war in America in 1942 and it will be mighty uncivil, at that. She knows the war will come because in 1942 Uranus will be in cahoots with Gemini—and that is enough to start trouble anywhere. Uranus was in Gemini when we had our revolutionary war and it spells bloodshed for us every time. What the home brewed war will be about the seeress does not reveal. Possibly it may be over home brew. Wonder whether it would be possible to prevent a war by getting a supreme court injunction restraining Uranus from an entangling alliance with Gemini?

Governor Al Smith of New York has announced that he will not be a candidate for the democratic nomination for president "unless they drag him in." Well, it begins to look as if they will not use a Ford to drag him in with even if it is decided to tow the New York governor into the race.

STUDEBAKER

The Studebaker Light-Six

was designed by Studebaker engineers and manufactured complete in the NEW STUDEBAKER PLANTS AT SOUTH BEND, IND., which are notable in design, size and equipment for efficient and economical manufacture.

The South Bend Plants contain 4,875,000 square feet of floor space. They employ 12,000 persons. They cost $33,250,000. The South Bend Forge Plant cost $4,000,000; which alone is more than the total assets of many automobile companies.

And then there are: The machine shops which cost $7,000,000. The stamping plant which cost $4,000,000. The new foundries which will cost over $2,000,000. The power plants which cost $2,500,000. The assembly and stock plants which cost $5,000,000, as well as closed and open body plants, spring shops, etc.

Studebaker plants, in cost and size, are the second largest of the world's automobile plants. Studebaker is the second strongest financially of the automobile manufacturers of the world. These facts show why it is possible for Studebaker to produce the Light-Six—a truly remarkable car—and sell it for less than a thousand dollars.

In actual car value per dollar of price the Light-Six is in a class by itself. No prospective buyer of an automobile should decide on anything until he has seen and driven this car. It is backed by a corporation with $85,000,000 of actual net assets and a 71-year reputation for honest product and fair dealing.

Vast Resources Make Possible High Value at Low Price in Studebaker Light-Six

Studebaker's vast resources are utilized to manufacture (not assemble) the Light-Six complete in the newest and most modern large automobile plants in the world.

The Corporation's resources, consisting of $85,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plants, make it possible for Studebaker to offer a six-cylinder car, at less than $1,000, that is emphatically superior in design, construction, performance, comfort and dependability, to any car within hundreds of dollars of its price.

By complete manufacture, Studebaker not only guards the quality of each part, but saves the middlemen's profits, with the result that no other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six.

Evidence of its mechanical superiority is found in its practical freedom from vibration. This is accomplished by the perfect balance of the motor. Perfect balance is obtained largely through the complete machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods. This requires 61 precision operations.

This method is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at this price. In fact, very few other cars have this feature, and their prices are from three to ten times as great as that of the Light-Six.

It is significant, therefore, that the sale of more than 80,000 Studebaker cars during the first six months of this year broke all records.

Buyers are justified in expecting more for their money in a Studebaker than in any other car.
