CHECKING UP ON MOTHER

Nebraska railway conductors no longer depend entirely upon the memory of parents when it comes to the dividing line between the age when children are required to pay half fare. The conductors when in doubt take the name of the father and mother and the name of the child and write a letter to the vital statistics department of the state bureau of health. Two such inquiries have been received by the bureau within one month. In one case the child in question was shown by the official birth certificate to have been born on December 18, 1817, was therefore more than five years of age. Children over five and under twelve are required by railroad regulations to pay half fare. Those over twelve pay full fare.

YOUTHFUL PIONEER OF THE RADIO WORLD

John O. Yeiser, Jr., of Omaha, One of First to Follow the Wireless Art to Success.

From Saturday's Daily.
Way back in 1909 there was a small bunch of boys that invariably got into trouble. In fact, if trouble didn't come their way, they went to meet it. One of the boys John O. Yeiser, Jr., recalls one very interesting episode.
The U. S. army post at Fort Omaha had just installed what was at that time a very powerful radio station at an enormous expense. This was a new one on the boys so they set out to build themselves sets. It looked like a government monopoly and they vowed that it should be broken. They scoured the garages for Ford spark coils and the junk shops for wire, odds and ends and inside a month there were at least fifteen full fledged "ham" sets in the air, and to "listen in" on the air buzzing of these small wireless sets reminded one of a frog pond on a summer night. They found that they were successful, too, for they created such a disturbance that the expensive Fort Omaha set was forced to shut down and "call out the militia" to quiet the little outfits. This tickled the kids to know they had built powerful sets to put a good government set out of business.

The same John O. Yeiser, Jr., in March, 1921, built himself the first broadcasting station in Omaha and operated it continually for nine months until he was successful in bringing the giant station, WOAW, to Omaha.
Having then accomplished all that was possible in the broadcasting field on the other side of the game and made a study of the radio receiver and has perfected several new circuits that will be made public in the future. He was also the first one to receive broadcasting in a moving automobile. His car is now equipped so that the audience passengers may hear concerts while touring. These come in louder than phonograph music, even while the car is going at a good speed so he says.

Mr. Yeiser, who is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sturm of Nehawka, was here visiting Saturday and Sunday. He has his Ford sedan here which is equipped with a fine receiving set and Saturday evening and Sunday morning had the machine on our streets where splendid programs were received. It attracted considerable attention and was greatly appreciated by a large audience of listeners.—Nehawka Enterprise.

SHOWER FOR MISS BRINKMAN

From Friday's Daily.

On Wednesday evening, Miss Anna Wurga was hostess to a number of friends in honor of Miss Hilda Brinkman, who is to be one of the brides of the early fall season. The affair was in the nature of a linen shower and was very cleverly arranged and carried out by the ladies. Miss Brinkman was notified by the ladies that a shower was coming up and requested to visit an adjoining room where the gifts of linen were to be presented. The bride to be was requested to remove the gifts and bring them in from the shower. There were many very handsome articles in the array of gifts prepared by the friends.

The ladies also spent the time in hemming dust clothes for the future home of the guest of honor and each one of the party was requested to write some word of advice to the bride elect and which on being read by Miss Brinkman proved very amusing.

Throughout the rooms the color scheme was in pink and white and this was also carried out in the decorations of the tables in candles, garden flowers and the place cards which were appropriate to the approaching nuptials. The members of the party were treated to a very dainty luncheon served by Mrs. Joseph Wurga, Sr., and Mrs. J. F. Wurga.

The wedding of Miss Brinkman to Mr. J. L. Mahoney is announced for the early part of September.

After the vacation Mr. Dwyer returns greatly refreshed to take up his extensive legal work.

Same Old Story, but a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so, for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles." Weyrich & Hadraba.

PLEASANT RE-UNION OF STANDER FAMILY IS HELD

Fifty-Six Gathered Around the Festival Board Sunday Despite the Fact Some Were Absent.

From Saturday's Daily.
A very pleasant family reunion occurred at the home of P. C. Stander last Sunday when all the brothers and sisters who live in the country gathered to enjoy the day together. A sumptuous dinner was served, which was so bountiful that there was more than enough left over for supper. Several members of the family who live in the county were absent, being out of the state, but there were enough of the brothers and sisters and their children and families to make fifty-six at the dinner.
Mrs. P. C. Palmer is in Colorado and Mrs. Henry Stander is in the western part of the state and could not be present. Those who were there were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stander and Theodore Stander, of Omaha; George Stander and children and their families, of Plattsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Spangler and family of Weeping Water; Mr. and Mrs. William Stander; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stander and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cleghorn, Mrs. Bevelia Studee and two daughters, Misses Gertude and Beronica, James Stander, all of Louisville; Henry Stander and family of near South Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stander and family of Greenwood, and the family of P. C. Stander.
In the afternoon, Mrs. John Group and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Foe, of Red Cloud and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brekenfeldt and family of Elmwood, who are near relatives, called at the home to enjoy a short visit with those attending this family affair. The Stander family is one of the early pioneers of this county and have grown to considerable proportions since those far off days and all are prosperous and influential citizens in their home communities and it is seldom that so many of them are privileged to gather under one roof and enjoy such a feast as this was, and the day is one that will long linger in the memories of all.—Louisville Courier.

JUDGE EVANS A CANDIDATE

Former Congressman to File For Supreme Judge in Third District in 1924 Election.

From Thursday's Daily.
Former Congressman Robert E. Evans of Dakota City will be a candidate for supreme judge at the election in 1924 in the Third district. This information comes from a close friend of the judge, and is not a formal announcement of his candidacy. Mr. Evans served acceptably for two terms, but was retired last year when Edgar Howard rode into office on the return wave of democracy in that district. He has served as a district judge, and is one of the leading lawyers of his section.

Next year three supreme judges are to be chosen, one each from the First, Third and Fifth districts. The three judges whose terms expire are Letton, Rose and Aldrich. Judge Letton resided in Fairbury when he was elected back in 1906. Judge Rose has lived in Lincoln at all times and is now serving his fifteenth year, while Judge Aldrich was a citizen of David City when chosen.

Under the new system of district election of supreme judges two of these three will be released from service. The First district in which Lincoln is situated, will have one judge to be elected next year, and none is to be selected from the Fourth district, the original home of Judges Letton and Aldrich. The latter has been in poor health for a year or two. No one has presumed to say which one or two, if any, of them will file again. Judge Morning of the Lancaster district court has been suggested as a likely candidate.

The Fifth district, like the Third has not representative on the bench. It contains several able district judges and private attorneys and a contest is fairly certain there. Judge Blackledge of Red Cloud has been spoken of as a possibility, as has been Judge Dilworth of Holdrege.

Under the new constitution the
