THE PENALTY OF WRONG DOING

The land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, for the fruit of their doings.—Micah vii, 13. Chief industry of Europe seems to be cabinet making. A young lady tells us she is going bathing suiting. Do it today, so you won't be able to regret it tomorrow. A man may suffer by comparison, but generally it is painless. Now if they can just keep the mines and the winter open. They who make the best use of their time have none to spare. A man without a purpose is like a ship without a rudder.—Carlyle. Keep away from Deauville. French bather wears a transparent suit. He who always says what he likes must hear what he does not like. Do not worry over the past, the future will give you cause enough. The modern freshness of youth is desirable, except that most of it is too fresh. It takes real woman intuition to grasp the great difference between $2 and $1.98. These days you never know if your wife is down town at a movie or getting a divorce. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover Jones of Delhi, Ind., have been married 60 years without a shot. While a wild man was shooting up Mereville, Ill., several thought it a presidential boom. Statistics show the U. S. has 300,000 miners no more. This doesn't seem to be enough. Many just returned from summer resorts may enjoy learning one has burned in Michigan. Three dams broke near Massillon, Ohio. Just below them was as wet as New York, almost. Los Angeles landlord has been arrested, charged with robbing people who were his tenants. The driver you try to pass is a road hog, and the driver that tries to pass you is another speeder. Woman kicked out a train window in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Luckily, she was inside at the time. Postmaster of Forest City, Iowa, made a golf hole to one. That may be why the mail is late. Epidemic of saxophone stealing is rampant in New York. Perhaps there is a robber band. Helen Martin of Philadelphia solves prize puzzles. Give her a place in Coolidge's cabinet. The circus has come and gone. The day crowd was estimated at 6,000, and another big crowd at night. We wish the pet mosquito in our bedroom would take a notion to try one of these dusk to dawn flights. The ex-kaiser is reported by a German newspaper to be in high good humor. Why shouldn't he be—he got safely to Holland, didn't he? Secretary Wallace announces he is opposed to price fixing by the government and to its purchase of wheat as a means of sustaining agricultural markets. The secretary may be a reactionary. Anyway, he's old-fashioned. Senator Brookhart has wired the president that only quick government action can avert widespread disaster. Let's see. The latest disaster before this was Senator Cullen's, if beer was not authorized by congress. The one before that was Senator Magnus Johnson's if an extra session of congress were not convened. The one before that—well, we forget. We can't keep statistics on all the disasters the politicians predict.

Labor Day next Monday. School begins Tuesday next. College life's in a state of innocuous. We thought so. The common or garden variety of people are growing popular. Man who umpired a ball game in Three Rivers, Mich., escaped. Saturday was payday and show day, and a large crowd was here. These are days people are as hot as a woman with nine kids in a day coach. I have been a fool," said Tom Foley in court. They didn't get him for perjury. Baden has millions for defense of Bergdoll, it seems, but not one mark for reparations. Some of our farmers are becoming so well educated they can't tell when it is going to rain. Presidential possibilities had better make all the noise they can before the world series. If jay-walking is to be utterly forbidden then some folks have to stay home altogether. Belgians applaud an act, good or bad," says Actor A. V. Powell. Many even applaud acrobats. Novelist has no right to slander society," says one. Why not? Society slanders novelists. Meneken says something about baseball in the Nation. We didn't stop to read what it was. Procrastination is China's trouble," writes Ching Yong Fang. That and their Chinese names. Stars have social instinct," says Isabel Lewis. Movie stars, we add, have a divorce instinct. Average politician is a comedian," says Dawes. It won't make any mad. All are above the average. College life's in a state of innocuous desuetude," says California educator. We thought so. Novelists have no right to slander society," says one. Why not? Society slanders novelists. The gliding record for all time, it looks to us, ought to go to the celebrated German currency. The old-fashioned young man who had a home to take his bride to now has a son with a car to support. As a general thing, a fat man can reduce his pocketbook ten times while he is reducing his belt half an inch. Noted physician says that a man looks like what he eats. In that case, a lot of people must eat lots of prunes. And our guess is that the government will regulate the price of farm crops when it gets control of the weather. De Valera fainted when they arrested him. But when he came to he felt very much out that the locked him in. Generally when you employ labor, you want men qualified for the job. If they are not the people who employ them suffer. President Coolidge may be a babe in the woods of politics, and then again he may show signs of knowing a lame duck when he sees one. Another Bargain Day will soon be here. The consumers seem to enjoy the event, and have got used to coming to Plattsmouth for bargains. Frisky Flapper says the reason she isn't getting on very well with her new boss is because when she came to work in a sleeveless waist he said he didn't want his office to look like an armed camp. DIES ATTEMPTING TO RESCUE COMRADE FROM WELL

Lewis Johnson of Weeping Water is Overcome by Gas in Well—Achtison in Hospital. The vicinity of Weeping Water was shocked yesterday afternoon when one of the well known residents of that locality, Lewis Johnson, aged thirty years was killed by gas while attempting to rescue by gas well neighbor Glen Achtison from a well in which he had fallen. Mr. Achtison had been standing near the edge of the well and suddenly fell the full depth of the twenty foot well and was badly injured by the fall as well as the effects of the gas that was very strong in the bottom of the well. Mr. Johnson on seeing his friend fall rushed to his rescue and descended into the well and while there was overcome by the gas that was growing much stronger and by the time other aid had arrived and the man hauled to the surface it was impossible to resuscitate Mr. Johnson. Mr. Achtison was brought to the surface of the well suffering very much from the effects of the gas as well as the bruises and lacerations from the fall and was at once hurried to an Omaha hospital. Mr. Johnson is a married man and leaves a wife and four children to mourn his death. Mr. Achtison is also a married man and a son of former County Commissioner William Achtison of Elmwood and one of the well known young farmers in that section of the county.

VACATION ABOUT OVER

A young man in Massachusetts bet $5 that he could stay under water five minutes. He won easily, but it is not reported that his heirs have collected. The bottom makes a fine circus ground. And its nearest to the center of the city, which demonstrates that people will go where they don't have to walk so far. A Western university football coach has employed a dancing master for his squad. Most coaches on the other hand wish their players had never heard of that particular art. Now if Edward Bok will only offer another $100,000 prize for a plan which will secure peace in the home, when one or more of the family are mean as Old Nick, it will really help some. Now that a young man swam across Lake Erie and an American has negotiated the English Channel it is time for some aspiring Yankee to attempt to swim to the north pole. Swimming is about the only method of approach that has not hitherto been suggested. The tailors' fashioned committee kindly announces that approaching styles for men will include no frills and fads. We are very much obliged to be sure. But we are still inclined to feel that there is a considerable and desirable portion of the masculine citizenry of the United States that would indulge in no sartorial furbelows even if the tailors' fashion committee had been less magnanimous.

FIXING UP SCHOOL HOUSES

Frank R. Gobelman, the painter and decorator has been very busy the past week and has a large force of men engaged in the work of redecorating the school buildings of the city and to have the work completed by the opening of school on next Tuesday morning. The work is being handled with neatness that is characteristic of the work of Mr. Gobelman and his workmen are getting their work well in hand so that there will be no delay in the starting out of school. The work has been badly needed for the past few years.

VISITING IN ENGLAND

Richard Avard, who has been playing in orchestra at the Troutville, Colorado, summer resort for the past few months, came in yesterday for a visit here with his wife and three children. Mr. Avard states that his wife and little son, Dickie, with Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLean, are now at Gates-on-the-Tyne, England, visiting with their relatives. The party made the crossing in June of the month of the year, and the trip, although the weather was decidedly warm. Mr. Avard may join the family latter in the old home.

NERVES SHOT

You know the story of the nervous sleeper who, hearing a neighbor drop a shoe, waited for its companion to fall, so he could go back to sleep. The second shoe was put down quietly, however, because the neighbor remembered the nervous wreck in the next room. Nevertheless the N. W. waited for the second thud, and when it didn't come for a long time, he called out: "For the love of Mike, when are you going to drop that other shoe?" The man whose nerves are diseased—"on edge"—becomes chronically apprehensive, watchful for a turn for the worse, expecting disaster. The nervous victim fears and expects additional troubles and complications. With this expectant attitude, eh invites what he expects. We create what we fear. A neuroathetic suffering from a complication like Beard's disease, becomes convinced that he has organic heart trouble as soon as he gets a touch of intercostal (between the ribs) neuralgic pains—indigestion. Imaginary ailment is worse than the real thing. All of which is as true of nations as of individuals. Right now America is recovering from a neuroathetic or nervous condition, pandemic, in which we are apprehensive—constantly imagining that we are on the verge of disaster. Hence crisis after crisis threatens, though it never materializes. The war aroused us to emotional fury. It over stimulated our endocrine glands to supply us with energy for fighting the war. It left us with an unbalanced glandular system, nationally. That's what happens to the average neuroathetic. It is what has happened to our nation. Our adrenal glands, stimulated by the war, are slowing down, the nation's nervousness will lapse into calm.
