

PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE FOUNDER OF ARBOR DAY

GOV. C. W. BRYAN, SPEAKING AT NEB. CITY TODAY, HONORS J. STERLING MORTON

FORMALLY ACCEPTS PROPERTY

With Appropriate Ceremonies This Afternoon—To Conclude with a Street Dance Tonight.

From Thursday's Daily—

Today at Nebraska City, the official transfer of Arbor Lodge and Morton Park, the one owned by the heirs of J. Sterling Morton and the other by Nebraska City, are being transferred to the state of Nebraska.

ADDRESS OF GOV. BRYAN

This is a day to which the citizens of the state, and especially the people of the county of its chief city, have been looking forward with increasing interest for several years.

I need not go into detail as to the genealogy of Mr. Morton more than to say that he came of New England parentage, born April 22, 1832, came to Nebraska in 1855.

The home remained unbroken until 1881, when from these lands the pure spirit of Mrs. Morton took its flight, and the husband, the sons and the community suffered an irreparable loss.

Arbor Lodge has associated with it the state as governor and for the members of the State Park Board, I can assure him that he has the thanks of every citizen of the State of Nebraska for his contribution of this splendid endowment.

Nebraska has no lofty mountains, or majestic rivers or lakes, which to boast, but she is possessed of a soil in which is stored the power of production so that here may be grown everything necessary to sustain and render life comfortable.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

Resolved, that Wednesday, the tenth day of April, 1872, be and the same is hereby set apart and consecrated to tree planting in the State of Nebraska, and that the State Board of Agriculture hereby name it Arbor day.

This was accepted and afterwards the legislature of 1885 changed the date and set apart April 22nd, Mr. Morton's birthday, as Arbor day and made it a legal holiday, and each year it is so celebrated by a proclamation by the Governor, attention being called to the day and to the purposes for which it was instituted.

I may further say that Mr. Morton was a student and was at all times engaged in forwarding the interests of agriculture. These facts brought him prominently before the country and to the attention of the President of the United States, and Mr. Cleveland called him into his cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

Resolved, that Wednesday, the tenth day of April, 1872, be and the same is hereby set apart and consecrated to tree planting in the State of Nebraska, and that the State Board of Agriculture hereby name it Arbor day.

This was accepted and afterwards the legislature of 1885 changed the date and set apart April 22nd, Mr. Morton's birthday, as Arbor day and made it a legal holiday, and each year it is so celebrated by a proclamation by the Governor, attention being called to the day and to the purposes for which it was instituted.

best express my appreciation of the spirit manifested by the donor in his contribution to our state parks, and to represent properly the attitude which we discover in the good people of Otoe county and the citizens of Nebraska City.

The State Park Board also notes with pleasure the co-operation as a whole of the Chamber of Commerce in completing the plans and making these ceremonies of state-wide interest to the visitors from all parts of the state.

It needs not the inspiration of a prophet to say that each year there will be thousands of people who will enjoy the grateful shade and beauty of all its surroundings, and to absorb the spirit of those who brought it into being and gave it form and comeliness.

This was the home of the Mortons. Here three score and eight years ago they became possessed of these lands and established their home. Here they dwelt in domestic tranquility.

The home remained unbroken until 1881, when from these lands the pure spirit of Mrs. Morton took its flight, and the husband, the sons and the community suffered an irreparable loss.

Arbor Lodge has associated with it the state as governor and for the members of the State Park Board, I can assure him that he has the thanks of every citizen of the State of Nebraska for his contribution of this splendid endowment.

Nebraska has no lofty mountains, or majestic rivers or lakes, which to boast, but she is possessed of a soil in which is stored the power of production so that here may be grown everything necessary to sustain and render life comfortable.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

Resolved, that Wednesday, the tenth day of April, 1872, be and the same is hereby set apart and consecrated to tree planting in the State of Nebraska, and that the State Board of Agriculture hereby name it Arbor day.

This was accepted and afterwards the legislature of 1885 changed the date and set apart April 22nd, Mr. Morton's birthday, as Arbor day and made it a legal holiday, and each year it is so celebrated by a proclamation by the Governor, attention being called to the day and to the purposes for which it was instituted.

I may further say that Mr. Morton was a student and was at all times engaged in forwarding the interests of agriculture. These facts brought him prominently before the country and to the attention of the President of the United States, and Mr. Cleveland called him into his cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

Resolved, that Wednesday, the tenth day of April, 1872, be and the same is hereby set apart and consecrated to tree planting in the State of Nebraska, and that the State Board of Agriculture hereby name it Arbor day.

This was accepted and afterwards the legislature of 1885 changed the date and set apart April 22nd, Mr. Morton's birthday, as Arbor day and made it a legal holiday, and each year it is so celebrated by a proclamation by the Governor, attention being called to the day and to the purposes for which it was instituted.

I may further say that Mr. Morton was a student and was at all times engaged in forwarding the interests of agriculture. These facts brought him prominently before the country and to the attention of the President of the United States, and Mr. Cleveland called him into his cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

best express my appreciation of the spirit manifested by the donor in his contribution to our state parks, and to represent properly the attitude which we discover in the good people of Otoe county and the citizens of Nebraska City.

The State Park Board also notes with pleasure the co-operation as a whole of the Chamber of Commerce in completing the plans and making these ceremonies of state-wide interest to the visitors from all parts of the state.

It needs not the inspiration of a prophet to say that each year there will be thousands of people who will enjoy the grateful shade and beauty of all its surroundings, and to absorb the spirit of those who brought it into being and gave it form and comeliness.

This was the home of the Mortons. Here three score and eight years ago they became possessed of these lands and established their home. Here they dwelt in domestic tranquility.

The home remained unbroken until 1881, when from these lands the pure spirit of Mrs. Morton took its flight, and the husband, the sons and the community suffered an irreparable loss.

Arbor Lodge has associated with it the state as governor and for the members of the State Park Board, I can assure him that he has the thanks of every citizen of the State of Nebraska for his contribution of this splendid endowment.

Nebraska has no lofty mountains, or majestic rivers or lakes, which to boast, but she is possessed of a soil in which is stored the power of production so that here may be grown everything necessary to sustain and render life comfortable.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

Resolved, that Wednesday, the tenth day of April, 1872, be and the same is hereby set apart and consecrated to tree planting in the State of Nebraska, and that the State Board of Agriculture hereby name it Arbor day.

This was accepted and afterwards the legislature of 1885 changed the date and set apart April 22nd, Mr. Morton's birthday, as Arbor day and made it a legal holiday, and each year it is so celebrated by a proclamation by the Governor, attention being called to the day and to the purposes for which it was instituted.

I may further say that Mr. Morton was a student and was at all times engaged in forwarding the interests of agriculture. These facts brought him prominently before the country and to the attention of the President of the United States, and Mr. Cleveland called him into his cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

Resolved, that Wednesday, the tenth day of April, 1872, be and the same is hereby set apart and consecrated to tree planting in the State of Nebraska, and that the State Board of Agriculture hereby name it Arbor day.

This was accepted and afterwards the legislature of 1885 changed the date and set apart April 22nd, Mr. Morton's birthday, as Arbor day and made it a legal holiday, and each year it is so celebrated by a proclamation by the Governor, attention being called to the day and to the purposes for which it was instituted.

I may further say that Mr. Morton was a student and was at all times engaged in forwarding the interests of agriculture. These facts brought him prominently before the country and to the attention of the President of the United States, and Mr. Cleveland called him into his cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture.

Many other things of importance, which at the present time, I cannot mention, are recorded in the history of Nebraska and treasured in the minds and hearts of those who know him. He needs no marble shaft to perpetuate his memory or to declare his deeds.

NEHAWKAITES TAKE AIR WITH PROGRAM

Old Time Fiddlers, Headed by William Balfour, and Talented Youngsters on Program.

From Friday's Daily— Last evening was Nehawka night at Station WOA-W, Omaha, and talent from that enterprising little city furnished the various numbers that were sent out on the air waves to the listening world.

On the program was a unique feature in the three old time fiddlers that gave their numbers with clearness and snap. H. H. Stoll, William Steel and the prize-winning old timer, William Balfour, participated with a number of the old time tunes to which past generations have danced.

A number of the young folks of the Nehawka community were also heard on the program. Leone Pollard, aged 8, Mary Pollard, 12, with Virginia Pollard, 15, as accompanist, were heard in vocal number, and Elizabeth Jane Sheldon, aged 9, gave a pleasing reading.

Piano numbers on the program were by Hazel Carper, Clara Schlichtemeier and Gladys Wolf. Readings were given by Isadore Stone, Mrs. R. E. Stone and daughters, Verla and Kathryn, aged 12 and 10 years old.

Vocal numbers were given most pleasingly by Mrs. John Hanson and the ladies quartet while DeForest Wilson was heard in a violin number with Miss Hazel Carper as accompanist.

Among the babies entered at the Cass county fair was James Robbins Richardson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Richardson, of this city, and this fine little man has been given the second prize of the fair for babies of his age by the awarding board of judges.

Roy B. Cox was chosen to represent the Laymen's association of the Oregon conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at the general conference in Springfield, Mass., in May, 1924.

The following is from the Oregon City (Ore.) Enterprise: "Roy B. Cox was chosen to represent the Laymen's association of the Oregon conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at the general conference in Springfield, Mass., in May, 1924.

The Plattsmouth high school football squad was over at Pacific Junction yesterday for a few hours and while there engaged the high school team of that place in a practice game of football.

Charles Hudson, who has for several weeks been engaged in the barber shop of C. A. Rosenkrans, will cease to wield the razor and the clippers at this popular tonorial establishment and as the result of a court decision at Grand Island, is reported to be taking up a course of employment by the state of Nebraska which is without financial return, although he will be very carefully sheltered at the state boarding house at Lincoln, presided over by Warden W. T. Penton.

The special train bearing the St. Louis Missouri Pacific baseball team, amateur class A champions of the Missouri city, and several hundred boosters, on their way to Omaha, which was scheduled to pass through here early Saturday morning, owing to the rain and unsafe condition of the roadbed at Louisville, was re-routed over the main line through Plattsmouth, and Omaha was not reached until nearly noon, after a stop in the county seat for breakfast. The rain was general south of us, also, and caused slow-runners at several points along the Missouri Pacific where softening of the roadbed under the incessant downpour had been noted, thereby causing all trains to be late.

The Ticner Brothers, who are to operate the Bill of Fare cafe, formerly the Graham cafe, yesterday opened their new place of business to the public and started in on their task of serving the Plattsmouth people with the best in the line of foodstuff that they can procure.

Mr. Harry Ticner has made his home here for some time, as he has been employed in the Burlington shops and the other partner, William Ticner and family, have come here from Fairbury, where they have made their home heretofore.

A real watermelon story comes from Murdock and which the parties concerned are ready to coach for as being the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Some time ago it seems Andrew Detrich, of Louisville, who sells large and luscious watermelons, made the sale of a fine melon to W. T. Weddell of the Wright-Leete Grain Co., of Murdock, and the melon on being cut, proved to be all that the owner claimed for it as it was rich, red and juicy melon.

There being a great deal of the melon, a part was tendered to Mrs. William Stachetzky, who prepared to enjoy a real feast of the melon and was greatly surprised to find on eating the melon that a teaspoon was imbedded in the center of the melon. The spoon was right in the heart of the melon and its getting there was a dark mystery until Mr. Detrich was told of the find made and identified the spoon as being one from the Detrich silver chest and from the story told by Mr. Detrich it seems that a boy employed at his place had been in the habit of taking a spoon out in the melon patch with which to eat musk melons and probably thoughtlessly thrust the spoon in the young watermelon and which in time gradually covered the spoon and concealed it from sight.

Arnold Christian and the family were enjoying the circus at Lincoln last Thursday.

Postmaster R. Bergman was looking after some business matters in Omaha last Wednesday.

T. R. Barker, a former soldier of the late world war, has moved into the John Folschman property.

Miss Carrie Schafer was a visitor at the home of her brother, Charles Schafer, at Murdock last Sunday.

A. Steinkamp was looking after some business matters at Eagle and Alvo last Wednesday and on Thursday was a visitor at Omaha.

Father Higgins, of the St. Patrick's church of Manley, was called to Lincoln last Wednesday to look after some business matters in the interest of the church.

Wm. Casey, formerly of Manley, but making his home in Colorado for a number of years past, was a visitor at the Parish house of the St. Patrick's church, a guest of Father Higgins, last week.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

The Manley schools closed on Friday afternoon so that the students might attend the Cass county fair at Weeping Water, while the Chilson school and the one at Sunnyside closed for the entire day.

Charter No. 1914 REPORT OF CONDITION Reserve Dist. No. 10-J THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

At Plattsmouth, in the State of Nebraska, at the Close of business on September 14, 1923.

RESOURCES table with columns for item and amount. Includes Loans and discounts, Overdrafts, Deposited to secure circulation, etc.

LIABILITIES table with columns for item and amount. Includes Capital stock paid in, Surplus fund, Undivided profits, etc.

State of Nebraska } as Cashier. GEO. O. DOVEY

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of September, 1923. EDNA M. WALLEN, Notary Public.

TWO THREATS AGAINST WALTON PLAN ARE MADE

Referendum on Law to Permit Special Election Held Legal by the Supreme Court.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—The supreme court was asked today by attorney J. C. Walton to hold a rehearing on the legality of the election set for October 2, at which Oklahoma voters would ballot on a law permitting the legislature to meet without call from the governor.

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—Gov. J. C. Walton today faced two serious threats in his battle to prevent the Oklahoma legislature from meeting in extra session to start impeachment proceedings against him.

Second was the application for an injunction filed in the district court of Oklahoma county which would prevent the military authorities mobilized by Governor Walton to "suppress insurrection and riot" from interfering with the proposed meeting.

The governor extended the enforcement of drastic martial law to Murray county on appeal from residents of Sulphu, a village of that county.

Members of the legislature who attempted unsuccessfully to assemble on Wednesday departed for their homes today and will await call from their leaders.

The force of workmen of John Bauer are engaged today in preparing to make the changes in the pipes carrying the water from the roof of the building in time of rain.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for colds, croup and whooping cough for almost half a century and popularity as its good qualities better known.

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle in effect, easy to take and certain to act, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are excellent.

TROOPS RUSHED TO COUNTY KLAN RULED BY LASH

District Safe For Klansmen Only, Says Appeal to the Governor of Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 27.—Troops of the Oklahoma National Guard were ordered into Murray county tonight by Gov. J. C. Walton in response to an appeal from citizens of Sulphu, who charged local authorities with neglect in apprehending perpetrators of numerous mob outrages.

"Under the present reign of Ku Klux Klan officers in this county, conditions are deplorable and are becoming worse," the governor was told by the committee from Sulphu, which included Scott Ferris, nephew of former Congressman Scott Ferris of Oklahoma, and the mayor of the town.

"Persons who are not members of the Ku Klux Klan," they declared, "are totally unsafe in person and in property and unless relief is accorded us and martial law is established in this county there will be trouble and possibly bloodshed."

The pyrotechnics, which have kept Oklahoma aflame since Governor Walton opened his war on the Ku Klux Klan, and state legislators in turn opened a drive to impeach the executive, began to fade out tonight, with a long, dull court fight in prospect.

The first move to test in the courts the legality of the special session of the lower house of the legislature, called by members who hold it is their right to investigate the official acts of Governor Walton, was taken in state district court here late today.

The house members who gathered here yesterday and attempted to convene, only to be dispersed by military authorities acting under instructions from the governor, began to leave for their homes to await the outcome of the court fight.

A pledge was signed by the legislators that should the courts finally decide they had authority to meet as an impeachment body, they will convene at any time upon call of Representative W. D. McBee of Stephens county, one of the leaders of the "rebel" legislators. No further attempt will be made to convene, it was agreed, until the issue is decided in the state supreme court, and then there remains the possibility that the case will go through the United States supreme court.

There were indications tonight that within the next few days the governor would modify his martial law regulations and retire the greater part of the troops now mobilized. No relaxation in the investigation in cases of mob violence will follow, however, it was made plain.

The injunction petition filed by the legislators declared that the action of Adjutant General Markham in dispersing them was in violation of the capitol yesterday, continuing through force and arms to prevent an assembly, "was and is without authority of law, and was and is an invasion of the constitutional and civil rights of the plaintiffs."