French Consider Possibility of German Desperation Leading to Armed Reprisals.

Paris, Sept. 27.—Grave fears are entertained here in high circles that Germany may be forced to declare war against France and Belgium in sheer desperation, in order to hold the rich together, and prevent separatist movements in Bavaria, the Rhineland, Schleswig and elsewhere from developing.

What else can this mean but rupture, or war? "It can be explained by viewing the actual situation in Germany. She is a nation that she will be unable, soon, to pay the army of functionaries. How then will she be able to maintain order except by directing the wrath of the people against the allies and declaring a sort of holy war?"

"We have taken all measures in our power to avert this disaster," says the intrinsigant.

"Although there now seems to be a ceasing of passive resistance, that does not mean that Germany is ready to give in to the allies," says Liberte.

Meanwhile, a new worry has arisen in the Ruhr, as to how the Ruhr workers are to be paid when they return to work, now that the government cannot keep up the industrial subsidies. Experts agree that France and Belgium may be called on to pay billions in salaries for months, necessitating new loans.

To Gain a Good Reputation The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you appear. That is precisely the manner in which Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained its reputation as a cure for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough. Every bottle that has ever been put out by the manufacturers has been fully up to the high standard of excellence claimed for it. People have found that it can be depended on for the relief and cure of these ailments and that it is pleasant and safe to take.

This was ratified by a vote of the patrons of the district and also concurred in by the members of the board. THE CHILDREN OF J. STERLING MORTON

Distinguished Sons of the Sage of Arbor Lodge Have Had Big Part in Life of the Nation.

The home life of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sterling Morton, was enriched by four sons, two of whom were present yesterday when Arbor Lodge was formally given to the State of Nebraska, says the Nebraska City News, continuing: The other two did not live to see the Shrine of Arbor Day delivered into the safe keeping of the people of this state.

Joy, the eldest son and the donor of Arbor Lodge, was born in Detroit, Mich., September 24, 1855, where his mother had come to visit while her young husband was preparing their home in Nebraska. The boy, Joy, attended various schools including Clarkson college, Episcopal institution and Nebraska college. He then entered the employ of a bank, where he was taken ill with typhoid fever and this changed the course of his life. When he recovered, he longed for an outdoor life and found employment with a surveying "gang."

He later went to Chicago, where he has become one of the millionaires in the world of wealth and prestige. He was married to Miss Carrie Lake, daughter of Judge and Mrs. George B. Lake, of Omaha, one of the most prominent families in the state. Mr. Morton died some years ago, leaving a wife and two children, a son, Sterling, and a daughter, Jean, now Mrs. Joseph Cudahy.

The second son was Paul, who engaged in railroading, first being employed at Plattsmouth at a trifling salary. He was advanced rapidly and finally became vice-president of the Santa Fe railroad system. He was also later general freight agent for the C. B. & Q. railroad. In the cabinet of the late Ex-President Roosevelt, Paul Morton served as secretary of the navy. At the time of his death, he was president of the Equitable Life Assurance society of America and resided in New York City.

Mark, the third son, was born on the 22nd of November, 1858, in the old Herndon hotel in Omaha, now occupied by the general offices of the Union Pacific railroad company. He grew to manhood in this city. Later he went to Chicago, where he became associated with his brother, Joy, in the Morton Salt company. Mark Morton has been very successful financially. His son, Joy Morton, 2nd, received a Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska City to attend the transfer of Arbor Lodge to the state.

Carl, the youngest son, gave promise of being one of the most successful business men of Nebraska City. He was the directing manager of the local industrial interests in which his brothers were associated and in 1900 was called to Waukegan, Ill., to become the manager of a large industry there. Incessant labor and anxiety over his business weakened his power to resist disease and he was stricken with double pneumonia on December 1, 1906 at Waukegan, Ill., and he died there January 7, 1907.

He was born at Arbor Lodge February 18, 1865. He is survived by his wife, of Nebraska City, a daughter, Mrs. Fredric P. G. Lattner, of Dubuque, Iowa, and one son, Wirt, who lives at Hindsdale, Ill.

A FAMILY HEIRLOOM

From Saturday's Daily—James B. Higley of this city who is enjoying a visit from his brother, J. D. Higley of Kansas, has received from the brother an heirloom, that while not of a great value in dollars and cents, represents a sentiment that is very strong among the members of the family. The heirloom is an old worn shoemaker's hammer which was used by the father, Edwin Higley, back in the old home in Ohio, where Jim and his brothers spent their childhood days and the hammer is older than any of the members of the family that are now living. The hammer has been in the care of the mezzanine and upper tiers of the grandstand, will be unreserved, the tickets being put on sale at 10 a. m. the day of each game. The remaining 20,000 seats, boxes and lower grandstand will be reserved and sold in advance.

The scale of prices that will prevail at both the Polo grounds and Yankee stadium follows: Box seats,

INTEREST HIGH IN THE COMING WORLD'S SERIES

New York, Sept. 27.—Interest in the coming world's series has not slackened because of the prospects that the same team, the New York Yankees and Giants, will battle for baseball supremacy for the third successive year, if advance ticket applications pouring into the offices of both clubs can be taken as proof. Executives of both organizations said today they were being flooded by requests for seats from all parts of the country.

The Yankee stadium has a seating capacity of slightly more than 60,000 with sufficient standing room to accommodate from 5,000 to 10,000 more. Two-thirds of the seat, 20,000 in the bleachers and 20,000 in the mezzanine and upper tiers of the grandstand, will be unreserved, the tickets being put on sale at 10 a. m. the day of each game. Of the eight thousand Boy Scouts in Chicago only eight have ever been brought into the juvenile court, and even these few were charged with only minor offenses. The record brings an overwhelming conviction that scoutcraft is a deterrent to crime. Then why not extend the membership?

TRAIN CREWS TO ASK FOR A TWELVE PER CENT BOOST

General Chairmen Count Ballots in Joint Wage Referendum—Find Large Majority for It.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 27.—General chairmen of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors within a few days will present requests for wage increases of approximately 12 per cent to railroads in the eastern, western and southern sections of the country, following completion today of the counting of ballots in a joint referendum vote of trainmen and conductors which are practically unanimous in favor of presenting the wage increase proposal to the railroads.

Chairmen and executive committee members of the three regional associations of the two organizations headed by President L. E. Sheppard of the conductors and W. N. Doak, vice president of the trainmen, have been counting the ballots for three days. The increase is asked to replace the practically 10 per cent wage reduction handed down by the United States railroad labor board on July 1, 1921. President Sheppard said.

'PULL TOGETHER,' EDITOR ADVISES

Lafayette Young, Sr., Says Small Towns Need Greater Community Spirit.

Ogden, Ia., Sept. 27.—A greater display of community spirit and a greater desire by all interests to cooperate for the common good, is the need of most small towns and cities of Iowa. Lafayette Young, Sr., publisher of the Des Moines Daily Capital and former United States senator, today told the people of Ogden and the surrounding country gathered here for a community picnic and barbecue.

Many small towns and cities, Mr. Young pointed out, lack the natural requisites to growth and can never aspire to great size, but, he declared, they can easily be made ideal places in which to live, simply by co-operation of all inhabitants and the putting to the fore of the community interest.

"Development of your town calls for no individual sacrifice," it requires only that you pull together, that everyone interest himself in the welfare of the whole community and that every citizen constantly keep before him," Mr. Young declared.

More than 1,500 pounds of roast ox was prepared for the picnickers and the thousands that thronged the streets of the little town made the barbecue the center of the day's attractions.

Meetings a Success

The evangelistic meetings which have been in session at Murdock for the past nearly two weeks and which closed a week ago Sunday were productive of great good, especially with the members of the four churches engaged, they being the church at Murdock, the one known at the Louisville church, Caliban and the church at Elmwood as it alligned them up in a team work proposition which has gotten the best results. With the four churches all working in unison they are able to do better and more work for the cause. The evangelist, the Rev. Jordan, departed for Ithaca at the close of the meetings, where he is engaged in a series of meetings at this time.
