CITIZENS ARE URGED TO PRE-SERVE ORDER

CIVIL AUTHORITIES INCREASE STRENGTH TO PREVENT TROUBLE AT POLLS.

GOVERNOR'S DEFEAT IS SEEN

Attorney General Holds That Governor Without Power to Change Date of the Election.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 1.—Military forces of the state will not interfere with tomorrow's special election, Gov. J. C. Walton declared in a formal statement early tonight.

The governor denied the statement attributed to him yesterday that the entire national guard would be mobilized to prevent the election. He called upon all citizens of the state to preserve peace tomorrow.

The statement addressed to "the people of the state of Oklahoma and all peace officers of the state" follows in full:

"It has come to my notice that rumors are now being circulated that I will interfere by means of the military to prevent or obstruct the pretended election advertised to take place tomorrow, October 2, 1923.

"This is to advise you that the military forces will not intervene in the pretended election and I hereby request all citizens of the state to preserve the peace and good order."

Sets New Election Date
Governor Walton tonight issued a call for special election December 8 next on the initiative proposal which would empower the state legislature to convene itself to consider impeachment charges against the executive.

"If the majority of the people want to amend the constitution so as to enable Ku Klux Klan members of the legislature to impeach their governor and thereby remove all legal restraint on the lawlessness of the Klan, then I submit I don't want to be governor and will advise that we acknowledge the sovereignty of the emperor of the invisible empire." Governor Walton declared in a formal statement made public simultaneously with the call.

Preparations for the opening of polls in virtually all parts of Oklahoma moved apace tonight, as the hour for an election unprecedented in the history of the nation drew near.

Court action, sustained by the force of arms borne by citizens who volunteered for service under regular county authorities in several instances, carried forward the preparations for registering the will of the people as to whether the state legislature shall be empowered to meet to consider the official acts of Governor Walton without the sanction of the executive.

Governor's Course Opposed

Taking up the challenge of the governor that he would place 22,000 special state police at the polls tomorrow to prevent their opening, opponents of the executive staged a hasty campaign to override his perogative to stay the election, and with the authority of an official opinion from Attorney General Short, holding the governor without power to change the date of the election, they obtained from the state at large today an expression of sentiment on the part of citizens and officials that constituted a strong denial of the executive's course.

Sheriffs throughout most of the state augmented their forces by deputizing hundreds of citizens who offered their services, and tonight ballot boxes from one end of the state to the other were being guarded by men who had taken up arms by the authority upon which the governor had announced he would rely to block the election.

DISMISSED PROFESSOR ASKS COURT HEARING

Lincoln, Oct. 1.—Picturing Colonel T. J. Majors, 82, president of the state board of education in charge of normal schools, as an autocrat who dismissed him from his position as an instructor in the normal school at Peru without cause, Prof. J. Lawrence Eason today filed with the supreme court a brief asserting his right to be heard in that court.

Professor Eason asserts he cannot get a hearing before the board; that he has no remedy by injunction and that quo warranto proceedings is the proper legal remedy. He says Colonel Majors has ignored his letters of protest.

RUSSIA CAN'T AFFORD TO BREAK CONTRACTS

London, Oct. 1.—A Reuter dispatch from Moscow quotes Minister of War Trotsky as saying: "As long as private property exists in America, American interests in Russia will be respected and all engagements entered into with the soviets will be scrupulously kept. Any other action will be suicidal."

CATHOLIC BISHOP SAYS DRY LAW IS A FAILURE

Washington, Oct. 1.—The government is spending millions of dollars to enforce the prohibition law, "which everybody in his own heart knows is non-enforceable," Bishop Schrempf of Cleveland, told the National Council of Catholic Women.

CLASS HAS A FINE PROGRAM

From Wednesday's Daily—Last evening the members of the Young Men's Bible Class of the Methodist church held a very pleasant meeting at their rooms in the church basement that was attended by a large number of the members and their friends. The class was treated to very pleasing piano program by Miss Helen Ceder, one of the talented teachers of the city schools, who gave a varied program of the more popular and standard selections which were thoroughly enjoyed. George Brinklow, class president, who is now located in Wyoming, tendered his resignation and Henry Leacock was named as the new class president while Raymond G. Campbell was selected as the vice president of the class. The next important event of the class will be the banquet which will be held in the middle of November as far as the present plans are known.

RECOVER ANOTHER OF THE BODIES FROM WRECKAGE

Mrs. William McCarver, Tenth Victim of Louisvile Flood to be Recovered From Creek.

Yesterday afternoon the body of Mrs. William McCarver was recovered from Mill creek in Louisville where with the other occupants of the McCarver home she met her death Friday night in the flood that swept over that city.

The search has been going on each day for the three remaining bodies of the flood victims and yesterday a party of the citizens of Sarpy county were at Louisville assisting in the work and one of the party, Ernest Ruff, former county treasurer, was the discoverer of the body of Mrs. McCarver in the deep part of Mill creek where it was lodged in about a foot and a half of mud and Mr. Ruff, who was at the time wading in water up to his waist, discovered the body of the unfortunate woman.

With the assistance of the other searchers the body was brought to the creek bank and the funeral services were held at once as the body was in very bad shape after the several days of lodgement in the bottom of the creek.

Mrs. William McCarver was a long time resident of Louisville and prior to her first marriage was Miss Rose Pettit. She was the mother of Pearl and Pauline Brunkow, two little girls who were also victims of the catastrophe whose bodies were among the first recovered.

LUIS FIRPO NOT MARRIED

New York, Oct. 2.—Yes, the "wild bull of the Pampus," has no wife. Yes, Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine giant, who almost became heavyweight champion of the world, but didn't, has no intention of becoming an American citizen.

As soon as he saw in the newspaper today that he was entered on a naturalization blank yesterday when applying for his first American citizenship papers as "married," Luis telephoned the newspapers and explained that was a slip of the pen. His faithful interpreter had marked the blank correctly, but the stenographer was so thrilled in transcribing it that she made the senior the possessor of a senora.

Also, the interpreter explained Senior Firpo meant only to pay a courtesy to the American people by taking out citizenship papers, and he did not know the citizenship papers had to give up his Argentine citizenship. So Senior Firpo will remain an Argentinian, the interpreter says.

WILL UNDERGO TREATMENT

From Wednesday's Daily—Mrs. Val Burkel of this city is at the Immanuel hospital in Omaha where she will undergo an examination there by specialists relative to her health which has not been the best of late and may be compelled to remain there for some time.

TOLL OF FATAL ACCIDENTS DURING THE YEAR 1922

Buffalo, Oct. 2.—Accidents in the United States during 1922 exacted a toll of approximately 75,300 human lives, an increase of nearly 2,000 over the estimated number for the previous year, a committee report declared today at the national safety conference. The report credited the automobile with the largest entry in the annual accident mortality budget—14,000 for 1922, 18 per cent of all fatal accidents for that year.

A HAPPY OCCASION

From Wednesday's Daily—Mr. and Mrs. William Newland of this city are rejoicing in the arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Miller in Omaha of a fine baby girl who made her advent at the parental home last week. The mother and little one are doing nicely and Mr. Miller is feeling very happy over the addition to the family circle. Mrs. Miller is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newland.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CHARLES NORMAN'S LIBRARY

Billie Brownie had gone again to call on Charles Norman. Charles Norman was now about a year old—well, he was a little more than a year old, and strange as it may seem he was collecting books.

"I'm going to have a big library," he told Billie Brownie. "Of course, I won't bother about reading now, and then I'll have to be read to before I'll read to myself. At present I'm too busy with other matters."

"What other matters?" Billie Brownie inquired.

"Well, I'm interested in drinks of water and drinks of milk and rides in my carriage and in sweet sleep and sunshine and out-of-doors and my mother's society and my daddy's society and all such important things."

"My daddy takes care of me all the time he is home from the office. He loves to do that and I love it, too—well that takes up all that much time."

"And when my daddy is at his office my mother is constantly with me if I am not asleep on my sunny porch—and that takes up all that much time. Then they sit and look at me and chuckle with delight about me and I chuckle, too, so as to be polite. Really, I enjoy it hugely, too."

"They say I am decidedly boyish in my looks, which is fine, for I am a boy, of course."

"I have a small boy cousin, too. He is younger than I am, however. Yes, he is all of four weeks younger."

"Of course, I cry at times. Then my mother soothes me, but my daddy speaks to me sternly in a very manlike way. When I don't cry my daddy keeps calling me, 'You darling little thing,' over and over again.

"Some One Gave Me a Book."

"So that by way of variety and change and to have him say something else to me I cry once in a while. That's one of my reasons anyway. Another is that it is expected of me to cry just a little bit."

"But I don't cry much. It's a waste of time, and as I told you of all the other things I have to keep me busy you will realize that I haven't much time in which to cry."

"I was going to tell you about my library. Well, as I told you at one time, I have a number of beautiful garments—just quantities of clothes. If it were not that I am so busy and that a baby would be out of place keeping a store I really believe I'd set up a store and I'd have everything for customers with babies."

"But at the same time I don't need the money from a store for I've got a bank account. Don't you see, Billie Brownie, I've a bank account."

"And then some one gave me a book. Well, my mother showed it to me and I grinned and made little 'talky sounds,' she said, and she also told me I'd been especially good after receiving it. She said books made people contented and happy and pleased."

"And she said I thanked the one who sent me the book by sending a 'friendly and gummy grin, much fist waving and enthusiasm.' Yes, she said all this. I do love the way my mother expresses herself and talks. It's not just like every one else. It's always interesting."

"But I'll tell you, Billie Brownie, the book itself wasn't anything much. It gave my mother an idea, though, to start a library for me while I was young so I'd have quite a fine one when I grew up, and while growing up."

"So I have a library and quite a number of books now. And when the rainy days come and the evenings and when I'm a bigger boy I shall just have the best time in the world with my library."

"I shall read and read and read, but I'll tell you one thing, Billie Brownie, the pictures in the books won't come up to my mother's pictures, for oh, how she can draw! It's pretty fine to think of having some one who can really draw right in the family."

"Maybe there will be pictures by her in some of the books. Then the books will be perfect."

"But it is a good idea to start a library when one is only a baby. It gives one a good running start!"

"And now I must bid you a polite good-by, Billie Brownie, and do come and call on me again soon. My grandfather is coming to call on me now and I must give him my entire attention—he is very important and learned and I'm a wee bit afraid of his importance."

So Billie Brownie went off in the best of spirits for he had had a chat with his dear little friend, Charles Norman.

HAVELOCK SHOPS HAVE VERY SERIOUS EXPLOSION

Fourteen Injured of Whom Two Will Probably Die When Acetylene Conduit Explodes.

From Wednesday's Daily—Fourteen men were injured, two of them probably fatally, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Havelock shops of the Burlington railroad when the acetylene gas conduit exploded in the wrecking room of the locomotive shops.

The two men who will probably die as the result of their injuries are Gust Knuth, Lincoln; Joseph Barker, Bethany.

Others less seriously injured but many of whom had broken legs and arms, are: Henry Lehl, Lincoln; H. J. McCue, no address; James Towney, Spaulding; Erel Browning, Lincoln; Jack Bever, Bethany; Glen Price, Lincoln; Carl Babbit, LaGrange, Wyoming; William Cameron, Lincoln.

Four others with minor injuries that were cared for by the medical corps of the shops and removed to their homes were: E. L. Shadd, Lincoln; E. G. Conter, Havelock; W. G. Bluhm, Havelock; H. D. Schulz, Lincoln.

The acetylene conduit was laid under three steel plates, three-fourths of an inch thick. These plates burst with the force of the explosion and the flying pieces of the broken plates as well as other large sections of the wrecked locomotive material lying near the conduit were hurled over the room and caused the injuries to the workmen as they were struck with the objects hurled with the greatest of force. Knuth and Barker are thought to be suffering from fractured skulls.

The explosion occurred in the wrecking room of the locomotive shops where there are several hundred men employed in dismantling the locomotives and preparing them to be worked over and rebuilt.

FORMER RESIDENT HERE MARRIED IN NEB. CITY

From Wednesday's Daily—The marriage of Miss Gladys Goldin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Goldin, of Sixteenth street and Fifth avenue to Herman Kohrell, both of this city, was solemnized at Red Oak, Iowa, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Smith of the Methodist church of Red Oak officiated.

Both young people are well known in this city. Miss Goldin has been employed as saleswoman at Cleve-

REMINDER OF THANKSGIVING

From Wednesday's Daily—The windows of the office of the Nebraska Gas & Electric Co. are a vivid reminder of the fact that Thanksgiving day is fast drawing near and the thought of the Thanksgiving season is very attractively carried out in the window decorations. The coloring and design of the window is of this happy season of the year and also gives an opportunity of displaying the many articles sold by this agency of light and heat. The window is a real attraction and Manager C. J. Theisen and his office force are to be congratulated on their progressiveness in getting out this seasonable display.

After a trip of several weeks the young people will make their home in this city.—Nebraska City Press.

The Heart of the Home

SUN OIL HEATER

has been installed in thousands of homes—in various sizes and types of furnaces and stoves—and in every instance has given abundant heat with the constant regularity and dependability of the human heart. Like the heart it requires no conscious attention. Many users have informed us that they have gone for days without even going to the basement.

Simplicity—the keynote of the "Sun" success marks it head and shoulders above the expensive type of oil burners.

The "Sun" Oil Heater is the result of years of experimental work done by heating experts backed by unlimited resources.

Decide now—not to shovel coal and ashes another winter. Ask for the price of the "Sun." Its low cost will surprise you.
