

WHEAT TURNS INTO MONEY WITH VERY GREAT MOMENTUM

Wealth on the Ground is Moved in One Operation from Farms to Checking Accounts.

From Saturday's Daily.— General Superintendent Lyman of the Burlington's Nebraska district, who has just returned from a trip over the McCook division of the road, including inspection of the St. Francis branch says the spectacle of wheat harvesting to be seen in the vicinity of Blair City and McDonnell, Kas., is a sight to convert pessimists to optimism.

Mr. Lyman was out on that branch with President Hale Holden of the Burlington, Vice Presidents Bracken, Burnham and General Manager Flynn. They found that branch line operating under main line conditions, with several stations loading eight and ten cars a day, and wheat trains coming out in flocks.

"Out there we saw many harvesting and threshing rigs in action," said Mr. Lyman. "They have machines that head the wheat, run it thru a threshing and drop the grain ready for market into a wagon. A big tractor hauls the machine along. A frame work holds a farm wagon in its grip and the grain runs from the wheat stalk thru the machine and into the wagon, ready to be hauled to the elevator. When the wagon is filled the frame work is raised, an empty wagon is run in and the loaded wagon is hauled away to the elevator by a team. It certainly is an interesting operation that transforms the wheat in the field to a bank account in less than a day. Two men only are required to manage that machine. It goes a long way toward solving the labor problem."

The yield out that way is just as much of a surprise as it is in eastern Nebraska and the berry is weighing from 60 to 64 pounds. It is of high quality and was bringing from $1.06 to $1.10 at the elevator. At Cowles, in Webster county, this state, the elevator was paying $1.16 Thursday for new wheat.

"And corn," says Mr. Lyman, "is not a day more than seven days behind schedule and is making up lost time at a wonderful rate. To me the corn plant is the most wonderful farm product. It will stand more punishment without losing out, and when given a chance will come ahead more rapidly and make up for more lost time than any other farm plant. The corn prospect is really wonderful at this time and it begins to look like the wheat crop will take second place in competition with the corn crop after all."

"Some of our grain speculators were slightly delayed Thursday," said Mr. Lyman, "by a washout near Herndon, where we lost about a thousand feet of railroad. That however, was quickly repaired and the wheat movement resumed. Thursday we loaded 489 cars of wheat on the Nebraska district."

The Chicago officers of the road have returned to the lines east, highly pleased at what they saw in Nebraska. The farmers along their lines were no better pleased at the bulge in the wheat market that started wheat to moving, that increased the farmers' returns, and is aiding in bringing business back to a normal level than they.

REPAIRING ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

From Thursday's Daily.— The St. Luke's Episcopal church, one of the oldest buildings in the city, is being repaired in first class shape by a new roof and other minor repairs that have been needed for some time.

This church was originally erected in 1867 and is the oldest house of worship in the county as far as can be learned and to many of the residents of the city the church has a tender association as members of some of the older families have had their christenings, marriages and funerals held here in the years that have passed by since it was first erected as one of the pioneer churches of the new state of Nebraska. In the history of the church many able men have labored here in the cause of the Master and the long service of Canon H. E. Burgess in the church here has occupied a greater part of the church history. The present pastor is Canon Wilbur S. Leete, who has been very successful in his charge here and brought the church to a very high state of activity in the community.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

From Saturday's Daily.— During the interludes of the trial of the case of Stewart vs. Quinton et al., yesterday in the district court Judge Stauffer found time to take up a number of other matters that demanded attention and among these was the divorce case of Campbell vs. Campbell, in which William Campbell is seeking a decree of divorce. The defendant filed a cross petition of divorce and also a motion for alimony, suit money and attorney fees. The motion was heard and passed upon but the issues in the case not decided. The court gave the defendant temporary alimony in the sum of $20 per month, $20 suit money and $25 for attorney fees. The hearing on the petition for divorce will come up later.

SUFFERS SEVERE INJURY

From Thursday's Daily.— While Herman Luetehens of near McDevick was assisting in the haying at the farm of August Wendt, a neighbor, several days ago, he was the victim of a very severe accident that has resulted in his being in a semi-conscious condition since the accident. At the time of the accident, Mr. Luetehens was engaged in assisting in getting the hay into one of the barns and there was a large stone attached to the wire that was used in hitting the hay and which served to bring the hay fork back for re-loading. When the fork came back, Mr. Luetehens was standing in the road and was struck on the head by the stone and knocked down and for some time it was feared he had been fatally injured, as he was unconscious and apparently suffered a slight concussion of the brain. The injured man was taken to the Wendt home and has since been there and has only partially regained consciousness at this time and has caused the greatest apprehension to the attending physicians. It is thought that his condition shows some slight improvement but he is still in serious shape.

MOVES TO NEW HOME

From Thursday's Daily.— Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vallery who have been living in the vicinity of Maynard for some time, have moved nearer the city and are now located at Willowview, the former country home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Will, north of the city on the federal highway and which will prove an ideal home as it is strictly modern and located in a very attractive spot on the hills overlooking the Platte river valley and just a few moments ride from the business section of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Vallery, to make their home complete, will also have the Evening Journal with them as they enrolled yesterday for the paper that they will receive each day at the new home.

FORD TO MAKE 500 A DAY IN MANXLAND

Henry Ford has invaded the land of Hall Caine and Charles L. Kelly. Mr. Kelly is in receipt of a newspaper published at Douglas, capital of the Isle of Man, which says that 500 Ford's a day for English consumption; that workmen are to be paid 3 shillings an hour, equivalent to 72 cents in American money. There is much discussion of the factory which will be one of the big industrial enterprises of the island, a dot in the sea between England and Ireland.—Nebraska City Press.

DAVIS BACKS BRYAN'S ACTION ON MOBILIZATION DAY

Democratic Nominee Approves Views Of Running Mate on Defense Day Stand.

New York, July 31.—Approval of the views expressed by his running mate, Governor Bryan of Nebraska, regarding the administration plan for national Defense day, September 12, was given today by John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, within a hour after he had returned from his vacation in Maine.

Denying that Mr. Bryan's stand against a "civilian mobilization" had caused him any embarrassment, Mr. Davis declared in a formal statement that at this time "every energy should be bent to getting the world back to peace and work, calming the prejudices and passions growing out of the World war and encouraging peaceful trade and commerce."

Mr. Davis' first day after his vacation was a very busy one. He first conferred with his campaign manager, Clem L. Shaver, after which announcement was made of the personnel of part of the campaign organization.

Text of Statement Informing himself regarding the Defense day matter, the candidate dictated this statement: "Since my return from the state of Maine I have taken the occasion to inform myself fully concerning the views expressed by the governor of Nebraska in regard to 'Mobilization Day.'"

"I am surprised at the statements which I see in the press to the effect that I am in disagreement with him or that his action has in any way proven an embarrassment to me. On the contrary, I think that the view expressed by the governor of Nebraska to the effect that there is no necessity at this time to encourage civilians to leave their occupations for the purpose of engaging in a military demonstration without any practical educational effects, is entirely sound. "It is one thing to keep the military organization of the country in adequate practice; it is quite another to encourage demonstrations, which can be nothing else, at a time when every energy should be bent to getting the world back to peace and to work, calming the prejudices and passions growing out of the World war, and encouraging fruitful trade and commerce. In all these America should take the lead."

Not a Pacifist At Davis' headquarters, it was stated officially that his statement was not to be construed as that of a pacifist.

"I believe in military preparation," Mr. Davis said. Besides going over campaign organization plans, the nominee conferred with a number of party leaders. He expects to see Governor Smith of New York before the end of the week to personally urge him to become a candidate to succeed himself.

PLEAS GUILTY TO STEALING HARNESS

From Saturday's Daily.— This morning in county court before Judge Allen J. Beeson, Mathias Marvin, who was apprehended a few days ago at Eagle in possession of a team of horses alleged to have been stolen from Bennington as well as a set of harness belonging to Ray Becker of near Union, was arraigned for pleading before the court. The prisoner entered a plea of guilty to the charge preferred by County Attorney J. A. Capwell, that of stealing the set of harness from the barn of Mr. Becker. The court, after hearing the plea, bound the prisoner over to the district court for trial and in failure to provide bond he was remanded to the custody of Sheriff E. P. Stewart.

The charge of stealing the horses in Douglas county remains against the prisoner and he probably will have to face it after getting through with the Cass county sentence.

HERE'S CHANCE TO GET A TON OF COAL FOR WINTER FREE

Tidball Co. Has a Chunk of Coal For Guessing Purposes That is a Real Black Diamond.

The vicinity of the office of the J. L. Tidball Co. at Seventh and Pearl streets has been the attraction for a large number of visitors in the last two days, drawn there by the huge black diamond that is being shown on the platform at the front of the office building.

This exhibit is a chunk of Wadge coal from the mines in Routt county, Colorado, and is one of the largest, if not the largest, single piece of coal that has been brought here in years and is attracting a great deal of attention.

The Tidball Co. is conducting a guessing contest on the weight of the large piece of coal and all who desire can make their guess free of cost by calling at the office of the Messrs. Tidball and all who make a guess have a chance of getting a ton of coal free of all cost to them.

While the contest is just getting started there are already many who have made their guesses and those who have not should get busy and take a shot at the big prize that is offered and which will help in the heating of their homes this winter. Incidentally the lump of coal is not only large but good all the way through and is a real advertisement of the Routt county coal.

The ticket containing the exact weight of the coal has been sealed and placed in the custody of the Plattsmouth State bank where it will remain until the date for the rewarding of the prize.
