

SCHOOL DAYS NEAR FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF THIS CITY

This City Will Be Well Represented at Various Educational Institutions Coming Year.

From Saturday's Daily— The closing days of August are proving important ones to a large number of the young men and women of this city, as they are bringing the work of arranging for the departure from their homes for the year's work in the higher educational institutions over the country and it is pleasing to note that a very large number are able to carry on their studies at the larger schools and colleges and complete themselves for the battle of life.

A number of those who have been attending school the past year will continue their work in the colleges and universities and among these are the following: Raymond Bookmeyer, Pittsburg; Carl Schneider, Hastings college; John Wurga, Creighton college; Mason Wescott, Northwestern; Frank Gradoville, Charles Eggonberger, Dean Douglas, Howard and Harry Dwyer, Otto Trilley, Joe Weber, Verla Becker, Alice Pollock, Marie Hunter, all at the University of Nebraska, one of the leading educational institutions in the west; Charles Hartford, Iowa State college at Ames; Virginia Heason, University of Southern California at Los Angeles; Helen Wiles and Murna Wolf at Wesleyan; Claire Hudson, Still School, Kirksville, Mo.; Clara Mae Morgan, University of Omaha; Mary Tidball, Doane college; Mary Wetenkamp, University of Omaha; Ursula Herold, Cathedral school, Washington, D. C.

The young people who are taking their first year at the higher schools are: Alice Louise Wescott, Northwestern; Ruth Shannon, Cotty college, Nevada, Mo.; Helen and Edith Farley, Hastings college; Helen Pfoutz, Jennings college; Virginia Heason, University of Southern California; Stewart Chase, University of Nebraska; Hazel Clusy, University of Omaha; Esther Olson, Park college, Parkville, Mo.; Sarah Rector, Boyles college, Omaha; George Schmidtman, University of Nebraska.

This array of the fine young people who have been graduated from the local school and who are taking on their more advanced work certainly speaks well for this city and its excellent schools.

AN INCIDENT OF OLD ROCK BLUFFS

Frank of the Residents There on Late Judge Ramsey Recalled at Reunion Meeting.

The reunion of former residents of the once prominent town of Rock Bluffs at the old settlers' picnic near Union Friday and Saturday of last week, recalls an amusing anecdote which the Plattsmouth News told about the old village twenty years ago.

In 1872 Rock Bluffs was one of the most important towns in Cass county. It was the seat of the two best schools there—the public school and the Naomii Institute. B. S. Ramsey was principal of the former and Prof. Joseph D. Patterson was superintendent of the latter.

The most prominent citizens then were Patterson, Walker and Joseph Shera, general merchandise and grain Dr. Reed, the leading physician, later of Peru; Henry Craig, the leading carpenter; Henry Clopper, the principal boot and shoe maker; Azro Smith, who made a specialty of gardening; W. W. Graves, who manufactured brick and brickwork; and "Bill" Jones, who dealt largely in horses.

Nearly every church denomination was represented. The people of Rock Bluffs were noted for their hospitality and were particularly fond of religiously observing the custom of Halloween.

Halloween, 1872, was a memorable one for the town and more particularly for Ramsey, the schoolmaster. When he went to the school house the morning after the night of pranks, he was unable to believe his eyes. A horse was on the desk as a teacher, straw and forage were strewn over the floor and the walls were washed with a bad smelling chemical. Everything was in disorder.

Ramsey was furious. He went home to his sister and told her about the pranks. But he would not find out who had played the trick. His sister advised him to curb his wrath and keep mum about the matter. Ramsey did. He grabbed a broom, a shovel and unconsciously humming to himself the old familiar tune, "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow," proceeded to repair all the damage done.

"To the old school house That Halloween night; By Stafford's old horse, The school board, Doctor and Ike."

It came to light in 1901 that those who perpetrated the mischief were members of the school board and other leading citizens of the town. The horse they used was an animal about forty years old, belonging to a citizen named Stafford.—Nebraska City News.

From Saturday's Daily— Yesterday, Mrs. R. A. Bates was hostess to a very pleasant 1 o'clock luncheon given in honor of a number of friends from Omaha who were here for the day and the occasion was one that was thoroughly enjoyed by the ladies in attendance.

Following the luncheon the ladies spent the time in visiting and a general social time until the return of the Omaha members of the party to the metropolis. The invited guests were: Mesdames V. Zueker, William Racine, M. Fanger, R. M. Shales, W. D. Smith and daughter, Klina, Orkin, all of Omaha, W. E. Rosencrans, Waldemar Soenichsen, C. A. Rosencrans, George F. BASEBALL TOURNAMENT SUGGESTED FOR THIS CITY SOON

Excellent Showing of the Plattsmouth Team Causes Fans to Wish For Big Meet.

From Saturday's Daily—

Now that the baseball season of 1924 is on its last legs and ere long the kings of swat will have faded from the landscape to be replaced by the knights of the pigskin, the fans have awakened the thought of having a fitting final to the season in a real baseball tournament.

The Plattsmouth team this year is one of the best that has worn a Plattsmouth uniform in the past twenty years and their showing against some of the best teams in the eastern part of Nebraska has certainly been one of the revelations of the season and they will make worthy opponents of any teams that can be brought here.

The holding of a tournament will be a worthy compliment to the Plattsmouth team and the opportunity for the fans to see some real ball games here at the close of the season. The project will require some financial support but the cost to each of the fans would not be great to get the tournament started and the receipts from the games should make the affair a financial success and give everyone a chance to enjoy the games at a small cost.

There are a number of teams here that could well stage a very successful four or eight team tournament and be one of the real events in baseballdom of this part of the state.

Of the teams available here is a chance to get some of the best. Nebraska City, Louisville, Springfield, Glenwood, Millard, Bellevue, Union, Greenwood and Ashland are some of the teams in this vicinity that would be good timber for the tournament and the addition of Auburn and Falls City could be included as they are strong teams.

The previous tournaments held here have been great successes and there is no reason why one this year should not be equally a winner. The fans and boosters of the local team should give the matter thought and see that the suggestion is brought to a realization this fall.

AVIATOR HAS TROUBLES

From Saturday's Daily— Andy Nielsen, time minister and later aviator, and who was here at Plattsmouth at different times staging air excursions, is having a great deal of trouble in getting his matrimonial affairs settled and his perils in his married life have been far greater than those he encountered in the air when he was flitting around with the planes and stars. The first episode of his troubles was when the wife sued him for divorce and the other complications have since followed.

She was awarded a decree March 2, 1923, with custody of their two children. He was ordered to pay $600 at the rate of $25 a month and also alimony of $75 a month. On August 2, 1924, she says he is in arrears to the extent of $1,983.60. She says he refuses to make payments and is contemptuous and insulting in his attitude toward the court.

The last chapter has been in requesting the court to have the birdman caged because of his failure to come through with the necessary alimony.

LOCATING IN PLATTSMOUTH

From Saturday's Daily— Charles Nelson, well known over the local portion of Cass county as "The Red Ball Medicine Man," and who makes a specialty of handling medicine for the relief of suffering mankind, has decided that he will in the future be a resident of this city and accordingly this week moved from his home at Nehawka to this city where he is now located and from where he will conduct his activities. Mr. Nelson is well pleased with the city and believes he has hit the ideal home town of the state to reside in.

SOME POTATOES

From Saturday's Daily— The champion all around freak potato of the crop of 1924 was brot to the Journal office today by John McNurlin, who secured the uber from the farm of W. H. Seybert, northwest of this city. The potato was of large size and has growing from the parent potato twice as large as potatoes, some of which are almost as large as the parent tuber. The combination potato weighs two and three eighths pounds and it is a real curiosity.

Hillard Grassman and wife departed this morning for Omaha where they will spend the day with relatives and where Mr. Grassman will have some dental work looked after.

Karl Roessler of Chicago will arrive tomorrow morning to enjoy a visit here at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Roessler and family and to meet the many old time friends here.

FIRST BAND CONCERT OF SEASON HELD LAST NIGHT

Eagles Band Gives Opening Offering of the Season at Court House Lawn Last Night.

From Thursday's Daily—

The first of the series of open air concerts for the late summer season held under the auspices of the city and given by the Eagles band, was held last night at the lawn on the south side of the Cass county court house and despite the fact that the opening concert had been hurriedly organized and arranged, quite a large number were present.

The concert had only one really disagreeable feature—the Restless Motorist, who was not sure whether he wanted to stay and hear the concert and proved a disturbing factor to a considerable extent, keeping many of the spectators from hearing the music in a really enjoyable manner as the noise detracted from the music, but this is something that is hard to escape so long as the concerts are held adjacent to a street on which traffic is permitted.

The program was well arranged and selected and served to entertain all classes of music lovers and offered the always popular selections, "In a Woodland Glade" and the number from "Torquato Tasso," as well as a late Fox trot, "Linger Longer."

The committee in charge of the concerts and the Nebraska Gas and Electric company did some hurry up work yesterday afternoon in getting the lights strung for the use of the band and it is expected to stage the concerts at the court house in the future on Wednesday evenings as this seems a more convenient point.

Many of the citizens have suggested that there should be a more effective method of curbing the activities of the children during the concerts as the noise was so loud last night as to be a real annoyance not only to those who wished to enjoy the music, but to the band members themselves. It has also been suggested that a part of the streets be roped off so as to eliminate the noise of traffic.

RETURN FROM ASSEMBLY

From Thursday's Daily— Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wiles and daughter, Mary Catherine, and Miss Marguerite Wiles, who has been in attendance at the Epworth Assembly at Lincoln for the past ten days have returned home. This year the assembly management had 100 cottages at their disposal near the lake on the assembly grounds and the Wiles family were fortunate in securing one of these fine cottages during their stay at the park. This year's program was exceptionally strong in the speaking line, with Bishop Nicholson and Bishop Keeney as the speakers and including also speakers from the India and China mission fields and a very attractive musical program, including the Russian Cathedral quartet and many other high class acts.

RETURN FROM A TRIP THROUGH EAST COUNTRY

County Treasurer Miss Mia Gering, Miss Barbara Gering and Mrs. Henry Herold Back Home.

From Thursday's Daily—

Returning from a trip that embraced a great deal of the eastern part of the United States, Miss Mia U. Gering, county treasurer, is back at her official duties again, having returned yesterday with her sisters, Mrs. Henry Herold and Miss Barbara Gering, from their very pleasant outing.

This trip is one that the ladies will never forget as it touched the most attractive cities and the scenes of natural beauty in the New England and Canadian country and during which delightful outing they were the guests of their cousin, G. A. Pfiffer, wealthy manufacturer of New York.

On the way east the ladies stopped for a time at Washington and looked over the many points of interest of the national capital and from there they departed for New York City where they spent some time with their relatives, including Matthew Herold, now one of the attorneys in the well known firm of Baldwin, Hutchins & Todd, which firm represents some of the largest interests in the east and in which Mr. Herold has been very successful in his work.

From the nation's metropolis the party journeyed to Boston and thence by rail to Quebec and Montreal. Here they found a real old world atmosphere as of the 115,000 residents of Quebec, 100,000 are French or of French descent and in both of the cities the French language is used to a large extent and with it the customs and manners of the old world prevail. From Montreal the ladies took a boat trip down the St. Lawrence river to the city of Toronto and also visited one of the wonders of the continent, Niagara Falls. From there they took boat trips to Cleveland and Detroit and at Cleveland they were guests of Mrs. Clara Dovey Brown and family. At Cleveland they were at the home of Mrs. A. J. Miller of this city, who is enjoying his summer wanderlust in the scenes of the eastern country.

The party returned via Chicago where they enjoyed a short stop and viewed the points of interest there. One incident of the trip shows that the world is small as when the three ladies and Matthew Herold were walking along Broadway in New York City they met Frank A. J. Miller of this city, who is enjoying his summer wanderlust in the scenes of the eastern country.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Brown of St. Paul are here enjoying a visit at the home of Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Adams, Mr. Brown is principal of the high school at St. Paul.

Mrs. Roy Eberly and little babe departed this morning for Lincoln where they will enjoy a visit at the home of a sister of Mrs. Eberly.

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Plattsmouth Citizen Who Has Been Through the Mill

Is your back lame and painful? Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region? These symptoms suggest weak kidneys.

Doan's Pills are for weak kidneys. Your neighbors use and recommend them. Ask your neighbor!

Read this Plattsmouth testimony. G. T. Archer, formerly a painter, now proprietor of the soft drink parlor at the corner of Sixth and Main streets, says: "As a rule all painters are bothered with disordered kidneys because of the fumes of the turpentine that felt like needles. I have always found Doan's Pills a reliable kidney medicine. A few have always given relief and kept my kidneys in good and active condition. I wouldn't be without Doan's Pills."

FUNERAL OF HARRY KUHNEY HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Services at the Late Home Are Very Largely Attended by the Old Friends and Neighbors.

From Wednesday's Daily—

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock was held the funeral services of the late Harry H. Kuhney, old time resident of Plattsmouth, and a very large number of the old friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last tributes to his memory at the home on North Fourth street.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Frank Emory Pfoutz, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and the remarks of the pastor bringing comfort to the grieving hearts of the members of the family, were particularly chosen as to the sudden calling of this old resident. "The Son of Man cometh in an hour when you think not," and reflected the thought of the certainty of death and the uncertainty of life in this earthly career.

During the services, Mrs. E. H. Wescott sang two numbers which had been requested by the members of the family, "Abide With Me" and "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me."

There was a wealth of floral remembrances at the home and at the grave in Oak Hill cemetery and at the conclusion of the funeral service the home the body was tenderly borne to the last resting place in the city of the silent where with the falling rays of the dying sun speaking a silent benediction, it was laid to the last long sleep. The pallbearers were selected from the members of the barbers' organization and the M. W. A. to which Mr. Kuhney had been a member, being: Ward Clark, Edward Fullerton, Charles E. Martin, Henry F. Goos, V. T. Arn and William Hassler.

BAD THRESHING MACHINE ACCIDENT

Jay Roberts and Vic Sowards Pinned Between Engine and Separator Receives Painful Injuries.

Tuesday morning, while Jay Roberts, Vic Sowards and George Wallinger were moving a threshing outfit, Mr. Roberts and Mr. Sowards were pinned between the engine and separator and received painful injuries. Mr. Roberts being confined to his home and bed as a result of his injuries.

In the afternoon the writer and wife drove out to their homes to get the details. Mr. Sowards was not at home but we found Mr. Roberts in bed and suffering intense pain. When asked how it all happened he told us in substance that he and the two other men were moving the threshing outfit along the highway near the old John King farm, northeast of Ashland, when they came to a bridge and as the front wheels of the engine went onto the bridge the bank gave way. The engine was stopped and after looking over the situation they decided not to try to pull the separator across with the engine. It was necessary to jack up the engine to get enough slack to uncouple. The approach to the bridge was uphill and before releasing the separator the rear wheels were blocked and also the drivers of the engine. The separator being uncoupled and the blocking done, Mr. Roberts went to the engine to tie to start the engine to pull across. What then happened came so quickly that he is not very clear about it.

He might have left the engine in reverse or the wheel blocking gave way—anyhow the engine went backward into the separator and both he and Mr. Sowards were pinned between the two pieces of machinery. Mr. Roberts received painful cuts and bruises about his right leg and he was unable to move it when we were at his home. He was also suffering intense pain in his stomach. Mr. Sowards received painful bruises about his right leg also, but he remained up and around during the rest of the day. Mr. Wallinger was
