

REPUBLICANS HAVE INTERESTING MEET TUESDAY EVENING

Former Senator Berkett and R. H. Thorpe Wind Up Campaign Here With Rally.

From Wednesday's Daily—
Last evening the tour of Cass county made by Former Senator Elmer J. Berkett of Lincoln and R. H. Thorpe, candidate on the republican ticket for congress, was closed in this city with a meeting at the district court room which was attended by a very pleasing number of the voters to enjoy the occasion.

The meeting was presided over by Attorney C. A. Rawls who introduced the speakers of the evening in his usual pleasing manner.

This is the first visit here of Mr. Berkett in a number of years and he enjoyed meeting a number his old friends while here and which was a pleasant reminder of the time when he served as the congressman from this district.

Mr. Berkett in his address spoke at some length of his recent trip to Europe and compared the conditions there with those in the United States and which were most favorable in our country as to general conditions and especially to the laboring and farm classes. He also touched on the tariff at some length and defended the protective tariff system, which is one of the cardinal principles of the republican party and the continuance of which he urged as necessary for the welfare of the country.

The speaker also touched on the attacks made on the courts by the candidates of the third party in the present campaign and deplored the movement that would attack the safeguards of the court and its protection to the people of the country. He also showed the large number of cases passed upon by the supreme court and the laws which had been sustained by the court.

R. H. Thorpe, candidate for congress, was present but gave only a short address as he was worn out with the trip and the large number of speeches that he had made in the course of the day over the country.

The trip had been arranged and managed by J. A. Gardner of the Eagle Beacon, the chairman of the republican congressional committee, who came on to this city with the members of the party.

ENJOYS VISIT HERE

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Manners of University Place, parents of Charles Manners, and Mr. and Mrs. George Darlington, of Lincoln, the latter a sister of Mr. Manners were here this week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Manners and G. H. Manners and enjoyed very much the opportunity of visiting here with the relatives and old time friends and acquaintances. The guests have returned to their home in the capital city.

COUNTY SCHOOL RECOGNIZED

From Wednesday's Daily—
The residents of the Fairview school district in Eight Mile Grove precinct, are feeling quite well pleased over the excellent manner in which their school has been conducted in the past few years and they are amply justified in this feeling as the school is one of the best in the rural districts and the pupils show their training.

This year at the county fair the Fairview school had a float showing the country school, the backbone and hope of the nation, and their showing was a model school that was educating the men and women of tomorrow and attracted the attention of all of the visitors to the fair.

The float was awarded the first prize of $10, and it was well deserved as the work showed real effort and was an inspiration to the school work exhibits.

This school is presided over by Miss Myrtle Fleischman of Louisville, as the teacher, and the teacher in her work has the support of a fine school board composed of P. A. Horn, John Rohrdanz, and Ray Mayfield. The pride of the community in their educational institutions is one thing that is to be commended and the residents of this district are constantly boosting for the success of the school.

ENJOYS FINE PICNIC.

From Wednesday's Daily—

Late yesterday afternoon the members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a most delightful picnic and outing in the vicinity of the Burlington bridge and which was attended by some forty-five members of the society.

The jolly party was conveyed to the festivities in cars and for several hours enjoyed the glorious autumn afternoon and early evening. The waffles were roasted over the glowing coals of the open campfire and toasted marshmallows were also a part of the menu of the members of the party and with the other dainties provided made the menu a most toothsome picnic supper.

The points of interest in the vicinity were visited and served to help pass the time while the indoor baseball games were staged also to make a diversion for the members of the society and their friends.

IS FOR DAVIS

A few days ago some of the democratic friends of Searl S. Davis, who has in the past been a strong upholder of the republican faith, eye even of the present administration, decided that they would try and capture the goat of the president of the chamber of commerce and accordingly while he was absent from his office they entered his car parked near the office and placed on the rear window of the sedan a Davis and Bryan sticker and which Mr. Davis left there for several hours or until his attention was called to it, when as a true follower of "Silent Cal" he hastily removed the flaming beacon of democracy.

This morning Mr. Davis was approached by a representative of the Journal and asked as to whether this was a joke or a real conversion to the teachings of the great democratic party which had come to Searl as a beam of great white light. Mr. Davis stated that it was partly true, he is for Davis—but, Troy L. Davis of Weeping Water, his brother, who is running for representative, and not John W. Davis, the candidate for president.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

The old time friends in Platts-mouth of the C. W. Green family will be pleased to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Green, who are both far along the pathway of life's journey celebrated their sixty-third wedding anniversary on Monday afternoon at their home at 1425 Q street, Lincoln.

C. W. Green and Miss Rachael M.

Wilcox were married October 13, 1861, at Allensville, Ohio, and have for forty-six years of their wedded life been residents of Nebraska, the greater part of the time being spent in Platts-mouth where Mr. Green was for many years an employe of the Burlington in the shops here.

Mr. Green has now reached the ripe old age of ninety-two years and Mrs. Green is now eighty-five. The birthday anniversary of Mr. Green will be celebrated on October 24th.

During their residence here, Mr. and Mrs. Green were strong workers in the Methodist church and have served well and faithfully the tasks allotted them in carrying the message of the Master to their fellow-man.

This estimable couple have their four children to assist them in the celebration of the happy anniversary they being, Mrs. Jessie Prentice, University Place; Miss Clara Belle Green at home; Frank E. Green of the Lincoln Daily Star, and Harry E. Green.

SECRET OF POPULARITY

The extreme popularity of Dr. R. P. Westover in the race for sheriff of Roarin' Gulch, which swept all opponents off their feet, has been explained and shows a political move that surpasses any of Mark Hanna or the late Harry Daugherty in their palmist days. The new sheriff, who practices medicine as well as plays golf, has in the windows of his office on North Fifth street a display of the pictures of the various presidential candidates which embraces all of the notables, Bryan and Davis, Coolidge and Dawes, La Follette and Wheeler and Andy Gump

Heading Up—Going Strong!

THAT'S NEBRASKA'S FARMERS!

That's Nebraska today, too, for when the farmers prosper, all the State is better off!

Returns from grain, livestock and dairying this year will total more than three quarters of a billion dollars—a gain of more than $250,000,000 over 1923 returns, reports indicate.

Wheat, corn, hay, cattle, hogs, sheep—these all show big advances for 1924.

We congratulate the farmers of the State upon the rewards they have earned—earned in every sense of the word.

We are proud to have the friendship and confidence of many of the farmers of this community. Real co-operation and helpfulness, such as won and holds their business, is our offer to you, also.
