Dr. Chas. Parrish, Veterinarian, Elmwood, Nebraska. Call day phone, 7, night, 58.

Frank Daugherty was in attendance at the K. P. district convention at Hickman last week.

Bert Kitzel was looking after some business matters in Lincoln on Tuesday of last week, driving over in his auto.

Carl Price of the Standard Oil Co. of Omaha, was a visitor in Alvo last Wednesday, delivering gas to the Dinges Garage.

Uncle Henry J. Miller was assisting in unloading a car of lumber last Wednesday for John W. Banning the lumber man.

Simon Johnson and wife were visiting in Lincoln yesterday, driving over in their car to see friends and also to look after some shopping as well.

Lee Hill, the owner of the east elevator, was a visitor at his home in Lincoln last Wednesday evening, driving over in his auto.

Mrs. Will Simpson, wife of the late barber, with the little son moved to Elmwood where they will make their home in the future.

Samuel Humphrey was a visitor in Lincoln a number of times during the past week, he having come from there and also for the merchants as well as for himself.

Henry J. Miller and wife were visiting in Lincoln on Sunday, driving over to see their daughter, Mrs. Battle Bear, who was injured some time ago in an auto accident.

Miss Mildred Demmitt, who has been one of the teachers of the school at Alvo, has resigned and the place has been supplied by the hiring of H. R. Tutley, who comes from Lincoln.

C. E. Edwards, who was selected as one of the jurors for the present term of court, was excused for a few days last week on account of there being cases on which required no jury.

Miss Wolfe, who has been here some time on account of the death of her husband, returned to her home in Ashland one day last week, where she will make her home for the present.

Joe Armstrong is one that is pleased with the ending of the war which has been on in the price of gasoline, for the difference in prices could not have but work a disadvantage to all dealers.

The Rev. C. A. Nerlin, pastor of the Methodist church of Alvo, has been assisting at the revival meetings which are in progress at the Methodist church at Ceresco, where the Rev. Abrenide former pastor of the Alvo church is ministering this year.

Miss John Wood, who was at the hospital some time since and underwent an operation for appendicitis, has been home for several days and is reported as not feeling quite so well during the past week. Her many friends are wishing that she may soon be well again.

William and Oscar Kitzel both completed the picking of their corn last week and were well satisfied with the returns for this year when no one could expect a very large return to their farming. However, Will Kitzel says his corn would average about 25 bushels the acre.

Simon Reimayer was a visitor in Omaha last Wednesday where he was in attendance at the Grain Dealers convention and also was looking after some business matters as well. While he was away the business was being looked after by Will H. Warner who is a most dependable gentleman.

Arthur Dinges has installed, during the past week, radio receiving sets at the homes of E. M. Stone, W. J. Althouse and W. L. Coppel, these homes are all well satisfied with the new acquisition, and why not as they are able to get anything and anywhere in the country with their new machines.

P. J. Lynch, who has been a real-estate man in this neighborhood, and who holds the honor and respect of all in this community, has been elevated by Lee Hill to manage the elevator at Alvo. With two excellent men running the elevators in Alvo it looks like there would be excellent treatment for everybody.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church, on last Sunday, had a speaker here, who spoke in behalf of the work which this society is doing, and was listened to by a large number of the members of the church. Following the exercises a dinner was served in the basement for the members and their families and a most enjoyable time was had.

Mrs. Frank Cox, living a few miles northwest of Nebraska, while in the yard looking after her chickens stepped on a cob, which rolled under her foot, and caused her to sustain a very severe fall, which caused her most severe fall, which caused her to be kept from using it since. She is, however, getting along nicely at this time, and hopes soon to be well again.

John Elliott and W. W. Costman, who are neighbors, both completed their Thanksgiving the same day, last Wednesday, and are pretty glad that they were able to get the grain in the crib during the fine weather. Will says they make good elevators for farm use for he has used one for seventeen years and it is still good, and that he thinks it will last another seventeen years.

W. W. Costman and wife and two daughters, Misses Ethel and Perle, were visiting for a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Gallner, the wife being a sister of Mr. Costman. They enjoyed a most pleasant visit while there remaining for a couple of days. Mr. Costman says Grand Island, where they visited, is a wonderful place and every time he goes it gets bigger and bigger.

She was ill two weeks before the gravity of her condition became known outside White Oaks, the suburbium and county estate of the Sawyers.

Then on the morning of November 3, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, after a consultation with Dr. J. C. Wood, Cleveland abdominal specialist, issued a bulletin describing her condition as "alarms."

Immediately messages of sympathy and hope for a rapid recovery began pouring in from all parts of the county.

The nation, which so admired the fortitude with which Mrs. Harding bore up under the many dramatic chapters in her career as first lady of the land, was quick to send word of good cheer to her bedside.

Probably no other woman in the history of American national life ever held so securely the admiration of the country as did Mrs. Harding.

Reports of her last illness drew almost the same universal interest as those during the attack which she suffered two years ago in Washington.

Behind the tragedy of her death is the story of a brave but losing fight against the malady, which, the most skillful attention, had reappeared in violent form at critical times in Mrs. Harding's life for the last twenty years.

Her first appearance in serious form interrupted for a time the Myrtle business partnership, which the Hardings had formed on the Marion Star.

Las evening C. C. Westcott, president of the Plattsmouth AD club, was at Auburn where he was one of the speakers at the monthly meeting of the Kiwanis club of that city.

The occasion was the entertaining by the Auburn club of the Hi-Y boys of Auburn and the young people were very enthusiastic especially at the result of the football game that had given them victory over the Falls City team. The event was largely attended and the address of Mr. Westcott was very much enjoyed by the large number in attendance at the event.

Miss Maud Sherry was a visitor in Omaha today where she will spend the day looking after some matters of business.

The epidemic of hiccoughs which has visited several communities over the western country seems to have struck this city as one or two cases of the hiccoughs are reported here in different parts of the city. The malady seems to last over several days and some cases grow quite serious as well as annoying to the patient. The cases here are not of the serious type, however, but those who have attacks of the hiccoughs without any apparent cause had better get under the protecting care of a physician as soon as possible.

Miss Maud Sherry was a visitor in Omaha today where she will spend the day looking after some matters of business.

Many Attended the Convention. Many of the members of the Knights of Pythias of Alvo were in attendance at the District meeting of the lodge of this portion of the state, which was held at Hickman last week. There were from Alvo those who attended and a number more H. L. Bornerier, Arthur Dinges, Gann, H. D. Richardson, A. B. Stromer, Frank E. Cook, Edward Elliott, Floyd Dickerson, J. D. Foreman, P. J. Lynch, R. M. Costman and others.

Showing Improvement. The many friends of the family of Judge and Mrs. James T. Begley will be pleased to learn of the fact that their daughter, Miss Violet, is now showing signs of improvement over her recent attack of appendicitis and it is hoped that she is now out of danger and that she will be able to recover without the necessity of an operation.

MRS. WARREN G. HARDING HEARS THE LAST CALL

Widow of the Late President Passed Away Friday Morning at Home at Marion, Ohio.

Marion, O., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late President Warren G. Harding, died today at 8:55 a. m. at White Oaks farm.

Weakened by the shock of her husband's death and the ordeal of his public funeral a year and a half ago, Mrs. Harding was unable to throw off the recurrence of the malady which had brought her to the white gates of death in 1922 at the White house.

She became seriously ill late in October.

Save for brief intervals of improvement, her strength ebbed gradually until the end.

Went Into Coma. With her when the end came were her brother, Clifford King of Florida; Mrs. Charles E. Sawyer, widow of President Harding's personal physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, and George B. Christina, former secretary to the late president.

Dr. Sawyer, who had been with Mrs. Harding almost constantly during her long illness, announced her death. His eyes were filled with tears as he said simply:

"She has died. She went peacefully and quietly. I may have a formal statement later."

Mrs. Harding passed into a coma Thursday morning and early today she was unconscious.

She was ill two weeks before the gravity of her condition became known outside White Oaks, the suburbium and county estate of the Sawyers.

Then on the morning of November 3, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, after a consultation with Dr. J. C. Wood, Cleveland abdominal specialist, issued a bulletin describing her condition as "alarms."

FARM COMMISSION STANDS ADJOURNED UPON THIRD SESSION

Recess Taken Until January to Permit Assembling of Data Relative to Agriculture.

Washington, Nov. 19.—After deciding to give co-operative marketing and conditions in the cattle industry priority in their study of agricultural problems with a view to having definite conclusions as to these ready for legislative action during the session of congress which convenes next month, the president's agriculture commission recessed after its third session today, probably until January.

While the inquiry in other fields also may have progressed sufficiently before March 4 when the present congress expires to permit further conclusions to be presented for possible legislation, Chairman Carey said the committee told President Coolidge today that the body could not hope to work out its entire program by that time.

The recess taken tonight, Carey explained, was necessary to permit the assembling of the comprehensive data on all government activities relating to agriculture which the commission has requested as an essential basis for its work.

The reports asked for, relating to financial, statistical, and regulatory activities having to do with agriculture as well as tariff, reclamation and other problems will be made available to members of the commission as soon as possible, it was said. The commission, it was explained, can then proceed with the work of building up a comprehensive program of agricultural rehabilitation with the cattle industry and the co-operative marketing, studies, the first to be reduced to conclusions.

Meyer Examined. The action of the commission in adopting a priority program as to these two fields of inquiry is in accordance with the expressed wish of President Coolidge that emergency problems be disposed of as quickly as possible in order that the convening short session of congress might have the benefit of the commission's conclusions.

The commission took up today the question of government financial aid to agriculture in calling before it Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation. The present freight rate structure as affecting agricultural profits, one of the major problems before the commission, was discussed with Chairman Hall, of the Interstate Commerce commission and water power policies of the government were taken up with officials of the Federal Power commission. These officials followed a number who appeared before the commission yesterday.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 21.—Showing a list of about fifteen degrees, the hull of the super dreadnaught Washington, still was adrift tonight off the Virginia Capes, despite two heavy attacks by the battleship Texas which today continued tests begun yesterday to determine the effect of fourteen-inch shells fired through the type of armor used in construction of the ship.

Tons of big projectiles were hurled in the morning and again in the afternoon. Particles of armor plate were torn from the sides of the ship and hurled high into the air and in two instances shells passed through the entire ship but these generally were scored at points weakened by the bombardment of yesterday.

Whether the list was caused by water taken into the hull or was due to loss of weight on the side as the ship tilted, the exact cause could not be learned here tonight.

The best hits were registered by the Texas this afternoon. Some of the shells struck in places weakened by the terrific battering of the preceding day and it was two of these that passed through the ship leaving clear holes above the water line. Experts who examined the target after the shooting said had the engines been in place they undoubtedly would have been wrecked.

Despite this, proponents of the new type of ship hold that the result of the four periods of bombardment have demonstrated conclusively their claims of the superiority of the armor used.

A radio message today from the Texas asked that bombing planes be sent out to commence on Sunday to complete the work of destruction and this was taken here as an indication that the Texas would not conduct further bombardment tests.
