GOOD ROADS DEMAND OF PRESENT DAY

MEETINGS OVER CASS COUNTY URGE THE GRAVELING OF MAIN HIGHWAYS.

SOME SECTIONS GET GOING

Proposition of Voting Bonds in Center, Louisville, Weeping Water and Avoca Precincts.

From Saturday's Daily—

From all over Cass county is coming the increasing demand that the roads, especially the main traveled highways be graveled and made so that there will be possibility of traveling them in bad weather as well as in good, and it is a matter that certainly is demanding some attention from every resident of the county.

The road problem is not one alone for the residents of the districts adjoining the highways, but reaches out and affects the merchants in the various towns and those who travel for pleasure as well as those who are compelled to use the highways in getting to and from their home.

Other counties in this state have awakened to the need of the hour and provided good hard surfaced roads that can be traveled at any season of the year and there is certainly no need for this, one of the best counties in the state, to hang back on the proposition.

The start of the graveling must of course come on the main arteries of travel over the county, but the system should be extended as circumstances will permit into the less traveled roads so that every section can be reached in comfort and ease.

The main roads that have already been projected as graveled roads are the K. T. highway, where federal aid could be obtained, the O street and Murray-Murdock state aid roads, the highway from Louisville south to the O street road and the road from this city west to Louisville, connecting up Cedar Creek a short distance off the road to the north.

Several meetings have been held in Sarpy county and at Louisville and Weeping Water to urge the graveled of the road south from the end of the pavement on the D. L. D. near Millard across Sarpy county to the Louisville bridge and from there on through Weeping Water to the O street road.

The method of getting the gravel placed is the thing being most discussed, including the method of raising funds. There are several ways in which money can be secured for this work, but the one that has been most suggested in the central part of the county is to have the various precincts raise the money through voting precinct bonds. This will equalize the cost and the resulting road improvement will be a benefit to everyone in the precinct, either directly or indirectly.

Another method is that of creating districts and assessing the property two miles on each side of the highway for the cost.

In the case of the organized highways the cost is lightened by the fact that state and federal funds can be available for fifty per cent of the cost of the roads and which will make their cost a great deal less to the residents of the precincts or districts as the case might be.

The opening of gravel pits along the highways proposed would also aid in cutting down the cost of the roads and make it possible to do a great deal more work in the present season through furnishing cheaper material for use on the roads. This was effectively done in Otoe county last year.

Let this section of Cass county get into the band wagon and start the ball rolling here and join with the friends and neighbors out in the county in putting over a real good roads program.

MANY NATIONS REPRESENTED IN "THE SEA HAWK"

Players from Half the Countries on the Globe in Picture Coming to Parmelle Tomorrow

Theatregoers are accustomed to seeing casts of all nationalities. In their screen fare they see American, English, French and Japanese actors playing side by side, but in true cosmopolitan none of them can equal Frank Lloyd's production of "The Sea Hawk," which opens its three day engagement in this city tomorrow night.

Milton Sills, who plays the leading role in "The Sea Hawk," that of Sir Oliver Tressilian, who is later transformed into the redoubtable Moslem pirate of the Mediterranean, the iron-souled Sakr-el-Bahr of Rafael Sabatini's most popular novel, is a native American. He was born in Chicago and early in life adopted a stage career.

Enid Bennett, who plays the role of Rosamund, was born in Western Australia, in the town of York. She has long been a popular leading woman in the films.

Wallace Beery, who acts the role of the villainous English seaman, Jasper Leigh, was born in Kansas City, Mo.

Lloyd Hughes, playing the weak brother of Sir Oliver, is a native of Bisbee, Arizona.

Frank Currier, old time stage favorite, was born in Norwich, Conn. Sydney, Nova Scotia, was the birthplace of Wallace MacDonald, who causes all the trouble in "The Hawk," by getting himself as Peter Godolphin, killed by Lionel Tressilian.

William Collier, Jr., calls New York City home. Mme. Medea Radzina, the Fenzileh of the picture, was born in Nizhni-Novgorod, Russia, and was a member of the Moscow Art theatre and a pupil of Stanislavski.

Chile is represented by Christine Montt, seen briefly in "The Sea Hawk" as the Infanta of Spain. Her grandfather was for ten years president of that country. Her father was president of Chile for five years and her uncle for four years. Two members of the east hail from Naples, Italy—Hector V. Sarno and Albert Prisco. London, England, is represented by Robert Bolder; Glasgow, Scotland, by the director-producer, Frank Lloyd; Australia by Marc MacDermott, who was born in Sydney. Kathleen Key was born in Buffalo.

With such a cosmopolitan tinge to the cast of leading players it need cause no surprise to learn that Mexico, Denmark, Switzerland, Sweden, France, Spain, Algeria, India, British East Africa, Madagascar, Greece and numerous other countries are represented among the extras and players of "bits" in "The Sea Hawk." More than half the nations of the world have a countryman in the cast.

"MAKE-UP" OF 700 MOVIE MEN SOME JOB

Selection of types for a big motion picture play is a difficult task, but "making them up" is an art. In the production of Frank Lloyd's big First National spectacle, "The Sea Hawk," which opens its three day engagement here tomorrow night, the transformation of hundreds of supernumeraries from modern civilians to ancient Moors and English gentlemen of the court was accomplished with remarkable skill.

Under the direction of George and Ernest Westmore, twenty expert hair dressers, wig-makers and cosmetic specialists prepared more than 700 men for the penetrating scrutiny of the camera each morning in two hours while costumed, seamstresses and quartermasters supplied helmets, berneuses, chain mail, spears, bows, sabers, scimitars and guns, for the day's work. More than 2,700 gallons of reddish brown "make-up" known as "bollamania" were used in the cosmetic treatment of faces and bodies of the Moorish supernumeraries during the filming of the production.

H. S. Barthold enjoyed the vacation in the shops today by journeying up to Omaha and spending the day with friends.

George Lamphere was among the Omaha passengers this morning to spend the day looking after some matters of business.

LEAVES FOR ST. LOUIS TO TAKE UP HOSPITAL WORK

Miss Lena Hirz of This City Will Be Night Superintendent of the Liberty Hospital There.

From Saturday's Daily— This afternoon, Miss Lena Hirz of this city departed for St. Louis, Missouri, where she will enter the Liberty hospital, one of the largest and most modern in that city, as night superintendent, a position that is of the greatest responsibility and the selection of Miss Hirz is a distinct compliment to her ability in her chosen profession.

Miss Hirz was graduated three years ago from the A. S. O. hospital at Kirksville, Missouri, and her rise in her chosen profession has been very rapid and shows that she has accomplished a great stride in her work since leaving the hospital. Miss Hirz was in full charge of a hospital operating room at Detroit and in this made a very fine record that has served to open to her an advancement in being called to the St. Louis hospital for service.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

From Saturday's Daily— The Plattsmouth Woman's club held their regular bi-monthly meeting last evening in the Library auditorium. The response to roll call was "Beautiful Spots in Our City." The members present favoring the river road seemed to be in the majority. It is the intention of the Woman's club later on to make an effort to have this road made an asset to our city instead of a white elephant exhibition.

A motion was made and carried to have the membership dues reduced from $2 to $1. All women wishing to join the club will now be admitted to membership for $1.

After adjournment of the business meeting, Mrs. Goos had charge of the program and introduced Rev. H. G. McClusky, who addressed the club on "Know Your Own Community." This was a very interesting and pleasing address and was an inspiration for better community spirit.

Rev. McClusky not only stressed the beauty spots of our community, but called the attention of his audience to the fact that they should know our city laws and regulations, where our city taxes go and whether our public utilities are giving value received. We should know whether our drinking water is pure and the system regulated in a manner to preclude all possibility of contamination.

The speaker then pointed out that while all these things should be of great interest, the paramount interest should be to "Know Our Neighbor" and be interested in what our community is doing for its citizens; whether our influence and that of our places of amusement is to uplift or lower the standard of citizenship.

It is to be regretted that more were not present to hear this splendid address, an address that cannot fail to promote a better community spirit among all those who heard it.

WILL ATTEND BANQUET

From Saturday's Daily— Mrs. William Baird will depart where she goes to speak at a Mothers' and Daughters' banquet that will be held there on the first of the week. Mrs. Baird was speaker at a similar gathering some time ago at Columbus and received a request to favor the ladies of Holdrege with a similar address.

Mrs. Baird served as the state president of the P. E. O. society two years ago and her excellent work in that office and her grasp of the present day problems has made her much in demand as a speaker in the state.
