> A. H. DUXBURY, (Seal) j26-3w County Judge

This should be the slogan of all Cass county during the entire year 1925-not as the above illustration would imply, but to "Hit the Roads" for a decided improvement in their condition before another winter sets in. You have not been troubled by any one "Hitting the Road" as above during the past several weeks, nor will you be for several more to come, owing to their neglect at the proper time.

The business man, the farmer, the truckman and the pleasure car owner have all shared the grief caused by the condition of the roads in northern Cass county during the present winter. And it has been costly to every one of us.

Cass county can really boast of being one of the richest counties in the great state of Nebraska-in everything else but good roads, and here is where we take a seat away back in the rear. Most every county surrounding us is either paving or graveling the main highways, at least, and for the sake of all mankind and his little Flivver or his big touring car, let us get into the front row during the year 1925. Let us "Hit the Roads" today, tomorrow and all through the year. We'll never regret the cost.

Otoe county, to the south of us, has already graveled a large part of its main highways, and residents there have seen the wonderful results of the great improvement this winter. while Cass county towns, farmers and business men have been practically marooned all winter, and the depression in business conditions has been greatly felt all along the line. In the past year alone Otoe county graveled thirty miles of highway-twenty north and south and ten east and west-at a cost of a trifle over $47,000. This shows what real good road work will do when it is carried out efficiently and economically. Graveling, road maintaining on federal highways and bridge work in Otoe county last year cost only $126,000.

Let our slogan for 1925 be "HIT THE ROADS"-make it either paving or gravel, as you like, and while it may be a trifle expensive now it will start paying dividends as soon as it is haid and we won't experience another depressing winter of isolation.

This space contributed by the Plattemouth Journal in the interest of better roads in Case county.
